The best employment year in the previous five would be used for the basis for calculating the four-per-cent contribution. The employer's annual payment to build up the reserve fund would not exceed eight per cent of his payroll. The formula was taken from the U.S. plan before it was amended in talks with the Ford Motor Co.

Montreal Girl Tells of Beatings By Stepmother

MONTREAL (CP) — Fifteen-year-old Pauline Desnoyers testified Monday she ran away from home early this year because her stepmother had beaten and degraded her for two months.

The pretty, dark-haired girl, now a ward of social welfare court, was testifying at the trial of her father, Francois Desnoyers, 43, and his 23-year-old second wife, Therese, on charges of wounding with intent to mutilate and disfigure.

The couple were married last September, and the girl said the beatings began in November and lasted until she fled her home Jan. 7.

In a two-hour testimony, the girl said her stepmother cut her hair, wrapped a tight flannel band around her chest and told her: "You're going to be like a boy. You're going to stay here always and be my servant."

ALLEGES MISTREATMENT

She was beaten, burned with cigarets and forced to eat filth from the floor, Pauline testified.

When asked by Court of Queen's Bench judge, Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure, if her father interfered, the girl said "he was used to it."

Pauline's 16 - year - old brother, Francois, testified the girl was kicked, forced to eat on the floor and lick the shoes of another brother, Gaetan.

Gardiner Admitted to Being Political Organizer in Sask.

OTTAWA (CP)—Agriculture Minister Gardiner Monday admitted to being "something of a political organizer" but said he has kept out of provincial politics in his own Saskatchewan for the last 20 years.

The 71-year-old minister, a politician for 41 years and proud of it, made the statement in the Commons as he replied to opposition charges last week that he runs a political machine in Saskatchewan for the benefit of Liberal supporters.

"I have prided myself on being somewhat of a political organizer," Mr. Gardiner said. "I would not have been elected every year since 1914 if I were not. . . I do not think that is something for which one should be criticized."

But he said that since he resigned as premier of Saskatchewan in 1935 to become federal agriculture minister he has had nothing to do with running party organization in the province.

Mr. Gardiner attacked opposition to a government bill which would increase to $15,000 from $10,000 the amount the agriculture minister could authorize for a single project under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act without prior approval of the cabinet's treasury board.

Last week John Diefenbaker (PC — Prince Albert) said the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Administration is a political melon being used as patronage for "retired, rejected or resigned politicians." CCF Leader Coldwell said PFRA has become "a political machine directed by the minister of agriculture."

The opposition of their two parties was renewed Monday when the measure came up to final reading. However, an amendment by Mr. Diefenbaker which would have killed the main provision of the bill was defeated by a vote of 83 to 35. The bill then was passed and sent to the Senate.

Mr. Gardiner said he has been accused of being a political machine man in the past, when bills were passed giving him the power to make contracts under PFRA for $5,000 and later for $10,000.

"There is not a member of this House, on any side of it, who has been able to come here on this occasion and name one specific case where there has been a dollar misspent in connection with the activities of this organization—not one."

He said opposition to the present bill was "the meanest kind of politics." Opposition members from Saskatchewan wanted to withhold the additional power so that at the next election they could claim he had not done anything.

'Dominion of Canada' or 'Canada' Both Correct Says St. Laurent

OTTAWA (CP) — "Dominion of Canada" or just plain "Canada" is all the same, Prime Minister St. Laurent said Monday.

He said the expression "Dominion of Canada," used for more than 80 years, is certainly not improper. But the name given by the constitution to this country is simply "Canada," he added.

Mr. St. Laurent said the provinces were united in Confederation into an entity called a Dominion and the name given to that entity was Canada.

Some had felt the word Dominion implied a principle that Canada was under the dominion of another country but that idea had fallen into disuse.

Mr. St. Laurent was replying in the Commons to questions by John Diefenbaker (PC—Prince Albert) who noted that a resolution dealing with CNR financing included the words "Dominion of Canada."

The resolution, preparatory to the introduction of a bill, provides for the refunding of matured, maturing and callable financial obligations of the publicly-owned CNR and for the issue of securities guaranteed by the Dominion of Canada to a total of $200,000,000.

Mr. Diefenbaker said there has been a tendency in government legislation to let the word Dominion fall into disuse. The word had been eliminated from some statutes but retained in others.

He asked whether its inclusion in the resolution indicates the government feels the word Dominion is not "unclean" or "improper."

Mr St. Laurent said both expressions, "Dominion of Canada" or just "Canada," are appropriate descriptions of this country. They meant the same thing.

The resolution was adopted and a bill, based on it, was introduced.

Believe Fair Should Be Held Every 2 Years

TORONTO (CP) — Business is flourishing at the eighth annual International Trade Fair here but design problems have prompted some exhibitors to say the fair would suit them better if held every two years. Transportation costs were also involved.

Heavy machinery manufacturers say their products change in design about every three years, meaning repetition in annual displays.

Swiss representative Kurt Peyer said the cost of shipping heavy machinery from Switzerland is high. Canadian producers in the same field sided with Mr. Peyer's suggestion that the fair be held every other year.

GOVERNMENT GRANT

The exhibitor's remarks, made at a press conference Monday follows a report last week from Ottawa that the federal government might discontinue its annual grant toward the show. Since 1948 the government has contributed about $2,250,000.

However, Trade Minister C. D. Howe, under whose department the 11-day show is directed, said in the House of Commons that any decisions to discontinue it would be made before the current fair ends Friday.

Since its inception the Trade Fair, a showcase for nations' products and promoter of international trade, has passed the government's scrutiny of its results as reflected in trade and other economic benefits to Canada.

One government official, commenting on this year's fair, said results are "excellent so far" and it seems likely that the government will sponsor it again next year.

A satisfied group of exhibitors is that from Eire. Waterford Glassware sold its whole display of glassware the opening day. And whisky and tweed manufacturers from that country have received more enquiries and orders than last year.

India, another of the 32 countries displaying products, was also satisfied when its textiles, rugs and other items caught the eyes of purchasers and produced sales.

Robert G. Pendrith of the fair's advertising and publicity department, said exhibitors are not solely interested in sales. The majority were anxious to establish distributorships and agencies in Canada and the United States.

Finds Bride In Sailor's Arms, Uses Bayonet

HONOLULU (AP) — Police charged a Marine Monday night with bayonetting a sailor when he found his bride in the sailors' arms.

Detectives said a charge of assault and battery with a deadly weapon was filed against Marine Pfc. Clyde Denmark, 24. An army hospital identified the sailor as James Lott, 22.

Melva Denmark, the bride, plays a viola in a downtown bar. She and Denmark were married March 17.

"They've always fought over me since I was so high. . . I can't see why men fight over me when there are so many other women in the world," she told a reporter.

In another police case involving Mrs. Denmark, Paul Johnson was killed June 26, 1949, when her then husband, Honey Edward Powell, found her with Johnson in an apartment and fired three shots into him. Powell was sentenced to 10 years for manslaughter.

Canada Protests U.S. Tariff Boost but Will Not Retaliate

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada has filed a protest with the United States government over a proposed boost in the U.S. tariff on hardboard imports, but Trade Minister Howe doubts if this country will retaliate.

The protest, Mr. Howe told the Commons Monday, said the tariff increase is unjustified and would be a breach of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

To a suggestion from CCF member H. W. Herridge, Kootenay West, that Canada could retaliate "in the best possible way" by imposing an export tax on newsprint and nickel sold to the U.S., Mr. Howe replied: "I doubt if we'll retaliate."

There is a difference between what the Canadian government has the power to do and what it would do, Mr. Howe added. In most cases Canadian protests about proposed U.S. trade restrictions were taken seriously.

The note said the increase in the U.S hardboard, or wallboard, duty would have "damaging repercussions on the attitude of other countries" in trade relations with the U.S.

An investigation of the American hardboard industry by the U.S. tariff commission had found no evidence to support the higher tariff, added by a Washington Senate committee as a rider to a bill dealing with gifts for the U.S. armed forces.

The note said imports are a very small percentage of the U.S. domestic market and it is "very difficult to see any need" for the higher tariff.

Opposition Leader Drew said in view of previous congressional moves that evoked similar Canadian government protests it might be time to make a general review of escape clauses under GATT.

4 Montreal Amateur Seamen Will Try to Cross Atlantic Aboard 26-Foot $5,000 Raft

MONTREAL (CP) — A tugboat will churn down the St. Lawrence Wednesday, towing a 26-foot raft on which four young adventurers hope to make what is believed the first raft-crossing of the North Atlantic.

The four amateur-seamen, all residents of Montreal, are:

Henri Beaudout, 28, skipper and originator of the expedition; Bernard Sorieul, 24, a veteran of the Indochina War, navigator; Gaston Wanackere, 28, cameraman, and Paul Lapointe, 24, a former language-student, who will act as radio operator. Lapointe is the only Canadian. The others are natives of France.

FLOAT DOWNSTREAM

The tug will abandon the squat vessel in Quebec City, from where the men plan to float their crude craft downstream to Newfoundland, where the actual crossing of the Atlantic is scheduled to begin.

None of the men has had much, if any, navigational experience. Beaudout some time ago worked six months on an ocean - going freighter while the sailing experience of the others was confined to inland yachting.

Skipper Beaudut said the story of an Indian crossing the Atlantic in a pirogue, before Columbus' time, provided the inspiration for the trip.

"We will float down the Gulf stream, along the 45th parallel, and follow it to Europe," he said. "We will use whatever winds and currents can help us. The winds will decide where we will land—in Ireland, France or Portugal."

Beaudout is the only married member of the expedition. He has a two-year-old daughter, Chantal.

His 24-year-old wife, Jeanine, calls the trip "a dangerous adventure, but I trust my husband. I tried to fight it at first, but then realized I'd better accept it. I hope that this will cure him of his desire for adventure."

The home-made raft is 26 feet long and 14 feet wide. It was built with seasoned red cedar trunks, bound by thick hempen ropes and covered with a latticed flooring, at a cost of about $5,000. A small wooden hut was built as sleeping quarters and for storing supplies. A rectangular sail, 18 feet by 10 feet, will propel the raft. There are no motor or oars.

Although the men expect the trip to last more than two months, food and canned juice for a few weeks only will be taken as the men hope to live on what they gather from the sea. They do not plan to seek help from passing ships, but will use them as a means of informing their families and others of their progress.

Skunk Achieved Desired Results, Boy Sent Home

RICHARDS LANDING, Ont. (CP) A schoolboy here has finally achieved his objective of being sent home.

Vernon Chamberlain, suffering spring fever, visited all his friends who were suffering from mumps during an epidemic in this community 30 miles southeast of Sault Ste. Marie. He didn't catch the germ.

Next he took armful of wild leeks to the school, but was only seated at a back desk as a result.

Renewing his campaign, he took a skunk to class. Again he was placed in a rear seat.

But then the plan backfired while Vernon was feeding his pet. The skunk achieved what the mumps and leeks did not. The boy was sent home to be deodorized.

Ford Workers' New Contract

DETROIT (AP) — Here's what workers got from Monday's three-year agreement between Ford Motor Company and the United Auto Workers (CIO):

1. Beginning June 1, 1956, a guarantee of 60 to 65 per cent of their average take-home pay, up to 26 weeks, in event of lay-off. This would include contributions from a company-financed $55,000,000 fund and unemployment compensation.

2. Maximum pensions, including social security, of $252.80 a month. The maximum now is $175 monthly.

3. A penny an hour or 2½ per cent of base pay, whichever is greater, increase in the "annual improvement factor" each year of the contract. This yearly raise compensates workers for increased efficiency obtained from men and machines.

4. One additional paid holiday, and triple pay for holidays except in seven-day operations, such as steel mills.

5. Continuance of the cost-of-living escalator on which auto wages have gone up and down, mostly up, with the cost of living under contracts in the last five years.

6. Additional wage increases for workers in skilled trades, and improved hospital-medical benefits.

The contract carried no blanket wage increase, outside that accruing under the "annual improvement factor," but UAW president Walter P. Reuther estimated the contract represented a gain of 20 cents hourly for each of Ford's 140,000 production workers.

Three Montreal Firms Are Fined In Comics Case

MONTREAL (CP)—Three Montreal companies have been convicted of distributing crime comic books and fined $1,000 apiece in the first case of its type in Quebec.

The sentences were imposed on Montreal Newsdealers Supply Company, Ltd.; American News Company, Ltd., and Benjamin News Company.

They were convicted under a revision of the Criminal Code which makes it an offense to deal in comic books devoted exclusively or substantially to the depiction of crime. The fines were believed the heaviest ever imposed in Canada for such an offence.

BULLET THROUGH HEAD

HANOVER, N.H. (AP)—A .32-calibre bullet hit 14-year-old David Laduke in the eye Saturday and came out the back of his head, but he escaped death "by almost a miracle," hospital officials said Monday. The bullet hit nothing vital in the boy's brain and the youngster may even retain use of the eye, Laduke was wounded while playing with a gun he found.

WAITING IS OVER . . . NOW COMES REUNION

The dreams of Mrs. Judith Heller, of Wynnewood, Penna., are realized here as she is reunited with her husband, Lt.-Col. Edwin Heller, on ramp of special U. S. air force Constellation that flew her from the U.S. mainland to Honolulu, Hawaii, for occasion. Heller is one of four U.S. jet pilots freed by the Communists after two years' imprisonment in China and flown from Hong Kong to Hawaii for reunion and holiday with their families. A Red military tribunal, May 24, convicted the combat fliers—downed while flying jet missions during Korean war—of "intruding" into Manchuria then sentenced them to immediate deportation. The four were said to have been shown "leniency," because they were "only carrying out orders of the U. S. military authorities" in allegedly bombing and strafing Manchuria. American Tug Plows Home Easy Winner

WINDSOR (CP)—An estimated 75,000 persons crowded both sides of the Detroit river Saturday to watch the American tug Sachem plough home an easy winner in the sixth international tugboat race.

The powerful Sachem, owned by the Dunbar and Sullivan Company of Detroit, rolled over the four-mile course in 15 minutes and 13 seconds, to set a record for the race.

In second place was the tug Superior, of the Great Lakes' Towing Company of Detroit, which crossed the finish line only inches in front of the Canadian favorite, the Atomic.

The Atomic, owned by Capt. Earl J. McQueen of Amherstburg, Ont., fought all the way with the Superior before being nosed out, the only steam-driven tug in the race, and the Patricia McQueen was fifth.

Hoa Hao Sect's Resistance Has Crumbled

SAIGON (Reuters) — Resistance by Indochina's rebellious Hoa Hao religious sect melted today before advancing South Viet Nam national army forces as the government units swept through southwest Viet Nam.

Hardly any resistance had been offered by the Hoa Hao since the army launched a general offensive with 30 battalions early Sunday.

The opening of the new offensive was the latest move by Premier Ngo Dinh Diem to crush the feudal power of South Viet Nam's three private armies—Hoa Hao, Binh Xuyen and Cao Dai.

In addition, liaison has been established with the RCAF rescue co-ordination centre at Trenton, the RCMP, Ontario Provincial Police, the United States 34th Crash Rescue Flight at Youngstown, N.Y., and the U.S. coastguard, Buffalo, N.Y.

"We hope that Canadian waters will eventually be served by a government organization modelled on our lines," said Mr. Pickett. "Until then, all the services of private clubs, valuable equipment, and time spent standing-by are being given voluntarily."

The organization has adopted distress signals recommended by the international civil air police code for airplanes aiding in search and rescue operations.

Scelba Leads Sicilian Vote

PALERMO, Sicily (AP)—Premier Mario Scelba's pro - Western Christim Democrats led the Communists by nearly 2 to 1 in scattered returns today from this island's regional assembly elections.

Returns from 390 of the island's 4,201 voting sections gave the Christian Democrats 68,043 votes to 36,793 for the Communists.

The fellow-travelling Socialists of Stalin peace prize winner Pietro Nenni were trailing heavily in these first returns. They got only 14,319 votes.

In the 1951 regional elections, Christian Democrats won 30 of the 90 regional assembly seats. Communists and Socialists, then on one ticket, also won 30 seats.

The fascist Italian Social movement was running strongly in first returns, generally next behind the Communists.

From the reports we've been able to collect on the opening day of the pike and pickerel seasons, the best catches of the week-end seem to have been from eastern Ontario, from the good old Bay of Quinte and Hay Bay in particular. Judging from the boat traffic passing Wyndwyck, our home, we concluded that just about every boat and motor in the neighborhood was in use! Not to mention a raft of equipment brought in by automobile and trailer.

The river was crammed with boats—reminiscent of holiday car traffic on No. 2 Highway. The concentration of anglers was tremendous, and apparently the fish were in a particularly co-operative mood.

Hay Bay, that rejuvenated haven for pickerel and muskie, produced probably the record catch for the day—a twelve-pound dandy. And there were numerous others, and although they didn't crowd the record-holders, they managed to send the anglers home in a fine state of mind.

We described Hay Bay as "rejuvenated" advisedly. We're well aware that for a long period of years the use of such a term would be far from accurate. In fact, the situation might just as easily have been the reverse. There is a good and logical reason why this condition presently exists. Despite the hue and cry directed at commercial fishing from all points in Ontario, the improvement in sport fishing in the Hay Bay waters dates from the time when commercial fishing for the coarser species was resumed in that area.

Prior to the discontinuing of commercial fishing there, Hay Bay was just like any number of mediocre fishing spots in this province. The reason was simple. The available food supply was totally inadequate for the appetites of the various fish residing there—both game and coarse varieties. As time went on, the coarse populations multiplied to the great prejudice of the game varieties. The latter were more or less crowded out. Much to the disgust of the angler, of course, and to the chagrin of the fishing resorts in the vicinity.

We vividly recall a meeting which was held at our home about that time. Officers of the Department of Lands and Forests met with the local Fish and Game Protective Association to make a momentous decision regarding a quest for the resumption of commercial fishing in the area. We'll venture that not a single person present failed to appreciate what a hornet's nest such a request would stir up. Particularly in view of the antipathy which has characterized the feeling of sport anglers toward commercial fishermen. Such a decision, naturally enough, was not lightly arrived at, and there was plenty of discussion pro and con.

There were many expressions of disapproval—not so much locally as by other clubs in various parts of Ontario. Ten years ago, such action was heresy to many people. Today, however, and in view of present circumstances, this attitude has fortunately almost ceased to be a factor. Quite the reverse, really—for today, when you find a clear-headed approach to angling being undertaken, the commercial fisherman is regarded as a potent ally in the pursuit of better game fishing.

The result of the resumption of commercial fishing is already obvious. It has been a boon to anglers all along the hundreds of miles of shoreline on the Bay of Quinte. Happily, these waters can still rightfully claim to be a paradise for the sport fisherman.

Little Benny's Notebook

We had frankferters and beans for dinner, being 2 of my favorite things especially together, and ma handed me my plate full, saying, Now for land sakes take your time, dont throw yourself headlong into it like a diver into the deep.

And when you get there, snap at it daintily with a minimum of gobbling, pop said, and ma said, I suppose it would be too much to expect you to wait till everybody elts starts to eat before you pitch in like a starving berd of pray.

Well G, ma, it's not a party or anything, I said, and ma said, In polite sissiety every meal is considered to be a little state occasion.

Mc thinking, Heck, I'll be so polite they'll think something is wrong with me. I wont even take a 2nd helping when ma asks me, I thought.

Which she didn't ask me, probably remembering all she gave me the ferst time, and I said, I dont think I want any more. I'm still hungry but there's no use eating all you can hold just because you can hold it, I said, and ma said, Goodness, talk about the age of miracles and the 7 wonders.

Can this be our son, or can it be little Lord Chesterfield? pop said, and ma took the dishes out and brought in a big chockilit cake, and I said, I guess I dont think I'll have any cake. It looks all right, but it wont hert me to do without it, I said.

Now this is serious, pop said. My teeth are itching for a slice of that cake, but I'd feel silly eating it all alone, he said, and ma said, Then I don't see how I can take any, either, and I'm simply dying to try it.

The result being I ate 2 slices just to be obliging.

Grow a Greener, Lusher Lawn In 7 Days!

SCIENTISTS' FORMULA SHOOTS AMAZING GROWING POWER INTO LAWNS, PLANTS, VEGETABLES IMMEDIATELY!

Now Grow Flowers, Shrubs, Trees in Virtually Any Soil—Watch "Dying" Lawns Grow Richer, Thicker, Greener in 7 Days!

This season how would you like to make your flowers bloom by the thousands weeks ahead of your neighbors — double the growing power of undernourished shrubs, trees, hedges, vegetables? Grow a richer, thicker, greener lawn in just 7 days with just 1 sprinkle from a watering pail?

Now, YOU who may know next-to-nothing about gardening can turn your garden into the showplace of the community with thousands of colorful, flaming blossoms — not five years from now — not next year—but this season even if right now you don't have a seed in the ground — even if your soil is undernourished.

With normal garden care YOU can pick basketsful of meat-packed garden fresh tomatoes, luscious heads of lettuce—sweet, tender cucumbers, corn and peas from a vegetable patch right in your own backyard. Now YOU can amaze the so-called experts in your neighborhood with a rich, thick carpet of lawn—and you won't even have to dirty your hands.

"Why Won't Flowers Grow in Your Backyard?"

If flowers won't grow for you—no matter how hard you try—in case after case it's been proven that your soil is to blame. Science tells us that almost 90% of all garden soils are deficient in at least one of the vital minerals a plant needs to bloom and flourish.

And if you starve a plant of even one of these life-giving soil minerals you won't get many flowers no matter how much sun and water you give it—no matter how many hours you slave in your garden.

Sprinkle With RX-15, Save Hours of Extra Digging!

But now amazing RX-15 instantly feeds plants all the life-giving soil minerals they need for healthy bloom. Merely sprinkling with RX-15 can make starved, undernourished lawns, trees, shrubs, houseplants start to spring back to new life rapidly!

You'll be amazed at the way scraggly plants, seedlings, shrubs, bulbs and trees start shooting out new buds, stems, branches — the way they produce thicker, greener, bigger leaves and flowers even in the most mineral-starved soil, when you sprinkle them with a spoonful of RX-15 dissolved in water . . . and it goes to work instantly!

DOUBLE OR NOTHING!

Lou Plummer, who was treated rather roughly by up-and-coming Ray McClarity in Memorial Arena last Friday, is coming back this week, but not alone. He is teaming up with Dick Raines in a tag team match and if you know of a tougher, rougher aggregation of ornerryness than this duo—we're from Missouri. They're matched with Pat Flanagan and a South Sea Islands (we think) piece of royalty, one Prince Malava, who is said to be as colorful as the white-beached lagoons and palm-fringed shores of his native island. And lookit who's here, too, none other than our old pal, Lord Layton, that six-foot-six longie of Britain, who is well known to the Belleville faithful. He is matched with Don Lewin. Raising the curtain will be Chico Veres and Sammy Berg.

NOT BAD!

Oh to be a National Hockey League player now that spring is here.

Comes a letter from friend Larry Eggert, who spends some of the winter-time in Florida, some in Detroit at business and yet some more time at his well-appointed cottage in Rossmore.

Larry, a staunch supporter of the Red Wings, has also several player friends on other National League clubs.

Apparently the "big deal" made by the Wings and Chicago Black Hawks a short time ago did not sit too heavily on the mind of "Jolly Jawn" Adams, boss-man of the Wings. Jack hied himself to Florida with Mrs. Adams and let the rest of the hockey world do the wondering and worrying.

Larry took John out deep-sea fishing a while back and the Red Wings mentor promptly hooked himself a sailfish that measured seven feet two inches. Incidentally, Truman Cullen, Larry's son-in-law, also hooked a big "sailor" that measured 7' 8", weighing fifty pounds.

Down there enjoying the Florida climate, a well earned rest from the winter ice-lanes and living in a motel next to Larry and the folks are Mr. and Mrs. Ted Lindsay, Alex. Delvecchio and wife, Marty Pavelich and the missus, Reibel, Dineen and Frystal. Also around were Nick Mickoski, Frankie Faloe, Ranger trainer, who served with the RCAF at Trenton during the war days; Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Ivan and the Adams.

There's been many a hockey battle, Stanley Cup and otherwise "re-played" in Larry's cottage here—and on a couple of occasions we have been an interested listener. The late "Cars" Cooper was a frequent visitor and many colorful stories of the old days of the National League came from him.

SERIOUS, EH?

He was a golf fanatic. He lived, breathed, dreamed, played and studied the game nearly all his waking hours. All his spare time was spent on the links.

Playing in a match, nothing could bother him, nothing could divert his attention. He was golf-crazy.

Came a day when he was engaged in a foursome. Playing a ball in the rough near a highway, he straightened up. A funeral cortege was passing. He dropped his club, walked to the road and stood with bowed head as the procession went by.

Then, smiling, he returned to his pals. They were incredulous. Nothing before had interfered with their friend's game.

"Bill," one of them ventured, "whatever happened. We never saw you stop your game before. What's the idea?"

"Gentlemen," said the fanatic, "I must explain the funeral interruption. Two more weeks and we would have been married 21 years.

Robinson's 9th Inning Clout Snatches 5-4 Win From Cards; Bomber Homers Whip Detroit

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's about time the rest of the National League gave up the idea of waiting for Brooklyn Dodgers to collapse. The Brooks can't lose for winning.

Take Monday night. Their right-handed power hitters had been limited to four hits in eight innings by a southpaw rookie named Luis Arroyo and St. Louis Cardinals had a 4-3 lead going into the last of the ninth.

When Gil Hodges led off with a walk, manager Walt Alston couldn't decide whether to have Jackie Robinson lay down a sacrifice bunt and go for a tie or have him swing away and go for broke.

FOULS AND SUCH

Alston flashed the "bunt" sign, but Robbie fouled off the pitch. Alston switched to the "hit" sign then. But the pitch was wide and Jack watched it go by. So Alston changed back to the bunt strategy. But Robinson again fouled it off.

It was hit or nothing then. Alston wasn't bunting on the third strike.

So what's Robbie do? He smacks the next pitch into the left-field seats and Brooks win it 5-4. And just like that, they're eight games up on the runner-up Chicago Cubs, who were idle.

The only other National League action was at Philadelphia. Milwaukee Braves stayed half a game behind the third-place New York Giants by whipping Phils 5-2 after Philadelphia had wrapped up a 4-2 triumph in the three-inning, rain-marred of the suspended second game in Sunday's doubleheader.

BEAT DETROIT

In the American, New York Yankees made hay on the slack schedule, bombing Detroit with home runs 7-5 for a 4½-game lead. Rain postponed the only other game, Washington at Kansas City.

Yanks counted all their runs on homers. Eddie Robinson hit a pair, each good for two runs. Billy Hoeft lost his third in eight decisions.

Rookie Johnny Kucks was the winner, but claimed his fifth success only after Jim Konstanty put down a two-run Tiger rally in the ninth. Able Al Kaline, who has hit in all but four of Detroit's 49 games, homered with none on in the seventh to run his current hitting string to 14 games.

At Philadelphia, Ed Mathews continued to look like anything but a guy who just had an appendectomy. He hit his third homer in two days, a two-run job, as Bob Buhl picked up his second victory, allowing just two hits the last eight innings.

Empire Stadium Builders Face Court Action

VANCOUVER (CP)—City council Monday night instructed its legal department to take court action against the architects and contractors who built $1,500,000 Empire Stadium.

The council said the action is to determine financial responsibility for the recently-completed $56,000 repair job to the 25,500-seat stadium's gridiron. Repairs were needed following a breakdown last fall in the stadium's drainage system.

The stadium, home field of B.C. Lions of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, will be the site of the 1955 Grey Cup final Nov. 26.

EARNS COCKELL GO

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (AP)—Former British heavyweight champion Jack Gardner knocked out Johnny Williams in the fifth round Monday night. The victory earned Gardner a bout with Don Cockell, who now holds the British title.

Big-Name Golfers Will Miss Open Tourney

The big-name golfers who will be missing from the United States open championship this year could start a major tournament of their own.

Dutch Harrison . . . Ralph Guldahl. . . Bobby Knowles. . .Skee Riegel . . . Bob Toski . . . Dick Chapman . . . Jay Hebert . . . Fred Wampler.

They'll all be on the outside looking in as a result of yesterday's qualifying round. The U.S. Golf Association cut the list of exempt players severely this year with the thought in mind of giving the run-of-the-mill shotmaker a better chance of qualifying.

Only 17 players were exempt, which meant that most of the top stars had to take their chances on having a bad day.

Many got through, of course. In fact, Chandler Harper, the 41-year-old pro from Portsmouth, Va., toured the Columbia Country Club course in Chevy Chase, Md., in a sizzling record 67-67—134 to lead the 125 qualifiers who made it on 23 courses in the U.S. and one in Hawaii.

Other big name players under the wire included Wally Ulrich, Frank Stranahan, Wally Burkemo, Billy Maxwell, Art Wall, Dave Douglas, Bob Rosburg, Ted Kroll, Johnny Palmer, Doug Ford, Bo Wininger, Claude Harmon, Jack Burke and Porky Oliver.

Two Canadians qualified without difficulty.

Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver tied for the top qualifying spot in Washington state's regional eliminations with a 143 score and Gerry Kesserling of Toronto and Kitchener also shot a 143 to tie for second place in the Michigan eliminations at Detroit.

Get Baseball Back on 2-Hour Basis Or Drive Fans Out of Parks--Talbot

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—If commissioner Ford Frick's fact finding committee really wants to know why fans are staying away from the ball parks in increasing numbers, let its members merely sit on the hard seats through a couple of typical three-hour games such as are being perpetrated these days.

The national game is becoming badly over-managed by a new school of pilots whose idea of brilliant strategy is to change pitchers.

There was a time when we delighted in taking a British visitor out to one of the local parks and letting him see first hand how much faster and more action-filled baseball was than his native cricket. Now it is only embarrassing. A good cricket batsman might roll up 100 or more runs before they scrag him, but at least he sticks at his task.

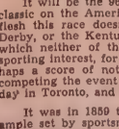
EIGHT PITCHERS

Take the most recent horrible example, in which eight St. Louis Cardinal pitchers paraded at Ebbets Field over a period of two hours and 55 minutes while the Dodgers were hacking out a 12-5 victory. The exhibition proved only that Harry Walker, the Cards' new manager, can haul in more throwers than could his predecessor, Eddie Stanky.

Figuring that it takes a minimum of five minutes to get a new pitcher into action, Walker used up 35 minutes demonstrating his authority. Actually, it seemed twice that.

Walker used four flingers the next day and then climaxed his maiden week's great performance by trotting out a total of 10 in Sunday's doubleheader.

RE RELIEF HURLERS



What Frick's advisers can suggest to get the sport back on the old two-hour basis before the last fan is driven screaming from the parks we don't know, unless it is to appeal to the managers not to bring in relief pitchers unless they have some reason to believe they are effecting an improvement.

The Cardinals, who desperately need to develop some young pitchers, can never hope to do so by jerking a kid every time he gets two balls behind a batter. Bucky Harris, the patient and wise veteran who runs the Detroit Tigers, has obtained 26 complete games from his predominately young staff with the season less than a third gone.

THE Calvert SPORTS COLUMN

by Elmer Ferguson

The final line in one of the most colorful chapters in Canadian thoroughbred racing will be written on June 11, when, for the last time, a Queen's Plate race will be contested over the ancient Woodbine track at Toronto, oldest of all Canadian Race Courses.

It will be the 96th running of the oldest continuously-run classic on the American continent. In actual quality of horseflesh this race doesn't pretend to measure up to the Epsom Derby, or the Kentucky Derby, but it does possess something which neither of those glamorous races can boast. For keen sporting interest, for "neighbor vs. neighbor" rivalry, with perhaps a score of notable Ontario and other Canadian stables competing the event has no counterpart anywhere. It is a gala day in Toronto, and has been for almost a century.

It was in 1859 that a Toronto turf club followed the example set by sportsmen of Quebec 23 years before, and petitioned Queen Victoria for a royal donation of 50 guineas for a Queen's Plate "to be run at Toronto, or such other place in Upper Canada, as Her Majesty might appoint."

From that year to this, the reigning monarch has made this donation.

Canadian racing history was made when the Ontario Jockey Club enjoyed the signal honor of the presence of King George VI with the Queen Mother for the 80th running of the King's Plate.

The death of King George VI changed the name to Queen's Plate again, and, as a lover of racing, who campaigns a very successful stable, it was only natural that Queen Elizabeth II continued the donation. To the 50 guineas from Her Majesty, the Ontario Jockey Club adds $15,000.

Quebec's Plate, started in 1836 in the reign of King William IV, but not run continuously, has now vanished from the scene, with harness racing replacing the runners. But the Ontario Queen's Plate, while having its last running at the famous old Woodbine track, will be continued on another course and its sporting rivalry will continue to flourish in years to come.

Hartung's 2 Homers Good for Five, Leafs Stretch Lead With 5-1 Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Clint Hartung, who could never quite make the grade as either a major league outfielder or pitcher, now and then has himself a real night in the International League.

Monday night was one of those occasions. The former New York Giant, who came up to the major leagues during the post war years heralded as a great slugger, drove in five runs with two homers as the Cuban Sugar Kings defeated the Rochester Red Wings 6-4 to move into undisputed possession of third place. Clint also got a single for a perfect night at the plate.

In the only other game, the Toronto Maple Leafs strengthened their hold on first place by downing the Richmond Virginians 5-1 in 11 innings.

GOOD LEAF HURLING

The Leafs got a nifty pitching performance from Connie Johnson and then broke the game wide open with four runs in the top of the 11th.

The Leafs' big inning broke up a terrific pitching duel between Johnson and Bill Connelly. Connelly had eight strikeouts in four innings and 11 during the regulation nine innings. He retired 11 men in order after a sixth-inning single by Ed Stevens.

Johnson allowed six hits, while fanning nine, in gaining his eighth victory against one setback. Between the fifth and ninth innings he retired 14 men in a row. Toronto scored in the 11th on Archie Wilson's two-run single and Mike Goliat's two-run home run. The Leafs jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the third, but Richmond evened the score on Ken Woods' solo home run in their half.

Read Blanks Latta 11-0

Behind the three-hit pitching of their stellar southpaw, Read blanked the Latta nine on the Latta diamond last night by 11-0 score.

Latta could do nothing to Shannon's slants while Read pounded three Latta hurlers. Read scored three in the first on C. Brennan's single; a steal; a walk to K. Brennan; G. Brennan hit-ting a double and scoring on H. Shannon's single.

They added three in the second with P. Roach, Kirby and B. Hanley scoring.

In the third a single by H. Shannon; a walk to J. Hanley who stole second a sacrifice by B. Hanley and a single by C. Brennan and steal allowed three runs.

Read added one in the fourth and on a home run by B. Brennan; adding another in the fifth on a home run by J. Hanley when the ball was lost in the grass.

For the Latta team: Meeks with two hits and O. Glass with one hit were best.

H. Shannon pitched the full game for Read.

Latta started Stewart, who was replaced by Hall in the second, who in turn was replaced by H. Reid in the sixth.

Latta lineups—Meeks, Parks, O. Glass, F. Ray, Steward, D. Rollins, Ted Ray, Jeffrey, Hazard. Read—C. Brennan, P. Roach, K. Brennan, G. Brennan, B. Brennan, H. Shannon, J. Hanley, Kirby, B. Hanley.

2. A feeling of "crisp relaxation" is what you want when you step up to swing. Even your grip on the club must be only gently firm; no effort to squeeze the club. Relaxation and decision are the keynotes. In avoiding tension, I don't mean to suggest looseness either. You have to hit the proper balance between the two. If a player is tense and rigid he is striving for power golf. And there is no such thing! Golf is a game of rhythm — not slugging. That's why you must be crisply relaxed, more rubber than iron. When you address the ball, your mind should be fully made up as to what you are going to do. That's decision. That should include the arms whipping through crisply and firmly — but not trying for 300 yards. Be content with 200 yards plus, with wood. It's better to be on the fairway for the next shot. Accuracy will always beat distance.

GETS RECORD HEAT

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Buffalo baked in a temperature of 90 degrees Monday as the record high of 89 for the date, set in 1900, was broken.

All-Star Game Will Feature Many New Faces

CHICAGO (AP) — Balloting for the 1955 all star baseball game begins Friday and already it looks as if some of last year's stars may have trouble making the team.

The American League won out last July at Cleveland with a three-run rally in the eighth inning for an 11-9 victory giving the junior league a 13-8 edge in the series.

The voting, to be conducted under the sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune and a record 761 other newspapers and radio stations, ends July 1 for the game to be played at Milwaukee July 12.

What the players have done so far this year and what they do this month will go a long way in determining the starting lineup, decided by the vote of the public.

It's a cinch all of the players who started last year will not be in the starting lineup this year. For example, of last year's American League starters, only Mickey Mantle is batting over .300.

SPORT IN BRIEF

WIDE OPEN PLATE

TORONTO (CP)—A canvass of horsemen under the Woodbine shedrows Monday showed that 16 horses are regarded as certain starters in next Saturday's 96th running of the Queen's Plate, North America's oldest annual stakes race.

Outstanding favorites at the moment are Russell Graul's filly Baffin Bay from Montreal, J. H. Stafford's Senator Jim from Toronto, Larkin Maloney's Ace Marine from Toronto and Andrew Adam's Silver Spat from Winnipeg. Veteran horsemen insist, however, that this will be one of the most wide-open contests in the long history of the race.

Baffin Bay ran the mile in 1:43 Monday, her last workout before Saturday's 1¼ mile Queen's Plate. The brown filly did the quarter in :24, the half in :49 and the three-quarters in 1:16.

BUYS GALT PLAYER

BARRIE (CP) — Hap Emms, coach and general manager of Barrie Flyers in the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A League, said Monday he has purchased Roy Partridge from Galt Black Hawks.

Emms said it was the first of several off-season moves planned to build the Flyers into a strong team. Partridge was with Scarboro Rangers before joining Galt last season.

AGGANIS OUT

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Boston Red Sox first baseman Harry Agganis was put out of action indefinitely Monday with his second case of virus pneumonia in less than a month. Dr. Eugene E. O'Neil said Agganis is suffering from pneumonia in the left lung and will be confined to a hospital for a week.

WILL REPORT TO MILLERS

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP)—Utility infielder Billy Gardner has reconsidered his earlier refusal to report to Minneapolis in the American Association.

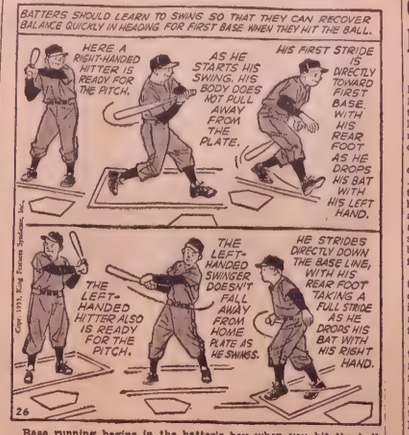
Gardner was optioned by New York Giants last Wednesday on 24-hour recall after the Giants had gone one over their 25-player roster limit by calling Gail Harris from the Millers. He insisted he hadn't been given a fair chance to show his wares while with the Giants.

He said Monday he changed his mind after a weekend telephone talk with manager Bill Rigney of the Millers.

"IF AT FIRST YOU—"

BERLIN (AP)—Communist East Germany said Monday it will make a new effort to get recognition from the International Olympic Committee. The IOC meets June 10 in Paris, and the East German National Olympic Committee announced it will send a delegation to plead for recognition.

HAPPY WITH SWITCH



GALT (CP)—Glen Skov and John Wilson, traded to Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League May 28 by Detroit Red Wings are happy with the switch, they said in an interview here Monday.

"I think I'll like it in Chicago. We should have a pretty good team," Skov said.

Wilson, who will join his brother Larry who has been with Chicago for a couple of seasons, said: "With all the new players Chicago is acquiring we should be a cinch to make the playoffs next season."

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Major League Scout and Instructor

Base running begins in the batter's box when you hit the ball. How you start is as important as it is in sprint races at track meets. Everyone knows how often a base runner arrives at a base less than a stride behind the ball.

If a left-handed batter doesn't swing too hard, his body motion will be in the direction of first base as he completes his swing, and his first stride will be directly toward first base with his rear foot. You might not think that a power hitter like Ted Williams would pay attention to this detail, but nobody in baseball gets away from home plate with better body action than Williams uses.

It is more difficult for right-handed hitters to get a good break from the plate if they are pulling the ball to left field. However, it is possible to do so by maintaining good body balance, and plenty of practice should be given to taking a full swing and follow through and still keeping the body from falling toward third base at the finish. The first step toward first base should be with the back foot. Many experts hail another power hitter, Rogers Hornsby, as the right-hander who could get away from the plate the fastest after hitting the ball.

'Campy' Gains On Ashburn; Kaline Tops AL

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooklyn's Roy Campanella was only a scant 31 points behind Richie Ashburn, the National League's batting leader, today, but he had the sacrifice fly rule to thank for the closeness of the race.

Campanella, making a strong comeback following a disappointing .207 season in 1954, is batting .342 to Ashburn's .355. Campy, however, has produced five sacrifice flies and if they were counted as times at bat as they were before last season, he would be at .333. Ashburn, the Phillies' star centre-fielder, has hit no sacrifice flies.

Ashburn lost considerable ground to Campanella last week. Richie dropped 28 points with only six hits in 27 at bats. Campanella climbed nine points with 11 safeties in 28 trips.

Don Mueller dropped one notch to third place. The Giants' outfielder had five hits in 27 at bats for a 25 points loss to .338.

In the American League, Al Kaline cf Detroit regained the batting lead from teammate Harvey Kuenn. Kaline moved up five points to .372 while Kuenn fell 13 to .366. Vic Power of Kansas City is third with .335.

'Dedicate' Out Of Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Dedicate was withdrawn from the $100,000 Belmont Stakes Monday and favored Nashua went through a distance workout that was enough to scare off a few more challengers. As a result the field for Saturday's 87th running for three-year-olds may draw one of the smallest fields in years.

Mrs. Jan Burke's Dedicate, winner of the Delaware Valley and Jersey Stakes, was declared out because of a bruised foot. Trainer Carey Winfrey said the injury was not serious.

Previously, Summer Tan, Nashua's early-season rival, was withdrawn because of bad legs. Swaps, Kentucky Derby winner, went right back to California and apparently will stay there unless a match race is cooked up later in the year.

Nashua, with Eddie Arcaro in the saddle, on Monday did a mile and three-eighths under full steam in 2:19 3-5, then eased up and finished the mile and one-half in 2:33 3-5. That's less than three seconds slower than High Gun's winning time last year.

BOMBERS GET QUARTER

WINNIPEG (CP) — Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Interprovincial Football Union have signed 22-year-old Buddy Leake, University of Oklahoma quarterback and placement kicker, Ralph Misener, club president announced Monday night.

Misener said the club has agreed to allow Leake, who earlier in the day signed a professional baseball contract with St. Louis Cardinals, to play for the Cards until the opening of fall training July 15.

HANGS HIMSELF FOR A DOLLAR BET

Eight-year-old Joe King, of Washington, D.C., rubs his neck after hanging himself on a $1 bet. Lucky to be alive, Joey hanged himself from a tree and blacked out, swinging 3 feet off the ground. A passing marine cut the lad down, a neighbor applied artificial respiration and a fire department rescue squad came on the scene to help out. P.S.—His playmate didn't pay off the bet. Little Benny's Note Book

I was hurry up eating my lunteh Satturday so I could play ball with the fellows around on the empty lot, and ma said, For land sakes take your time and eat that nice healthy milk toast as if you were getting some good out of it instead of trying to make it do a magic dissappeering act. Haste makes waist, she said.

Aw, how does it, ma? I said. If I dont hurry up and get around there, the fellows will have their teems all made up and I'll just have to stand there and watch them getting all the exercise, and it will spoil my appetite for dinner, and dinner is mutch helthier than lunteh So how is that haste making waist? I said.

I'll tell you how, ma said. If you weren't in sutch a waistful hurry to give me so many reasons for eating like a steem shovel instead of a normal child, you'd be practically finished your lunteh by this time, instead of trying to be in 2 places at once with your mouth full, she said, and I said, But jimminy roozlem, ma, I meen heck, the only place I really want to be at is the empty lot, and if I dont hurry up and get there soon my whole day will be spoilt including my digestion.

Oh all right, my goodness, here's an apple and a bannanna to eat on the way over, and dont forget that eating meens chewing as well as swallowing, so for land sakes, eat them like a civilized boy and not like an uneducated ostritch, ma said.

Which I did as good as possible, considering I was running all my might at the same time.

Newton Tosses Crutch Away After Playing Pirate for Year

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Robert Newton has tossed Long John Silver's crutch away after playing the crusty old pirate in Australia for a year.

The British actor has returned to his Hollywood home after completing one of the most interesting film projects in recent years—a daring venture which could provide him with a hefty annuity.

Newton told about the deal between rehearsals for his first acting engagement since his return—"The Suspect" on NBC's Video Theatre.

TV SHOWS IN COLOR

"First of all, we made the feature sersion of 'Long John Silver' in Cinemascope and color," he said. "After we finished that we made 26 half-hour TV shows, also in color.

"It was really a pioneering project. When we first arrived in Sydney there was nothing but a large, barn-like building for a studio. We brought all our equipment from Hollywood.

"After we finished the feature, we did one TV show a week for 26 weeks. I think I had only one Sunday off. It was hard work, but it was worth it. The results were spectacular. The air is so clear down there and the scenery, especially the surf, is spectacular. And we shot it for half what it would have cost here.

"We picked up the rest of our actors in Australia, and they were excellent. The technicians were good, too — not experienced but eager to learn.

"You get the impression that the Australian film makers are looking for a leader. There is no real industry, just a few independents. But there is a tremendous potential there."

Newton is hoping that the year's investment of time and labor will pay off for him. Negotiations now are under way for a network release of the 26 shows. The plan is to show them first in black and white, then in color, then release them for regional showings.

If Long John catches on with the kids, a la Davy you-know-who, 13 more films will be made here. The series would be exploited as was Davy what's-his-name, with merchandise, songs, books, etc.

On the chance that the character will prove popular, the feature version of "long John Silver" has been held back from release. It will be shown after the TV series has had some exposure.

Bad advice is the easiest thing to get from bridge players. It is not necessary to ask those who are most wrong. They hand it to you free with alleged quotes from prominent experts.

Among the silly rumors that pollute the bridge atmosphere are those applying to responses to simple overcalls. The worst of these is that no-trump is the bust response.

A simple overcall does not require a response from partner. To make a responding bid of any kind means to promise values. Because a pass is always expected of responder.

Is there ever occasion for no-trump as a response? Yes. Such a response is rare. But it is an available reply when the conditions warrant. The conditions, however, are always linked with some strength.

What is the strength admitted by a no-trump response to a simple overcall?? It promises a hand that may help make a game in something and at the same time guarantees sufficient stops in opponent's suit.

You have the east hand shown here:

EAST
♥9 6 3
♦K J 10
♣J 8 4 3 2

South opens with a bid of one diamond. Your west partner comes in with a simple overcall of one heart. North passes. You could step in there with a response of one no-trump.

Why do you bid no-trump? If all you had were stoppers in opponents' suit you could have passed. So, your no-trump bid says you can help toward a game in either no-trump or the suit bid by your partner.

When an opponent opens the bidding, a defending game in no-trump is usually fraught with peril. So, your no-trump encouragement should be backed up with an out, in an agreed trump suit.

Now, that you have heard this, don't go on a rampage of no-trump responses to simple overcalls. Prefer to play in suit, or pass. And for goodness sake, don't say no-trump to show a bust.

Imogene Coca Show Gives Boost to Career of Hal March

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Whatever success the Imogene Coca show may have had otherwise, it has given a boost to the career of Hal March, who has been Imogene's partner in comedy for the last few months.

The 35-year-old actor and writer begins tonight as emcee of "The $64,000 Question" on CBS-TV, and on June 25 starts another new show, entitled "The Soldiers," on NBC-TV.

March has been around in radio and television a long time with scores of guest roles and regular parts in such shows as "My Friend Irma" and Burns and Allen. But he concedes that his role in the Saturday night Coca show has given his career a lift.

HELPED SAVE SHOW

Miss Coca's new show, her first solo venture after the breakup of the Coca-Sid Caesar-Max Liebman team of "Your Show of Shows," floundered rather badly when it started last fall. Then March was brought in as regular partner and foil as her TV husband, and the show has gained steadily in ratings.

March disclaims personal credit for the improvement, saying it was due to the change in format rather than his individual efforts. But he does credit the role for making him better-known, at least for making people remember his name.

Because so much of his work was on a free lance basis on different programs, says March, many viewers who knew him well by sight did not remember his name.

NBC-TV's "It's a Great Life" goes on a return basis for the summer starting with tonight's telecast. . . . Next Sunday's NBC telecast of "Mr. Peepers" marks the season's finale and probably a permanent farewell for the high school teacher portrayed by Wally Cox. The summer replacement will be a do-it-yourself program, with an entirely new show due in the time spot next fall.

AT THE CAPITOL — Law to Lawless — It would be difficult to imagine the screen's villainous Stephen McNally as a lawyer but the handsome star practiced law for two years in New York before deciding he'd rather be an actor. Tall and dark, McNally has what is undoubtedly his best role to date as a revenged-crazed sheriff out to get his mother's murderer in Columbia Pictures' explosive drama, "A Bullet Is Waiting", also starring Jean Simmons, Rory Calhoun and Brian Aherne at the Capitol Theatre today and Wednesday in color by Technicolor. On the same program in Technicolor — "The Patratrooper", starring Alan Ladd and Leo Genn.

American Motors Opposes Pattern For All Industry

DETROIT (AP)—American Motors Corp. said Monday night it is "imperative" that "pattern settlements" with the CIO United Auto Workers be ended this year.

The statement referred to the historic guaranteed semi-annual wage agreement which the union won earlier Monday from the Ford Motor Co. American Motors, makers of Nash and Hudson autos and Kelvinator home appliances, expects to resume "shortly" its own contract negotiations with the UAW.

Asked how the Ford pact would affect these negotiations, a spokesman for American said:

"We feel that the end of pattern settlements is imperative in 1955. . . . The problems of American Motors and therefore of its employees in 1955 differ so substantially from the problems of General Motors or Ford that different approaches must be explored."

The spokesman added, however, that the firm would give the union's demands "objective study."

QUEEN RETURNS

LONDON (Reuters) — Queen Elizabeth returned Sunday night from a short holiday in Balmoral, Scotland, and was greeted by hundreds of cheering people at London airport.

AT THE CAPITOL — Alan Ladd with Leo Genn in Columbia's "Patratrooper", in color by Technicolor at the Capitol Theatre today and Wednesday. On the same program and having its first city showing "A Bullet is Waiting," starring Jean Simmons, Rory Calhoun, Stephen McNally and Brian Aherne.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, June 8, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Splendid indications, but Mars' aspect warns against antagonizing superiors, fellow workers, family. Sound interests, labor, trades especially sponsored; also military interests. Tact!

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Not an entirely easy day but sensible planning and management can net worthwhile returns, even new advancement. Avoid contention and carelessness; use care in written matters.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Those engaged in clerical work, journalism, writing advertising copy, creating and promotional stunts may not achieve as easily as usual. Be patient. Work carefully these days. Industry, trades, domestic work are favored.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Top rays from your Moon and Saturn should be stimulating, helpful to your endeavors, good for matters close to heart and home. Keep temper, irritability under control and you should have a happy, productive day.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — You may have to exert yourself more in some things today—particularly where keen mental work is concerned. Be agreeable even if persons and situations are trying. A test day for good manners.

August 23 to September 22 — (Virgo) — You may not be able to meet all of this day's demands or feel as creative as usual, but the vibrations are helpful, nevertheless, for intelligent management, sound and practical interests.

September 23 to October 23 — (Libra) — Venus' position now stresses extra patience, stability in conduct. Your greatest good may come from unselfish devotion to causes designed to aid others.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Have no misgivings about efforts that are sincere, honorable and motivated by unselfishness. The day may not yield all the returns you work for but you can lay a solid foundation for eventual good.

November 23 to December 22— (Sagittarius) — Extra care suggested in expenditures, home matters. Sound investments and dealings in good real estate can be profitable, however. Don't waste time on unessentials, striving for useless luxuries.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — Excellent influences from your Saturn and the Moon. Ideal for personal achievement, new and unusual opportunities of which you can make use. Be reasonably acquisitive; have faith.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — This day's influences are neither too helpful nor too restrictive. But common sense and quickened, if steady, application of efforts can produce results. Concentrate on bringing plans to fruition.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Similar influences to Virgo and Scorpio now. Accept advice to them. There are no really unfriendly rays and you can accomplish much in whatever endeavor you are engaged in — honorable.

You born today are variable, skillful, imaginative, keen of perception, ambitious but not always as patient and persistent as you should be in order to attain the achievement and success that can be yours. Don't brush your faults aside; calmly recognize and correct them before they defeat your finer, more valuable characteristics. Seek deeper knowledge and direct your energy into constructive channels. Harness your many talents so that they may work for great good. Prayer, thoughtfulness true aids always. Birthday: Chas. Reade, novelist, dramatist.

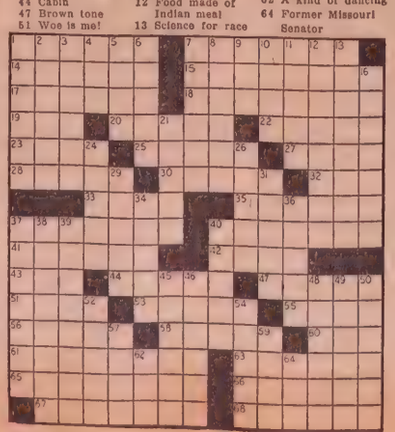
KIDNEY ACIDS Rob your Rest..



Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—blame it on "nerves"—when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons and excess acids from the blood. If they fail and impurities stay in the system—disturbed rest often follows. If you don't rest well get and use Dodd's Kidney Pills. Dodd's help the kidneys so that you can rest better—and feel better. 136

Army Officials Refuse Comment On Reports

SAIGON (Reuters) — Premier Ngo Dinh Diem's South Viet Nam army tonight imposed a blackout on official military information amid reports the Indochina Hoa Hao forces have sneaked behind government troops and captured a key town.

Army officials refused to comment on the reports that the 37,000-member private army seized on Monday the town of Vinhlong, 60 miles southwest of Saigon, in a surprise counter-attack.

The report said Diem's army, engaged in a major campaign to subdue the Hoa Hao and Binh Xuyen private armies, waged a "furious" but vain battle throughout the night to regain possession of Vinhlong.

An army spokesman said Monday night that the rebel forces would be wiped out within 24 hours.

Today, news correspondents were informed that no more military briefings would be held.

Relief Payments Are Refunded To Township

KITCHENER (CP) — Relief payments totalling $2,146 were refunded Monday to relief officer Frank Heffron here, setting what he thinks is a precedent in Waterloo township.

Mr. Heffron told township council Monday that two persons injured in auto accidents had received relief payments, provided they repaid the sum if they won a court settlement.

Half of the $1,146 will go to township officers and the other half to the provincial treasury, which subsidizes relief 50 per cent.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking comfortable to himself, and ma said, Well William, the world revolves on its axis, and sooner or later in the course of history everything comes to its own end, so this is the last time you'll ever hear me bring up the subject of my scuffed up kitchin stool that you were going to paint for me, according to your own repeated announcements.

Oh yes, that stool, pop said, and ma said, For 2 weeks the can of enamel and the brush have been patiently poised for action.

And so have I, my dear, pop said. Believe it or not, I was just thinking of that stool. As a matter of fact I was just about to suit the action to the thought. That's quite a coincidents. I meen I was just about to mention the subject for the last time myself, because in a very short time there won't be anything left to mention. As soon as this cigar breethes its last puff I'm going to jump slowly but fermly out of this chair and hie myself to the kitchin for a workmanlike job of stool painting. If you are to profit by the occasion, you may accompany me and watch my technieck, he said.

Oh, compose yourself and cheer up, ma said. I threw my patience to the winds and did it myself this afternoon, she said. And if I do say so myself, it's a perfect job of enameling, she said, and pop said, That goes without saying. In fact, my dear, I hate to admit it, but the real reason I've been putting it off was really for the sake of the stool because I know you would do a much better job. That's my honest confession, he said.

And he kept on smoking trying not to look too glad.

THE LITTLE WOMAN

"Oh, plenty of time — the last act of a musical is always the best."

MADOC

H-S Association, P.S. Pupils Present Song Festival at H.S.

MADOC — Under the auspices of the Home and School Association, pupils of Madoc Public School presented a song festival in the Madoc High School auditorium on Friday evening to a large and appreciative audience in which parents and interested friends were well represented.

Baskets of seasonable flowers gave a lovely setting to the stage.

Mrs. Perry Bronson, president of the Home and School Association was chairman for the evening. All the numbers were well presented by the pupils, under the direction of Miss Barbara Meiklejohn, music director for Centre Hastings. The festival may well be termed a wonderful success, revealing the fine quality of training and the amount of labor devoted to the enterprise.

PRESENTATIONS

A presentation and an oral address to Miss Meiklejohn by Don Henderson, and presentation by little Linda Fox on behalf of the pupils, expressed the appreciation of the pupils while Mrs. R. C. Jackson on behalf of the H. and S. Association also presented Miss Meiklejohn with a gift, voiced the sentiments of the parents. Mrs. Carl Howse, accompanist for the evening was also presented with a gift.

During intermission, Ray Binch, chairman of the Board took opportunity to express thanks of that body for the assistance to the community that the Home and School Association has become and added words of appreciation to Miss Meiklejohn.

Mr. Binch also presented prizes to winners of the Field Day activities, Sr. girl, Marie Langlond, Sr. boy, Wendel Empey; Jr. girl, Patsy Kincaid and Jr. boy, Dwight Binch.

The principal, Dr. George Anderson, spoke briefly, expressing his thanks to the staff for the splendid co-operation and Miss Meiklejohn for the fine concert being put on, adding that musical training in elementary schools meant much to the pupils in the dull routine of study. He also welcomed Mr. Nelson, public school inspector for Centre Hastings.

The program follows:

Eden Is Pressed To Accept Labor's Rail Strike Plan

Conservative Papers Back TUC Settlement Proposal

By HAL COOPER

LONDON (AP) — Britain's powerful Trades Union Congress—and leading Conservative newspapers—pressed Prime Minister Eden today to accept a TUC plan aimed at ending the national rail strike, now 11 days old.

The plan, approved Tuesday by the striking Associated Society of Engineers and Firemen, calls for immediate negotiations without a return to work. Eden said Sunday that the government, which operates the nationalized railways, would not meet with the men until they went back to their jobs.

There were peace moves, too, in one of the other two big walkouts now plaguing Britain—a strike of 20,000 dock workers tying up some 200 freighters in seven seaports. Leaders of the striking Stevedores' Union agreed to submit their jurisdictional dispute with other union to a TUC committee.

WILDCAT STRIKE

But no settlement has been sighted in the third dispute, a wildcat walkout of about 800 stewards on transatlantic liners. It has stranded some 3,300 would-be passengers for Canada and the United States in Liverpool and Southampton.

The strikers hoped to spread the stoppage to the 83,000-ton liner Queen Elizabeth today.

The prime minister is urged to approve the TUC rail proposal by both The Daily Mail and The Daily Telegraph, two of his Conservative government's strongest newspaper backers.

Under the plan, preliminary talks on a small temporary wage increase would be started immediately between the union and the commission. If agreement is reached, the strike would be called off and negotiations would begin on a new wage scale for the entire industry.

The 67,000-member ASEF is demanding a raise to restore its members' traditional wage differentials over less-skilled workers. The differentials were narrowed in an industry-wide pay boost last January.

British railways have been operating a skeleton service with engine crews made up of NUR members. Industry sources have predicted widespread factory unemployment because of raw-material shortages if the strike continues through this week.

French Poilus And Nudists Sign No-Peeking Pact

PARIS (Reuters) — The French government finally decided Tuesday on a vexing question—nudism or national defence, which comes first?

The nudists won. As a result, secret guided-missile tests scheduled this summer on the Ile du Levant, nudist paradise off the French Riviera coast, have been postponed until after the holiday season.

Expulsion of the nudists has been threatened lest they see too much hush-hush equipment.

It was announced however that French servicemen will still carry out non-secret tests in the area—honor-bound not to peek.

Railways Deny Report Given To Quinte Meet

TORONTO (CP)—Railway officials denied today that liquor lounges are to be installed on trains in western Ontario.

The United Church committee on evangelism told the Bay of Quinte conference at Port Hope Tuesday that the railways plan to apply for licences to sell liquor on trains running between Windsor and London. It passed a resolution opposing such sales.

However, officials of both the CNR and CPR stated no liquor lounges are planned for Ontario trains.

The railways serve liquor only on trans-continental trains.

Union Officials Hope to Settle Stoppage Quickly

WINDSOR (CP)—Union officials expressed the hope today that an unauthorized work stoppage at the Chrysler Corporation of Canada plant, involving 2,700 men, will be settled quickly.

The stoppage occurred Tuesday night when 37 workers on the motor production line at the factory left their jobs to protest what they called "unsafe and unsatisfactory" working conditions.

The company promptly sent 2,700 other production line workers home.

A union official said the walkout was not authorized "in any way" by the union executive, but he added the workers would not be asked to return to their jobs until their complaint was remedied.

Company officials declined to comment immediately on the workers' charge that the motor production line was not safe.

"Got a sweetheart yet, Lily?" "Sure, and he's a regular gent . . . He took me to a restaurant night 'fore last and poured his coffee into a saucer to cool. But he didn't blow it like common people do—he fanned it wid his hat."

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A small disturbance situated in the vicinity of the southern tip of Lake Michigan kept most of Ontario cloudy during the night with rain continuing in the north western sections. The small motion of this disturbance will result in showery mostly cloudy weather throughout southwestern sections of the province today and Thursday with temperatures mainly in the 70s.

PCS TO OPPOSE EXTENSION OF PRODUCTION ACT

Fleming Sets Pattern Attacking Act's Power

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has been given an indication it can expect strong and extended opposition from the Progressive Conservatives to its proposal to extend indefinitely the Defence Production Act beyond next year.

Donald Fleming (PC — Toronto Eglinton) set the pattern Tuesday night in a Commons speech lasting an hour and 40 minutes, attacking the act's powers as "the model decree of a Caesar" and demanding a curb on the authority of Defence Production Minister Howe.

Mr. Fleming said that although it is late in the session, "on this issue we are prepared to fight."

He spoke after Mr. Howe said the government will not agree to any limitation of the act's powers.

SAYS POWERS NEEDED

The minister said the powers, granted in 1951 after the outbreak of the Korean war, still are needed to do an effective job of providing supplies. He denied Mr. Fleming's charge that the act violates "the rule of law."

"There is nothing in the act that denies the supremacy of Parliament," Mr. Howe said, "Nor is there anything that prevents recourse to a court of law or contravenes the jurisdiction of the courts."

Mr. Howe said Canadians are entitled to assurance that large sums spent on defence production are carefully handled. He would not recommend limitation of the powers needed to do that.

He was responsible to Parliament for his actions and the Commons could order a review of the act at any time.

Powers of expropriation, entry and seizure were no greater than under the Expropriation Act or the Income Tax Act—statutes which were not so important to the country's security as the Defence Production Act.

MENTIONED PROMISE

Referring to the government's promise last March to consider putting another time limit on the act, he said it has been decided that is not necessary because of Parliament's powers of review.

Mr. Fleming said the decision against providing a new expiry date means Prime Minister St. Laurent has "wobbled" in the face of Mr. Howe's demand for continuation of sweeping powers.

The Conservative spokesman said the limitation of an expiry date was written into the act in 1951 despite emergency conditions.

Parliament now was being asked to remove "that one saving provision." It should not be misled by this "cooing, seductive" words of Mr. Howe that the powers were not really so strong.

The act's powers allowed Mr. Howe to hold the country's economy in the palm of his hand.

STUDY PRISON REFORM

Members of the Commons were elected to maintain Parliament's authority—"not to admit the Trojan horse of executive power into the citadel of freedom."

The Commons Tuesday also had a long debate on reformation of juvenile delinquency during study of a bill to help implement New Brunswick's current program of prison reform. The bill later was passed.

Flood Fighters Plug Huge Rip In River Dike

WINNIPEG (CP)—Flood fighters sewed up a huge rip in a dike along the Assiniboine river Tuesday night.

The mending of the 1,500-foot cut on the south bank of the river, 45 miles west of here, stopped the flow which in two weeks has created a 240-square-mile lake over rich farm lands.

Approximately 200 volunteers were to be sent to the area today to reinforce the sandbag wall.

TV Audience Across U.S. Watches Growth in Woman's Breast Removed

WASHINGTON (AP) — In full view of television onlookers across the United States, army doctors Tuesday night removed a growth from a woman's breast, analyzed it and pronounced it non-cancerous.

The dramatic public demonstration of surgery in action took place in the army's Walter Reed General Hospital and the neighboring Armed Forces Institute of Pathology.

The entire process—from removal of the suspect lump to the completion of a multi-step analysis—took only eight minutes. The TV cameras followed every step of the way. The American Medical Association described the demonstration as "unprecedented."

The patient, a 25-year-old woman, remained anonymous. After the operation, hospital officials said she came through the operation "very well."

The surgeon, Maj. Edward S. Bres, gave a running commentary as he cut into the woman's breast and snipped away the growth which was said to have been present six weeks.

Dr. Bres had it sent through a pneumatic tube to the pathology laboratories 2,000 yards away.

The surgeons stood by for the diagnosis. This would determine whether they would close the incision or go on to what was termed "more radical" surgery.

The cameras switched to the institute, where Capt. C. W. Delia, chief resident pathologist, received the growth, examined it and consulted with the surgeon over a two-way loudspeaker system.

Then Dr. Delia put the lump through the testing process.

After studying the result, Dr. Delia reported: "It's benign (non-cancerous)—yes, it's benign."

Then Dr. Delia placed the specimen in front of a television camera which carried the picture back to the operating room where the surgeon could see it. Dr. Bres then proceeded to complete the operation.

Auto Union Delays Strike, Expects New Offer from GM

By NORMAN WALKER

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corp. today was believed preparing a fresh offer to the United Auto Workers (CIO), aimed at reaching a contract settlement before a new Sunday midnight strike deadline.

Nobody at GM would say so, but union officials said they fully anticipated a new GM offer.

The union leaders said they never would have granted a five-day contract extension from midnight Tuesday night to midnight Sunday unless they felt GM was ready to do business along the lines of the recent Ford Motor Co. agreement including a guaranteed wage plan. GM requested the extension.

With the GM bargaining talks scheduled to resume this afternoon, both GM and Ford were plagued with a series of scattered wildcat strikes in plants across the United States.

Most serious was the walkout of tool and die workers, maintenance crews and skilled craftsmen in Ford's giant Rouge plant at nearby Dearborn, said to be the single largest production facility in the world.

The tool and die workers, defying local union leaders, complained that the contract provided too little for them in wage increases. They scorned wage increases of eight to 18 cents an hour, saying they wanted 30 cents.

About 1,000 of the tool workers threw picket lines around the plant, keeping out production workers. Nearly 50,000, or more than one third of Ford's over-all United States employees, work at the Rouge plant.

There is little doubt here that GM faces the alternatives on one hand of coming up with a guaranteed wage plan like that at Ford, or some other type of system to provide workers continued income while unemployed — and on the other with a certain strike.

Any GM settlement also is expected to include wage increases, pension plan boosts, and holiday and vacation improvements similar to those agreed upon by Ford.

UAW officials today were openly optimistic that they would win a satisfactory GM agreement before the Sunday night deadline.

There is speculation that GM may come up with a plan providing continued income for unemployed workers varying considerably from that negotiated with Ford. The Ford plan calls for a $55,000,000 fund to pay idle workers 60 to 65 per cent of normal income, including state unemployment compensation benefits.

Nehru Starts Moscow Talks After Enthusiastic Welcome

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru of India, who arrived here Tuesday, today began his official Moscow engagements with a call on Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Foreign Minister Molotov.

Nehru, who is making a two-week official visit, later visited the Stalin-Lenin mausoleum in Red Square and toured the Kremlin.

Thousands of cheering Russians welcomed Nehru to Moscow Tuesday in the biggest spontaneous outburst of enthusiasm seen here since the end of the Second World War.

Wildly enthusiastic crowds surged forward despite police cordons and tossed benches of lilacs and apple blossoms at the Indian leader on his triumphant four-mile drive from Moscow airport.

All Russian government and party leaders were at the airport along with the entire diplomatic colony to greet the Indian statesman.

Five Airline Employees Die In Edmonton Plane Crash

EDMONTON (CP)—Five airline employees, three of them aboard "just for the ride", were killed Tuesday when a twin-engined plane shattered and burned on a brush-choked section of an Indian reservation.

The Associated Airways Ltd. Lockheed 14 unleashed a fuel-fed trail of fire as it tore itself to pieces only half an hour after taking off from Edmonton airport on a close-to-home practice flight.

The pilot was Phillip Shallo, 33, of San Mateo, Calif., and the co-pilot Elgin Barron, 29, of Edmonton.

The other men were John Paul De Long, 30, Edmonton; Reagh Horne, 23, Charlottetown; and R. W. Schneider, 24, Edmonton.

It was the fourth crash involving Associated Airways planes in recent weeks and the second in the Edmonton area. The other two crashes were in the Arctic.

Clement Attlee Retires as Labor Leader in Oct.

LONDON (Reuters) — Clement Attlee, Britain's 72-year-old former Labor prime minister, has decided to relinquish leadership of the Labor party in October, it was learned authoritatively Tuesday.

When the party meets for its annual conference, Attlee, who has been chief of the 6,000,000-member party for 20 years, will announce that he does not intend to stand for re-election as leader.

Sources in Attlee's confidence described as inaccurate reports that he would retire from the leadership in July when Parliament starts its summer vacation.

But they confirmed that following Labor's defeat in the May 26 general election immediate changes now will take place in Labor's "shadow cabinet" — the parliamentary leadership, from which some of the veterans intend to depart.

Hugh Dalton, 67, former chancellor of the exchequer, already has announced he will not stand for reappointment in the impending elections for the shadow cabinet. It is believed James Chuter Ede, 72, former home secretary, and Emanuel Shinwell, 70, former defence minister, intend to step down as well.

THREE-WAY FIGHT

Right-wing Labor sources said Tuesday night it is a certainty that Herbert Morrison, 67, now deputy party leader, will be among those nominated for the leadership and they expect that the left-wingers will put forward their champion Aneurin Bevan, 57.

Another section of the party will press the claims of Hugh Gaitskell, 49, former chancellor of the exchequer.

United Church Quinte Clergy Told of Growth

PORT HOPE (CP) — A new United Church building has risen in Canada every 12 days for the past five years, Dr. R. W. K. Elliott said here Tuesday night at the church's Bay of Quinte conference.

The assistant secretary of the board of home missions said the United Church will continue building new churches at this rate provided "we take church extension seriously."

In keeping with this growth, the United Church population has increased 26 per cent in the past decade, Dr. Elliott said. He compared this increase with a 23.9 per cent rise in membership in the Roman Catholic Church during the same period and a 14.9 per cent rise in other non-Roman Catholic membership.

Wounded Woman Found Wandering On Railway Track

CHATHAM (CP)—Police today were investigating the apparent stabbing Tuesday night of a middle-aged woman found staggering along a nearby railroad.

The woman's name was being withheld by police until after their investigation was completed.

The woman, believed suffering from knife wounds, was reported in good condition in hospital here.

A Chesapeake and Ohio Railway train bound for Chatham was forced to stop to avoid striking the woman as she wandered along the tracks.

PAPER EXPRESSES CONCERN OVER N. A. DEFENCE

New Deputy Minister May Come from RCAF

OTTAWA (CP)—There is fresh evidence that the government's concern with North American defence—largely dependent on air strength—is growing.

It appeared Tuesday in a government white paper on defence that stressed at its outset the growing co-ordination of Canadian and United States air defence of the continent, which, the paper said, faces for the first time the possibility of crippling thermonuclear attack in its own yard.

The concern was further evident in reports that a high RCAF officer will be the new deputy defence minister.

The retirement of the present deputy minister, C. M. (Bud) Drury 43, of Montreal may be announced today.

The 59-page white paper, meanwhile, repeatedly pointed up heightened concern over North American defence as it outlined government defence policy and how the defence department proposes to spend the $1,775,000,000 it seeks from Parliament for the current fiscal year.

A COMMON NEED

Former white papers have emphasized the need of strengthening the NATO shield in Europe. But on the first page this paper said:

"In co-operation with the United States we are providing additional warning networks and increasingly effective and co-ordinated air defence forces on this continent.

"By so doing we are of course meeting a common need for home defence and, beyond that, we are also assisting in the protection of the industrial potential of North America and the retaliatory capacity of the U.S. strategic air force, both of which are of the greatest significance to all nations in the free world in the deterrence of aggression."

North America for the first time faced the possibility of an attack that could cripple the military and industrial potential of both Canada and the U.S.

"Should we ever be attacked with thermonuclear weapons, it is plain that our immediate problem would be national survival.

"Everyone not directly involved in an urgent military role would immediately be caught up in the problems of rescue, rehabilitation and the maintenance of essential services. . . ."

Thermonuclear retaliation is the most effective single deterrent to any potential aggressor and sufficient military strength must be maintained, but "we recognize that ultimately peace must rest on more enduring foundations."

Maj.-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Progressive Conservative spokesman on military affairs, lent some support to Air Vice-Marshal Plant's "scrap-the-army" speech and the apparent increasing emphasis on air defence.

Gen. Pearkes, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich and a veteran of army service in both world wars, said suggesting abolition of the army to promote a stronger RCAF was going too far. But it was inevitable that the air force would become overwhelmingly predominant among the three services in the defence of Canada.

Butler Patience Was Not Patient, Stole Heirlooms and Lost Fortune

By KEN BOTWRIGHT

NORWICH, England (Reuters)—Patience, the perfect butler, is behind bars because of his lack of patience and his greed—two weaknesses which also lost him a fortune and the chance of becoming lord of one of England's stateliest manors.

A high court judge here Tuesday sentenced 46-year-old Redwell Clifford Patience to six years for stealing family heirlooms from his dying master, Capt. Noel Thornhill, squire and lord of ancient Diddington Hall.

Patience, immaculate in a dark suit, bowed deferentially and said: "Thank you, my lord." Then he was led off to prison to ponder the loss of what his lawyer called "wealth beyond his wildest dreams."

For under Squire Thornhill's will, the Butler would have inherited vast Diddington estate in Huntingdonshire, more than £10,000 in cash, an annual income of £500 and a yearly allowance to care for the hall's dogs, three cars and his master's large wardrobe.

Thornhill made Patience chief beneficiary under his will as a reward for 27 years of faithful service.

The two were more than just master and butler. Patience was Thornhill's friend, confidante and private secretary.

Although Patience officially earned only £5 a week, he was never short of money. He boasted his master had given him over £100,000 "in one way or another," including cash gifts, 30 cars in the space of several years, and a luxurious £10,000 home of his own.

But Patience could not live up to his name and wait for his master, for years an invalid due to war wounds and a hunting accident, to die.

He began to steal family heirlooms. He teamed up with an ex-convict bartender, Ellis Haddon Rees Davies, who helped him market the stolen valuables. Davies Tuesday was jailed for three years.

Adenauer Accepts Surprise Invitation To Visit Moscow

Conditional Upon Approval Of U.S., Britain and France

BONN (CP) — Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany today conditionally accepted Russia's invitation to visit Moscow for talks, an authoritative source said.

Adenauer will tell the Russians that he must first consult the Western allies before finally accepting, this source added.

Heinz Krekeler, West German ambassador in the United States, has already sounded out U.S. State Secretary Dulles on the Soviet invitation following Adenauer' instructions, the source said.

Dulles was said to have agreed to the suggestion that the invitation should be accepted in due course.

If British and French agreement to Adenauer's proposal of acceptance is received, the next step will be for the chancellor and the Soviet government to fix a date.

DATE DEBATED

Adenauer's Christian Democratic supporters in the Bundestag (lower house of parliament generally favored acceptance but were divided as to whether the visit should take place before or after the projected four-power "summit" conference.

Some influential supporters recommended a meeting before the four-power conference. This would follow naturally upon Adenauer's coming visits to Washington and London.

Russia issued the invitation Tuesday night just five days before Adenauer leaves Saturday for talks in Washington.

Most observers agreed that it would have been extremely difficult for Adenauer to decline the bid for talks.

The chancellor, staunch exponent of his country's rearmament as an ally of the West, declined Tuesday night to comment on the Soviet bid. He was known to be personally reluctant to make such a trip because of his past policy of uncompromising anti-communism.

But pressure from political allies and foes alike at home mounted for the 79-year-old government chief to accept. Political circles here generally acknowledge that it would be difficult for him to refuse.

URGES ACCEPTANCE

Eugene Gerstenmaier, president (speaker) of the Parliament's lower house and a member of Adenauer's own Christian Democratic party, came out flatly "in favor of accepting the offer of the Russian government to resume diplomatic relations."

The leader of the opposition Socialist part, Erich Ollenhauer, said Adenauer's reaction to the Soviet invitation would clarify whether "the federal government is really prepared to negotiate with the Soviet government over German unity."

Vice-Chancellor Franz Bluecher, who leads the minority Free Democratic party in the government coalition, said, "We must most conscientiously study whatever can serve possibly to reduce world tension."

It is believed that Adenauer will take no firm action on the invitation until after his visit next week to the United States, where he will see President Eisenhower and State Secretary Dulles. He will lunch with Prime Minister Eden in London June 19, on his way home.

WOULD WELCOME VISIT

The Soviet note stated:

"The Soviet government believes that the interests of peace and European security, as well as the national interest of the Soviet and German peoples, demand the normalization of relations between the Soviet Union and the German Federal Republic. . . .

"The U. S. S. R. would welcome the arrival in Moscow in the immediate future of the chancellor of the German Federal Republic, Herr Adenauer, and other representatives whom the government of the German federal republic would wish to send to Moscow to discuss the question of establishing diplomatic and trade relations between the U. S. S. R. and the German Federal Republic and the examination of questions connected with this."

Bonn officials gave particular study to the note's mention of prospects for German reunification. The note declared:

"The establishment and development of normal relations between the Soviet Union and the German Federal Republic will facilitate the solution of unsolved questions regarding all of Germany and should thus help in deciding the main general national problem of the German people—the establishment of the unification of a German democratic state."

Informed sources said West German officials found this disappointingly vague.

Appeal to Court For Protection From Golfers

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A manufacturing company has asked a court to protect it from bombardment by golf balls.

The Frito Co. plant adjoins the Manchester golf course and driving range. There's a fence between the properties, but it isn't golf-ball-proof, the company's petition says.

Since July, 1954, balls have shattered 13 window panes and a truck windshield.

The firm's 180 employees are so leery of the danger, the suit asserts, that morale is drooping, hurting company business. For this the plant asks $15,000. It also asks the court for an injunction to end the hazard.

Mrs. Wadsworth Most Courteous Driver of Month

Legend has been reversed in Belleville and with it man's ego has been slightly pricked.

Some weeks ago the Kiwanis Club here instituted a Courteous and Safe Driving Campaign, the most courteous driver of the month receiving an award for good conduct on city streets.

Yesterday, the first winner of the campaign was announced and —keep a good grip on the steering column gents—it was a lady.

No one was more surprised than the Kiwanis themselves, when it was announced to the all-male assembly in the club centre the identity of the person, but manfully they rose to the occasion, recovered in time to applaud Mrs. Evelyn Wadsworth, 31 North Front Street, as Kiwanian Ralph Graham made the announcement.

However, equally surprised last night was Mrs. Wadsworth herself when she learned of the award.

"I could not remember what had happened when I heard about it," said Mrs. Wadsworth, wife of James Wadsworth, foreman at Corbin Lock.

She first learned about the award from Kiwanian Dick Kuntze when he called to invite her to the weekly luncheon, where the award was presented.

For her courtesy she now receives one month's free parking at any city parking meter.

HOW SHE QUALIFIED

Unwittingly she qualified for the award this way:

On May 12 she was driving her husband's car south on Front St. and was about to turn east on to Victoria. Suddenly a woman, walking with the aid of crutches, stepped out against the traffic signal into the intersection. Despite the fact that a long line of impatient motorists queued up behind her, Mrs. Wadsworth stopped her car and motioned the pedestrian across, waiting until she had reached safety to continue the turn into Victoria.

Unbeknown to Mrs. Wadsworth she was spotted by Kiwanian Dal Dalrymple, who reported the incident to the Kiwanis committee supervising the safe driving campaign.

Mrs. Wadsworth has an enviable record as a motorist, having held her chauffeur's license for 13 years now.

The award comes in the form of a sticker to be displayed on the left side of the car's windshield. After this, the first award with the conditions of the roads, because of some motorists' discourtesy and for all motorists seeking a parking spot, the Kiwanis free parking badge might well become a badge of merit as well as one of envy.

However all drivers in the city will have the opportunity of earning themselves free parking space as did Mrs. Wadsworth. The Kiwanis intend to continue the campaign, after this initial, if not off-beat victory.

Court Told Sidney Township Tax Shortages Total $16,000

Shortages of Sidney township tax money for the years 1946 to 1951, totalled close to $16,000, a Hastings county petit jury was told Tuesday at the trial of Leroy Woods, former tax collector for the township.

Woods is charged with the theft of tax monies during the above term for which he acted as tax collector. He is being tried before Judge G. F. Smith at the General Sessions of the Peace for Hastings county.

Mr. C. C. Savage, Q.C., of London, crown attorney for Middlesex county, is acting as special crown counsel while J. D. O'Flynn is acting as defence counsel.

The trial is continuing today and with a long list of witnesses still to be heard may not be completed until Thursday.

CHECKED TAX ROLL

Testifying during the Tuesday afternoon session Mr. Ross E. Neal, Deseronto chartered accountant, said that he had been employed to check the tax rolls for Sidney township and found a total of $15,930.13 not accounted for. This amount had been made up of taxes, tax penalties and interest on arrears of taxes.

He said he had found Mr. Woods' records not sufficiently complete to satisfy his requirements as an auditor. He had found no tax collector's cash book and no tax arrears ledger. The tax roll and tax demand stubs apparently formed the basis of Mr. Woods' entries.

"It also appeared that not all entries had been made on the rolls," he said.

Mr. Neal said he found Mr. Woods had not made regular transfers of tax money to the township treasurer and had also found the tax rolls for 1946 to 1951 in his possession. He said that the tax rolls should be returned each year by the collector.

Mr. Neal's auditor's report to the township dated December, 1952, was entered as an exhibit.

MANY TAXPAYERS HEARD

During the morning session close to a dozen Sidney township taxpayers were called to the stand. Asked about taxes for specific years, the witnesses replied these had been paid, some having paid by cash and others by cheque. Many had paid the year following that which taxes were due and had been charged interest for arrears.

Later in court tax rolls were produced to show that in many instances taxes paid by witnesses were listed as being unpaid.

Lee Grills, ex-warden of the county and former Sidney township reeve, told the court he had been on Sidney Township Council when Mr. Woods had been hired as a tax collector in 1946.

He couldn't recall clearly the interview with Mr. Woods but did remember he had been asked regarding his education. The interview also revealed Mr. Woods had served in the Air Force during World War II.

"How did you find Mr. Woods in a general way, intelligent or otherwise?" asked Mr. Savage of the witness.

SOME NEGLECT SEEN

Mr. Grills replied Mr. Woods had acted intelligently through the years 1946 to 1948, but in 1949 there had been some neglect in getting the tax bills out on time. He said council had brought this to Mr. Woods' attention.

"Was his explanation intelligent?" asked Mr. Savage.

"Not always, no I'd say it wasn't," replied Mr. Grills.

Crown counsel referred to the 1951 taxes of a Mr. Arthur McFarland. Mr. McFarland's taxes for that year had been over $400 but as his residence had not been fully completed, Mr. Grills said council had agreed to refund Mr. McFarland $100 when his taxes were paid.

Authorization for the refund to Mr. McFarland had been made at a council meeting in March or April of 1952, Mr. Grills said Mr. Woods had been present at the meeting and had been asked if the McFarland taxes were paid. Mr. Woods had replied the taxes were paid.

Under cross examination by Mr. O'Flynn, Mr. Grills said the township had had its books audited by licensed auditors each year.

"Was there ever any complaint?" Mr. O'Flynn asked.

"No," was the reply.

"And did the auditor always pass the books?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Grills.

CHEQUE NOT PRODUCED

"When the books were sent on to Toronto for audit was there any complaint?"

"Not to my recollection," replied the witness.

"Did you at any time attempt to get a cancelled cheque from Mr. McFarland?" asked Mr. O'Flynn.

"Yes, I was delegated for that purpose but the cheque was not produced."

Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, clerk of Sidney township, told the court he had been clerk when Mr. Woods was hired as tax collector in 1946. He said he had found Mr. Woods "very intelligent" although at times he thought he saw evidence of carelessness.

Reference was made to the 1949 taxes of G. Meiklejohn and the 1951 taxes of Mrs. Isabella Abrams. Col. Vanderwater said he had accepted the tax money from these people as an accommodation and had given them receipts. He had turned the money over to Mr. Woods but had not received a receipt from Mr. Woods.

Tax rolls for 1949 and for 1951 were produced and on checking the rolls at the request of crown counsel, Col. Vanderwater found that the taxes for Mr. Meiklejohn and for Mrs. Abrams were listed as unpaid.

Again the 1951 roll was checked for the McFarland taxes. The roll showed taxes for the year $424.15 as unpaid.

RECALLS DISCUSSION

Col. Vanderwater said he recalled the discussion in council regarding the 1951 McFarland taxes and checked his council minutes for the recommendation authorizing the $100 rebate, when the taxes were paid.

He said that Mr. Woods had said the McFarland taxes were paid but that he did not have the roll with him at the council meeting.

Under cross examination Col. Vanderwater said the township books had been audited each year by the department auditor and there had been no complaints.

He said that former township auditors Mr. S. C. Gay and Mr. George Shortt were reliable men of excellent character.

"What about Mr. Woods' record in the air force?" asked Mr. O'Flynn.

"I would say that he had an excellent record," was the reply.

Judges Will Get $2,500 Increase In Their Salaries

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's 300-odd judges will get a reported $2,500-a-year pay increase under government legislation scheduled to be introduced soon.

The government has announced it intends to increase judges' salaries but no figure was disclosed until federal informants said Tuesday the boost will be a flat $2,500.

The increase will go to all judges, from Chief Justice Patrick Kerwin of the Supreme Court of Canada, who now gets $25,000 a year, to county court judges, paid $8,000 annually.

Cars Must Stop If School Bus Taking on Pupils

District motorists are not generally aware of the new traffic regulations which came into force on June 1st, according to provincial police.

One of the most important of the new regulations is that which requires a motorist to stop behind any school bus which has stopped to take on or discharge passengers. This rule applies outside of cities, towns and built-up areas.

"Motorists just don't seem to realize that the law compels them to stop behind such school buses, Cpl. Harry Barker of the O.P.P. said today.

Other traffic regulations call for motorists to make sure that the highway is free of both approaching and overtaking traffic when about to pass another vehicle on the highway.

Also motorists must now drive on the right side of the highway where vision is obscured such as at a bridge, or a curve or on a hill.

And pedestrians using the highway must now walk on the left side facing approaching traffic.

Increased penalties have been provided for infractions of traffic regulations.

Police Blotter

City and provincial police reported all quiet on the night watch last night.

Only minor disturbances of the peace were brought to the attention of city police.

Reported stolen from Mrs. Susan Charlton was one oak table. Apparently the table was left on the verandah of her home at 178 George St. and disappeared during the night.

IN MEMORIAM

BRADSHAW. — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Vernon Bradshaw, who passed away June 8th, 1950.
Son of my heart I miss you so.
Often my darling, my tears will flow.
Dimming your picture before my eyes
But never the one in my heart that lies.
The stars seem dim as I whisper low,
My darling boy, I miss you so.
It's lonely here without you Vernon,
There's such a vacant space.
We will never hear your footsteps,
Or see your smiling face.
As the angels keep their watch up there,
Please God just let him know,
That we down here do not forget,
We love and miss him so.
Too well loved to be forgotten,
and sadly missed by Mom and Dad, sisters and brothers.

Power Boat Regatta Comes To Belleville in August

If the current optimism among members of the Bay of Quinte Power Squadron materializes into fact, and everything points to it, Belleville this summer will be the location of the biggest power boat regatta on Lake Ontario to date.

Sunday last a number of members of the local squadron sat down in the Yacht Club with representatives from other squadrons to iron out difficulties and lay the organization for the big operation which gets under way the first week in August.

"We expect 65 power boats to take part," said one representative of the local squadron, "and," he added, "there'll probably be as many onlookers."

Putting two and two together that places an estimate of the boats attending around 130 power boats, which makes the regatta seem a pretty nice thing for Belleville.

"If it comes, we hope it will be the biggest power boat regatta ever held on Lake Ontario," Bill Thompson, chief commander of Canadian Power Squadrons, said here some time ago when the forthcoming regatta was just growing out of the idea stage.

On the members of the local power squadron rests the main responsibility for tying up the ends of a scheme which eventually will mean a tie-up here for power cruisers from both U.S. and Canadian waterfronts along the lake.

This will call for organizing both mechanical and home-away-from-home services for all those taking part. Food, fuel, ice, gas and, probably most important of all, baby-sitting.

"It is going to be quite a job," one member who attended Sunday's meeting said.

The event gets underway the third day in August, following registration.

START ON AUGUST 2nd.

The boats will start to arrive for registration the second day in August and the regatta itself will get underway the following day. Racing will take up the next three days until the regatta ends August 6.

"The races will mostly be staged between here and Big Bay with one long race between Belleville and Picton on August 3rd," it was pointed out.

However these races differ from the conventional boat race in that they are paced against the clock.

"They are not racing against time here, rather are these races tests of navigation skill."

(This policy is dictated by the rules of the Canadian Power Squadrons, an organization which basically is a school for sailors, striving to instil into its members the broad basic principles of good boating. Following the principle that "a little knowledge is a dangerous thing, especially on the water," the CPS members take courses during winter months in all phases of navigation.)

"In the regatta every boat has to carry a judge and we will probably enlist the sea cadets to act as observers," the CPS member said.

"Each contestant will be given a sealed problem ten minutes before the race starts and they will have to work that out as they go along.

"They can't use charts in any race and in one of them they can't use time pieces," he said.

For Belleville itself the regatta also should bring a flush of pleasure to the cheeks of its merchants. The event will mean a new potential of holiday spenders.

Co-operation of the city in the event was promised by Mayor Jack Both, who attended the recent meeting.

Lieut. R. Boyce Takes Command Quinte Corps

Former commanding officer of the corps, Lieutenant R. Boyce has assumed command of RCSCC Quinte following the resignation of former commanding officer Lieut. R. Watson.

Lieut. Watson was forced to tender his resignation because of ill health. He had a distinguished record with the corps rising from the rank of ordinary cadet to a commission and culminating with the command. He served 14 years with the unit.

Officers and other ranks as well as officials of the corps and Navy League express their appreciation to Lieut. Watson for years of faithful and efficient service.

Lieut. Boyce has a fine background of experience. He served with the Navy during the war and was commanding officer of the cadet corps in 1951-1952.

Last Sunday the ship's company of the Quinte Corps attended an inter-corps sports and church parade at Peterborough.

At 9.30 a.m. corps from Belleville, Port Hope, Peterborough, Oshawa and Trenton marched from the Peterborough armouries for divine service.

In the afternoon the corps indulged in a fine sports program.

Settlement Delayed

TORONTO (CP)—Settlement of a strike by the United Auto Workers (CIO-CCL) at Holmes Foundry in Sarnia has been delayed for at least one week.

Company and union negotiators met here with chief conciliation officer Louis Fines Tuesday and adjourned to next Monday to give the company time to study new proposals.

The union members walked out March 23 to enforce demands for a reduction in their work-week from 48 to 40 hours a week.

1st Avondale Scouts Hold Last Meeting

The 1st Avondale Troop held its last meeting of the season on Wednesday. Scoutmaster Ralph Knowlton informs that this was a wiener roast and fathers were invited. Everybody had a good time and the dads learned a lot about why boys want to be Scouts.

A.D.C. Don Allan congratulated Scouts Peter Robson and Lowell York on becoming First Class Scouts and presented them with their badges.

Scouter Herb Middleton presented Cyclist Badges to Scouts Gordon Cameron, Gerald Oliver and Gerry Oliver.

Five Scouts won Athletes Badges at the Moira Camporee: Lowell York, Peter Robson, Bill Musgrove, Fred Thornton and Barry Daniels. D.S.M. Ken Moore pinned these badges on them.

OUTSTANDING LEADERSHIP

The Beaver Patrol, under Scout Bill Musgrove, was named the leading patrol for projects during the year and the leader was given a Scout belt for outstanding leadership.

A Scout belt was also given for the best individual progress of the year. Scout Fred Thornton was the winner of this prize. The hardest working and best all-round Scout was Patrol Leader and Acting Troop Leader Peter Robson, who received a sheath knife.

S.M. Bernard Fox of the 5th, was song leader of the evening and, as usual, made a good job of it.

The Ancient Order of the Ridge Pole was awarded to Scouter Knowlton by the A.D.C. for his inability to erect a H.Q. tent at the Camporee. There is no badge for this — just stripes.

Congratulations are tendered S.M. Ralph Knowlton and his troop on this closing meeting and wish them good Scouting for next season.

SWIMMING BADGE

Swimming classes for May resulted in one Rescuer Badge, two Scout badges and three Cub badges. The 2nd Christ Church group were the best attenders, followed by the 4th and 1st.

Regional Commissioner A. S. Lewis, has been appointed to the executive of the General Council for a period of three years. Archie keeps Belleville well to the top in Scouting circles.

Akela M. Kemp of the 2nd Cub Pack has been notified that she is to be on canteen duty at the Jamboree. Your secretary has been assigned to "Movement Control."

The Cubs are all busy little men preparing for the Cubaree on June 18th. Male leaders are urgently required for the Cub camp. Fathers of attending Cubs would be made very welcome.

A.D.C. Phil Allcorn will be glad to discuss this with you, please phone WO 8-6315.

Flying Boxcar to Transport A-A Gun to Air Force Show

TRENTON — One of the most entertaining items planned for Trenton and No. 6 Repair Depot's 9th annual Air Force Day will be a combined Air Force-Army demonstration using an RCAF C-119 Packet (Flying Boxcar) of the RCAF's Air Transport Command Operational Training Unit, and an anti-aircraft gun from the Royal Canadian School of Artillery Anti-Aircraft School at Picton. The gun crew will disembark from the Flying Boxcar and place its light A-A gun in firing position. The gun will then be attacked by a T-33 and the gun crew will return a simulated fire.

At the conclusion of the demonstration, which will take about fifteen minutes, the gun crew and their equipment will return to the Flying Boxcar to be airlifted off the scene.

The Army-Air Force demonstration will be but one of many interesting specialties presented on Air Force Day, June 11th. In all fifty aircraft and over 100 aircrew personnel will combine in one of the best programs ever presented by the busy air force stations.

PEDESTRIAN'S VIEW

Shank's mare makes you really acquainted with a town.

The automobile is a great invention. It gets you rapidly and comfortably from where you are to where you want to be—but sight-seers to the contrary it gives you little information about places in between.

A temporary divorce from his usual conveyance will do much to educate the habitual motorist.

He will be impressed by the many ways in which the automobile makes life easier and pleasant. He will also be impressed by the many sensations of which the automobile robs him.

The weary pedestrian acquires a new awareness of distances—and a new appreciation of the meaning of a mile.

He also gains an intimate knowledge of the shoulders of roads. Some are smooth and easy on the feet. Some are rocky, with sudden pot-holes to trip the unwary stroller, or to bounce the speeding driver who gets off the paved highway.

The pedestrian discovers that he has a nose and that the air is alive with smells. There is the strong odor from the garbage dump, the fishy smell from the bay, the heavy, sweet smell from a hedge, the mingled odors from a blooming garden.

Birds are not just living lumps with feathers attached. For the pedestrian they stage an air show, dipping, gliding, soaring. Or they hunt worms in shady spots, flirt and fight, sun themselves or work busily caring for their families.

The pedestrian learns much about his fellow men. Those houses that fly past the car, as like as two peas in a pod, take on individuality when viewed by the man on foot. This house has an owner who loves it—it is not only spick and span but there have been little touches added, an awning here, a stone walk wandering through the garden, a torn shingle carefully replaced. This house is well cared for like a valuable bull, painted and repaired, but without any sign that its owner is concerned about anything more than maintaining the value of his property. These two houses are both taking a beating—but one is taking its knocks from romping youngsters and another is slowly rotting in solitude.

And gardens, too, tell their tale. Front lawns reveal the superficial to the motorist. But it is the back gardens which hide the skeleton in the family closet, if the family possesses such a thing.

Here is a front lawn neat and trim—and a back yard littered with rubbish and high in grass. The owner is only interested in appearances. Here front and back gardens are a matched pair, both tended with equal care. And here are two back yards which, in different ways, are both things of beauty. One has flowers in bloom and chairs inviting the visitor to relax. The other has a bare spot under the busy swing and a wild look at the bottom of the garden where it would nevertheless be possible to pass a pleasant hour with a book and a long, cool drink.

And here, at last, is home again. Now how does it look to you, pedestrian-trained as you are? What does it tell you about yourself?

SEA IS RICH, LAND GROWS POORER

The oceans hold an answer to the world's food needs, Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent said as he welcomed delegates to the fifth annual meeting of the ten-country international commission for the northwest Atlantic fisheries.

This is not a new suggestion, but it may nevertheless prove an immensely important one if the population of the world keeps on increasing at its present pace.

Man has not commenced to harvest the wealth of the sea with anything like the efficiency with which modern agricultural methods make it possible to draw upon the productivity of the soil.

These ever-increasing demands on the soil, however, are causing concern amongst some scientists. One expert was recently quoted as fearing that the productivity of the soil was doomed to a gradual decline, because at present man returns to it little of the minerals which he takes from it through his consumption of food.

Today man pours his natural wastes through sewers into the waters of the world and then, when he dies, denies the soil the recovery of the vital phosphorus in his body by encasing his flesh and bones in lead, said this scientist.

Sewage disposal plants could solve half of this problem. Dead, man is such a small animal that perhaps the soil can stand to be permanently denied an opportunity to reclaim its own.

SUMMER GARB

There is nothing like a vacation or a heat wave to end inhibitions.

A vacation was probably responsible for this sight—a platinum blonde in a buckskin jacket. The pale gold hair, which would have looked quite in place on Broadway, and the fringed leather jacket, which would have been at home on the western plains, made a striking and unusual combination.

It was unquestionably the heat which produced the second phenomenon, with the male of the species being responsible this time. He was strolling to work looking both natty and comfortable, in a flimsy blue sport shirt which showed quite distinctly the outlines of the conventional white undershirt beneath it.

Well, after all, why not? Girls wear nylon blouses. Is an undershirt any more an unmentionable and unseeable than a brassiere?

TRUTHFUL FISHERMAN

The fish that got away was not
The biggest of its class,
And guess its weight I'd rather not.
I know it was a bass.

The minnow used for bait it took
And left to me an empty hook.

I don't expect to catch them all.
I tell no fishing lies.

I do not see a bass that's small
With magnifying eyes.
When I am fishing I refuse
To stretch the length of those I lose.

Sometimes I catch the legal few,
And many times I don't.
But later tell what is untrue
I absolutely won't.
No word deceitful will I say
About the fish that got away.

English Now World Tongue

(Brantford Expositor)

English is no longer an uncultured tongue disdained by the intellectual elite, the courts and embassies and so forth. It is as much a language of diplomacy as French (which used to hold something close to a monopoly in the field). It is condoned and even encouraged as a language of grand opera, though this is a fairly new development reluctantly assented to by the orthodox and the high-hat.

One of the most remarkable indications of this change in status and fashion, however, was given at the recent conference of representatives of 29 Asian and African nations at Bandung. This was a non-European meeting, as the term European is generally understood. Certainly it was non-white.

Yet the official language at the sessions was — English. There was no ban on French, Chinese and some other languages, but there was a proviso that persons using them must supply translations in English.

Spokesmen for India, Pakistan, Ceylon and Burma, of course, were nearly all fluent in English. Prime Minister Nehru of India and Sir John Kotelawala of Ceylon being shining linguistic lights in this respect, and General Romulo of the Philippines was equally at home in that tongue.

It is becoming increasingly the custom in Europe, notably in West Germany and the Low Countries, to accept English as the "second language", usually compulsory, in the schools. It is becoming less and less difficult for an individual who speaks English and English only to get along in the world, although it is both desirable and profitable on occasion to have at least a nodding acquaintance with another tongue.

Nova Scotia's Teachers Move

(Sydney Post-Record)

While Nova Scotia complains of a teacher shortage many a Nova Scotian teacher has sought and found a teaching assignment elsewhere in Canada. It would be interesting to have an inventory of exactly where all have gone, or will go in the coming autumn.

A dispatch from Montreal accounts for 27 of the number. More than 120 teachers trained outside Quebec have been recruited to teach in the Protestant schools of the province starting next September.

Quebec's director of Protestant education said the outsiders, added to more than 300 teachers expected to graduate from Quebec colleges should do much to help alleviate the current teacher shortage in Quebec. The outside total includes 30 from the United Kingdom; six from the United States; 27 from Nova Scotia; 14 from Ontario; 12 from New Brunswick and 22 from other provinces.

Nature's Speed Merchants

(Roy L. Abbott in Milwaukee Journal)

These words are coming to your eyes at 186,000 miles a second, the speed of light, the swiftest of all known things. Were they carried as sound waves, they would travel only 12 miles a minute, about one millionth as fast as radio.

Our fastest airplanes can go only about the rate of sound, and our automobiles hardly more than half that speed. The bullet from an army rifle moves about 36 miles a minute, and when the swiftest pitcher in any baseball league delivers his best Sunday pitch, the ball whizzes to the batter at about 95 miles an hour.

How fast do birds and animals travel in comparison with these speeds when clocked or measured?

When Jesse Owens ran the 220 yards in a fraction more than 20 seconds, he was making astonishing speed for a human being. But reduced to cold figures it amounts to slightly more than 20 miles an hour. We think we are merely crawling when we hold our cars to that rate. Our best walkers can do a mile in barely under seven minutes — an 8 mile an hour clip — and our best swimming rate for a mile is just under 21 minutes — only about 3 miles an hour.

* * *

The fastest runner on two legs is a bird, the ostrich, which reportedly can go 40 miles an hour, taking strides of some 20 feet when extending itself. It has been asserted by some hunters that it is impossible to ride down an ostrich with horses. If an ostrich can actually do 40 miles an hour, the hunters probably are right, for the best race horses can do is slightly less than 40 miles an hour. One hunter contends, however, that he has ridden down many ostriches, and if that is true, it means that the speed of these great birds, like that of other wild things, has been overestimated.

How fast are some other animals? Theodore Roosevelt estimated that an African lion could travel 100 yards in about four seconds. This would mean a rate of nearly 60 miles an hour — faster than any horse. But these big cats don't go for distance running. They make only short explosions of speed in a quick rush upon their prey, and commonly do not pursue it if they miss. The cheetah or hunting leopard, another cat, is even faster than a lion. It is credited with 70 miles an hour — the fastest thing on four legs. Common housecats, on the other hand, while they can make pretty good speed when frightened, are easily caught by a swift dog, and the same is true of the cottontail rabbit. Jackrabbits, however, can do much better.

Antelopes are said to do 60. Surprisingly enough, the biggest thing on four legs, the elephant, can increase his peculiar shuffling gait to 20 miles an hour for short spurts and he thinks little of making a 50 mile journey just to get a drink. The world's largest creatures, the whales, are said to move 10 or 12 miles an hour when in a hurry.

A fish can out-travel man — even when the man is out of water. Records show that a salmon can make 50 miles a day against a current which sets him back at least that much, and continue the speed for 30 days, covering 3,000 miles in that time. A big tuna reportedly can do 30 miles an hour while dragging a boat, and his relative, the sail fish, is said to double that speed. But it must not be forgotten that these figures come up from fishermen — and perhaps should be discounted accordingly!

Most fish are not the real lords of their realm, however, when it comes to speed. Dolphins and seals, which feed largely on fish, easily outswim them. Indeed, many birds can outswim the fishes — loons and penguins in particular. Penguins, which use their wings only for swimming, are said to move 25 miles an hour under water.

* * *

No reptile is very fast. The turtles are the slowest, the snakes and lizards the swiftest. Some of the blacksnakes or blue racers seem to go like arrows, but calm appraisal of their actual speed shows that a man has little trouble in outdistancing them.

Of course, the real speedsters among living things are the birds and insects, with the birds carrying off the most honors. A few years ago it was asserted that deer flies could fly at the amazing rate of 700 miles an hour. However, it was soon pointed out that such a rate was about equal to that of a low powered .22 rifle bullet and that such an insect—assuming it could fly that fast—could neither see nor be seen en route. Moreover, an insect at that speed would go through a person's flesh on contact, for we know that rye straws have been driven through boards by tornados.

With birds it is different. We have positive proof from experiments that sooty terns were able to return to their nests in five days after being carried a thousand miles away — and this, mind you, over territory with which the birds were unfamiliar, for they had been transported below the decks of a vessel. We also know that the wandering albatross, the bird of the ancient mariner, may cover 3,600 miles in 12 days of travel, and it is common knowledge among bird students that many birds fly the Gulf of Mexico nonstop and that the Pacific golden plovers travel twice each year over 2,000 miles of water to and from Hawaii.

How fast can a bird actually fly? We have some pretty safe data on this. Not long ago a sparrow hawk paralleled my course along a straight highway when my speedometer showed I was going almost 60 miles an hour. To my astonishment, even though the hawk was flying into a slight breeze, it kept opposite the car for over two miles. Several times I have clocked mourning doves in a similar fashion and have found that they can make 45 miles or more without seeming to be in a hurry.

* * *

I have a better check on the speed of mallard ducks. I know it is against the law to chase ducks in an airplane, but on this morning scientific curiosity overcame my scruples. For there were a dozen mallards cruising on a migratory flight, and there was 1 cruising along for fun. I pursued them and moved up close, taking care not to crowd them too closely for I didn't want one of them in my prop. It was easy to see that they were frightened and were putting out all they had to elude the mechanical bird on their tails. One hen dropped from the flock and spiraled earthward. How fast were they going? Just 65 miles an hour.

Sixty-five doesn't agree with Audubon's estimate of 120 for mallards. But Audubon may have guessed their speed with a wind at their backs, for, of course, in estimating the ground speed of a bird, we must add the speed of the wind to their real speed if they are going down wind.

Teal can undoubtedly fly faster than mallards, and some smaller birds can perhaps outfly even the ducks. Several years ago, an aviator in India reported that come cloudswifts circled his plane while he was going about 100 miles an hour.

THE GREATER JOY

George F. Baker for may years was looked upon as one of New York's wealthiest men. His bank paid dividends of 100 per cent annually. Yet Baker, the man, was little known, and he refused all attempts to write the story of his life. A statement got into circulation, however, that Baker had never been known to be philanthropic.

Not long after this statement was made Baker gave a million dollars to the American Red Cross, and this gift was repeated a year later. Since that time many have been the generous gifts from this man to many causes. Baker Library at Dartmouth involving a gift of some two million dollars, and Baker Field in New York City, to Columbia University, are but a few of his benefactions.

George F. Baker lived to be 91 and he stated to a friend that his happiest years had been those in which he had generously given money to institutions and to the public needs. He stated that these gifts yielded him his richest dividends. Many another has experienced the same. We keep most simpler things in life—men, when we give most away!

Whenever I visit Darmouth College, I go to that beautiful library that Baker made possible and I see youths all through that building absorbed in books, surrounded by treasures, from which they exact rich personal benefits. Every time I think to myself: "Here is an example of an investment that will never end!"

I look out the windows of my office to that great group of buildings know as Radio City. The Rockefellers built this famous group at the bottom of the depression to give men work. It is impossible to estimate all the joy and benefits that have been created by the elder John D. Rockefeller and his son, and the latter's sons. Their benefactions have been world-wide and I am certain that their greatest joy has been to keep giving!

Why Not Reverse Degeneration?

What happens in the course of pyorrhea is that the alveolar processes of the jaw bones wastes away. The alveolar process is the part of the jaw bone in which are the tooth sockets.

The wasting (atrophy, degeneration) is not limited to the bone. It involves the lining of the tooth sockets and the gums as well.

The familiar name for this deplorable manifestation of physical degeneration, pyorrhea alveolaris, was given the condition by old timers who had little knowledge of pathology, and it is still applied by dentists and physicians who have little knowledge of nutrition. Pyorrhea means flow of pus, and alveolus means tooth socket.

Flow of pus from one or more tooth sockets and the occasional formation of pus pockets are incidental, and no amount of treatment of such secondary effects can stay progress of the physical degeneration of the jaws.

I devote what I'm afraid is too much space to pyorrhea. But I hope two or three suggestions in the booklet may do some good and I'm sure they can do no harm in any case:

1. The patient must get an adequate daily intake of vitamins A, B-complex, C and D.
2. Talbot's solution, if and as approved by your dentist.
3. The care and regular supervision of physician and dentist co-operating.

That third suggestion is pretty important, if I do say so myself. Further I'd advise the pyorrhea patient to have no truck with either of them unless they do consult together and agree upon every phase of treatment.

When I say the pyorrhea patient must be sure to get an adequate daily ration of vitamin D, which be at least 1500 U.S.P. units daily. I assume or anyway I hope the patient is getting enough calcium from food. For the chief if not the only function of vitamin D is to promote and maintain good assimilation of calcium from food and its utilization in the body.

Any one with pyorrhea, therefore, should include in his everyday diet two or more of the high calcium foods — milk, skim milk, cheese, egg yolk, greens, peanuts and nuts, peas, beans, raw turnip, raw cabbage, raw carrot.

Bear in mind, the vitamins and calcium are not medicine and anyone who thinks I recommend them as treatment or cure for pyorrhea ought to have his head examined. Once this physical degeneration of jaw bone, tooth sockets, teeth and gums has advanced far enough to be called pyorrhea, it's a little late — though not impossible—to retard, arrest and even reverse the process.

FUTURE GLORIES

We look out over the world today with mingled feelings of hope and deep concern. We see a new age emerging, but that age is characterized by such immeasurable power that we tremble when we think of what this power may do in the hands of wicked men.

Are we going to be blown to pieces by our own inventions? One man's guess is a good as another's, but there are some of us who believe that the age in which we stand is the beginning of material glories the like of which are not even at present conceived. The formula which the late Albert Einstein left to the world will be implemented by physicists within the next generation and give us releases of power which will make atomic power look much smaller than it does today. We may travel to other planets, and the inhabitants of other worlds may visit us. We will conquer most of the great diseases of the world. Airplane busses will take the place of vehicles slowly crawling along our highways. Individually owned airplanes will be as common as automobiles today. We will devise systems whereby we can give messages to entire nations at one time without the aid of receiving sets.

Dreams? Fantasies? Many things that we have today would have been called impossible and fantastic fifty years ago.

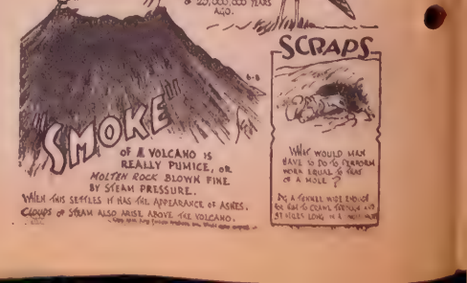
But there is another side to the picture, and we shall consider that tomorrow.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

In the past week I have been privileged to view thousands of square miles of Canadian farmlands in Ontario, Manitoba and Sadkatchewan. It was from the air. And as these countless miles of mother earth swing sweetly by, showing the endless acres of soil in all stages of cultivation, from the slap-happy efforts of the settlers on the fringes of cultivated land up to the beautifully tailored lands of the expert farmers in the old settled regions of the provinces, you gradually build up a sense of the immensity of man's labor in this beautiful country. As far as the eye can see, for hours on end, you behold the cultivated fields of Canada, all touching, all in a vast contact of husbandry, the highways and the county roads dividing them ever so lightly, but the chief impression being one of continuity of man's effort to till the soil. No amount of driving or travelling by any means on the surface of the earth will give anything like the proper appreciation of what farming means to Canada. Indeed, it is one vast farm, with even the greatest cities merely huddling in the midst.

I asked a Saskatchewan farmer how long it would take a city man, with no experience whatever in farming, to become a farmer. Suppose this age of destruction were really to distrub our social setup and city people had to flee the cities and subsist on the land, as man did everywhere a few hundred or a few thousands years ago: how long would it take a land-ignorant city man to be able to support himself and his family on the land?



"It all depends," replied the farmer, "on the man. There are plenty of men born and raised on the land and working there all their lives who never have been and never will be successful farmers. Today, there are so many aids and helps in farming, a good intelligent city man, without any experience at all on the land, might become a successful farmer in as little as two years. I could take a city man as a hired man, and, if he would surrender his city man's notions about hard work, I could teach him all I know in five years."

Your Candidates in West, East Hastings

HASTINGS WEST

IRVING A. McGAUGHEY

Irving Augustine McGaughey, 55, a resident of Trenton since 1918, is the Liberal candidate in Hastings West.

Mr. McGaughey, seeking an elected public office for the first time, was raised on a farm near Odessa, Ont., and educated at schools in Ernestown.

He joined the 146th Bttn., of Kingston, on March 15, 1916, five days before his 16th birthday, and trained at Valcartier and Barriefield. He was rejected for overseas service because of his age.

Mr. McGaughey came to Trenton in 1918 as a sergeant in charge of the guard at the munitions plant and on demobilization remained to make his home there.

He married the former Eva LaBelle of Trenton, in 1918.

Mr. McGaughey is an electrical contractor and retailer of oil burners and refrigerators in Trenton and is assisted in his business by his three sons, Leonard, Charles and Bernard, all electricians and mechanics. His only daughter, a graduate nurse, is on the staff of the Hotel Dieu Hospital in St. Catharines.

For the past 10 years Mr. McGaughey has been president of both West Hastings and South Hastings Liberal Associations. He has served on Trenton's recreation committee and on the town planning board.

W. E. SANDERCOCK

William Elmer Sandercock, 60, Progressive Conservative candidate in Hastings West, has represented the riding in the last two legislatures.

Mr. Sandercock was born and raised on a farm in Northumberland county. He left farming in 1923 to establish the Stirling Creamery in partnership with another man. He later sold his interest and went into the grocery and meat business in Stirling.

In 1920 he and his wife, the former Ethel Cranston, of Stirling, were appointed superintendent and matron of the Hastings County Home, a position they held until 1948, when Mr. Sandercock was elected to the legislature for the first time.

Mr. Sandercock entered the real estate business in 1949 and one year later established his own realty firm.

Mr. Sandercock has taken an active interest in civic affairs during his lifetime in the Quinte district. He is a member of the Belleville Kiwanis Club, Stirling Masonic Lodge No. 69, Keystone Chapter. He served on the Stirling council before coming to Belleville in 1929; was president of the Belleville Fair for four years; president of the Superintendents and Matrons Association of Ontario for two years; and president of the Belleville Anglers and Hunters Association for two years.

Mr. Sandercock has served on the select committees of the legislature for rent control, cemeteries and is currently on the toll road committee.

He is the father of two daughters and one son. His chief hobbies are hunting and fishing and he is an interested sports fan and an especially avid follower of baseball.

WILLIAM C. MUNDREY

Carrying the CCF banner in West Hastings is William Clarence Mundrey, entering the arena of the election contest for the first time.

In the service of the Canadian National Railways since 1928, the 43-year-old candidate now is a train despatcher with the CNR here.

Mr. Mundrey was born in Verigin, Sask., moving to Ontario when he was 14. Prior to his settling in Belleville in 1938, he had lived in Newcastle and Whitby.

Married to a Belleville girl, the former Marion Sallsbury, he has five daughters.

A member of the Anglican church, Mr. Mundrey for some years has been active in work for the church and for young people.

HASTINGS EAST

L. ROSCOE ROBSON

Lewis Roscoe Robson, 57, Progressive Conservative member for Hastings East since 1943, is fighting his fifth provincial campaign.

Mr. Robson was born in Huntingdon township and educated in Thurlow and at Belleville High School. He graduated from teachers' training school and taught for two years at Tyendinaga before going overseas in 1918 with the 73rd Battalion.

On discharge Mr. Robson returned to the homestead in Thurlow where he has lived ever since.

Mr. Robson served in the Thurlow council for three years before being elected deputy reeve for three years. He was reeve for six years and was serving as reeve when elected to the legislature in 1943. He was township relief officer for six years and a member of county council for nine years.

In the legislature Mr. Robson has been a member of the agriculture committee and chairman for five years; a member of the striking committee, the committee on education, the fish and game committee, lands and forests, conservation and Indian Affairs.

Mr. Robson married the former Eva May Hodgen, of Plainfield, and is the father of three daughters and two sons.

DR. D. C. McVICKER

Dr. Daniel Clarence McVicker, Liberal candidate in Hastings East, was the first candidate of any party nominated in Ontario for the present election. He was the unanimous choice of East Hastings Liberals at a nomination convention more than 15 months ago and has been actively campaigning since that time.

Dr. McVicker was born in Deseronto and educated in Deseronto public and secondary schools. He entered Queen's University on a scholarship and for two years was captain of the university's senior intercollegiate hockey team.

He transferred from Queen's to the University of Western Ontario and graduated from its medical school in 1939. He interned at St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton, following graduation and from 1940 to 1942 did post graduate work in psychiatry for the Department of Health.

He joined the RCAF in June of 1942 and was discharged in October 1945. In November 1945 he established a practice in Deseronto.

Dr. McVicker was medical officer of health for Deseronto, president of the Chamber of Commerce; president of Branch 280 of the Canadian Legion for three years, and last year was mayor of the town. He nominated Deseronto's present mayor in declining to run for a second term in order to seek the provincial seat.

Dr. McVicker married the former Bette Covert of Castleton, a graduate of the School of Nursing of the Belleville General Hospital, in 1949, and has a daughter, Dawn, 4. He has two children by a former marriage, Paul, 14, and Carole, 16.

He is past president of the East Hastings Liberal Association.

Dr. McVicker, as a member of the management committee of the Ontario Liberal party, presented a health program to the party at a closed caucus last November.

A former hockey, baseball and football player, Dr. McVicker maintains a keen interest in sports.

In seeking a provincial seat for the first time Dr. McVicker says, "I will only promise to do my best for all the people in Hastings East and for the people of Ontario generally."

ARTHUR C. COLE

Contesting the provincial government seat in East Hastings for the CCF party will be Art Cole, a locomotive engineer in Belleville.

Born in the Ontario town of Grimsby in 1899, Arthur Clyde Cole received his education in St. Patrick's School and Niagara Falls Collegiate. During World War I he joined the Divisional Signals branch of the Canadian Army in 1916 and went overseas to serve in France with the Canadian engineers.

Following his demobilization at war's end, Mr. Cole joined the Canadian National Railways as a locomotive fireman and has remained with the organization ever since.

This is not the first time Mr. Cole has been cast in the role of an electioneering politician. In the 1949 federal election he contested the Hastings South riding on the CCF ticket.

He has been active in community affairs to secure homes and hospitalization. He also has been a member of the co-operative movement for the past 15 years and of the Canadian Association of Railroad Engineers.

Naturalists Enjoy Outing North of Madoc

The weather, last Saturday, was ideal for another Quinte Field Naturalists' excursion — this time to Valleycroft Farm north of Madoc. Host and hostesses were Mr. Roy and the Misses Minnie and Alma Moorcroft. Visitors from Ottawa and Marmora joined the members.

Botanists of the club had a field day identifying the different types of ferns and other plants—royal oak, rattlesnake, maiden hair, chain, lady and Christmas, and the leatherwood and arrowwood trees.

In the morning one party climbed the high hills to the south of the farm and there at the edge of a sugar bush made a rare discovery — an oven bird's nest with six spotted eggs.

This nest of dried grass, artfully arched over with dead leaves so perfectly blended with its surroundings that it was only because the bird was frightened from the nest that it was discovered at all.

On the return trip the members of the party were feasting their eyes on the beautiful blue bunting and enjoying its delightful song when they spied a large flock of black ducks flying overhead and a marsh hawk.

DIVIDE IN TWO GROUPS

After a bounteous repast at noon two groups set out in different directions — one on foot to the sugar bush on the farm and the other in cars to the marsh.

The sugar bush party was fortunate enough to see two pileated woodpeckers, a scarlet tanager, a rose-breasted grosbeak, an indigo bunting, a rough-legged hawk, a black-throated green warbler, a chestnut-sided warbler and two beautiful Luna moths just newly hatched, their pale green wings with the dark spots so nearly the color of the foliage as to be almost invisible.

The marsh group saw the black-billed cuckoo, the black-burnian warbler, a chickadee and cedar waxwings.

The flycatcher family was well represented by the kingbird, crested flycatcher, phoebe and wood peewee.

Bluebirds, a blue jay, the red-eyer vireo, the bubbling bobolink and many more common birds rounded out the day's list.

After supper, Mr. James, the president, announced that all preparations have been made for a lecture by Dr. Broley, the eagle man, in October. He also thanked the Moorcrofts for their generous hospitality.

This very successful day was the last planned outing of the Quinte Club until the fall.

Weddings

CRAFT—HENLEY

On Saturday, May 28, at 11.00 a.m., a lovely spring wedding was solemnized in Calvary Temple, Belleville, by the Rev. Laurie Price, minister of the church, when Doris Aileen Henley, of Belleville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henley, of Frankford, R.R. No. 2, was united in marriage to Joseph S. Craft of Belleville, R.R. 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Craft. Lilacs, yellow roses, spirea, peonies and tulips adorned the church for the ceremony, and white satin bows designated the guest pews.

Miss Dorothy Fudge rendered the wedding music and accompanied the soloist, Mr. Bill McKinnon, who sang before the ceremony, "O Perfect Love", and the "Wedding Prayer", during the signing of the register.

Given in marriage by her father, Mr. William Henley, the bride was lovely in her floor-length bridal gown of Chantilly lace and tulle over satin, fashioned with fitted bodice having a Peter Pan collar and net jacket buttoned up the front, with long sleeves ending at the wrists in "V" points. Her fingertip veil of nylon lace was caught to a coronet studded with seed pearls and sequins, and she carried a white Bible crested with red roses and satin streamers knotted with rosebuds.

Miss Dorothy Henley, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, gowned in a floor-length powder blue lace and net over satin, featuring a bolero jacket with three-quarter sleeves. She wore a matching feather headdress, and carried a nosegay of yellow roses, sweetpeas, baby breath and yellow streamers.

Little Janet Post, four-year-old niece of the bride, was a dainty flower girl, demure in her short dress of ice-blue nylon over taffeta with inserts of scattered rosebuds. She wore a tiny white flowered hat and white gloves, and carried a nosegay of yellow roses, and baby breath, tied with yellow satin streamers.

Mr. Clare Elliott, of Belleville, was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. Don MacInnes, brother-in-law of the bridegroom and Mr. Vernon Henley, brother of the bride.

The reception was held in the L.O.L. Hall, Church street, where the bride's mother, wearing navy sheer with lace inserts over pink satin, and corsage of red roses, received. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother, who was attired in a navy suit dress trimmed with powder blue, and wearing a corsage of red roses.

For the wedding trip through northern Ontario, the bride chose a light blue suit with black accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Craft will reside in Belleville, R.R. 5, upon their return.

Guests were present from Trenton, Frankford, Tweed and Glen Miller.

SMITH—LOVELESS

A very pretty wedding took place in St. Andrew's United church, Marmora, on Saturday, June 4th at 1 p.m., when June Elizabeth, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Loveless, was united in marriage to Douglas James Smith, son of Mrs. Thomas Devolin and the late Gerald Smith.

The church was tastefully decorated for the occasion with peonies and spirea.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. K. J. Crawford, B.A., B.D., minister of the church.

The wedding music was played by Mrs. Roy Frost and Mrs. Allan Levoy of Pembroke, sang "Because", before the ceremony and during the signing of the register rendered "The Perfect Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was charmingly attired in blue nylon net over taffeta in cocktail length, with lace jacket, matching headdress and accessories. She carried a bouquet of yellow cornflowers, white 'mums and lily-of-the-valley.

The bridesmaid was Mrs. Ivan Lavender, sister of the bridegroom, wearing a ballerina length dress of yellow net with lace jacket, matching headdress and mitts and carrying a bouquet of blue cornflowers, white 'mums and lily-of-the-valley.

Mr. Albert Gray performed the duties of best man and Messrs. Robert Maynes and Charles Loveless were the ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where the bride's mother received in a beige linen dress with matching accessories and wearing a corsage of pink roses. She was assisted by the bridegroom's mother in a brocaded duraleen blue dress with navy accessories and corsage of red rosebuds.

Over 100 guests enjoyed a delicious buffet luncheon, served by four girl friends of the bride.

For their wedding trip to New York State, the bride chose a pale, pink dress with white hat and matching accessories and a powder blue coat.

On their return they will reside in Marmora.

MILLIGAN—FOWLER

A quiet wedding was solemnized in MacKay United church manse, Ottawa, Ontario, on Friday, June 3, at 6 p.m., the Rev. A. I. Higgins, B.A., B.D., officiating, when Audrey Fowler, Ottawa, Ontario, daughter of Mrs. Samuel Fowler, Fernie, B.C., and the late Mr. Samuel Fowler, became the bride of Jack Martin Milligan, RCMP, Ottawa, Ontario, son of Mrs. George Milligan, Belleville, Ontario, and the late Mr. George Milligan.

Mr. and Mrs. George Witherden were attendants.

The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony on their wedding trip to Fernie, B.C. Upon their return they will reside in Ottawa, Ontario.

25th Anniversary Marked By Gifts

Last Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hamilton, Halloway, were pleasantly surprised when they were invited to spend the evening at the home of their brother-in-law, Mr. Harry Tummon, and celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

The rooms were tastefully decorated with streamers and silver bells and an abundance of cut flowers. The table with its beautiful cloth in cutwork design, was centred by the anniversary cake, which had been made for the occasion by Mrs. Gilbert Sills and was flanked by tall candles in silver holders.

After some time had been spent in visiting and watching television, the group was called to order by Ralph Sills. When best wishes and congratulations had been extended to the honored couple, the presentation of a lovely set of dishes was made from the bride's brothers, her nephews and nieces.

The bride and bridegroom made suitable replies and several flash pictures were taken to record the event.

Refreshments brought a pleasant evening to a close.

Massassaga WMS Marks Anniversary

The Massassaga Woman's Missionary Society celebrated its 50th anniversary at the May meeting held in Massassaga church. The day was fine and warm and the church was well filled with visitors from Amelliasburg, Bethel, Bloomfield, Rednersville Centre and Victoria.

The church was beautifully decorated with lilacs and tulips and at the front was a birthday cake decorated in gold and white and small gold candles outlining the figure 50.

The president, Mrs. William Jose read the call to worship.

Mrs. Howard Adams welcomed the guests.

Mrs. A. Hillman gave a short history of the auxiliary which was organized on May 26, 1905 with Mrs. D. A. Walker being the first president. Four charter members survive: Mrs. J. G. Simonds, Mrs. W. F. Osborne, Miss Ella Robinson, and Mrs. E. Adams (Lettie Simonds). Two charter members were present at the meeting: Mrs. Simonds and Mrs. Osborne, also several former members.

Members of Rednersville, Centre, Victoria, conducted the devotional service based on the theme "Gardens". In her talk, Mrs. Townsend said, "God walked in the garden in the cool of the evening". Christian living is like a garden. The work we do in our churches is done as in the garden of the Lord". Mrs. Townsend and Miss Audra Brickman sang "I come to the garden Alone," and Mrs. Folkard, of Bethel, sang, "I heard the voice of Jesus say."

GUEST SPEAKER

Mrs. M. R. Davidson introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. L. Elliott, president of Belleville Presbyterial W.M.S. In 1825 some women organized a female society for the propagation of the gospel and other religious work. In 1905 home mission work began in Canada; In 1905 the first missionaries were sent to Formosa.

Dr. Bryce, who spent most of her life in India, said she is concerned because she realizes that "we are a mission field for other than Christian teaching, communism for example. Our faith in Christ must find expression in service. Our witness counts for so much. For most of us, our faith has cost us nothing. To be one with Jesus, one must bear not only His joy but His sorrow; do we know what the gospel is so we can communicate it to non-Christians? Are we witnessing as we should by teaching in Sunday School, by leading Mission Bands?"

"Teach me to love most, the people who stand most in need of love. Some day India will find out because India is seeing love."

Mrs. A. Hillman expressed thanks to the speaker.

Refreshments were served by members of the W.M.S. with Mrs. Foster, Mrs. Boyle and Mrs. Hillman pouring tea and everyone was given a piece of the anniversary birthday cake.

Three Initiated At Quintena Rebekah Lodge

The Rebekah Sisters of Quintena Lodge No. 133 were privileged once again to take part in the inspiring act of initiation as three new applicants were admitted for membership in the Rebekah degree. Mrs. Jean Derbyshire, and Mrs. Agnes Barclay were accepted and Mrs. Kathleen Easterbrook by transfer from Brighton lodge.

Although the night was extremely warm, none of the inspiring beauty of this dedicated ceremony was lost. Each sister performed her part with thought and dignity and the floor work was the beauty of precision and grace. Sister Webber's voice was rich and full, blending, as it always does, the ritual in harmony while Sister Plumpton's voice welcomed the new sisters and made those who are members joyous to belong to this great fraternity.

Tea and fruit bread was a pleasant interlude, served by Sisters Hall, Gill and Drummond in the upper hall.

Kinettes Vote $800 For Wading Pool

Winding up a year's activities on Monday evening, the Kinette club celebrated by having a pot-luck supper at St. Thomas' parish house.

At the business session, which followed the supper, president Mary Lang, occupied the chair.

Kinette Jean Smith introduced her guest of the evening, Mary Stevenson and then gave a report on the recent tag day which the Kinettes held to help the Kinsmen build a wading pool for the little children who are too young to go to the swimming pool. The net proceeds from the Tag Day amounted to $530.

KINSMEN CONVENTION

Jean Smith gave a detailed report on the recent Kinsmen convention which was held at the Mount Royal Hotel in Montreal. Jean was the delegate from the Belleville Kinette club.

$800 DONATION

A motion was unanimously passed that the club donate $800 toward the Kinsmen's wading pool and purchase a grill for the canteen. The club also voted to purchase white canes to be supplied to the White Cane club.

After the business was finished, an enjoyable social evening took place during which Margaret Bakay was M.C., as Carmen Miranda.

A fashion show brought waves of applause and several interesting contests kept the audience in roars of laughter.

During the evening, Mary Colling extracted fines from the Kinettes in a lively manner and Jean Sisler, acted as song leader.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE'S WORRIED ABOUT HER SISTER

"I don't know whether this problem is legal or emotional," begins a letter from a "Mrs. M.," "but I would appreciate any advice you can give me about it."

She then describes the problem as follows:

"My mother died recently, leaving to her two youngest children a piece of property in a very poor location. These two children are my brother, who is also the executor of the esate, and our sister who is soon to be 21.

"It is this sister who is the problem, because she is so immature.

"Because the property which we shares with my brother has now been cleared and is up for sale, she is on her own, and is now living at a place which I understand has a bad reputation. But she will listen to no one, refusing all advice. She is too far away for me to keep in close touch with her, and it is not possible for me to take her into my home.

"I know that, legally, sisters and brothers are not responsible for the welfare of each other, but could my brother be held responsible for her because he shares the estate with her and is also executor?"

I'm a little confused as to just what the problem is here.

If it has to do with the property which this woman's sister owns jointly with her brother, then it is purely a legal matter and the responsibility of the brother. On the other hand, if the main porblem is the woman's worry about the way her sister is living, then that is something entirely different.

Since legal matters are completely out of my field, I can say only that if the legal aspects are this correspondent's chief concern, she should leave them to the brother, who must take them up with his lawyer. On the other angle of the problem I would have this to say:

Even though she believes that "legally" sisters and brothers are not responsible for each other's welfare, I'm sure she does feel a responsibility for her sister and is concerned that she may get into some sort of trouble.

Since she says it is not possible for her to have her sister in her home, couldn't she, perhaps, try to persuade her at least to come to her town and help her find a proper place to live and a suitable job? If she approached her tactfully and affectionately, and in a spirit of trying to understand, the girl might actually listen.

If she did not, however, and continued refusing to accept anyone's advice, then, since she will be 21 soon., I'm afraid there would be nothing either brother or sister could do about her at the present time. They would simply have to wait developments and, if anything serious did arise, one or the other might be appointed as her guardian and then deal with the problem as seemed best.

I hope that some of this may be of help to this woman, but the problem, as she describes it, seems so general, and so vague, that it is almost impossible to make specific suggestions. If she cares to write me any further details, perhaps I could be more helpful.

Gelatin Magic

By Mary Moore

When I walk past a delicatessen counter, the items that catch my eye and that I remember are the little jewel-like individual jelly molds—bright green, beet red and golden yellow with little shreds of this and that through them to tempt the hungry shoppers.

This year I have attended two memorable smorgasbord suppers—and the jellied creations of the chefs are the never-to-be-forgotten pictures.

We women at home can work all this magic too—to impress and tempt guests and to make your families proud of your skill.

It's a simple skill since you can buy plain aspic jelly that requires only the addition of hot water—just as the familiar desserts do.

Or you can make your own plain aspic and use it to make professionally garnished molds. Buy the aspic in a box or make your own.

PLAIN ASPIC JELLY

(Jelly base for molded savory dishes—not sweet.)

One tablespoon gelatin, 2 cups plain chicken, or veal stock or boiling water, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon mixed spices, 1-8 teaspoon pepper, juice of half a lemon, 1 egg white, 1 eggshell. Put gelatin in 1-2 cup cold water. Soak 30 minutes. Dissolve over hot water. Add stock, salt, spices, pepper and lemon juice. Heat slowly, stirring constantly, almost to boiling point. Add egg white and eggshell. Bring to boil while beating. Boil 1 minute. Strain through cheesecloth. Pour a thin layer of jelly into ring, square, oblong or round mold, just a few tablespoons to cover the bottom. It is well to let this cool a little, either in the refrigerator or in a pan of ice water, until it reaches that sticky, thick, stage, just before the gelatin becomes hard. It will not take long. Into this as a cement we set our cut garnishes after the manner of laying tile, working out any planned design with stars of carrot, sprigs of parsley, strips of pimento, and rounds of stuffed olives or what have you. The designs may be very simple or very intricate. The decorations are usually confined to the bottom of the mold, which makes the top of the dish when it is turned out but if we are very ambitious and wish to put a few on the sides of the mold we can cool a little more aspic. Then if the pieces are dipped into it they will stick where they are placed until the rest of the ingredients are put in. When the designs are finished it is well to let the "cement" finish setting so that there is no danger of disarranging it.

The main part of the dish should be piled lightly into the mold and not packed down too hard. Two or three cups of chicken, turkey or veal may be run through a coarse grinder or cut in small pieces and mixed with chopped celery. Veal is also improved by the addition of a little chopped sweet pickle, and if it is freshly cooked for the purpose, it should be boiled with a generous flavoring of sliced onion, celery and bay leaves. A small quantity of chopped boiled ham with the chicken will give it a zest. When the mold is nearly filled, we pour in gently the rest of the aspic, or as much of it as is needed to fill in all the little crevices through the loosely packed meat and seel the top. Then ed meat and seal the top. Then hardening process. Turn out on fancy plate and garnish with inner lettuce leaves and tiny gerkins and white pickled onions.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

FOOTNOTES TO BEAUTY

Summertime is often hard on feet. They may swell, ache and burn in protest against the heat but, if you take care of them and see that tyey are properly shod you will have no trouble.

Remember, the foot is not merely the end of your leg; it is an important organ designed by nature to carry the weight of your body and to propel you hither and yon. And it must have an elastic quality to protect your body from jar.

When a woman buys new shoes she is likely to insist upon having the size that she has been wearing for years. She may not realize that her foot size can change with the birthdays, just as her figure may become more mature and facial contours take on different lines.

Between sizes measure only one-sixth of an inch and that small fraction can mean the difference between discomfort and ease.

The foot should be measured whenever shoes are purchased. They are longer when one stands than when one is sitting because of pressure on the soles. Also, it often happens that one foot is larger than the other; that is the one to be fitted.

The offerings this season in the way of footwear have never been more beguiling. And that is just where the danger lies. Most of us seek style and color in the hope they will make our feet look pretty. But if that stunning model you like does not provide comfort, pass it up.

Aching feet are the cause of many figure and beauty defects. They interfere with grace of motion, cause poor posture which, in turn, can destroy the lovely lines of the silhouette.

They can curdle the disposition of a saint, because one is ever conscious of discomfort. Why bear with them: The proper course is to consult a specialist, have corns, calluses and ingrowing nails treated, then provide your poor feet with shoes of the proper last to provide support and, at the same time, leaving room for your toes to wiggle.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

CHOOSING THE ENGAGEMENT RING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Who should choose the engagement ring? When should it be presented to the prospective bride? Does the bride-to-be help to choose the wedding ring with the groom-to-be? I would so very much appreciate your answering these questions in your column, for I am very confused by the fact that quite a few people have opinions contrary to what seems proper to me. — In Doubt.

Today, the procedure of choosing the engagement ring is very sensible, very practical. Gone are the days when the young man deciding to propose carried an engagement ring in his pocket and produced it triumpantly when his beloved said "Yes"! Now, the good and wise idea is for the couple to talk over the question of this so-important ring, and be completely straightforward about it. He should tell her exactly what he can afford to spend, and she should give him some idea of what kind of ring she would like.

Very often the fiance goes to the jeweler alone and has him set aside several rings of the price he can afford. Then he brings his fiancee to the store and lets her choose the one she likes best. Or, the jeweler may design a special setting for a special stone. Today's fiancee often prefers a stone other than a diamond. Quite often she prefers not to have an engagement ring, but instead to have a diamond-inset band later, an engagement-and-wedding ring in one. Indeed, modern brides-to-be have so many preferences about engagement rings that a modern groom-to-be doesn't just sally forth alone to buy the engagement ring! "Together-ness" is for the choosing-of-the-ring too.

Both the engagement ring and the wedding ring may be chosen at the same time . . . so they will "go well together." Or, the wedding ring may be bought later. Here again the general rule is that the prospective bride and groom go together to choose and fit the wedding ring, and to order the engraving they wish. (The ring is usually engraved with the initials of the bride and groom and the date of him, and his ring is a present from the wedding.) If it is to be a double-ring ceremony the groom's wedding ring is chosen and the engraving ordered at the same time as the bride's wedding ring. (Her ring is a present from her.)

CAMPBELLFORD

PC Candidate Attends Garden Party

CAMPBELLFORD — The Hon. William A. Goodfellow was guest of honor at a garden party held on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Petty on River Road.

The party was sponsored by the Campbellford and Seymour Progressive Conservative Association. Music was supplied by the Campbellford Citizens' Band. Geo. Nicholls, chairman of the Campbellford P.C. Association, spoke briefly and introduced Mr. Goodfellow, candidate in the June 9 election.

SPEAKS INFORMALLY

Mr. Goodfellow addressed the several hundred guests in an informal manner, and spoke of some of the advances that had come to Ontario under a Conservative government. He made no reference to the opposition party. Saying that his party was standing on its past record for re-election, Mr. Goodfellow urged everyone to get out and vote.

Following his short address, Mr. Goodfellow mingled with the guests, many of whom he knew personally. During his talk, he said that while it is impossible for a candidate to meet everyone in a riding such as Northumberland, he was glad of the opportunity such as that offered by the garden party, to meet as many as possible.

Half of Australian Families Buying on Instalment Plan

SYDNEY (CP)—Nearly half of all Australian families are buying items for household or personal use on the instalment plan.

This is shown in the latest survey by the Australian division of industrial development on manufacturing activity in Australia up to April this year.

The survey also shows that Australians are spending more than ever before on automobiles and large electrical appliances for the home. This spending is due to high earnings.

"During 1954 there was an increase of one-third in the total value of new agreements for hire purchase," it says. "At present one household in every six or seven is buying an automobile on hire purchase terms.

Australia now has one motor vehicle for every 4.5 persons—a ratio similar to that in the United States before the war."

$5,000 Believed Stolen Pumped Into Machines

MONTREAL (CP)—Police said Monday they have arrested a 13-year-old boy who allegedly stole approximately $5,000 within three weeks and pumped most of it into pinball machines.

The boy will be charged in juvenile court. Police said the series of thefts started May 19 when the boy allegedly took $194, a revolver and several small articles from a hardware store where he was employed. The employer decided not to prosecute.

Later, police said, the boy robbed his employer's home of $235 in cash and various items. He was dismissed following the robbery and police say he sought revenge by again trying to rob the hardware store. Unable to gain entrance, he allegedly broke into a combined drug store and post office next door and made off with $3,626 in cash.

Party Leaders Wind Up Drive For Votes With Heated Words

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ontario Liberal leader Farquhar Oliver says the Progressive Conservative government is using the "art of deception" to woo votes in Thursday's Ontario general election.

He told a rally at Hamilton Tuesday night voters shouldn't be fooled by last-minute promises of financial assistance.

"The Tories believe this sort of business still is effective. "The truth is we have grown out of it."

It was Mr. Oliver's last campaign speech before returning to his home riding of Grey South.

In other speeches by party leaders, Premier Frost said at Oshawa that throughout the campaign he has appealed to the people on the basis of his confidence in his party's record.

"Today the case has been given to the people for their unerring judgment."

TAKES THE BALL

In Toronto, CCF leader Donald C. MacDonald criticized Mr. Frost for running a "one-man show" at Queen's Park.

"In the legislature rarely does a cabinet minister come under fire from the opposition benches but the premier steps in and takes the ball away from him," Mr. MacDonald said.

Mr. Oliver said the premier, visiting Hamilton 10 days ago, found his government could overlook a technicality and make a grant toward the final $10,000 cost of a new school.

"I don't suppose you can stop this habit, but it's particularly detestable when Mr. Frost is campaigning on the fact he is making no promises.

"From that high plane of political morality he shows the public, he immediately turns to his old game of making a lot of little promises behind the scenes."

Mr. Oliver said the "Tories have shamefully played politics with financial assistance for municipalities through which provincial highways pass."

WOULD PAY 100 PER CENT

"If there was a strong Tory vote at the last election and the member has a lot of influence at Queen's Park, the province pays 100 per cent of the cost of the streets covered by the highway.

"If an opposition member was elected, the government pays a much smaller percentage."

Mr. Frost told 200 persons at a garden party that he'd been refreshed, impressed and heartened by all the signs of development he'd seen during his three-week campaign tour of Ontario.

He said it is his government's task to provide environment for expansion and development of industry and work and wages for the people.

"I have seen fabulous and unbelievable changes in the economic position of the province," he said.

The spirit the Progressive Conservative government believes in is co-operation between all levels of government and people of goodwill.

"I knew we have contributed to that spirit."

Mr. MacDonald said Premier Frost intervenes in questions in the legislature either "out of a bad habit of running the show himself all the time or, what is more likely, because he's fearful of how the minister will fumble the ball."

He said half of the back-benchers wouldn't be in the legislature "if they hadn't ridden into power on the coattails of the premier."

Premier Frost returns today to his hometown of Lindsay in Victoria riding. Mr. Oliver will speak at an informal rally at Hanover.

Washington Praises Canada's Handling of Plant Issue

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP) — Defence department officials expressed admiration Tuesday for Canada's handling of an air vice-marshal who spoke out of turn and suggested the army be abolished so more money could be spent on the air force.

With an eye on U.S. defence officers who often make statements verging on political matters, they echoed the sentiment expressed by Defence Secretary Charles Wilson at his weekly press conference late Monday when he heard of the Canadian move.

"I have always liked these Canadian people for the way they go about their business," Wilson told reporters in brief comment on the Canadian government's decision to remove Air Vice-Marshal John Plant as air member for technical services and make him officer commanding the air materiel command.

Defence Minister Campney, announcing Plant's transfer in a Commons statement at Ottawa Monday, said the air vice-marshal's comments about the army, though made in jest, were "highly inappropriate coming from a service officer."

Three months ago Admiral Robert B. Carney, chief of naval operations, gave reporters a background off-the-record statement forecasting a Red Chinese attack on the offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu by mid-April—a forecast reported to have angered President Eisenhower. Last month, in a surprise nomination, Carney was replaced by Rear-Admiral Arleigh A. Burke. The White House insisted the replacement had nothing to do with Carney's forecast last March.

Similarly, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway recently was succeeded as army chief of staff by Gen. Maxwell Taylor. Ridgway, who asked for retirement, had acknowledged publicly that he opposed the administration's manpower cuts in the army.

Newly Hatched Brood of Swans Appears on Lake

ST. THOMAS (CP)—For the first time in 15 years a family of cygnets appeared on the lake of Pinafore park here Tuesday.

They are the newly hatched brood of a cob imported last February from the famed flock on the Avon river at Stratford, Ontario, and of a female from the zoological gardens in Edinburgh.

Six of seven eggs in their nest in the swampy, upper reaches of the park lake hatched Tuesday, and soon after the downey youngsters went for a brief cruise with their parents.

Another pair of mated swans have a nest of five eggs due to hatch in about two weeks.

Quickly smothers flames. Stops fire spreading. Better than sand or water. Can't harm motor. Always keep a package of baking soda in glove compartment for emergency use.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO WEDNESDAY, JUNE 8, 1955

Ontario Residents Will Go To Polls on Thurs. to Elect New Govt. for Next 4 Years

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario decides Thursday whether to retain in office the Progressive Conservative government which has run its affairs for the last 12 years.

The alternative choices facing some 3,000,000 eligible voters are the Liberal party, campaigning with renewed vigor under the leadership of veteran Farquhar Oliver, and the CCF which seeks to recover from a crushing defeat in 1951 which left it with only two members in the 90-seat legislature.

Standing at dissolution May 2: Progressive Conservative 78, Liberal 6, CCF 2, Liberal-Labor 1, Labor-Progressive 1. There were two vacancies, in Progressive Conservative seats. In the interval since the 1951 election, the government increased its strength by one, ousting the Liberals in a Niagara Falls by-election.

MORE MEMBERS

The new House will have 98 members, first change in Ontario representation since 1934 when the number was reduced to 90 from 112. Three seats were added in the growing Toronto metropolitan area and another by separating the industrial Oshawa area from Ontario riding.

The Ottawa, Hamilton and London districts each got one new member. Sudbury district, which formerly returned one member, was given two—one from the city and the other from the district which was re-named Nickel Belt.

A total of 314 candidates is in the field, just three short of the record 317 of 1945. The Progressive Conservatives are contesting 97 of the 98 seats. They haven't an official candidate in Renfrew South where James S. Dempsey, member of the last House who lost party support for not reporting a 1951 campaign contribution, is seeking re-election as an independent Progressive Conservative.

The Liberals put 94 men in the field and also stood behind Liberal-Labor candidates in the northwestern Ontario ridings of Kenora and Rainy River where Liberal and Labor organizations have co-operated for years. The CCF ran 30 candidates. Communist Labor-Progressives are running in 31 seats. The list is completed by 10 others.

HELD ADVANCE POLL

The voting started last week when advance polls were open for voters who expected to be away from home on election day. Formerly, only restricted occupational groups such as commercial travelers and railwaymen were eligible to vote at advance polls in Ontario. In this election, voters simply had to sign a declaration that they expected to be away from home on election day to qualify.

Ontario's 40,000 or so active servicemen were voting by mail. However, election officials estimated that only about 8,000 were likely to cast ballots. Servicemen got the ballots by applying in advance and their home constituency was determined by their declarations of their home addresses under federal voting regulations. Those in Canada have to mail their ballots by midnight tonight, and those in the United Kingdom and Europe by midnight election night. Service ballots will be opened in Toronto a week after the election.

INDIANS TO VOTE

In this election, the franchise is extended to all Indians of voting age—there are some 18,000 in the province. Their reception of the vote is mixed. Among the Six Nations Indians in the Brantford area, the hereditary council of chiefs urged reserve Indians to boycott the polls. In other areas, particularly in the northern part of the province, there were signs of keen interest.

The Progressive Conservatives are making a second bid for power under the leadership of Leslie Miscampbell Frost, the province's treasurer since 1943 and premier since 1949. In his first try four years ago the party captured the greatest legislature majority in the party's history.

Mr. Oliver, in the legislature continuously since 1926 when he was elected as a United Farmers of Ontario member, is also leading the Liberals for the second time. His last try was in 1948 when the party wound up in third place with 13 seats against 21 for the CCF which became the official opposition for three years. In 1951 the Liberal leader was Walter C. Thomson.

The CCF has a new leader, Donald C. MacDonald, taking over from E. B. Jolliffe since the last vote. Mr. MacDonald, former school teacher and newspaper man is a native of British Columbia.

Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. EST. In points on eastern daylight time, the hours will be 9 a.m. to 8 p.m.

In the northwestern ridings of Kenora and Rainy River, close will be an hour later than in the rest of the province since they are in the central time zone.

Harris, Drew Reject Proposal Of CCF Member

OTTAWA (CP)—A CCF member's proposal that cabinet ministers be prevented by statute from holding directorships in private corporations has been rejected by Finance Minister Harris and Opposition Leader Drew.

Mr. Harris told the Commons Tuesday that a bill sponsored by Stanley Knowles, Winnipeg North Centre, either should be withdrawn or referred to a Commons committee for study.

Prime Minister St. Laurent previously had said the question "is a matter for the conscience of ministers." However, Mr. Drew said, it actually is a matter for the conscience of the prime minister.

"Under our system the prime minister is called upon by the representative of the Queen, or of the king, as the case may be, to form a government. The ministers are not chosen by the crown; the prime minister is asked to form a government. The members of that government are answerable to him and it is his conscience which is the determining factor."

Mr. Harris said he would favor a rule that would guide Canadian prime ministers without binding them in making decisions on the question.

He had found no case where the United Kingdom or any other Commonwealth country imposed such a statutory bar.

"It cannot be expected, it would seem, that a minister remove himself entirely from trade and commerce so he could not resume earning a livelihood if he ceased to be a minister," Mr. Harris said.

Plead Not Guilty

TORONTO (CP)—Hans Tkaczyk, 51, proprietor of a service and information bureau for immigrants Tuesday was remanded to June 14 on a charge of theft of money from new Canadians booking passage to Europe through the bureau.

An assistant, Armin Ellenberg, 25, was remanded on the same charge.

Two persons, Renata Sauer and Gerhard Wiegand, said they had given money in advance to Ellenberg for boat tickets but had heard nothing of their tickets.

Both said Ellenberg had told them he gave the money to Tkaczyk.

Ellenberg and Tkaczyk pleaded not guilty to the charge.

PETRILLO UNOPPOSED

CLEVELAND (AP) — James C. Petrillo was nominated without opposition Tuesday to his 16th one-year term as president of the American Federation of Musicians (AFL).

IVANHOE

Christian Mission Work Topic At St. Andrew's

IVANHOE — St. Andrew's Presbyterian Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Benson on Friday evening. The president, Mrs. Harold Thompson, presided and opened the meeting. Psalm 95 was read by Harold Thompson. The treasurer's report was given by David Fargey.

It was decided to purchase dishes for the church kitchen. A piano solo was given by Beverley McInroy and a reading, "The Men I Know," by Bessie Fleming.

GUEST SPEAKER

The president introduced Mr. Donald Wilson, guest speaker for the evening. Mr. Wilson, who has spent the past months in the University of Alberta, Edmonton, plans to leave for Chile in July. After spending six months in Argentina studying the Spanish language. He will be general secretary of the Student Christian movement in Chili, and hopes to set up a hostel for Protestant students in Santiago University.

This Christian mission work is supported through the assistance of the Anglican, United and Presbyterian Church boards and Canadian students. This is one of the first projects the Canadian churches have jointly supported.

It was of particular interest to the club to know that Miss Laura Pelton, overseas secretary of the WMS of the Presbyterian church of Canada, has been active in promoting and supporting this work.

Mr. Wilson, in speaking of lands of lesser freedoms than Canada likened North America to rich suburbs surrounded by slums. Canada's standard of living is so much higher, there is no comparison.

"In Europe some of the churches are like driftwood, left high and dry, having no influence on life about them. Are we too complacent? Are we sympathetic to the hunger and despair in distant lands, and what are we doing to make life happier and richer for them?"

John McInroy, on behalf of club members, thanked Donald for his challenging address; wishing him success in his work and health and happiness in his three and one-half year sojourn in Latin America.

PROGRAM

Piano solo, Helen Fleming; reading, "Spring Cleaning," Mrs. A. Hassall; solo, "The Little Red School House," John Haggerty.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants.

Senator Praises Canada's Action With Vaccine

WASHINGTON (CP) — Senator Richard Neuberger (Dem. Ore.) Monday held up Canada's polio vaccine standards as an example of how safety requirements should have been handled in the United States.

Neuberger was speaking in reply to one of three Republican senators who backed up Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby in her handling of the Salk vaccine program.

"Attacks on her have been unfair and uncalled for," said Senator Frank Carlson (Rep. Kan.). "Some people have tried to use this great humanitarian program for political reasons."

DOUBLE TEST

Neuberger said in reply: "Why was this vaccine not subjected to the strict double test which was routine in Canada?

"There was real safety in Canada—two tests for all vaccine. There was no such safety in the United States. The Republican administration never required such care. Safety is one thing that has been utterly neglected in our own country—at least, it was neglected until children were tragically infected with defective serum."

Meanwhile, the U.S. public health service Monday cleared approximately 1,000,000 cubic centimetres of the vaccine—enough for about 1,000,000 shots—for immediate distribution.

The cleared vaccine is the product of Eli Lilly Co. of Indianapolis and is the first release of fresh vaccine since before May 4. The action also marked the first release of any new vaccine since new standards for producing and testing were imposed on manufacturers 10 days ago.

Farm Girl Drowns While Swimming

ELK LAKE (CP) — Lennie Coghill, 16-year-old farm girl, was drowned in the Montreal river Monday night.

The girl was swimming with a friend, Jack Gagnon, 21, near the shore of the river where it flows past the farm of her father, Len Coghill.

Lennie got into difficulties about 25 feet from shore and Gagnon struggled to save her, but she slipped from his grasp and disappeared below the surface into deep water.

For the Coghill family it is the third misfortune within three years.

Last January their home was gutted by fire and the family lost all its furniture. Two years ago while Mr. Coghill was driving a truck loaded with logs the vehicle overturned and he suffered injuries which sent him to hospital for several months.

A Simple Platform—

Tomorrow, June 9, is Election Day in Ontario.

The Progressive Conservative Government of Premier Leslie Frost comes before the people asking them to renew the mandate granted three and a half years ago.

Now, as then, the administration stands on the record of its accomplishments, the great projects which are already under way, and its far-reaching policies and plans for the continued prosperity of Ontario and its people.

Under Progressive Conservative leadership, the development of our Province has been greater than ever before in our history.

"SOLID ACHIEVEMENTS

HUMAN BETTERMENT . . . this year's Human Betterment expenditures in Education, Health and Welfare will total $175 millions or almost half of all provincial revenues . . . our labour legislation is the finest in the world . . . recognition of collective bargaining, vacations with pay, and limitation of work hours, are Progressive Conservative achievements in Ontario.

WELFARE . . . Premier Frost's Initiative at Ottawa secured Old Age Pensions for all at 70 and for needy senior citizens at 65 . . . blind pensions, mothers' allowances, children's aid and other services have been greatly extended . . . pensions for the disabled have been introduced . . . payments for human welfare have been increased by 20 times.

MUNICIPALITIES . . . one of the greatest of all Frost government accomplishments is the increase in financial aid to local taxpayers from less than $20 million in 1943 to $167 million this year. About 45 cents of every provincial revenue dollar is being paid to our townships, towns, villages, counties and cities.

HUMAN DIGNITY . . . official recognition of the great ideal of Human Dignity regardless of age, health, financial status, race, creed or colour has been a great Frost government accomplishment . . . discrimination is outlawed in employment and accommodation . . . Indian citizens have, for the first time, been given full civil rights.

HEALTH . . . provincial assistance has added 25,000 new beds to Ontario general hospitals compared to none under the previous government . . . a sure foundation is being laid for national hospital insurance . . . Ontario led the world in free distribution of the Salk anti-polio vaccine . . . free medical service is given to thousands of needy persons.

My friends:

It has been a great experience once again to meet so many of you during the last few weeks and to report to you personally on our stewardship in office.

An election is democracy in action.

It is our responsibility both individually as your elected members, and collectively as your Government, to report to you from time to time in this manner.

It is your privilege to record your decision at the polls.

As a government, we honestly believe that we have carried out your wishes in the things we have done and in the way we have done them.

We now ask your permission to carry on our projects and to carry out our policies in the best interests of all our people.

I hope we are going to have a record vote at the polls tomorrow.

To that very desirable end, I urge each and every one of you to exercise your franchise and vote according to your own good judgment.

Yours very sincerely,

Leslie M. Frost

Vote PROGRESSIVE

Good Government

Great projects, which were merely talked about for years, have been started.

Four hundred thousand new jobs have been created.

Our standard of living has been raised by a third—an achievement in Human Betterment unsurpassed anywhere.

Almost fifty per cent of the entire provincial revenue is being devoted to Education, Health and Welfare.

Ontario's per capita debt has been reduced.

Our taxes are the lowest in Canada.

Our credit is the highest in history.

The issue in the election is the continued progress and prosperity of our Province and People.

The Progressive Conservative platform is Continued Good Government.

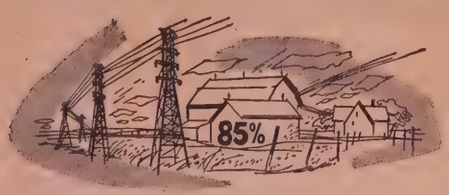
The Pledge of our Party and of our Members, Candidates, Workers and Supporters, is to carry on and extend the policy of Human Betterment which has been the hall-mark of achievement of Premier Frost and his administration.

AND SOLID PROSPECTS . . . "

HOUSING . . . far-reaching financial aid is being extended to all types of housing . . . last year 41% of all construction in Canada was in Ontario . . . the creation of Metropolitan Toronto sparked the biggest housing advance among our big cities, a 72% increase in one year . . . new legislation provides for generous farm home loans.

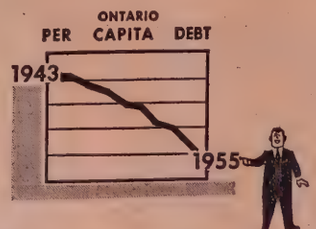
FEDERAL-PROVINCIAL RELATIONS . . . Premier Frost's ability to get along with others has paid huge dividends to the Province . . . examples are the St. Lawrence and Niagara power developments, the Trans-Canada highway, housing, old age pensions, health, hospital and welfare projects.

HIGHWAYS . . . the biggest construction program in history is in high gear . . . government construction projects will provide 175,000 new jobs this year . . . beginning in 1952, Departmental procedures have been completely modernized . . . irregularities found in half a dozen of 1,641 contracts examined have been prosecuted in the courts.



AGRICULTURE . . . new marketing legislation gives farmers broad powers to control marketing of their products . . . over half of all farm homes with hydro were added under the present government—72,000 in the last three years . . . major improvements are under way in rural telephone service . . . junior farm loans have been instituted . . . community halls, rinks, etc., have been built with government help.

EDUCATION . . . equality of Opportunity for all children, the great abiding objective of the Frost government, is being achieved. Education assistance has increased from $13 million to over $102 million this year. Additional new grants have just been made. Education expenditures will be increased.



NATURAL RESOURCES . . . Frost government action has put forest management on a sustained yield basis . . . 85% of the land area of Ontario is now vested in the Crown and belongs to the people . . . mining access roads and other provincial measures are pacing the fabulous growth of the North . . . Conservation Authorities are adding millions to the physical assets of the province.

HYDRO . . . the power shortage crisis caused by the previous government has been met and mastered. Hydro's capacity has been increased from just over 1 million h.p. to 6 million. St. Lawrence power is a reality. Niagara's full capacity is being developed. 85% of rural Ontario has hydro.

ATOMIC ENERGY . . . the atom is being harnessed by Hydro for civilian uses. It is already rendering great service in cancer treatment under provincial grants. Ontario is co-operating with Ottawa in a $15 million experimental atomic power project.

TAXATION . . . all the accomplishments outlined have been attained without adding any new taxes . . . there have been tax reductions each year . . . Ontario's taxes are the lowest in Canada . . . our budget has been balanced every year . . . per capita debt in Ontario has declined by $2.29 under Premier Frost's administration.

Yankees Going 'Steady' With Indians As Tribe Slips Back To Third Spot

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

CHISOX AT TORONTO

Baseball fans of the district who are on the Chicago White Sox bandwagon, will get the chance to see their favorites in action without hiking to the Windy City. Frank the "Horse-Trader" Lane and his Pale Hose will be in Toronto on the night of June 27 to play an exhibition tilt with the Leafs. And in case you're interested in this phase, the box office tab will be the same as International League games.

The Leafs had the Milwaukee Braves for a show-window exhibition last year and the ruckus ended up in a four-all tie. But Marty Marion, boss-man of the Sox, says he doesn't intend to let this happen to his boys when they visit "Hank's Hangout" this season. "Mr. Shortstop" has given warning to the Cooke crew that he intends to "hang one" on them whether they're leading the league or not.

And to make sure of this Marion is trotting out all his stars which include Walt Dropo, Bob Nelman, George Kell, Sherman Lollar, Minnie Monoso (if ready to play), Jim Rivera, that base-stealing boso; Nellie Fox, Chico Carrasquel, and the rest. Looks like a big night for Toronto.

HOW, NOW, MR. B.?

Page Mr. Avery Brundage, head of the International Olympics Committee, who paid a visit to Russia a while back and came back with glowing accounts of the Red adherence to Olympic codes. "There is nothing that I saw that makes me think Russia is deviating from the Olympic amateur code," he is reported as saying.

Mr. Brundage saw what he was supposed to see and nothing else. He was shown what the Reds wanted him to see and nothing else. Perhaps he was too busy peering into community activities to find out whether some big-hearted commissar had presented a local athlete with an automobile.

Somebody should send him a copy of the June 6 issue of Life magazine so he could read what Col. Yuri Rasvorov, former high officer in the Russian secret service says about the situation.

Lt.-Col. Rastvorov, who defected to the West 17 months ago, says that athletics are a weapon of state to the Russians. They regard an Olympic victory as the fulfillment of their present aim of world supremacy in sport. To achieve it they have regimented Soviet sport, and their so-called amateur athletes are in reality highly paid professionals. The Reds will use "any means, however far-fetched, devious or plain dishonest to assure Soviet victory."

While Soviet propaganda persistently shouts that "there are no professional athletes in the USSR," Rastvorov says that each of the great, government-supervised sports clubs hires and retains promising players through its own unique system of coercions and rewards, with stars ending up as full-time athletes. These full-time athletes spend as much time at their sports as any member of an American big league baseball team, and their rewards are comparably handsome.

A member of the winning team in the Soviet equivalent of the World Series—the All-Union Soccer Championship—receives a bonus of 5,000 rubles ($1,250) and a share of the gate receipts. Rewards for many stars, plus their pay from jobs they nominally hold, enable them to live as well as top bureaucrats.

Other flagrant special privileges given Soviet athletes include comfortable officer commissions and deferment from arduous duty. Rastvorov himself had his army orders for the Finnish front in 1940 cancelled because he was a member of a sports club team.

Between now and the 1956 Olympics, the world can expect to see more and more Soviet teams abroad winning more and more victories in such sports as skiing, gymnastics, marksmanship and track. Soviet athletes will probably set new records as they have already set them in many sports. These same teams of rigidly controlled and highly-paid "amateurs" will then appear at the Olympics.

WHAT A SHOW!

That twosome of Texas tornadoes, Dick Raines and Lou Plummer, have a reputation as stormy ring disturbers. They'll need more than a reputation when they step into the ring at the Memorial Arena on Friday night, 'cause they'll be facing the unique alliance of Pat Flanagan of Toronto, and Prince Maiava, strange Samoan native, with his tom-tom beating coach, Cocoanut Willy.

Maiava is enough to startle anyone, even a Texan, by his appearance. Huge mane of hair, with which he tosses opponents across the ring if they grab it, bare feet, with which he walks on spikes and puts out cigar butts, a weird but highly effective ring style, combine to make Maiava one of the most awesome personalities to be seen, in or out of a ring. With the versatile Flanagan on his side, the Texans figure to be a very confused combination.

Garver Gouges Gothamites, Red Sox Clobber Indians 9-5; Brooks Stay Eight Games Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

With Stan Musial starting to hit again, things may be getting better any day now for the fifth-place St. Louis Cardinals.

Musial is the gent who owns assorted National League batting titles and St. Louis restaurants. And when The Man is dishing out base hits, Cards eat high off the hog.

Stan has had his usual slow start so far, but he's perked up when Cards needed him most. Musial is up to .317 as of today, moving up on a 13-game revival in which he's hit .375.

It was Musial who in early May kept the Cards from sinking into seventh place by getting three-for-five against Philadelphia in a 6-5 St. Louis victory. On May 27, the day he started his current upswing, Stan had 2-for-3 as the Cards beat Cincinnati 7-4 and jumped to fifth.

Tuesday night, Red Birds again were on the verge of slipping into seventh place. And voila! Musial smacked three-for-five, drove in three runs and scored himself in a 5-4 triumph over the Phils.

TIE REDLEGS

That eased Cardinals into a fifth-place tie with Cincinnati after Redlegs had been blanked 4-0 by the first-place Brooklyn Dodgers.

Brooklyn stayed eight games up as the runner-up Chicago Cubs came from behind with four runs in the sixth to beat Pittsburgh 4-3 while Milwaukee Braves knocked New York Giants out of third 13-4.

In the American, New York Yankees remained 4½ games out front while losing to Detroit 4-3 in 12 innings. Chicago White Sox—rained out in their game with Baltimore—slipped into second place .005 percentage points ahead of Cleveland as Indians lost to Boston 9-5.

The only other American League action went to Washington, with the Senators sweeping a twi-night twin-bill at Kansas City 3-2 and 7-3.

At Philadelphia, Musial's two-run double in the eighth drove home the winning run off loser Murry Dickson. Harvey Haddix won his third with relief help from Frank Smith after giving up earlier two-run homers to Del Ennis and Jim Greengrass.

NO HOMERS

Brooklyn missed hitting a home run for the first time in 13 games, but Redlegs managed just five hits off Johnny Podres, who won his sixth. Frank Kellert had three Dodger hits.

Milwaukee clobbered the slumping Giants with six runs in the second that sent Johnny Antonelli to his seventh defeat. Braves, who now have won five of six and are above .500 for the first time since May 19, got five more in the ninth as Chet Nichols won No. 5 with help from Warren Spahn.

Giants, now a half-game back of Braves, lost shortstop Al Dark for an indefinite period when x-ray revealed a pair of bone chips suffered when he was hit on the left hand by a pitched ball Sunday.

Five singles and an error pulled the Cubs from behind in the sixth at Pittsburgh to shorten the night for Mux Surkont. Darius Hillman, Hal Jeffcoat and Howie Pollet combined in relief to save Warren Hacker's sixth victory.

FIRST IN SIX YEARS

Fred Hatfield's homer off reliefer Tom Sturdivant gave Ned Garver his first triumph over the Yankees in six years. Eddie Robinson smacked a two-run homer and Joe Collins a bases-empty clout for Yanks, whose last 16 runs have come on home runs.

Rookie Herb Score didn't survive the first inning against Red Sox as Ted Williams hit a two-run double. But after Cleveland tied it at three-all in their half of the frame to chase Mel Parnell, Boston got four runs in the fourth off loser Art Houtteman to win it for George Susce.

Three runs in the ninth—with Bill Wilson's three-base error letting the lead run score—broke up Alex Kellner's shutout and won for Senators in the opener at Kansas City. Mickey McDermott gave 13 hits and walked six in the nightcap, but hung on for his fifth victory.

Carlos Paula, Washington outfielder, reached across and hit a sacrifice fly in the second game as rookie Art Ceccarelli attempted to give him an intentional walk.

Charles Meets Holman Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP) — Whether former heavyweight champion Ezzard Charles figures any longer as a top-flight fighter may be determined tonight when he meets John Holman of Chicago in a bout scheduled for 10 rounds.

Holman scored a technical knockout over Charles in the ninth round at Miami Beach, Fla., April 27. Charles, although down in the first round, had come back and was ahead on points until Holman battered him into helplessness and the bout was stopped.

It was only the fourth time in 15 years of ring battle that the Cincinnati belter had been stopped. Lloyd Marshall scored a knockout in 1943; former champion Joe Walcott did it to win the heavyweight title in 1951, and Rocky Marciano did it last year.

Holman has been boxing since 1947, but his record was not too impressive until last year. He was stopped several times, twice by Bob Satterfield.

No Big Favorite in Queen's Plate 'Yer Pays Money, Takes Choice'

TORONTO (CP)—The 96th running of the $20,000-added Queen's Plate is only four days away and there isn't an outstanding favorite in the field.

Six or so thoroughbreds are ranked as outsiders for the 1¼-mile classic at Woodbine Racetrack Saturday.

Much of the big money is going on the stretch - running Senator Jim, a grey colt who is being quoted at 5-to-2 odds to win the event for the Stafford Farms of Toronto.

Seventeen candidates are likely to go postward in the race for the Queen's 50 guineas but the feeling is that only about 10 of them belong in the same company with such outstanding three-year-olds as Senator Jim, Toronto-owned Loyalist and Ace Marine.

HOPE FOR UPSET

Some owners apparently are willing to pay the final $250 entry fee Thursday just to see their colors on parade before the 15,000-odd fans who are expected to jam into old Woodbine.

Then again, there's always the chance of a stunning upset. But history is against it. In the last 30 years only four longshots have won and kicked back more than $8.70 for a $2 ticket. They were Maternal Price, who paid $192.35 in 1924, Pacilita, who returned $76.50 in 1943, Moldy, $36.50 in 1947, and Epigram, $25.05 three years ago.

If 16 horses start, the gross purse will be $32,395. The experts say a field of this size would aid fast-breaking horses such as Baffin Bay, a filly owned by Mrs. R. Y. Graul Jr. of Montreal, and Ace Marine, Larkin Maloney's bay colt who was the only double winner of the two sets of plate trials.

ACE MARINE THIRD

Baffin Bay has been jumping around at odds of from 10 to 1 to 20 to 1. Ace Marine is the third choice at 5 to 1. Second choice at 4 to 1 is Loyalist, the highly touted brown gelding who failed to win in the Plate trials but is expected to give a good account of himself when the Plate is at stake.

Not to be forgotten is Fairator, owned by Jim Fair of Cainsville, and Bernford, the chestnut colt in the Stafford Farms stable. Fairator and Bernford have been backed down to 8-to-1 odds.

Scarboro Lass, a 30-to-1 shot owned by Ben Steen of Toronto, and Windermere and Merry Life also worked out and did the mile in 1:42.

Silver Spat, surprise Plate trial winner owned by Andy Adams of Winnipeg, looms as a darkhorse. He is quoted at 15 to 1. There are longer shots, though. Great West, owned by Mrs. D. J. Kennedy of Winnipeg, and Springhurst, in the stable of Vince Sheridan of Toronto are going at 40 to 1.

TESTS THREE STYLES

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP)—Middleweight champion Carl (Bobo) Olson boxed six rounds Tuesday against three sparring partners, trying out different styles with each.

Olson now has boxed a total of 58 rounds in preparation for his light heavyweight title scrap with champion Archie Moore at the Polo Grounds, June 22.

Olson has admitted that he considers Moore's "sneak right hands" the one punch that he must be prepared for.

"I know that he's got a good right hand but I'm not going to give him a chance to use it," said Olson.

Commission Ends Boxing Probe Big Question Is-Now What?

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pennsylvania athletic commission has wound up its investigation into the Harold Johnson-Julio Mederos fight. And the big question is—now what?

The end came late Tuesday after a seven-hour session on the ninth day of an investigation that extended over four weeks.

The strange fight with its strange ending May 6 had serious repercussions. Among other results, Governor George M. Leader suspended all state boxing for 90 days.

Mederos was awarded a technical knockout when Johnson collapsed after the second round. Doctors later said Johnson was "drugged" by a barbiturate. The investigation never did develop who drugged Johnson, or how the drug was administered.

Johnson, the top-ranking light-heavyweight contender, said he didn't know how, or whether, he had been drugged. He stuck to his story that an orange given him by a stranger tasted bitter and probably was the cause of his illness.

Johnson also testified that Louis Saccaroma of Miami, one of Mederos' three managers, was in his dressing room shortly before the fight. Saccaroma, identified by Pennsylvania police as a former narcotics convict, denied Johnson's statement, saying he was at his home the night of the bout.

The commission charged Johnson, matchmaker Pete Moran and four other persons with participating in a "sham and collusive" contest for failing to report that Johnson was ill before the fight.

Attorneys for the respondents were given until June 21 to file briefs and June 24 was set as the date for oral arguments before the commission here. This came after counsel asked for dismissal on grounds the charges were not substantiated.

In a surprise move near the close of the hearing, commissioner Alfred M. Klein temporarily stepped out of his role as an investigator to appear as a witness.

The demand for Klein to take the stand was made by Thomas J. Burke, lawyer for Tommy Loughrey, Johnson's manager. Burke contended Klein had "prejudiced" the case.

Under questioning, Klein admitted that a number of unauthorized persons were permitted to enter Johnson's dressing room the night of the fight, which was conducted under the jurisdiction of Klein, despite commission rules to the contrary.

Another witness, boxing promoter Herman Taylor, angrily defended his reputation in the business. He said he had a "wonderful reputation" as a fight promoter for 31 years and said he never "put on fake fights."

The Philadelphia promoter's testimony Tuesday dealt mainly with his financial agreements with Moran, who also is accused by the commission of being Johnson's real manager. The commission contends Tommy Loughrey only fronted for Moran. Johnson has testified he knew Loughrey as his only manager.

Moran is under arrest, charged with lying while testifying at a committee hearing last week.

And when he was called to the witness stand Tuesday, Moran declined to answer many questions on the ground of possible self-incrimination.

Taylor told the commission the "main thing" he wants to know is "what happened to Harold Johnson."

Cream of World's Golfing Crop Tees Off in Globe's Richest Tourney

WASHINGTON (AP)—The pick of the world's golfing crop open play Thursday in the world's richest golf tournament, the $150,000 international championships, facing a brand new challenge.

It's the spectacular 134 which Chandler Harper shot over 36 holes at Columbia Country Club Monday in leading the qualifiers of the National Open championship. It was the best 36-hole score ever shot over the rugged Columbia course in suburban Chevy Chase, Md., where the international will be staged.

All told, 50 players will compete in the third annual international event, which runs 72 holes and ends Sunday. They will be representing 26 countries.

It's hard to pick a favorite but the golfers themselves figure the team to beat is the defending champion tandem of Peter Thomson and Kel Nagle of Australia.

Also rated highly are Argentina's Antonio Cerda and Roberto de Vincenzo, who won in 1953; Canada's Stan Leonard of Vancouver and Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon; Chick Harbert and Ed Furgol of the United States, and Eric Brown and John Panton of Scotland.

TWO MATCHES

Actually, two tournaments will be running concurrently. The Canada Cup goes to the two-man team which turns in the lowest combined score for the 62 holes of medal play.

In addition an International Trophy and prize money of $2,500 goes to the individual with the best score for the four days of competition. Second prize is worth $1,500, third $1,000. The next seven receive $500 each.

Every player in the tournament also receives an honorarium of $500. The International Golf Association, sponsor of the event, is paying the bill for all expenses, including transoceanic travel.

The $150,000 is broken down this way, according to the IGA:

Honorarium payments: $25,000; travel expenses, $45,000; prize money $11,800; living expenses, caddy fees and administrative expenses, $70,000.

This will be the first time the international championships have been held outside Canada. IGA officials said they hope to move the tournament from country to country from now on.

Nelson Barely Makes Grade

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Byron Nelson, onetime king of the golfing wars, barely edged into the last qualifying spot for the 55th annual United States open golf championships here Tuesday with a 36-hole total of 147.

Meanwhile Marvin H. (Bud) Ward of San Mateo, pro at the Peninsula Golf Club, headed the San Francisco area qualifiers with a seven under par 136 for the two days of play.

Just failing to qualify were several former golfing greats including Jim Turnesa of New York, 1952 PGA champion, who had 148, Bill Nary of Reno with 149 and Tony Penna of Cincinnati with 153.

Point Anne Bats Pound Out 17-2 Victory

By GARRY ALEXANDER

Unleashing an 18-hit attack, the Point Anne Cementmen returned to winning form last night by trouncing the Frankford Merchants 17-2 in a scheduled Belleville and District softball game played on the winner's home diamond. Rain delayed the starting of the fixture until 7.15 but the nine innings were completed.

With their ace, Pat Maracle, twirling three-hit, shutout ball over the first six innings, the Oxpointers pounded Ron Wannamaker for five runs in each of the second, fifth and sixth frames. Among the assortment of hits were three home runs, two triples and five doubles while Frankford's only tallies came on a circuit blast in the ninth.

Maracle took the win in six innings, his second victory without a loss, giving up one single in the third and another pair in the 4th. He was never in trouble allowing only one runner to reach second, fanning seven, three in the 4th frame and not walking a batter while his mates played errorless ball behind him. Buck Burshaw toiled the last three frames, allowing two hits for as many runs, whiffing four and walking a pair.

Wannamaker went 5 1/3 innings for the loss, banged around for 15 runs on as many hits while issuing free tickets to two and getting none on strikes. Rankin completed the sixth frame, giving up a run on a double, walk and wild pitch while Massey was touched for a run off three hits in the last two innings.

Pat Gilmour drove in the Pointer's lone tally in the first with a long fly after Jack Elliott's triple to centre. Loft's crew really went to work in the second, Gerry Goyer leading off with a terrific homer to centre field. Mallory, Abelard and Elliott followed with singles for another run and Pat Gilmour smashed a three - run homer to left for a 6-0 lead.

Gilmour's homer started a five-run rally in the fifth. Back to back doubles by Wade and Green, Goyer's single, a sacrifice by Mallory and hits by Bennett and Abelard telling the tale.

Elliott and Gilmour continued their power hitting in the sixth, Elliott dragging a single and Gilmour tripling down the left - field line. Goyer doubled after Green walked and Mallory also hit for two bases, good for another five markers. Back to back infield singles by Goyer and Mallory, a throwing error and an infield out produced their final counter.

Bill Rankin walked with one out and Carl Austin slammed a long home run to left-centre to account for both Frankford tallies in the ninth.

Gerry Goyer led the Pointer's "Murderers' Row" with a homer, double and two singles while Gilmour pounded two homers and a triple. Jack Elliott had a three-base hit and two singles, Roger Mallory a double and two singles and Jim Abelard claimed a brace of singles. Jake Wade and Horwood had doubles.

Bill Rankin was the only successful Merchant batter, claiming two singles and a walk. Austin had a homer while Dafoe and Ackerman also hit singles.

Lineups—

Frankford: Cooke, Dafoe, Wickson, Rankin, Austin, Cosgrove, Ackerman, Leavitt, Wannamaker, Moran, Appleby, Massey.

ORIOLES SELL PITCHER

BALTIMORE (AP) — Lou Kretlow, the season's opening day pitcher for Baltimore Orioles, was sold Tuesday to Seattle of the Pacific Coast League.

Kretlow, who will be 32 June 27 failed to win a game and lost four in five starting assignments and 10 other appearances. The big righthander pitched 38 1-3 innings and gave up 39 runs.

His major league lifetime won-lost record is 20-37.

Shellettes Win Over Hospital

Leo Luccíola's Belleville Shellettes romped home to the first victory of the Belleville District Women's Softball League at Alemite Field last night, defeating the Belleville General Hospital lassies by a 23-1 score.

Linday Wagg young "veteran" of Luccíola's squad held the hospital gals to three hits striking out five and walking one. Eunice Summers was the catcher.

Boyce went the route for the Hospital giving up 18 hits, walking five with no strikeouts. The Shellettes committed two errors while Hospital bobbled eight times.

Lois Batchelor was the big gun for the city team pounding out a home run and four singles. Carol Baker and Linda Wagg each drove out a homer and two singles each while (whoops) we almost forgot Shirley Fox was good for a homer and three singles.

Boyce, Lindquist and Potter were the hitters for the hospital team.

The score:

Shellettes	632 821 1—23	18	2
Hospital	000 010 0— 1	3	8

Bisons Take Two From Syracuse; Kings Clip Wings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Bob Schultz of the Buffalo Bisons who has been around the minor and major leagues for the past nine years, may still have some good stuff left to keep him around a few more seasons.

The 30-year-old lefthander who saw service with Pittsburgh Pirates, Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs, came through with a 2-0 victory over Syracuse Chiefs Tuesday night, in the first game of a doubleheader. The Bisons also took the nightcap 3-1 in 11 innings.

In other games the Havana Sugar Kings defeated Rochester Red Wings 4-3. The games between Montreal Royals and Columbus Jets and the Toronto Maple Leafs and Richmond Virginians were postponed by rain.

Schultz allowed only two hits in the seven inning curtain raiser. Ronnie Samford helped Schultz gain his fifth victory against three setbacks, with his first home run of the season.

In the nightcap Jim Bunning struck out 13 and gave up seven hits as the Bisons moved into seventh place, ahead of the Chiefs.

A bases loaded single by Buddy Hicks in the 11th inning was the crushing blow for loser Seth Morehead. He had allowed only four hits and struck out nine, before Hicks' single.

Clint Hartung and Emilio Cueche drove in the tying and winning runs in Havana's two-run ninth inning rally.

Hartung, who was the hero Tuesday night with two home runs and five runs batted in, drove in the tieing run with a single off reliefer Tony Jacobs. Cueche then sent in the winning run with a pinch-hit single.

Stan Jok's three-run homer gave the Red Wings a 3-2 lead in the fourth.

MARTINEZ SIGNED

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Welterweight Vince Martinez, whose charge that he was being "frozen out" provoked a New York ring investigation, has been signed for his first fight of the year.

Promoter Norm Rothschild Tuesday announced he had signed the Paterson, N.J., fighter for a 10-round bout here June 24 against Chico Varona of Cuba.

Martinez said he was "grounded" after he broke with his manager, Bill Daly, a member of the managers' International Boxing Guild. The charge provoked an inquiry by the New York athletic commission into operations of the managers' group. A ruling is expected later this month.

ASK BAN ON FIGHTER

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The Toledo boxing commission Tuesday suspended Johnny Lombardo of Mt. Carmel, Pa., because he failed to show up for a weigh-in for a welterweight bout with Pat Lowry of Toledo.

Sam Youngheart, chairman of the commission, also said he would ask the National Boxing Association and major boxing commissions throughout the country to ban Lombardo until he reimburses the expenses incurred here. Promoter Sid Goldberg estimated the expenses at $2,000.

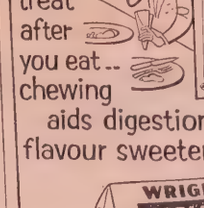
Natural Gas Will Become Great Asset

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—A United States gas appliance manufacturer said Tuesday there are "vast unsatisfied markets immediately ahead" for natural gas and its products.

T. T. Arden of Long Beach, Calif., told the Canadian Gas Association 48th annual meeting that the kitchen stove is the key to the housewife's heart because it is allied with creative activity in homemaking.



W. D. Williams, a New Jersey natural gas executive, said the public should be informed fully of all phases of natural gas.

"It is a new industry and has plenty of romance about it," Mr. Williams said in predicting that natural gas will become a great asset to Canada.

RELEASE PITCHER

BRANTFORD (CP) — Brantford Red Sox of the Senior Intercounty Baseball League Tuesday announced the release of pitcher John Hreljac.

A native of Creighton Mines, the righthander failed to win one game in three starts with the Sox this season.

League-Leaders Whip Madoc 11-4 For Fourth Win

The league-leading Belleville Orfuns racked up their fourth victory without a defeat in the Belleville and District Softball Association schedule last night by slugging Madoc for a 11-4 triumph on the latter's home field. The game was played under lights.

Big Bruno McCurdy toiled on the mound for the winners to gain his second low-hit decision. He allowed the Northern Village nine five scattered hits and set 12 batters down on third strikes while walking only four. Wayne Shaw hurled in defeat and was tagged for 15 safe blows off the bats of the power-hitting City squad. He whiffed one and issued free passes to a pair.

The homesters jumped into a short-lived 2-0 lead in the third frame but the Spafford - coached crew came back with three in each of the fourth and fifth frames. Madoc tallied one in the seventh and another in the eighth while the Orfuns compiled a pair in the seventh and three in the eighth to win going away. Each team committed four errors.

With the exception of pitcher McCurdy, all the Belleville players participated in the hitting spree. Catcher Glenn Young slammed two hard line doubles while Jack Wardhaugh punched a double and single. Don Barclay, Claude Carr, Doug Hull and Vic Bromley each met Shaw's slants for a pair of singles while Ron Belnap, John Batchelor and Dave Jones claimed one hit each, Belnap in a pinch-hitting role.

Fred Nickle and Bob Schoefield were best at bat for the losers, each banging a four-base blow.

The Orfuns next game is scheduled for Friday night at the C. N. R. A. A. Park when the Frankford Merchants will provide the opposition. One game is on tap for this evening with the Bobcats playing host to Madoc at the C.N.R. at 6.30 p.m.

Line ups—

Orfuns: Barclay, J. Wardhaugh, Hull, Batchelor, Young, D. Jones, Carr, Bromley, Belnap, McCurdy.

Brown Filly May Win Plate For Quebec

By JIM BASTABLE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—A brown filly who once was an unpredictable scratch in a starting gate and barely escaped death in a shedrow fire last year may bring Quebec its first Queen's Plate victory in Canadian racing history.

She's Baffin Bay and although she hasn't the following of such outstanding three-year-old as Toronto-owned Senator Jim, Loyalist and Ace Marine, she is rated a good chance to take the $20,000-added classic at Woodbine racetrack next Saturday.

"The filly is in nice shape," trainer Mike Long of Montreal said in an interview. "If we can keep her that way, she'll have a good chance."

The way Long figures it, if the handsome daughter of Stakes winner Porter's Cap isn't ready for the big race now she never will be. He will give Baffin Bay, owned by Mrs. R. Y. Graul Jr. of Montreal, only one light gallop before she breaks with a field of a dozen or more thoroughbreds in the 1½-mile classic.

10-TO-1 CHOICE

Baffin Bay, leading money-winner in the country last year with earnings of $23,030, has been reduced to a 10-to-1 choice by the bookmakers. That was on the strength of her upset victory in her division on the first plate trials at Woodbine May 25.

Baffin Bay has turned in some good workout times. Her miles have been anywhere from 1:41 to 1:43 and fractions. She ran it in 1:43 Tuesday, her last workout before the plate. She did the quarter in :34, the half in :49 and the three-quarters in 1:16.

Riding Baffin Bay in the plate will be Dick Buisson, who was aboard when she won the Coronation Stakes, top race for two-year-olds, at Woodbine last year.

Baffin Bay didn't suffer any effects from the shedrow fire at Woodbine last fall, although she had a narrow escape. Seven other thoroughbreds were killed in the plate, including two from the Graul stable.

In 16 starts as a two-year-old, Baffin Bay placed first three times, second twice and third three times. She picked up $17,630 in the Coronation stakes.

'The Old Lamplighter', Toe Blake Appointed Coach of Canadiens

MONTREALT (CP) — Hector (Toe) Blake, known as the "Old Lamplighter" during his 12 seasons in the National Hockey League, today was appointed coach of Montreal Canadiens.

The 43 year old native of Victoria Mines, Ont., succeeds veteran Dick Irvin who has accepted a two-year contract to coach Chicago Black Hawks of the NHL. Irvin had coached Canadiens for 13 years and had led them to four league titles and three Stanley Cup championships.

Blake's appointment was announced by Frank Selke, managing director of Canadiens, at a press conference in his office at the Montreal Forum, home of the colorful NHL team.

Selke said Blake had been signed to a one-year contract. But, he added with a broad grin: "It will last a lifetime." No salary figures were mentioned.

Blake takes over ice direction of the club with which he was associated as an active player for 12 full seasons until, at the age of 35, he was laid low by a broken ankle. He will be 43 years old next Aug. 12.

Since that injury, which ended the National Hockey League career of one of the game's great left-wingers, Blake has handled coaching jobs—infrequently getting into the game himself—in three minor pro leagues.

Except for a brief spell with the old Montreal Maroons at the end of the 1934-35 campaign, when he scored no points, Blake's NHL service was entirely with Canadiens. His lifetime scoring in the NHL is 235 goals and 292 assists for a total of 527 points.

His scoring prowess earned him the tag "the Old Lamplighter." He led the NHL in scoring points in the 1938-39 season with 24 goals and 23 assists for 47 points. His highest goal production for a season was 29, in each the 1944-45 and 1945-46 seasons, high for assists 38, in 1944-45, and his high for total points 67 in the same season.

Blake was named to the NHL first all-star team three times and to the second all-star team twice. With Canadiens he played on three NHL championship teams and two Stanley Cup winners. During his 12 seasons with Canadiens the club missed the playoffs only twice.

Crack BC Oarsmen Will Row In Britain's Royal Regatta

By PETER MURRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

VANCOUVER (CP) — Eight husky young British Columbians leave here by air Wednesday to honor a royal command.

They will match strokes with the best rowing crews in the world at the Royal Henley regatta June 29-July 2, the first Canadian crew to compete for the grand challenge trophy.

Their first invitation came from the Duke of Edinburgh after he watched the UBC eight score an amazing 2½-length win over England at the British Empire Games last summer.

In March, Vancouver rowing circles organized a fund-raising drive. Within two months they had reached their goal of $25,000.

The Henley will be the crew's biggest test and will answer those who wonder if the games victory was a fluke.

ONLY MAJOR WIN

England and Canada were the only entries in the race and there were no eliminations. The UBC eight, brought to a physical and mental peak, had too much power for the polished English crew.

It is the only major race the crew has won. They were a disappointment in their only start since, in the western sprints at Newport, Calif., May 28. Against some of the top stars in the U. S., British Columbia failed to place in the qualifying heat. They won the consolation race.

The only new face on the games-winning crew is Carl Ogawa, a shy, 20-year-old Japanese Canadian who replace Ray Sierpina as coxswain.

$80,000 Stares Nashua in Face

NEW YORK (AP)—The line-up for the $100,000 Belmont Stakes Saturday will contain Nashua. That is a fact, but what other three-year-old colts will dare tackle the powerful Belair Stud colt in the third jewel of the triple crown has the management puzzled.

It seems as though some owners and trainers are trying to outfox each other, but with the idea not so much of furnishing opposition to Nashua, but with an eye on the lucrative second, third and fourth money.

Latest reports indicate Laudy Lawrence's Jabneh, Hilton A. Dabson's Nance's Lad, Howard Weinstein's Mr. Al L., and perhaps Cain Hoy Stable's Flying Fury may be among those present in the 1½-mile classic.

If five colts start, the pot will total $116,800, the winner hauling down $80,700. Second place is worth $20,000, with $10,000 to third and $5,000 to fourth.

AT THE BELLE — MGM's big 1955 CinemaScope musical "Hit the Deck", co-stars Jane Powell and Vic Damone, Tony Martin, Debbie Reynolds, Walter Pidgeon, Gene Raymond, Ann Miller and Russ Tamblyn. "Hit the Deck" opens today at the Air Conditioned Belle Theatre.

AT THE CAPITOL — Happiness is bustin' out all over! With Gene Nelson and Doris Day in Warner Bros.' "Lullaby of Broadway", in color by Technicolor opening Thursday at the Capitol Theatre with S. Z. Sakall and Billy DeWolfe. On the same program "Hills of Home", in Technicolor with Lassie, Edmund Gwen and Donald Crisp.

Steelworkers Carry Demands To More Firms

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The United Steelworkers Union (CIO) today carried its demands for a sizeable wage increase to two more of the largest American basic steel producers.

Union president David J. McDonald continued in personal charge of negotiations as the USW brought its wage requests before officials of the Bethlehem and Republic Steel Corporations. Bethlehem and Republic are the second and third largest producers respectively.

The demands being made of them are the same as those McDonald presented Tuesday in the opening of steel wage talks with United States Steel Corp., the leading producer. Sessions with others of the "big six," who employ about two-thirds of the 600,000 basic steel workers in the U.S., are slated for Thursday and Friday.

'Peter' Attracts Record Crowds

"A Man Called Peter," starring Richard Todd and Jean Peters, has established new attendance records at the McCarthy Theatre it was reported today by W. J. Fawcett, manager. The audience reception to this unusual CinemaScope production which captures on the screen all of the inspiration and charm of Catherine Marshall's best-seller has been remarkable, according to Mr. Fawcett.

The story, told in terms of God's intimate participation in the affairs of man, leaves its impact on all who see it and Twentieth Century-Fox has mounted it with every possible technique and talent.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, June 9, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — You may have a tendency now to exaggerate and to pass on rumors. Don't! Be careful how you express opinions. Be your better self all day.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — You born before May 6: Personal relationships will require more astute handling. Born after May 5: Be alert, watch budget and do not overtax yourself rtying to maintain a stiff pace.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)— Maintain a steady pace instead of working spasmodically; take precautions in finances, legal matters, investments, the family budget. It's better to remain silent than hurt others' feelings.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Don't wait for things to happen. Get busy on your own and prove your ability. The day offers much to the alert and willing.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Don't try too hard now. Keep a steady, sound pace; be aware of what's happening around you but don't expect too much. Be content with moderate results.

August 23 to September 23 (Virgo) — Careful checking essential in money and business matters. It would be inadvisable to cross friends or superiors, unless in defence of principles. Use gentleness and consideration in sentimental relationships.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Protect home interests as well as business affairs. Watch out for intruders who offer suggestions that are unwarranted, risky, perhaps dishonest. There is is no substitute for honesty.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — All business deals—with associates, banks or merchants — should be well analyzed before okaying. Watch your health these days: get sufficient sleep, outdoor exercise, relax at times.

Noverber 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — Do not be impatient with those around you, or with your lot or tasks. Less emotion and more consideration to others will react favorably all around.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — React quickly to generous openings, kindly suggestions made in good faith and by proper parties. Day offers some fair possibilities which, handled properly, could prove gainful. Be co-operative.

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — Don't settle for anything but success. Shop around for the best; don't rush but, of course, remain alert. A congenial attitude will enhance chances, bring quicker, better results.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — Rather uncertain in spots for other than routine matters. Ill humor and bad manners will thwart achievement, bring loss of prestige. Avoid worry, fussing over anything. Think before acting.

You Born Today are vigorous, enthusiastic, ever on-the-go. You born under the planet Mercury often become the world's press agents, explorers in new fields; are efficient and entertaining. You should have a "green thumb" in gardening; may turn to music or art as a hobby (it could be remunerative), or you may take up medicine, or research as your life's work. Whatever you decide upon, give it time to prove its value before you shift to another field. Don't overtax energy and nerves at too strenuous work or play. Birthdate of: John H. Payne, author "Home Sweet Home."

Capital Punishment Report Not Possible This Session

By JOHN E. BIRD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—A special Commons-Senate committee has decided not to recommend at the present session of Parliament whether laws governing capital and corporal punishment and lotteries should be amended, it is learned.

The committee ended two years of hearings May 12 and had hoped to be in a position to make a final report to both Houses of Parliament before the end of June. However, a source close to the committee said in an interview that this goal now is impossible due to the time it will take to consider the voluminous evidence collected.

"The best we can hope to do is to make an interim report," he said. "This report will urge that the committee meet again at the next session to study the evidence and draw up a final report."

It will not be the intention, he said, to call any further witnesses at the next session. The evidence was complete but time was required for proper study.

STUDY OTHER METHODS

The committee was set up to study whether hanging and the strap should be retained or abolished, or whether a different form of execution should be used if the death penalty is to remain. Existing laws governing operation of lotteries and other games of chance also have been examined by the committee.

Determined Posse Hunts Two Bandits In Quebec Bush

Robbers Wound Policeman, Then Disappear Into Woods

By ALEX DIMEO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. RAYMOND DE PORTNEUF, Que. (CP)—A determined police posse closed on two bank bandits early today, promising a third gunmen from their bushland hiding place.

Police Lieut. Conrad Giroux, heading a well-armed search squad of about 50 men, predicted an early end of the two-day hunt which started when a bank at nearby St. Marc was robbed Wednesday.

"They know they've shot a cop," he said. "They know they'd have to do something rash to get out of here."

Lieut. Giroux said he believes the fugitives—who wounded constable Tony Lepine, 20, slightly in a brief skirmish Wednesday—are brothers, natives of this farming district near the foothills of the Laurentian mountains.

ONE GAVE UP

The St. Marc branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale was robbed of $3,000 by three men. One of the fugitives, Leo Cyr, 28, of Montreal, gave himself up Wednesday when he was found exhausted and alone beside a road by provincial police.

Lieut. Giroux said Cyr told police the two still at large are about 17 and 28 years of age and their parents live in the district some 45 miles northwest of Quebec City.

Their knowledge of the countryside helped them escape police traps, but "they must be plenty hungry and tired by now."

The police lieutenant quoted Cyr as saying he had intended using his sawed-off shotgun when he was challenged by police but suffered a faint spell from hunger. He threw the gun away and surrendered without a struggle.

TIP FROM FARMER

Constable Lepine told a reporter about events leading to his slight wound in the right arm after he went in a police car to investigate a tip from a farmer that the fugitives were prowling around his barn.

Lepine was accompanied by highway patrolman Edgar Baker, two other policemen and John Philip MacLean, a free-lance reporter.

Lepine and Baker spotted the bandits and left the car to give chase, while firing warning shots. MacLean then crashed the police car through a gate with siren screaming, picked up the constables for faster pursuit across the field.

The bandits turned about after they reached a wood and opened fire, wounding Lepine with the first burst from an automatic rifle. The police, running out of ammunition, were forced to take cover.

WAITED ALL NIGHT

During the night, police patrols stayed on the roads, waiting for dawn to move on the pair. The towns of St. Marc and St. Raymond were tense, but most of the farmers in outlying districts appeared to go to bed early as usual.

Following Wednesday's shooting, a force of 16 officers, carrying supplies of bullet-proof vests and tear gas guns, came to St. Raymond to reinforce the 30-man patrol already here.

"They're bad eggs, all of them" said Lt.-Col. Leon Lambert, head of the provincial police, of the fugitives. "We're not taking any chances with them."

That is if he's one of the eight stationed with a trucking firm here that have gone in for Bermuda shorts.

Intelligencer Will Provide Special Election Service

The Ontario Intelligencer will provide a special election reporting service this evening.

On-the-spot coverage of returns in East and West Hastings will be flashed direct to the news room as they are tabulated at the headquarters of the chief returning officers in these two ridings.

Staff reporter Roy Peacock will relay election returns from Hastings East from returning officer Graham Mouck's headquarters in Tweed, while staff reporters will be on duty at M. C. Burgess' office in Belleville.

Four telephone lines will be available to the general public through Woodland 8-5757. A telephone staff, backed by tabulators using master sheets of the polling subdivisions in both ridings, will relay information to the public as quickly as it is available in the news room.

A special Canadian Press roundup of Ontario results will be available by teletype.

Polling booths close at 8.00 p.m. E.D.T. First results are not expected to be available until after 8.30 p.m. Urban subdivisions usually report before rural polling subdivisions and it is expected that results from Belleville and Trenton will be completed first among returns in Hastings West.

In Hastings East complete returns are not expected to be available until some time Friday morning.

GEN. H.D. GRAHAM IS APPOINTED NEW CHIEF OF STAFF

Gen. G. Simonds Retires Against Wishes Aug. 31

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Apparently against his own wishes, Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, 52, is retiring Aug. 31 as chief of the general staff.

He will be succeeded as army commander by 56-year-old Maj.-Gen. Howard D. Graham, head of central command since 1951, who will be promoted to lieutenant-general.

Gen. Simonds, a professional soldier for 30 years—he led his graduating class at Royal Military College in 1925—is believed to have wanted to retain his job. However, it was understood the cabinet wanted a new man.

Asked by a reporter about his future plans, Gen. Simonds said in his usual crisp, soldierly manner: "I'm not commenting on that now thanks."

SAID TERM WAS UP

Only official explanation for his retirement is that Gen. Simonds has "completed the normal four-year term."

Actually, there is no definite length of time for chief-of-staff appointments. Of the last 19 armed forces chiefs, only three have served roughly four years.

Of the "normal" four-year term holds good for Vice-Admiral E.R. Mainguy, chief of naval staff, he will retire about the end of this year. His successor likely will be Rear - Admiral Harry DeWolf, chairman of the Canadian joint staff in Washington.

Air Marshal Roy Slemon was appointed chief of air staff in 1953.

Defence Minister Campney announced the shift in army command Wednesday in a 138-word press statement. He praised Gen. Simonds' wartime command of the 2nd Canadian Corps and his dynamic direction of the army build-up since February, 1951, when he was appointed chief.

MILLER NAMED DEPUTY

At the same time, Prime Minister St. Laurent announced in an even briefer press release that Air Vice-Marshal Frank R. Miller, 47, on Aug. 15 will succeed Brig. C. M (Bud) Drury, 43, as deputy defence minister. The RCAF officer will resign his commission and serve as a civilian. Mr. Drury for some time has wanted to go into private business at Montreal.

Air Vice-Marshal Miller, a native of Kamloops, B.C., has served in the RCAF since 1931 and has worked closely in recent years with American and European military planners.

He will be succeeded as air vice-deputy at NATO headquarters in Paris by Air Vice-Marshal Hugh L. Campbell, 46, of Salisbury, N.B., commander of the RCAF air division in Europe since 1952.

Air Vice-Marshal Campbell will be succeeded by Air Vice-Marshal Harold B. Godwin, 48, of Westmount, Que., chief of air materiel command here since 1952.

Gen. Graham, a native of Buffalo, N.Y., was educated as a lawyer in Toronto. He served in the ranks overseas in the First World War and in the Second World War commanded an infantry brigade in Sicily and Italy. He twice won the distinguished service order.

Gen. Graham served as second in command and commanding officer of the "Hasty Pees" in the Second World War, having a law office in Trenton before the war's outbreak.

Two Bandits Force Bank Manager To Floor, Rob Cage of $2,000

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—Two men, one of them brandishing a revolver, escaped with about $2,000 today after a holdup of the Toronto-Dominion Bank at Dundas street and Clark sideroad, about half an hour after opening at 10 a. m.

The two walked into the bank while there were no customers and forced the manager, Edward Budd, to lie on the floor. One of the thieves walked around the counter and emptied the teller's cash drawer of all paper money, leaving the silver untouched.

Teller Ron Lucas, 18, said the men tried to open the vault, but it was closed on a time lock.

After the bandits left, the manager ran to the alarm buzzer connected to the hardware store of George Scott next door. Mr. Scott remembered seeing an "old dark car" pulling up in front of the bank shortly before the alarm buzzer sounded, but did not remember seeing it leave, and did not see the bandits.

Queen Honors Actor, Athlete, Sculptor in Birthday List

LONDON (AP) — The Queen today honored miler Roger Bannister actor Alec Guinness and sculptor Henry Moore for their efforts in bringing Britain to the summit of the athletics and arts world in the new Elizabethan age.

They were among the 2,000 persons on the Queen's birthday honors list. Bannister was the first man to run the mile in less than four minutes; Guiness' brilliant acting talents in comedy as well as Shakespeare have brought pleasure to millions on both sides of the Atlantic; Moore's strange carved figures have brought him to the front ranks of the world's artists.

The trio were on the seventh honors list in which the young monarch also created new peers, knighted others and further acknowledged deeds that contribute to the new Elizabethan era.

The list contained four new barons, two privy counsellors, a companion of honors, four baronets, 34 knights in Britain and 25 knights from overseas.

Moore, 56-year-old son of a Yorkshire miner, entered the select company of the Companions of Honor. It includes Sir Winston Churchill, Clement Attlee and the prime ministers of Australia and New Zealand.

Guiness, 41, was made a Commander in the Order of the British Empire along with the 26-year-old Bannister and Capt. Christopher Soames, Sir Winston's son-in-law and parliamentary private secretary.

William Alexander Bustamente, former chief minister of Jamaica and Labor party leader in the British West Indian territory, was knighted. He was one of 13 children of a Jamaican peasant woman and an Irish emigre, and was born in poverty.

On the home diplomatic front, honors went to Humphrey Trevelyan, recently charge d'affaires in Peiping and ambassador-designee to Cairo. He was made Knight Commander of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

The four new barons are Ralph Assheton and Malcolm Stewart McCorquodale, both of whom have served in Parliament; Sir Geoffrey Heyworth, chairman of Unilever, and Sir Arnold Duncan McNair, who has been a United Kingdom judge of the International Court.

Heyworth started his career with the international soap firm in Canada before the First World War. He served later in the Canadian Army and married the former Lois Dunlop of Woodstock.

Fit. Lt. Edmund Cheek, whose home address was given as Ontario, was awarded the Air Force Cross in a special RAF list published with the honors.

Free Lands' Growing Unity Fortifies Hopes Says Queen

By FRASER WIGHTON

LONDON (Reuters)—The Queen opened Britain's newly elected Parliament today with a speech from the throne saying the government is looking forward to fruitful negotiations with Russia "in a spirit of confidence and goodwill . . . fortified by the growing unity and strength of the free nations."

The monarch read the speech to a glittering throng in the House of Lords as the new Parliament assembled for the first session since Sir Anthony Eden rode back to power with an increased majority following the general election May 26.

The state opening was robbed of much of its usual pageantry. Because of the rail strike still threatening the country's economy it was an "austerity" occasion, without the Queen's customary drive through the streets in a jingling state coach with its escort of prancing, plumed household cavalry. She came in a car.

The speech began by referring to the strike, now in its 12th day.

A lonely figure on the great dais of the old gold and brown lords chamber, the Queen faced with steady gaze a great array of people—the peers in their colorful red and ermine robes, the peeresses in their tiaras, the foreign envoys in court or sombre black dress, the court officials in their multihued uniforms, and the members of the House of Commons in morning dress.

Solemnly she read the government's pronouncement: "The grave situation created by the interruption of the railway services has made it necessary to advance the opening date of Parliament."

The Queen held her head erect under the weight of the great imperial state crown, awink with hundreds of jewels lit by the golden chandeliers overhead. In a clear, loud voice she went on:

"In their relations with foreign powers my government will resolutely go forward with the policies to which they are pledged. The United Nations, the Atlantic alliance and the new association of Western European Union will all receive their wholehearted support."

"They will continue to work in close accord with the United States of America."

Government and Unionists Start Talks to End Strike

LONDON (AP) — Government and trade union leaders launched full-scale negotiations today aimed at ending Britain's crippling national rail strike, now 12 days old.

Some trade union observers predicted that the stoppage will end in 48 hours.

The 67,000 strikers of the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen were represented by their executive council. On the other side was the transport commission, managers of the state-owned railways.

Aim of today's talks was to find a basis for ending the stoppage, and then to proceed with wage-differential negotiations.

The Labor ministry estimated Wednesday that to date the rail strike has thrown only about 7,500 men out of work, mainly in the iron and steel, carpet and shoe industries. But it added it is difficult to estimate the number affected because of the seasonal adjustment normally taking place during May and June.

Industrialists have predicted a crisis this weekend, with factory stockpiles dwindling and finished products piling up in warehouses.

Hopes rose meanwhile that a second costly walkout by some 20,000 stevedores in seven British ports will end soon.

This strike was caused by a jurisdictional dispute between the National Amalgamated Stevedores and Dockers Union and the rival Union. The smaller union wants equal bargaining rights with the larger.

Optimism rose when the strikers offered to submit the issues to a committee of the Trades Union Congress.

A third walkout, the wildcat strike of ships' stewards in Southampton and Liverpool, bogged down Wednesday when strike leaders failed to spread the walkout to the Queen Elizabeth, flagship of the Cunard Line sailing for New York today.

"I think we have broken the strike," said Tom Yates, general secretary of the National Union of Seamen, after the Elizabeth's crew refused to join the walkout. The union is fighting the strike.

Denies Report Czech Sent Home

TORONTO (CP)—J. Bocek, secretary of the Czechoslovakian Chamber of Commerce, Wednesday night denied that a Czech official at the International Trade Fair has been sent home for saying he would like to remain in Canada.

He was commenting on a statement by Joseph Brousek, national vice-president of the anti-Communist Canadian Czechoslovak Association. Mr. Brousek said Wednesday that one official had told him "I wouldn't mind staying in Canada." The official had later disappeared.

Mr. Bocek said: "To this day no Czech official has been returned to Czechoslovakia."

ONTARIO VOTES TODAY TO CHOOSE NEW GOVERNMENT

2,000,000 Expected To Cast Ballots

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario, a Progressive Conservative stronghold since 1943 and a Liberal domain for the decade before that, voted today in a general election.

Voters had the choice of giving a new mandate to the Progressive Conservative administration of Premier Frost, returning to the Liberals or swinging left to the CCF.

Some 2,000,000 of 3,000,000 eligible voters were expected to cast the ballots that will decide the make-up of the 25th legislature. The weather was expected to be generally clear in the north and partly cloudy in the south, with temperatures in the low 70s.

The last provincial election was Nov. 22, 1951, when the Conservatives chalked up eight successes to every opposition victory.

POLLING HOURS

The polls opened today at 8 a.m. EST and close at 7 p.m. In points on eastern daylight time, the hours are from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m. In the northwestern Ontario ridings at Kenora and Rainy River, polls close an hour later than in the rest of the province because they are in the central time zone.

A total of 314 candidates, including nine women, ran for the 98 seats. The Progressive Conservatives contested all but one of the constituencies. In Renfrew South, James S. Dempsey, member of the last legislature, was not given party support because he did not report a 1951 campaign contribution. He seeks to re-enter the House as an independent Progressive Conservative.

The Liberals, under 51-year-old lawyer Farquhar Oliver, have 94 in the field. They also support Liberal-Labor candidates in Kenora and Rainy River, where Liberal and Labor organizations have cooperated for years.

CONTEST 80

The CCF, which won only two seats in the last general election, will contest 80 seats. Communist Labor-Progressives are running in 31 ridings. There are 10 others of varied political beliefs to complete the list.

Standing of the 24th legislature at dissolution May 2 was: Progressive Conservative 78, Liberal 6, CCF 2, Liberal-Labor 1, Labor-Progressive 1. There were two vacancies, in Progressive Conservative seats.

Eight more members will be chosen in this election than in 1951. The number of seats was increased by the last legislature, the first change in representation since 1934 when the number was reduced to 90 from 112.

The Progressive Conservatives seek re-election on the basis of past performance and program designed to give more aid to education, welfare and public works.

LIBERAL PLATFORM

The Liberals, who have appealed to the public to join hands with them and oust the "Queen's Park clique," say they want to implement a more equitable system of distributing costs of services to municipalities and increase grants.

The CCF platform is, mainly, jobs for all people, a province-wide hospital insurance program and increased old age pensions.

Some voters already have cast their ballots. Advance polls were open last week for those who expected to be away from home on election day. Ontario's 40,000 or so active servicemen were voting by mail, but election officials estimated only about 8,000 were likely to cast ballots. These will be opened in Toronto next Thursday.

Mixture of Light and Heavy Voting Reported as Weather Generally Good

TORONTO (CP)—A mixture of light and heavy voting was reported today as Ontario elected its 25th legislature.

Brisk early morning voting was reported in the western Ontario ridings of Wellington South, Oxford, Kent and Wellington-Dufferin and in Cochrane North and Cochrane South in northern Ontario.

In the Toronto and Yorks and in Simcoe East, Simcoe Centre, Peterborough, Kingston, Frontenac-Addington and the Ottawa ridings in eastern Ontario, early voting was reported to be light. Waterloo South reported one of the quietest starts on record.

The election got an assist from the weather as bright skies throughout most of the province encouraged voters to go to the polls.

A light drizzle was reported falling at White River and clouds covered the far eastern and western parts of the province but elsewhere skies were mostly clear.

Tankers Collide In Pre-Dawn Hours Off Margate Coast

Rescue Ships Pull 22 Men, Woman from Sea

MARGATE, England (Reuters) Twenty seamen were lost in a sea of blazing oil after a tanker collision off the coast here today. Little hope is held for any of them.

They died struggling to escape from their ship, the Swedish tanker Johannishus, which burst into flames after a collision with another vessel. Only one body had been picked up by midday today.

Rescue ships pulled 22 men and one woman from the sea, many of them suffering severe burns and poisoning from swallowing oil and sea water. A rescue boat radioed: "There are no more survivors."

The victims were members of the crew, mainly Swedes and Germans, of the 10,788-ton Swedish tanker. Among them were the captain of the tanker and the first mate.

WOMAN RESCUED

The disaster occurred when the Johannishus collided with the 7,256-ton Panamanian cargo ship Buccaneer in the pre-dawn hours about 25 miles east of the dreaded North Goodwin sands. The Buccaneer later reported no casualties and said it was proceeding under its own power to Rotterdam, Holland.

The only woman aboard the Johannishus, Mrs. Ina Svensson, 33-year-old wife of the first engineer, was in the water for two hours.

A rescue ship picked her up and landed her at nearby Dover. When she arrived there she was told that her husband was safe at this coast resort.

The survivors told grim stories of seamen suddenly becoming crazed with fear and jumping overboard into the welter of flaming oil floating on the sea, of shrieks for help in the darkness that could not be answered.

HEAT TOO GREAT

As rescue boats neared the red, angry glow they began landing oily covered seamen aboard. Many were badly burned. Others were choking frantically after swallowing oil and sea water. But searing heat kept the boats at a distance.

A vivid orange column of fire crowned by a towering plume of thick, greasy smoke roared over the tanker. Flames and smoke danced on the sea which was covered with debris from the doomed ship.

Attlee Agrees To Postpone His Retirement

LONDON (Reuters) — Clement Attlee, leader of the Labor party, today agreed to put off his retirement at the unanimous request of Labor members of Parliament.

Attlee, 72, had previously made up his mind to quit this fall to make room for a younger man.

An official statement issued after a meeting of the parliamentary committee said Attlee had announced "he was ready and willing to accept the nomination as chairman for a further period."

The statement added: "It was the unanimous wish of the party that he should continue in office."

DIE IN FLOODS

RIO DE JANEIRO (AP)—Press dispatches from Santa Maria, Brazil, today said six persons died in a flood after a dam broke in the Pinhal area of Rio Grande do Sul state.

Menon in Ottawa For Conference

OTTAWA (CP)—V. K. Krishna Menon arrived here Thursday by plane from Montreal for informal talks with Prime Minister St. Laurent and External Affairs Minister Pearson on Far Eastern problems.

They likely will discuss Mr. Menon's recent trip to Communist China and progress of the armistice commission in Indochina on which Canada, India and Poland serve.

At Montreal, Menon told reporters India was "not a mediator in any dispute."

He added: "we happen to have friends on all sides, happily, and we are in a position to talk to other people."

Old Codger Full of Pep

DETROIT (AP) — At 70, Jack Clapp contends he still has years of useful activity ahead of him.

To prove it, he's going to parachute from an airplane into Lake St. Clair Sunday as a protest against his forced retirement as a painter for Detroit's public schools.

"I'm still too full of pep and ginger to be put out to pasture," said Clapp. "I'm going out and show folks a 70-year-old codger still has gumption."

Outstanding Aerial Exhibition Prepared for Air Force Day

Saturday, June 11th, is Air Force Day.

RCAF Station Trenton, headquarters of Central Command and Central Flying School, has prepared an outstanding aerial exhibition for its 9th Air Force Day celebrations.

Canada's fastest jets will be put through their paces at low level for an estimated crowd of 15,000 visitors during a 90-minute flying exhibition that features ten different kinds of aircraft.

A Canadian-built Sabre jet will open the show with a sonic bang. The Sabre will dive from 42,000 to 20,000 feet before levelling off over the airdrome. Some 20 seconds later visitors will hear the sonic boom denied downtown Torontonians at the international air show last week.

The four-hour program begins sharp at 1.00 p.m. with a 45-minute band concert by the Training Command Band east of No. 6 hangar.

At 1.50 p.m. the RCAF Station Drum and Trumpet Band will do a fancy band drill on the tarmac between No. 5 and 6 hangars.

The fire fighting unit will hold a display in front of No. 6 hangar at 2.15 and the sonic boom will announce the air show at 2.30.

Split-second aerial work by 20 Harvards, T-33 Silver Star jets, two-engined Expediters, two C-119 Flying Boxcars, a Mustang fighter, a four-engined North Star, a Sabre and a twin-engined CF-100 all-weather fighter, will provide a continuously thrilling air show in front of the hangars.

A feature of the show will be the ferrying of a Bofors anti-aircraft unit from the Royal Canadian School of Artillery at Trenton in a C-119 Flying Boxcar. The unit will then "shoot down" an attacking Harvard and in turn be "strafed" by jets.

The Piasecki "Flying Banana" helicopter will also perform for the crowd.

An aerobatic display by a precision team of Silver Stars will close the show.

The Training Command band will conclude the day's program with a band concert.

WILL PRACTISE HERE

MERLIN E. WILSON, V.S.

Merlin E. Wilson, D.V.M., V.S., a recent graduate of the Ontario Veterinary College, is now associated with the Belleville Animal Hospital. In his final year Dr. Wilson received the Holstein-Friesian award given to the student deemed by the Department of Medicine and Surgery to have the best potential as an animal practitioner, and the Ballard award for the best paper presented on animal nutrition.

Born at Merrickville, Ontario, he received his primary education there, and attended Smith's Falls Collegiate Institute. He was an active member in Junior Farmer and club activities in Grenville County. In 1949 he won the interprovincial judging competition in dairy cattle at the Royal Winter Fair. Dr. Wilson has also taken a special interest in diseases of poultry.

'Barbershoppers' Entertain Ladies At Final Meet

"The Belleville Barbershoppers" played host to their ladies on Wednesday evening to mark their final meeting of the season, and the hall at St. Margaret's-on-the-Hill rang to melodies and harmonies gone but not forgotten.

The Belleville Chapter chorus, the Quintones Quartet, the Chord Cleavers Quartet, and the various pick-up and progressive quartets proved that the members are living up to their name of the Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barbershop Quartet Singing in America Incorporated. The women also on more than one occasions proved themselves not inadept at giving a chord that old Barbershop ring.

Under the capable direction of Bob Park, M.C., for the evening, the meeting moved along at a fast pace and was generally thought to have been one of the best of the season.

The evening was highlighted by the induction of Tom Devlin into his new post of Sergeant-at-Arms. The presentation of the whistle and chain, the topper, and the Barber pole striped night stick, his badges of office, will provide the odd chuckle to help over the season until Barbershopping resumes in the fall.

The meeting drew to its close in the traditional manner with the woodshed harmonizing by all present of the old songs known and loved by Barbershoppers since their beginning in the days of the straight razor and horse and buggy America.

Police Blotter

Underground telephone cables, cut in error by a crew on Bridge Street last night knocked city police call-box phones to headquarters.

However, there was no serious sequel to the mistake and headquarters had a quiet night, outside of routine matters.

An insecure door on the Hollywood Maxwell premises on Dundas Street West, was investigated.

Elsewhere, about $75 damage was reported in a two-car collision on St. Charles Street.

A Toronto man last night was taken to Belleville General Hospital following a car-truck smashup on the curved intersection of the Madoc county road and Highway 14.

In hospital is Robert Stanley Dibble, suffering severe face lacerations and possible head injuries.

His car sustained about $1,200 damage when it rammed a stake-bodied truck driven by William Feldman, Norwood. Feldman's vehicle suffered about $100 damage.

The accident occurred when Feldman, travelling north and Dibble, going south, met in the middle of the curved intersection.

OPP Constable H. D. Sears investigated.

Township Council Members Take Stand in Tax Hearing

The trial of LeRoy Woods, former Sidney township tax collector, charged with theft of tax monies, went into its third day to-day with more than 20 witnesses having been called by the Crown.

The Crown was expected to conclude its case this morning but defence witnesses will take up the balance of the day and the case will not go to the jury until some time Friday.

Woods is being tried before His Honor Judge G. F. Smith at the General Sessions of the Peace and Jury Sittings for Hastings county. Ross Neal, Deseronto chartered accountant, told the court Tuesday that tax money not accounted for during Woods' term as Sidney tax collector from 1946 to 1951, was close to $16,000 in taxes, penalties and interest.

Wednesday township council members, Reeve Harry Morrow and Deputy Reeve Byron Harder, testified, while treasurer Lorne Hunt was on the stand all afternoon.

Under cross examination by J. D. O'Flynn Tuesday morning, Mr. Neal admitted that regular annual audits of the township books had been made by licensed auditors. Questioned by Mr. O'Flynn, the witness said that the accumulated surplus of the township in December 1952 had been $23,619.15.

Cross examination brought out that transfers to the treasurer in the years 1951 and 1952 by Mr. Woods had been approximately $10,000 more than receipts as shown on the tax roll.

Mr. Neal would not agree, however, that some of this money may have been part of the money included in receipts but not shown on the tax roll.

FOUND OVER-LEVIES

"Is it not surprising that the township auditor did not find some mistake somewhere?" asked Mr. O'Flynn.

"Yes, it was surprising," replied Mr. Neal.

"And is it not surprising that the amounts were not noticed by the township?"

In reply Mr. Neal said he had found there had been over-levies in excess of requirements with result that a considerable surplus had been built up. He said if the $15,000 not accounted for was added to assets the township surplus would be $38,000.

"How would the township carry on with that amount outstanding?" asked Mr. O'Flynn.

"The township may have borrowed, may have over-levied or had other funds accumulated," said Mr. Neal.

Under re-examination by Crown Counsel C. C. Savage, Mr. Neal said that the $10,000 in excess of the tax roll transferred by Mr. Woods in 1951 and 1952, had appeared on some previous roll.

Asked if he would have discovered the shortages if he had adopted the same system as Mr. George Shortt, the man making previous annual audits, Mr. Neal replied he would not.

"If annual audits cannot catch deficiencies, what benefit is there in having them?" asked Judge Smith.

"I can't see any, they are rather false security," was the reply.

Judge Smith commented that he could not see an auditor making an annual audit not delving closely into anything that was not clear.

ANNUAL AUDITS BENEFIT

Mr. Neal said he had caught the deficiency, when he couldn't reconcile himself to tax arrears shown on the 1950 balance sheet.

"Then couldn't any auditor have found the same thing?" asked Judge Smith.

"Yes," was the reply.

"Then what you said a while ago about annual audits not being of much benefit was not altogether correct?"

Mr. Neal said he hadn't meant to make that impression, noting that he had misunderstood the question. "Annual audits are of benefit if done by a capable person," he said.

"Would you have found the deficiency if you had audited only for 1951?" asked Judge Smith.

"Not if the balance sheet had been correct," was the reply.

Deputy Reeve Byron Harder told the court that he had noticed different colored ink used in making tax roll entries and said he had asked Mr. Woods regarding this.

"Did Mr. Woods make any explanation?"

"I don't remember that he did," was the reply.

Mr. Harder said that a deep purple ink had been used for a few certain entries in the 1946 tax roll while the color of ink generally used was different. The deep purple ink was used generally in making entries in later rolls.

Under cross examination Mr. Harder said there had been no complaint of Mr. Woods' work until 1950, when he had been late in getting out the tax bills.

Sidney township Reeve Harry Morrow said that Mr. George Shortt had been the township auditor until 1951 after which Mr. Neal had been hired.

HAD NO LICENCE

"Why was the change made?" asked Mr. Savage.

"Because Mr. Shortt did not have a department licence," was the reply.

"Had Mr. Shortt previously had a licence?" "Yes," replied Mr. Morrow.

"Then there was no question of a shortage at that time?"

'No, the shortage was not officially reported until the spring of 1953," replied Mr. Morrow.

Under cross examination Mr. O'Flynn asked Mr. Harder if the township had been satisfied with Mr. Shortt's audit. Mr. Harder said there had been no complaints.

"Was there any extra levy made by the township?"

"No," was the reply.

"Did you always have a surplus?" asked Judge Smith.

Mr. Morrow replied the township borrowed money occasionally for current expenses but this was paid back when the taxes were paid.

Tax collector Lorne Hunt was on the witness stand nearly the entire afternoon.

He told the court that Mr. Woods had not returned tax rolls to him as he was required to do. Mr. Hunt said he did not have the tax rolls for the years 1946 to 1951 in his possession.

Tax rolls were produced by the Crown and were checked by the tax collector for the entries corresponding to tax receipts produced earlier in court and vouched for by various tax collectors.

Where taxes had not been paid during the year, which there were due, receipts showed penalty and interest added but when taxes were listed in the tax roll, tax only was listed. The tax roll showed the taxes as having been paid during the current year although receipts were dated up to a year later.

Under questioning by Crown Counsel Mr. Hunt said that according to the rolls Mr. Woods had collected $1,551.62 in penalty and interest in the years 1946 to 1951.

In contrast to this the present tax collector had collected $129.94 in penalty and interest during the first three months of 1953 and $98.14 during a similar period in 1954. In addition to this Mr. Hunt said he had collected $1,242.37 in penalties and interest in 1953.

In cross examination Mr. O'Flynn remarked that in view of the trouble it would be only natural for the present collector to collect all interest due. Mr. Hunt agreed.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Industrials forged ahead to a record index high in a burst of buying in early afternoon trading at the Toronto stock exchange today.

Gains ranged to [illegible] as papers and steels led the strong upward movement.

McIntyre, however, stole the spotlight among individual issues shooting up [illegible] to a high of $89. Traders on the exchange floor attributed McIntyre's sharp climb in recent sessions to a bid by Cyrus Eaton, well-known financier, to buy "a big block" of the company shares.

Between two and three points higher among industrials were Price Bros., Great Lakes Paper, Union Gas and Canadian Bronze. At least half a dozen of the leaders hit new highs. Abitibi climbed 1¼ to a 1955 high of 35.

Western oils climbed with moderate gains going to most issues but other major sections showed little change.

Profit-taking hit most uranium issues with losses ranging to 25 cents.

GM and Union Seem Confident Of Settlement

DETROIT (AP) — Negotiators for General Motors Corp. and the United Auto Workers (CIO) appeared confident today that they will reach a contract settlement before a Sunday midnight strike deadline.

They kept silent on the trend of the talks, under a strict secrecy agreement, but have been going back and forth from negotiating sessions in high good humor.

Meanwhile, scattered walkouts of both GM and Ford workers across the United States are subsiding, although about 25,000 GM workers and 5,000 Ford workers were reported still idle early today.

The UAW has warned both GM and Ford workers to get back to their jobs. Reuther sent telegrams to all GM locals saying the stoppages were "sabotaging national negotiations." Wednesday night the union notified Ford strikers that they would have no protection against company disciplinary action for idleness beginning today.

It is generally believed that GM is working out a package contract offer for the UAW containing income insurance for workers while unemployed, plus boosts in wages, pensions, insurance and holiday and vacation benefits.

How close or how different any GM settlement would be to the Ford pact, which the UAW claimed was worth more than 20 cents an hour to the workers, is the question intriguing the auto industry.

Toronto Receives Five Million Bid For City Hall

TORONTO (CP) —Toronto civic legislators today were divided over whether a reported $5,000,000 offer from a western businessman for purchase of the city hall building and property should be accepted.

The offer is said to have been made through a city finance house. The would-be purchaser is reported interested in building a multi-million dollar office building on the site.

The city had long planned to dispose of the heavily-ornamented Victorian structure when it moves into new premises on a proposed civic square site. The metropolitan Toronto council recently declined a city offer to sell the land and building to metro for $4,500,000.

Mayor Nathan Phillips said he was prepared to discuss the offer.

Zoo Blackout

SALISBURY, Md. (AP) — Monkeys at City Park Zoo apparently like light bulbs—or else they don't like light.

When a patrolman reported the monkey house was blacked out at night, investigators found the occupants had been unscrewing electric bulbs from their sockets and munching on them.

Election Vote Only 'Fair' In Morning Hours

To Ontario's quietest provincial election today Belleville reacted—quietly.

Election fever, non-existent all through the campaign both in the ridings of East and West Hastings in common with most of Ontario showed no signs of making an eleventh-hour strike in the city as the electorate started polling this morning.

Casting of ballots in the city appeared to be an abstract affair and polling stations in the city, open for the electors' business at 9 a.m. this morning, seemed to be having a somewhat relaxed time.

The general reaction of officers at the stations to the volume of votes cast up to 12.30 was that traffic to the booths was "just fair".

At the Quinte Skating and Tennis Club, voting centre for Ketcheson 8 about 60 votes had been cast by that time. One of the biggest returns reported up to then was from Foster 2, where Mrs. H. Woodcock, whose house at 20 St. Paul St. is being utilized for balloting, reported the volume was "not too bad at all." Some 75 votes had been cast by that time.

Ward centre for Samson 5 reported it was "not extra busy" and that 38 votes had been cast by 12.30 p.m.

Moira St. W. fire hall, centre of balloting for Coleman 17 had 'just fair' returns, the votes numbering 67. Voters in Murney 20, casting at Christ Church had formed about one-tenth of the entire voter's list, who had balloted.

Voting closes at 8 p.m. D. S. T. and the majority of the votes in the city will be cast between five o'clock and that time.

Adenauer Will Meet Reds But Not in Moscow

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer is prepared to meet Russian leaders, a West German government spokesman said tonight. But he added that the meeting will not necessarily take place in Moscow.

The spokesman said Adenauer has insisted there should be an exchange of opinions between West German and Russian experts before the place and time of the meeting is fixed.

This exchange of views has already begun in Paris, he said.

The government spokesman said the exchange between experts "will last several weeks."

Six Nations Indian Council Wants Resignation of Chief Councillor

BRANTFORD (CP) — Twelve members of the Six Nations Indian council, representing the entire elected council excepting chief councillor E. P. Garlow, today demanded Mr. Garlow's resignation because of his appeal to his fellow-Indians not to vote in today's provincial election.

A resolution passed by the council said:

"We demand that he resign as chief of the Six Nations. And in the event of his failing to do so, we shall be forced to use some other effective means to bring about the desired results."

Indians today had their first opportunity to vote in an Ontario provincial election. Mr. Garlow last Sunday urged the Six Nations not to vote, for fear they would lose their chief councillor.

"Since he is our chief and leader," the resolution said, "it is quite evident that the public in reading of this matter, will gain the impression that we as a council are in agreement with the chief in this matter. We therefore publicly denounce his statements. We feel that he should be the promoter of trust, confidence and good will among our people, towards both the federal and provincial governments, who have extended so many welfare and other privileges to our Indian people."

WON'T RESIGN

Chief councillor Garlow refused to give up his post. He said that as leader of the Six Nations Indians, he has a duty to advise them as he saw fit.

He said he would have to be convicted of an offence under the council regulations before he could be forced to resign. His refusal to resign will be discussed by his fellow councillors with officials of the Indian affairs branch at Ottawa.

Lung of Dead Monkey Used In Rare Operation

TORONTO (CP)—A 19-months-old Peterborough girl today underwent a "very rare" heart operation during which her blood passed through the lung of a dead monkey.

The operation was performed on Lucinda Rowe by Dr. W. T. Mustard, Toronto heart surgeon.

The monkey's lung was chosen as the temporary artery for the patient's blood because it most closely resembles a human lung.

The operation is called a "cardiac by-pass for I. V. septal defect and patent ductus." It had never been successful in Canada before, but has been performed at the University of Minnesota where the blood of a boy was pumped for 15 minutes through a lung removed from a dog.

Kingston Poet In Full Color Canadian Movie

KINGSTON (CP) — A full-color Canadian-made movie will have its world premiere here within a month.

The picture, The Little Canadian, stars three Kingston district actors and features the autumn color of the Thousand Islands. It has just arrived from a six-month processing in Hollywood.

The stars are Diane MacMillan, a pretty blonde Queen's University student, Robert Agar, Gananoque actor, and Wallace Havelock Robb, Kingston poet.

Mel Turner, the producer, says Hollywood movie - makers "just about went crazy with joy when they saw the color shots of the Thousand Islands."

The actual photography of the picture took 10 weeks late last summer and early fall. Arrangements for national distribution of the 75-minute film now are being made.

Charles and Anne Take Plane Ride

DYCE, Scotland (AP) — Prince Charles and Princess Anne went up for their first plane ride today.

They were driven here from Balmoral castle and took off in a Viking of the Queen's Flight for London.

The prince and princess were to have flown last Sunday at the same time the Queen flew to London in another aircraft. But a slight ear infection troubled Princess Anne and it was decided to let them stay on at Balmoral, the Royal Family's Scottish home, until it cleared up.

United Church 'Diversified Approach' Hit

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (CP) After 30 years of unification it is time for the United Church to start thinking as one church instead of three denominations, a minister said Wednesday night.

Speaking in ministerial sessions at the 31st-annual convention of the London Conference, Rev. R.R. Craig, chairman of the Algoma presbytery, said:

"I strongly disagree with those who say our strength lies in our diversified approach."

He said that in many churches the form of service tends to change with every new minister and it is "time we made our own established forms of worship."

A. V. Roe Offers To Buy Control Of Canada Car

MONTREAL (CP)—A. V. Roe (Canada) Limited has offered to buy control of Canadian Car and Foundry Company in what would be a $22,000,000 stock purchase, it was announced Wednesday.

The announcement came during the annual meeting of Canadian Car's board of directors. Avro's offer was $30 a share for all class "A" and common shares outstanding.

Exact details of the offer will be made known shortly to shareholders in a letter from Canada Car directors.

Discards Specs, Woman Now 104 Sees Better

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) Mrs. Mary M. Kelly passed her 104th birthday Wednesday with the observation that she sees things more clearly now.

That's because she tossed away her spectacles when she was 103.

"I can see much better without them," she said. "In fact, I can see better all the time."

She has an opinion that anyone can live to be a mere 100.

"Eat plenty, see plenty of people and laugh a lot," she says. "And don't tell your true age."

Relief Parley Will Be June 20

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent said today he has asked provincial premiers to meet here June 20 for a "preliminary meeting" to consider the federal offer to share in unemployment relief costs.

He informed the Commons the meeting may last two days.

Mr. St. Laurent said it will consider information which has been gathered—a reference to a compilation of the level of relief costs in each province.

Russia Is Not Objecting To July 18 Date

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov told French leaders today Russia has no basic objection to July 18 as the date and Geneva as the site of the top-level Big Four meeting, an informed French source said today.

French Premier Edgar Faure and Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay entertained Molotov at lunch today on his way to the United States. He left afterwards to take the Queen Elizabeth at Cherbourg.

The French informant emphasized that Molotov had been extremely cordial through the elaborate French meal. The Russians were said to have shown great eagerness to turn the page on the past and create a new atmosphere of confidence.

THE WIDOW-MAKING MONTH

One of the more fascinating statistics to emerge from actuarial charts in recent years is proof that the weaker sex is not.

Girl babies are healthier than boy babies. Girls are less subject to sickness and ill health than boys. Women have fewer ulcers and are less subject to lung cancer than men. Mature women live longer than mature men—the average life expectancy of women is 70 and of men 67. In fact women are much more durable than men.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company reported recently that there were 6,400,000 widows in the United States in 1954, an increase of 2,300,000 in the past 15 years. No one could possibly be more distressed about this than the widows themselves, unless of course, it could be their deceased spouses.

All of which brings us to the observation that this is June, the month of moon, spoon, croon and wedding bells.

It should be fairly obvious that the marrying month is an excellent time to discuss matrimony in particular and widows discreetly.

If women live longer, and figures (statistics, that is,) prove they do, then the sensible thing for bridegrooms is to cherchez la femme who is three years older. Unfortunately, tribal customs and mating rites in North America have somehow conspired to produce the illusion of happy matrimony between a man two to three years older than the bride. Physiologists and psychologists have compounded this notion by stating that girls mature faster than boys; in other words they are older physically and emotionally than boys of the same age. All of which produces the unhappy picture of the gay young bride facing five or six years of widowhood with nothing to console her but fond memories—and insurance.

The spectre of 6,400,000 widows living out the remaining years of their lives in the solitude of southern California, disturbed only by the thudding of insurance coupons, is hardly the sort of happy springboard one expects for a leap into the sea of matrimony.

Nevertheless, the growing number of widows poses a real problem for a balanced emotional environment in the population. Who, for instance, can picture the politician sweeping to victory on a campaign devoted to bussing widows? Don't scoff, it could happen.

Statistics, being what they are, only lie when convenient, so it behooves bachelors to think seriously of the alternatives to the widow problem.

A ready solution, of course, is for the man to marry a girl three years older than himself so that statistically both can pass into the beyond, hand in hand. Another is to look the age difference in the eye and go out and buy insurance for the wife so that she will have to start worrying about how to provide for her husband's old age —a process that might bring life expectancy figures closer together.

However, biology being what it is, we are fairly confident June will proceed on schedule with its annual quota of widow makers.

FEW VACCINATED CHILDREN POLIO CARRIERS

A report in Tuesday's issue of The Ontario Intelligencer that a child vaccinated with the Salk polio vaccine may act as a carrier of polio needs some explanation.

The report, written by Alton L. Blakeslee of the Associated Press, quoted Dr. Jonas E. Salk, developer of the vaccine, as saying that it was possible for a vaccinated child to act as a carrier.

Unfortunately the report, as printed in The Ontario Intelligencer, could be interpreted to mean that every vaccinated child might be a carrier, as the result of being vaccinated.

This, we are informed by a reliable source, is incorrect.

The Salk vaccine does not give a child polio and therefore the vaccinated child cannot spread the disease to unvaccinated persons, unless the child who is vaccinated should chance to contract polio in the normal way. If the polio virus enters the vaccinated child's body, the anti-bodies built up by the vaccine will prevent the virus from affecting the child's nerves and causing paralysis. But it will not prevent the virus being transmitted to another child who, if not vaccinated, may suffer paralysis.

In other words, the Salk vaccine does not make every child a carrier of polio, but those vaccinated children who are infected with polio can transmit the disease to others, exactly as they would do if not vaccinated.

This fact was not made clear in the report carried in Tuesday's paper.

Mr. Blakeslee is recognized as one of the most painstaking and accurate reporters on scientific subjects. It is doubtful whether his original report was ambiguous on this point. The situation probably arose as the result of wire trouble, which made a short paragraph unreadable. This paragraph was, therefore, omitted from the report as printed.

NOT SO SAFE

Turnpikes or through highways in the United States which are supposed to be safe for fast driving because there is no entry from cross roads, don't appear to be so safe after all. The death rate on the New York Throughway is 2.44 per 100 million vehicle miles. The Pennsylvania Turnpike rate is 7.5 and the New Jersey Turnpike 4.4. The Toronto-Barrie and the Queen Elizabeth highways in Ontario, nearest comparable, had rates of 2.2 and 2.1. (Port Arthur News-Chronicle.)

THUNDER STORM

Time was that mother used to say:
"Let's put the knives and forks away.
The table we must quickly clear.
A thunder storm is drawing near."
And dad would smilingly declare:
"Of lightning forks we must beware.
"So bolt your meal and call quits
Before a fork of lightning hits.
And then you children, one and all,
Beneath a bed with mother crawl.
Your father's the courageous type.
He'll sit out here and smoke his pipe."
"Your father," mother would reply,
"Is useless when there's danger nigh.
He says so many silly things.
I'm tired of every joke he springs.
I dread a storm, but I detest
Your dad's old fork of lightning jest."

Eager Beaver Is Persistent

(By O. A. Fitzgerald from "Ford Treasury of Outdoors")

The world's first dam builder is a shining example of industry, application and good conduct.

The beaver is eager. But he's also modest, patient, persistent, frugal and a dependable provider for his family. His sole frivolity is a daily grooming of his valuable coat.

Only man and his machines can face-lift a stream faster than the fur-coated engineers with the built-in diving suit. Whether he gets cussed or complimented for his work depends upon where he does it.

Some Western irrigation farmers get generous free bonuses every summer from beaver ponds high up in the mountains. The bigger those ponds, the happier the farmers downstream. "Every one's worth a thousand dollars," remarked one.

On the other hand, plugged ditches, flooded fields, and trees across phone lines are some other results of beaver eagerness.

Try discouraging a "nuisance beaver" and you'll learn the real meaning of perseverance. Tearing holes in his dam, even dynamiting it, is but a routine annoyance. One rancher hung out a lantern to annoy the night shift. It was chucked into the dam along with everything else the beaver could flont or drag. A beaver never admits defeat. So he gets carted off to some lonely meadow where his swimming pool will not bother anyone.

This policy of resettling nuisance beavers is building up their population. Centuries of ruthless trapping had reduced our once-time horde of nearly 500,000,000 to pitiful thousands. But thanks to wise game management, you now can find beaver workings on streams that have seen none since Indian days.

Locating a leak in his precious dam is a beaver specialty. When trappers learned this, they created leaks and set their traps by them. Beavers soon were dragging pieces of brush across those traps before repairing the leaks.

A beaver's choppers are so formidable that the Indians mounted them on handles for cutting tools. With short, powerful strokes, a beaver can chop down a tree in about the time it would take a man using a dull axe.

Around a ton of limbs goes into the underwater winter food cache for each adult. Aspen and poplar are favorites. Alder, maple and lodgepole pine come next. Of course, a beaver will eat cedar and fir, but he thinks they're spinach.

Turkish Army's 'Mother' Dead

(Montreal Gazette)

Turkey's extensive knowledge of Russian imperialism, under whatever government, was recalled this week at a funeral in Ankara. Mrs. Nean Hatum, 100 years old, was given the first military funeral ever accorded a Turkish woman.

The "mother of the Turkish Army" had a military record that far antedated WACs or WRENSs or ATS. As a bride of 22, she fought against the Russians in 1877. That forgotten war, which the Turks lost, was only one in the centuries of wars Russia has fought in her attempts to force an entry, through Turkey, into the Mediterranean.

The Turkish people pay little attention to Communism, one way or the other. The word Russian is quite enough to determine their stand in world affairs.

Horse Nonsense

(By John Gould in the Christian Science Monitor)

The other day two smallish children were left in the rear seat of a parked automobile while mother picked up a few groceries, and the craft slipped its moorings and careened down a city street and into the front of a store.

It not only wreaked a fine job on the store and the automobile, but it excited everybody in sight, and it will remain an outstanding experience in the memories of the two youngsters.

* * *

It made me think that I haven't heard of a runaway horse lately. The only horse left around here that matters is an indefatigable veteran used by Bill Ridley when Bill wants to get from one place to another. This horse is one of those thinkers, a puzzled, far-away look on his face, head cocked slightly to one side, devoting his time as he moves along to the successive decisions of what to do with each foot now that he's picked it up.

You don't hear much about these horses when you foregather with the smart set and discuss racing and polo. But back in the days when horses mattered, 99 out of every 100 horses was one of these methodical plodders, designed for utility and short on sense. Whenever I hear a politician urge the use of more "horse sense," my mind goes back to some of the stupid, stubborn, stumbling horses I knew in my youth.

* * *

I've always felt a little reluctant to discuss the subject of horse sense aloud, because I hear so many people speak highly of them that I feel my own experiences must have been unusual. In the face of this enthusiasm I never feel like telling of the horses I have known, for those I knew never stacked up very well.

One of my earliest memories of a horse sets the pace. I'd gone to the village for supplies, and the five-gallon can of kerosene was away back in the wagon so it wouldn't splash on the groceries up front. Just as I got aboard to drive back to the farm I noticed the potato had fallen off the spout, so I drew up, dismounted to stick the potato back on, and stood there in the street to see my horse running away, the reins lying back in the wind and the wagon bobbing around.

My legs weren't as long then as they are now, and the 2 1-2 miles home were tedious. The horse, of course, had gone directly home and was standing in the barn floor slatting flies with his tail and waiting to be unharnessed. This sort of thing used to happen often, and not only to me.

* * *

Once in a while a runaway horse would just lope around the village streets, instead of going anywhere, and then somebody would stop him and get his name in the paper. Stopping a runaway team was a kind of heroism. You stood up in the road and spread your arms, making soothing noises, and the horses were supposed to stop. If they didn't, you jumped aside and let somebody else try down the street a way.

Once I happened to be situated properly and saw a pair of great bay horses come charging along, hitched to an ice cart, and they had evidently been running away for a long time.

They were winded. They came to a stop before they got to me so I walked over and took their bridles just as some people came running up. These horses had galloped back and forth on the main street most of the forenoon, not doing any damage but keeping folks stirred up, and everybody presumed that I had bravely stopped them at the peak of their folly.

* * *

The folks clapped me on the back, and I got my name in the paper, and I never bothered to explain the difference. I figured people would only impute my disclaimer to modesty, and it was better to let the thing go as it was.

I was on a horserake once when the horse jumped a stone wall and ran for the barn. I succeeded in getting thrown off, and the horse went through the side door and smashed the rake. Another time I saw a team run away while plowing—a most absurd time to run away. The plow clung to the furrow for about three quarters of a mile, throwing sod for 30 feet, and then it came loose and bounced around as a comet plunges through space —making about the same kind of fire whenever it hit a rock. These foolish horses ran and ran and ran, and then they subsided.

No Color Bar In This Field

(Pittsburgh Courier, Negro)

The dream of all colored Americans has been to find a place where there is no color prejudice or discrimination, where they can be the equal of others and get the same consideration.

Well, they don't have to walk a step to find such a place because it is really everywhere: that is to say, it is in American industry.

Anybody, regardless of color, sex, religion or nationality, can become part-owner of one or a dozen great industries that make United States capitalism the wonder and envy of the world.

Nobody ever heard of anybody being barred from investing in one of our great companies like General Motors, Procter and Gamble, International Telephone and Telegraph, Standard Oil and United States Steel because of skin color, hair texture or features.

In short, there are no laws or customs stopping Negroes from becoming capitalists and enjoying some of the profits of ownership in America's giant corporations.

Nor is it necessary that one who desires to become part-owner of some of these vast industries possess a fortune.

Anybody who can invest a few dollars a month can automatically become a capitalist and help himself and family, and help build America.

Private Enterprise

(Boonville, Mo., Kiwanis Bulletin)

It pays most of the rates and taxes.

It provides most of the jobs.

It has always done most to raise wages.

It has given us all of our industries.

It has built our ships and railways and airplanes.

It develops inventors and business builders.

It originated the principles of efficiency.

It has done most to lower costs and prices.

It created the whole structure of business.

It alone can raise our standard of living.

It is the hope of the human race.

Yet — Karl Marx said it must be destroyed.

It is Private Enterprize.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WASTE OF NOISE

I know of nothing that is served, or bettered, by mere noise. The one nerve wracking thing about the big city is its noise, constant rumbling and tearing at one's peace of mind. One of the worst—and most unnecessary of noises—is that of automobiles, especially flagrant with taxis. All horns should be taxed and a heavy penalty for those used unnecessarily.

Much of the rest and renewal of the body, experienced during a vacation to some quiet place, is caused by the quiet of the country, giving one a grand time in which to think and meditate. There are noises in the country that are like music. The wind, the gentle rain, the distant call of a bird or its nearby song. These are comforting noises, feeding the spirit.

We have all met people who made a lot of noise with their talk —without saying anything! Elbert Hubbard once wrote: "All noise is waste. So cultivate quietness in your speech, in your thoughts, in your emotions. Speak habitually low. Wait for attention and then your low words will be charged with dynamite!"

I am not a lover of jazz music, and I use the day that it came to pass. About every other sort of music I love. I used to visit that quaint and brilliant prose-poet, Walt Mason. He was very deaf. William Allen White wrote Thomas Edison to send him a phonograph for his birthday. Edison did, and Walt loved that instrument which led him to the great musicians of the world. With an amplifying horn he heard perfectly. After playing for a spell he would rise quietly, walk to his typewriter and write rhyme for hours as rapidly and perfectly as though we were merely writing script.

One of the blessings of deafness is that you hear less of what isn't useful and unpleasant. I recently heard a noted pianist play but he made so much noise I was almost convinced that the instrument had at one time gravely insulted him!

You Can't Ignore The Statistics

A familiar device of ever-ready operators working up business for themselves and the hospital is this:

"The child will probably continue to have one cold after another until those bad tonsils are removed."

This shabby trick disarms countless parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts, big brothers or sisters who might otherwise save the child from a major operation.

Notice, please, the tonsil snatchers give no guarantee or commitment of any kind. They leave it to the gullible guardians to draw the inference that tonsilectomy will put an end to the usual childhood illnesses.

Well, now, what can parents, grandparents, uncles, aunts, etc. who have gotten beyond the third grade in school learn from the most authoritative statistics available today concerning the effects of tonsilectomy? I'll cite these statistics for you, or, if you'd rather study the question first - hand, you may find in your public library the book from which I quote: Children's Tonsils In and Out, by Albert D. Kaiser, M. D., published by Lippincott, 1932. Just in case some trick specialist or "clinic" racketeer says out of the corner of his mouth, "There he goes again, 23 years behind the march of medicine," I repeat, Dr. Kaiser's statistics are the most authoritative we have today, and I do hereby solemnly promise to make public apology, retraction, correction, or amendment if any reputable physician or group of physicians can show that there are today any more authoritative or more carefully compiled statistics on the effects of tonsillectomy on the frequency of so-called "colds" in childhood than Dr Kaiser's.

Information obtained from parents of 4,400 Rochester school children between four and seven years of age showed that 42 per cent were subject to three or more "colds" a year. For various reasons, physicians advised removal of the tonsils and adenoids of the 4,400 children. But 2,200 of the children were subjected to the operation, and 2,200 were not.

The entire group of 4,400 children were observed over a period of ten years, and then, when the children were from 14 to 17 years of age, high school students, "the general incidence of repeated colds was definitely less than it had been when the children were four to seven years of age."

Among the 2,200 children whose tonsils and adenoids had been removed 22 per cent. (484 children) were still subject to repeated "colds." Among the 2,200 whose tonsils and adenoids were not removed 31 per cent. (692 children) still had repeated "colds."

In view of these statistics I must say I don't see how any doctor can condemn a child to tonsilectomy just because the child has three or more alleged "colds" in a year.

FUTURE DIFFICULTIES

Yesterday we spoke of the possibility of great material improvements in the life of the world. The growth of atomic power, its adaptation to civilian needs, the discovery of new means of propulsion, and the advancement of medical science will, probably within the next hundred years, give us a world so dazzling in splendor that the present era will appear, scientifically, the same way that the eighteenth century appears, scientificaly, to us.

But there is always a fly in the ointment. In this case it is not a fly but a worm. As we advance materially, we are experiencing moral and spiritual decline. The worm of decay appears to be eating at the center of our spiritual life. To be sure the churches are full today and people are manifesting an interest in religion never seen in recent generations. In this lies our hope. But juvenile delinquency is increasing. While there are millions of fine parents in the world today, there are millions of parents who by their intemperance and gay life are ruining their own children. Our education has become almost entirely secular, and we are raising up a spiritually illiterate generation. Practically all restraint has been removed from social life, and unbelievable bad conduct often results.

So we are in a race between aspiration and destruction. That we shall have a brilliant material civilization a hundred years from now, one can scarcely doubt, but will it be spiritually sterile? This is the most awful question that has confronted us in recent centuries.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Among the weird experiments they conducted in Nevada with the series of atomic explosions was an enquiry into the question as to which breed of dog was least affected by fission and its consequences. And apparently the beagle won, hands down. This is no surprise to the several thousand Canadian beagle lovers and the several ten thousands in the United States.

Other types of dog were sent berserk by the exposions, or rendered numb. The beagle was not even impressed by this, the latest of man's wonders. When the explosions were over and the experiments arrived at test kennels, the beagles were on their feet, grave eyes alert, tails wagging, saying "Okay, when do we hunt?"

Nothing excites a beagle but the scent of hare or rabbit. True, he can be induced to be interested in fox or even deer. He is a most oblinging small gentleman. But it is the hare that truly excites him. Until he is taken to the fields and let out of the car for a hunt, a beagle is a quiet, dignified, rather reserved and melancholy little hound with little real resemblance, in temperament and character, to his larger cousins the fox hound, deer hound or coon hound, which are yowling and argumentative members of the hound family. The beagle is a bit of a Tory. He is ready for a little fun at any time, but within reason. He will be friendly, affectionate, in a reserved sort of way. But his heart is in the Highlands, or at any rate in the nearest hills where the hare might run. You own a beagle for three years. You know him better than you know your own brother. You kennel him and feed him and fondle him for three years. You are friends.

Then you take him out to the swamp or pasture and let him loose. He finds a hare. Away he goes. He goes by the hour using his small voice as nobly as he can. And sometimes a beagle can develop a noble voice. The hours wear on. He holds to the line. The hours fade into dusk. You can shout and blow horns as you like. But the beagle stays on the line. So you light a lantern and go into the swamp or out over the meadow, and, placing yourself on the path of the hare, intercept and seize your friend of three years, your chum, your darling. And as you grab him, he fights like a fury with you, you stranger, you interloper, coming between him and his game. After a moment, writhing and wriggling in your arms, he remembers you. Remembers you at last. A beagle, the fissionists have discovered, is a dog of particular character.

Minerva Chapter June Group OES Sponsors Charming Tea

The cosy home of Mrs. A. E. Wonnacott, Green street, was the estting yesterday afternoon for a charming and dainty tea and sale of home cooking sponsored by the June group of the Minerva Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Lovely bouquets of pink and white peonies, mauve iris, purple phlox and roses lent their sweet fragrance to a happy occasion.

Receiving the guests were the hostess, Mrs. Wonnacott and Mrs. J. R. Williams, the Worthy Matron, who smilingly greeted each comer, passing them on to the tea room hostesses, Mrs. Harold Putman, who saw that each guest was provided with a refreshing cup of tea, dainty sandwiches and cake which went with it.

PRETTILY APPOINTED TEA TABLE

The tea table was prettily appointed with a hand-crocheted lace cloth in ivory shade, and centred with a crystal bowl of deep purple phlox and white peonies, mingled with spikes of pink bells. Tall, ivory candles rising from white lacy collars in tri-branched silver candelabra, and silver services completed a most pleasing arrangement.

Is It Sterling Or Silverplate?

In choosing tableware for a home, the buyer may run the gamut of pewter, plastic, wood, stainless steel, "bare back" or unplated nickel silver. However, most modern homes enjoy the use of an elegant silverware service, which naturally limits the choice of either sterling or silverplate.

Granted one is seeking a top-quality silverware service, the differences between sterling and plate are generally personal ones — pride of possession and ornateness of design.

Take sterling, for extmple. Sterling silver is well known. It means table pieces fashioned from a solid precious metal, Sterling silver pieces are nearly all pure or fine silver. Out of every 1,000 parts, 925 must be pure silver. The other 75 parts are usually copper, added for strength. By government decree, sterling silver cannot be so stamped unless it meets these requirements.

In all top-quality silverplate, a nickel-containing alloy as a base is plated with a durable coating of pure silver. Alloying is not necessary to toughen the silver on silverplate because the base is a very tough and hard metal to begin with.

Whether in sterling or silverplate, the preference for a silverware service will ultimately reflect one's background, good taste and considered judgment, in a quality and forever fashionable table decor, intended to give a lifetime of service.

Sir Winston Churchill School Displays Art at McCarthy

On view at the McCarthy Theatre is a collection of school art done by the pupils of Sir Winston Churchill school. This display will be on exhibition until the 18th of this month. With the close of the summer school term, one views with considerable concern the suggestion that these exhibitions, which have been running for two years, and which have been such an incentive to the pupils in fostering their love of nature in its manifold aspects, and its portrayal, though as yet in the embryo stage, may be permanently discontinued.

There has been considerable public interest shown in these school displays, not only by the interested parents, but by outsiders as well. The children, themselves, can compare their work with that of other schools and learn thereby, an opportunity they would not otherwise have; and not only view the work of pupils like themselves, but the work of mature artists which is always on display in the alcove —thus affording an allure and a goal at which to aim. So, may the exhibitions continue because of future artists in the making.

GRADE DRAWINGS

The drawings of Sir Winston Churchill school include those of Grades 1, 3, 5, 6 and the kindergarten and primary in their varying degrees of accomplishment. There are drawings in pencil, crayon, scenery, handiwork in cut-out; color balance; and others.

In Grade 1, there were dogs made from batting, paper flowers in frames, lacy cut-outs, faces in parka hoods; finger painting in green showing trees.

Grade 3 displayed a child's idea of Victoria Day with the bang of fire-crackers, and an air scintillating with manifold colors. The intent aspect of the little girl depicts wonder and absorbed interest. The winter scenes included the rising sun or sinking sun behind purple mountains, and a foreground sprinkled with evergreen trees, and a red house lending color interest. The other was of mountains also, foregrounded by a winding roadway, traversed by several cars.

A back view of two girls, one in red, and the other in a mauve slack shirt and dungarees, gazing at a leafless tree, which was massive in detail.

A silhouette of a bucking bronco with rider, was attractive with its orange background. There were also finger paintings in mauve and yellow.

COLOR BALANCE

The highlight of these was the 'color balance' done in green, orange, red, purple and rose and blue, in angular shapes, clear, and brilliant, similar to stained glass.

Union Jack flag was well done, as wes "The Lord's Prayer" as a wall motto. This depicted a little child in the attitude of prayer. The prayer was nicely printed, with floral accent on a light background. Another picture was of the deep frame effect, done in pencil of an old time tandem, stage coach. A picture denoted "Spring" showed a garden path, clouds and a tree. A dart board, was well drawn and nicely colored.

POPCORN FLOWERS

Some flowers in colored pots were the outcome of nimble fingers, and showed a remarkable delicacy of assembly. These were made from popcorn, and depicted hyacinths in full bloom in shades, of mauve, blue, white and pink.

Among the cutouts were: "My Cat," a tiger cat; "My Dog and I", both nicely done. But the square of butterflies was eye-catching. Here were yellow butterflies; moth butterflies; silver fritterley, and a Monarch, all ready to 'take off' at the slightest disturbance.

The alphabet succession was also nicely printed and colored, done in rows, each row beginning with the next succeeding letter of the name used. "The Indian Chief watching the tribal dance" and the "Indian home" were interesting as were the ever-favorite snowmen with their coal-black eyes. Igloos of the Eskimos were also shown, denoting interest far afield as well as at home.

"THE VITAMIN FAMILY"

The primary and kindergarten showed their handiwork in the 4-square men; a child at play; a clown in colorful attire; the "Vitamin family"— Mrs. Milkbottle; carrot son; cabbage and potato brothers, and the pumpkin and apple daughters. Three little girls skipping in a garden; and a square of boats—two masted sail boats, and two boats with white sails, showed care in design.

Fairy stories by Grade 1 included two pictures of the "Three Bears", one showing the bears returning home to their cottage after their walk in the woods, and the other, the walk in the woods. The picnic plates, as wall plaques, were colorful and in divers designs, geometrical and floral.

Grade 3 showed designs in pink and yellow, and jungle scenes depicting tiger, lions and a jaguar, crayon colored cut-out of Paddy, the Irishman and the Dutch girl.

FINE SILHOUETTES

Grade 6 had a series of some fine silhouettes of dancers, a country fence with tree; a Spanish galleon; Easter card designs with flowers, having a golden cross superimposed; a hunter, a skater and a skiing pictures, one of the jump and another of the downhill glide and the chess board in red and black were all well done.

Grade 5 had some nice cut-outs a pony's head in black and white; a colorful Northwest Mounted policeman; an elephant, and a rose arbor with trailing roses, were among the number.

In all, an interesting collection of work which showed care in detail, and careful drawing, and an interest in color, and imagination, talents which should be fostered, for who knows, perhaps there is a future "Tom Thompson" among them?

Tag Days Provide Funds For H.D.C. Club

The monthly meeting of the Handicapped club was held on Monday at the YMCA with 30 present.

The members were pleased with the response the public has shown in the sale of their work which is on sale at the market every Saturday.

The funds from the April tag days has enabled the club to buy materials for their work and these articles are sold to replace material and provide the club's social activities and in the near future to help members financially.

The workshop which is being fitted for the woodwork department, will be open to the public so that the club will be in a position to show the people of Belleville that their donations to the handicapped who wish to help themselves, has been spent to the best advantage.

The next meeting will be held in September.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

NOTES ABOUT GROOM'S ATTIRE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I are to be married at an early afternoon wedding, in the chapel of our church. My wedding dress is white, floor-length (no train), and I'm wearing a very simple, short bridal veil. I'm having only one attendant, maid of honor, who is to wear a ballerina-length dress. Would it be absolutely incorrect for the men in the wedding party (groom, best man, and two ushers) to wear dark business suits? What about my father (who is to give me in marriage), and the groom's father? — Barbara

Since your wedding is to be on the side of informality, and since it is to be in the chapel and, therefore, doubtless rather small, it is quite proper for the men of the wedding party to wear dark business suits.

Note 1: For a small, informal wedding, even when the bride wears a wedding dress and even a bridal veil, the men of the wedding party may wear dark business suits.

Note 2: But if at all possible, all the suits should be dark blue, because dark blue suits are nearest to formality-of-attire.

Note 3: The father of the bride, when he escorts her and gives her in marriage, is a member of the wedding party. Also, the same type of attire is worn by the groom's father, who is the man guest of honor at the wedding.

Note 4: Appropriate accessories: white shirt turned-down collar (preferably stiff collar); four-in-hand tie, perhaps of two shades of blue, or blue background with small gray or white stripes or small design: but not an all-white tie. Black shoes and socks. No gloves. Boutonnieres: white carnation or other simple flower; not gardenia.

GIFT TO GOLDEN WEDDING

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

We have been invited to an "At Home" in honor of the Fiftieth Wedding Anniversary. We are not intimate friends of the couple. Is it necessary to take a gift? — Subscriber

It is not necessary to take a gift on this occasion, but in most communities guests do take gifts as a tribute to this very significant anniversary. However, since you don't know the couple very well, your gift may appropriately be something very simple and not expensive, a thoughtful remembrance.

Striking Costume

By ALICE ALDEN

Black silk serge and white cotton lace is the striking fabric combination so skillfully handled by Herbert Sondheim for a costume very much in the Manhattan manner. The softly full skirt has its own net petticoat and buttons onto a sleeveless, small-collared blouse of jeweled cotton lace over batiste. The bolero is collared under the blouse and ties with a self bow.

Freezer Fancies

By Mary Moore

For you, my good friends, who are always seeking help with your homework I have a neat warm-weather dessert idea to pass along. It starts with "store-bought" ice cream which one good hostess I know remolds "nearer to the heart's desire". She starts off with one of the good standby flavors and winds up with endless variety in what she serves at her own table.

Take vanilla, for instance. To it she will add some chopped nuts and fruit, pack it into individual molds, then stores it in the freezing compartment of her refrigerator. Or, sometimes she tints it green and adds pistachio nuts, then she packs it into a freezing tray—a tray which has been lined beforehand with wax paper. When thoroughly frozen, she lifts the trayful onto a cold platter and slices it like a brick. Other time she tints the ice cream pink and flavors it with peppermint.

It must be stored in a very cold freezing compartment if you are using the refrigerator. Or you can pack the mold in a mixture of three parts cracked ice to 1 part rock salt. Let it stand for several hours. Be sure the mold is sealed securely against salt water by wrapping the seam where cover joins mold with a clean strip of cloth dipped in melted butter.

Here's a sure-fire one you can tuck away with a minimum of trouble in your refrigerator tray:

SUMMER ICE-CREAM BRICK

One-half pound almonds, blanched and chopped, 2 pint bricks strawberry ice cream. Line a refrigerator tray with waxed paper and sprinkle half the nuts over bottom of tray; then pack the ice cream and sprinkle the remainder of nuts on top. Place in freezing compartment turned to coldest temperature to harden. When ready to serve, lift the brick out of the tray by the waxed paper and slice. Strawberry sauce makes this just about perfect!

Or you might like individual servings from ready-made ice cream. Here's how:

ICE CREAM MOLDS

Into paper baking cups, sprinkle crushed almond macaroons to make a layer in the bottom. Then pack the cups with chocolate ice cream and sprinkle with another layer of crumbs. Over this spoon a layer of pineapple, strawberry or peach jam and finish off with another sprinkling of macaroon crumbs. Place cups in freezing compartment to harden. Serve with or without whipped cream. This is a grand treat for a children's party.

Now I have a frozen dessert that you can make very easily yourself, that's delicious and economical too, for its basis is powdered skim milk and cornflakes. It's called. . .

CHOCOLATE CORNFLAKE FREEZE

1st mix: Two cups water, 1 1-2 cups powdered skim milk, 1-2 cup cream, 1 tablespoon plain gelatin dissolved in 1-4 cup cold water (set over a bowl of boiling hot water), 1-2 cup sugar, 2 eggs, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 1 square chocolate melted. Put water in bowl and add powdered skim milk. Whip until entirely dissolved. Add cream, eggs, sugar, gelatin and vanilla and beat until well mixed. Free quickly. When partially frozen, turn the mixture back into chilled bowl and beat until thick and fluffy. Divide mixture in half. To one half add the melted chocolate and mix well.

2nd mix: Four cups cornflakes, 1-4 cup melted shortening, 1-3 cup brown sugar, pinch salt, 1-2 cup chopped nuts. Melt together shortening, sugar and salt, and add cornflakes and nuts. Sprinkle half the crumbs on bottom of freezing tray. Top with one of the frozen mixtures. Then spread second part of frozen mixture over this layer and top with remaining crumbs. Return to freezing compartment and freeze. Slice as you would brick ice cream.

Mother's Helper

MOMMY'S purse seems to have an enduring fascination for any toddler, boy or girl. For a toy, how about filling a worn-out pocketbook with "real" things—a lipstick case, handkerchief, coin purse, comb, etc.? It'll make a special hit if it has a handle.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

FACIAL LIGHTS AND SHADOWS

A pretty girl, aglow with animation and high spirits, makes an attractive picture. But anger, jealousy, petulance—any mean emotion—can deprive her of loveliness and make he look like a vixon.

Eyes that were melting soft are suddenly snapping fire. Lips that curled in a tender, engaging smile become tensed and hard. Her figure becomes rigid and menacing. The metamorphosis is not pleasant to watch.

The countenance can express thoughts and feelings as plainly as words. Some young faces, shadowed with discontent, look older than their years. Some old faces, brightened with the radiance of good nature and twinkling eyes, carry a semblance of youth.

Every traveler along the beauty path must keep in mind the fact that unpleasant emotions weaken and drag down the facial muscles, deplete the tissues so that premature wrinkles will form.

Maybe character cannot be read in faces. There seems to be a difference of opinion about that. No doubt there is many an angel-faced woman who has the soul of a rattle snake. Yet we do know that when we see a woman with a granite-like expression, we hazard the guess—often correct— that she is calculating, selfish and without tolerance toward her fellow creatures.

No matter how close you may be to her, you have no desire to put your arms around her, give her a squeeze and tell her you love her. She belongs to the "touch-me-not" type.

Observe the woman who whines. Her lips are soft and relaxed. She has sad-dog eyes. Her steps lag. She believes that every hand is raised against her, that fate has it in for her. Such a woman might just as well throw all her cosmetics out of the window.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HE CLOSED THE BOOK—WHY TRY TO OPEN IT?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

About two years ago I had been going with a fellow for about three months, when he suddenly stopped going with me and went out with a girl who had just moved to our town. Because I had fallen in love with him, and although he never actually told me so, he had told friends of mine he also loved me, I thought he felt about me as I did about him.

It wasn't long after he met her that he married this other girl, and recently I heard that things have been going badly between them and they are probably going to break up.

Is there anything I can do to make him interested in me again? — Ethel T.

Dear Ethel:

In the first place, there is certainly nothing that you could properly do at this point to try and interest this young man. Just how do you think it would make you look if you injected yourself into a marriage simply on the basis of rumors that it wasn't going well? Keep out of the situation entirely, and let other people's business alone.

In the second place, I can't see why you would want to start chasing this man anyhow, even if he were free. You admit he never told you he was in love with you, and you have nothing more reliable than gossip to go on when you assume that he ever felt the same way about you that you did about him.

If you are a sensible young woman, you will accept the fact that he himself closed the book on his friendship with you, and that it would be a bad mistake for you to try to open it again.

AREN'T THESE QUESTIONS PRETTY SILLY?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Do you think a boy likes a girl better if she wears glasses or if she doesn't?

And do you think my best girl friend should get mad at me because I talk to or go places with somebody she doesn't like?—Lora Mae

Dear Lora Mae:

You've asked me two questions. Now let me ask you one:

Don't you think your questions are pretty silly?

Wearing glasses has nothing whatever to do with whether or not a boy likes a girl. People—and that means boys just as well as girls—like others for what they are, not for what they look like, or for what they wear, or for any other reason.

As for your girl friend getting mad because you make a friend of someone she doesn't like, what business is it of hers whom you choose for a friend? You have a perfect right to talk to, or go places with anyone you like, provided you have the good sense and judgment to choose only the right sort of friends.

Religious Landmark Celebrates 100th Anniversary

Bowerman's Church, one of the cradles of Methodism in Prince Edward County, marks its centennial on Sunday, June 12, with special services and speakers. The grey stone structure is in an excellent state of preservation and still bears the original tablet "Wesleyan Methodist, 1855" above the entrance. Descendants of many of the families who resided in the community 125 years ago will attend the ceremonies and service.

Landmark of Early Methodism Bowerman's Church Marks 100th Anniversary on June 12

By GEO. H. CARVER

Early in the 19th century, an axe - wielding Prince Edward county prototype of America's famous Carrie Nation, smashed her tavern-keeping husband's hogsheads of whisky, putting an end to his business. The incident started a revival and led to the building of a church.

That happened over one hundred years ago. Standing indirectly as a monument to this remarkable woman and her family is the grey stone church located in the community known as "Bowerman's" some five miles north of Wellington on the "town line".

Mrs. Thomas Bowerman was one of the outstanding religious figures of this part of Prince Edward at that time. The records state, "she was in many respects, a remarkable woman. And it was largely due to her untiring efforts — her life and labor — that the Bowerman's Church was built."

On Sunday June 12, the well-preserved edifice will mark its 100th anniversary with special services and clergy. The church is now an "appointment" of the United Church of Canada's pastoral charge of Wellington.

Mrs. Bowerman previous to her marriage to Mr. Bowerman was a widow residing at West Lake. She had a son who later became the Rev. George Young and who preached one of the sermons at the opening of the church in 1855.

Following the marriage, Mr. Bowerman decided to open a tavern, but after he had carried on the business for some time, Mrs. Bowerman decided to put an end to it. She took an axe and went down to the cellar. There she smashed the heads of whisky barrels and emptied out the contents.

STARTED REVIVAL

The story spread over the community and countryside. A religious fervor became apparent and the families of those days became closer to the church. Mrs. Bowerman's son became converted and later joined the ministry. Mr. Bowerman gave the land on which the church stands. Later another well-known resident of the community, Mr. Daniel Pettett, donated the land for what is known as Bowerman's cemetery.

On the east wall of the interior of the church is a tablet placed to the memory of his mother by the Rev. George Young. On it is inscribed "In memory of mother, who, after many conflicts and victories went home to rest."

On the front wall of the church is the original nameplate, it is inscribed with "Wesleyan-Methodist —A.D. 1855."

The edifice standing like a sentinel on a rise of ground, overlooks the lush countryside of this fertile section of Prince Edward county. It was built in the heart of a district which was inhabited by staunch pioneer folk, families whose names are bywords in the county history and who believed in their faith with fervor and sincerity.

Not far away is another religious landmark. It is Burr's church and cemetery in which many pioneers and their families rest in the shade of stately elms beneath crude hand-shaped gravestones.

LASTING MEMORIAL

The sturdy stone structure will ever be a memorial to the faith and love of the community of its early residents. They took time out from arduous toil to erect with their own hands an edifice to the service of God. They hauled and cut the stone. They mixed mortar. The mortar pit was never filled in. The indentation although heavily sodded is still apparent on the eastern lawn of the church.

One of the hallowed treasures of the congregation is the 100-year-old hymn book which was presented to the church by the Rev. George Young presumably at the time of the dedication of the church. It is the hymn book of Charles and John Wesley and includes over 800 hymns written by the brothers and used by Methodists all over the world for many years.

Despite its age the book is in an excellent state of preservation.

NEVER FORGOT CHURCH

Mr. Young never forgot the church of his former home. In 1902 he presented the congregation with his own book "Manitoba Memories", in which he describes his missionary labors in the west from 1868 to 1884. He writes of his mother's second marriage to Thomas Bowerman and of his former home at West Lake.

He describes his new home (Bowerman's) as a "much more sparsely settled country. Schools were distant, teachers incompetent, text books ill adapted and opportunities for study few and far between."

Mr. Young told the story of what he believed an escape from death through divine providence. He was working in a barn when a terrific wind storm came up without warning. He went down on his knees to pray. Huge beams fell on the place where he stood a few moments previously.

Shortly after the wrecking of the whisky barrels in his step-father's tavern, Mr. Young was converted. This came about in 1840 when he was 19 years of age. Two years later he was received on trial as a candidate for the ministry. His name was read for his first appointment at the 1842 conference held in the old Picton chapel. He wrote his book at the age of 75 after 57 years of preaching and membership in the Methodist church.

One half mile west of the church stately maples guard the last resting place of many of the old families in Bowerman's cemetery. In this hallowed acre grey stones mark the graves and carry the names of such families as the McFauls, Tinklepaughs, Pettets, Platts, Maybees, Aylsworths, Johnsons, Turners, Mortons, Petersens, Zufelts, Youngs, Isteeds, Pines, Fergusons, Richardsons, Cainans, Vancleafs and many others.

In a children's corner rest two children of Daniel and Mary Anne Pettett. The children died at the age of three years. Four children of J. and M. Pettett died at the same age and lie close to each other in the plot. It is noted that four young people of various families died at the age of 23 years within a brief time of one another in 1863.

PIONEER METHODISTS

Bowerman's church, originally known as the Wesley church, is one of the landmark's of Methodism in the county. Its builders were pioneer Methodists who followed the footsteps of their earlier counterparts who erected the oldest church still standing, and in excellent condition two miles from Picton. It is known as the Old Conger Chapel, which was built in 1809. By 1817 there was a Hallowell circuit which embraced Picton and the surrounding districts. In 1850 the name of the circuit was changed to Picton.

Residents of Bowerman's did not rest their religious activities with attending services on Sunday. The church has had a marked influence throughout the community and district through its various organizations. The Young People's Society was formed in 1889 by the Rev. Thomas McKee. Later this was changed to a "Couple's Club" consisting of young married people and which is now under the leadership of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hall.

The first Sunday school superintendent was Alex. Robins, the records say, who was active in 1880. Clifford Morris is the present superintendent with an attendance of about 50.

From 1887 the recording stewards have been John D. Gilbert, Hiram E. Valleau, John Morton and Arthur Morden who is acting in that capacity at the present time.

The Ladies' Aid, now the Woman's Association was organized under the leadership of the Rev. Harry Wilkinson in 1929. Mrs. Walter Watson was the first president, Mrs. Harold Johnson now occupies that position. At the present time there are 26 members who last year raised nearly $400 through various activities.

The Rev. Michael Fawcett was the first minister of Bowerman's Church. He preached the dedicatory sermon on that historic opening day while the Rev. George Young preached in the evening services. Since that time a long line of ministers has administered to the church and congregation. Among them is the Rev. Fred G. McTavish of Bradford, Ont., who was the pastor in 1924-25.

SPECIAL SERVICES

Mr. McTavish will be the special preacher at the anniversary services which are being held on June 12 at 2.30 p.m. On Monday evening June 13 a social is being held to complete the anniversary celebrations. The Rev. Alfred Poulter, minister of the United Church, Wellington, and the Wellington Pastoral Charge will conduct the anniversary service. Mr. Poulter heads an energetic committee which has completed the Sunday arrangements. Historical, names, church decoration and entertainment committees have assisted in the provision of the general anniversary program.

The church itself will be in special anniversary "garb" for its centennial birthday. The interior has been freshly decorated with the exterior and roof also looking spic and span in a new coat of paint.

Believe Half Cancer Patients Can Be Saved

OTTAWA (CP) — An English medical specialist said today he believes 50 per cent of patients who now die from accessible cancers could be saved through cancer education.

Dr. Malcolm Donaldson, consulting gynaecologist at St. Bartholomew's Hospital in London, told grand councillors of the Canadian Cancer Society his estimate is based on a pilot experiment on cancer education in an area of Yorkshire.

Results of the survey, he said, convinced him of the power of factual information in combatting cancer. In one year of cancer education through pamphlets, lectures and other means, the number of persons who reported with proven cancer of the rectum increased to 38.5 from 5.8 per cent of all those reporting for treatment.

"There is no doubt, therefore, that cancer education will persuade patients who are suffering from symptoms, which may suggest the presence of one of the accessible cancers, to seek medical advice with less delay."

Dr. Donaldson defined accessible cancers as "malignant growths in the breast, uterus, rectum, bladder, mouth, lip, larynx and skin." They usually produced symptoms at a stage early enough to make surgery and radiation most effective.

His remarks were contained in a press summary issued to reporters before delivery.

The Yorkshire experiment also delved into the touchy subject of "cancer phobias." Dr. Donaldson, noting that medical people differ over whether cancer education might actually increase "cancer apprehension and fear," said the more the subject is brought into the open and discussed the less apprehension and fear surrounds it.

Dr. Alec Phillips of Toronto, statistician for the National Cancer Institute of Canada, said 30 per cent of 3,000 women interviewed in a national poll believed that cancer is never cured. Only 30 per cent of the women realized surgery will stop cancer from spreading.

However, 80 per cent of the women understood early treatment increases chances of a cure.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was yawning in his private chair and wishing he didn't have to get reddy to go out and play bridge with ma somewheres, and I said, Hay pop, I got a swell new puzzle. The only trouble is, I dont know how to werk it, I sind.

Let the old puzzle master have a look at it, pop said.

Meening him, and I handed it to him, and he said, The idea is to separate the 2 rings, that's simple enough.

Sure, it's simple enough what you have to do, but not how you do it, I said, and pop said, That's a very profound remark, and it's life in a nut shell.

And he tried to werk the puzzle, saying, I'm a natural wizard at these things, but this one is a joker, I dont believe it can be done.

Which just then ma looked in the door, saying, William, do you meen you're sitting there not reddy yet? Now that's really provoking. How is it you invariably seem to be reddy on time for your bowling engagements? she said, and pop said, Because nobody tries to hurry me, which proves the superiority of a democracy over a dictatorship. I'll get started in a minute, my dear, I'm just showing Benny how to werk this puzzle, he said.

Oh, give me that, ma said, and pop said, Of course, my dear, I had no idea you wanted it, how selfish on my part.

And ma quick took the puzzle and quick twisted the 2 rings apart, and pop said, Yee gods, you must of used a hairpin.

And he went to get reddy to go out, and I said, G, how, I bet you just did it by pure lady's luck.

That's right, so now you know how to do it, ma said.

And she quick went to finish getting reddy herself.

Couple Pleads Guilty to Reduced Assault Charge

MONTREAL (CP) — The father and step-mother of a 14-year-old girl who was allegedly beaten, burned and forced to eat dog scraps from the floor, Wednesday pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of assault causing bodily harm to the girl.

Francis Desnoyers, 44, and his 23-year-old second wife, Therese, had been charged with wounding with intent to mutilate young Pauline, Desnoyers' daughter by a previous marriage. They faced a maximum sentence of 14 years in penitentiary.

They now are liable to a maximum of two years in penitentiary when they appear for sentence by Mr. Justice Wilfrid Lazure June 6.

The charge was reduced at the request of defence counsel with the consent of the crown.

"SENSE OF REVOLT"

Mr. Justice Lazure told the jury that the "foul nature of some of the acts allegedly committed against the girl have nothing to do with this particular charge. This case attracted a sense of revolt in the public, but even if many of the acts by the two were scandalous and revolting, evidence failed to reveal an intention to mutilate as charged.

"It would have been simple for them to take any other means to really mutilate the child had they intended to."

Crown prosecutor Jacques Fournier said during court proceedings that Desnoyers will be charged at a later date with an indecent action against one of his sons.

Power Supply In Edmonton Off for Hour

EDMONTON (CP) — Fire in powerhouse machinery cut off Edmonton's power supply for an hour and 21 minutes Wednesday.

At 5:13 p.m. all power in the city of 209,000 residents went off. Water ceased running through taps as pumping machinery was unable to operate. The power went on again at 6:34 p.m.

A small fire in the main switch gear at the city powerhouse was brought under control quickly.

Edmonton's six radio stations and one television station were off the air, telegraph service was all but halted—Canadian Pacific Communications had one morse circuit open to Ottawa.

Housewives preparing dinner found their water taps dry. Elevators were stalled between floors in downtown buildings and hospitals were forced to rely upon emergency power sources.

WILL SEEK PEACE

The government also would "zealously maintain efforts to reach agreement on a comprehensive disarmament plan designed to bring peace and security to all countries."

Britain would "continue earnestly to seek a peaceful settlement of the situation in the Formosa strait."

"My government will continue their efforts to uphold the Indo-china settlement concluded at Geneva and to promote the peace, security and prosperity of southeast Asia through the regional organizations set up for that purpose."

The government would take legislative action, consistent with its international obligations, "to permit the introduction of . . . anti-dumping duties on imported goods."

Steps to deal with abuses in the field of monopolies and restrictive practices were also promised.

INTERNATIONAL TRADE

Her ministers would work to expand the sale of British goods in foreign markets, vital to the well-being of this exporting nation.

"It will be the aim of my government to strengthen the balance of payments and to extend the overseas markets for our goods and services. Together with the other governments of the Commonwealth and of Europe and with the government of the United States of America, they will work for a further advance towards the free flow of international trade and payments."

The state opening of Parliament coincided with the Queen's official birthday. Her real birthday is April 21 but the official ceremonies are held in June when the chances of good weather are better.

The weather was rainy and chilly anyway. It was the usual "Queen's weather." It has rained for nearly all important events in the young monarch's three-year reign.

Committee Named To Find Talent For Universities

TORONTO (CP) — Seven men prominent in Ontario educational affairs have been appointed to a committee formed to investigate resources of university talent.

The appointments were confirmed Wednesday by the research department of the Ontario College of Education, which will conduct the study on a $35,000 grant awarded for the purpose by the Atkinson Charitable Foundation.

Chairman of the committee is Dr. Sidney Smith, president of the University of Toronto. Other members are Prof. John A. Long, head of OCE's research department, and his assistant, Dr. Robert Jackson; A. C. Lewis, dean of the OCE; Phil Ketchum, headmaster of Trinity College School, Port Hope; D.W. Scott, principal of Stratford Collegiate Institute, and George L. Roberts, principal of Oshawa Collegiate School. At least one other appointment will be made.

The research project is expected to take three years and will involve aptitude tests for students, consideration of supplementary entrance exams, financial problems and similar matters.

Was Escapee From Reformatory

BRANTFORD (CP)—Police said a man arrested Wednesday after leaping from a car which had collided with an overturned truck being examined by an officer later was identified as William Francis Fero, 20, of Port Arthur, who escaped Friday from the Ontario reformatory at Guelph. They said he at first gave his name as Thomas Gordon of Toronto.

They said the officer investigating the overturned transport trailer on Highway 2 at nearby Gainsville recognized the car which rammed into it as one reported stolen Sunday in Guelph.

They said two occupants of the car leaped into a nearby field when challenged but Fero was arrested after a short chase in which the officer fired one warning shot.

Police believe the second man, who escaped capture, may be Adolph Hiesl, 18, another escapee from Guelph.

Who Is Crying?

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (AP)—Somewhat irked by six safe robberies in three years, a local dairy installed tear gas bombs guaranteed to explode when someone tampered with the safe.

Employees found the store filled with tear gas Wednesday.

The safe was wide open—and also empty.

LABOR SHORTAGE

LONDON (Reuters)—There were 426,000 jobs empty in Britain on May 4—the highest since August, 1951—the ministry of labor reported Wednesday night. The total number of persons working at the end of April was nearly 22,810,000, an increase of 75,000 on the previous month and 335,000 over April, 1954.

FORTUNE-HUNT

Don't let a slip of the memory cost you $2000 this Saturday night. That's what happened to some forty people last week who forgot to answer their telephone with the magic words "Dominion Stores" and the name of the Phantom Famous Brand. Calls were placed to Ottawa, Hamilton, Port Colborne, London, Gravenhurst, Timmins, St. Thomas, Brockville, Cobalt, Cornwall, Orillia, Hull, North Bay and Toronto. Three consolation prizes of $100 went to Mrs. Mary Dunsmore 263 St. Denis Street, Eastview, Ottawa; Mrs. Roy Stacey, 1664 Hanan Avenue, Niagara Falls; and Mrs. John Telford, 1084 Oak Street, Windsor.

You can win $3,000 this week in the DOMINION "Famous Brands" FORTUNE-HUNT. First, find the "Phantom Famous Brand" listed on this page but not illustrated. Next, if your telephone rings between 8 and 9 o'clock Eastern Daylight Saving Time next Saturday evening, DO NOT ANSWER HELLO or you will be automatically disqualified from an opportunity to win $3,000.

Instead of answering HELLO, say "DOMINION STORES" and then state the name of this week's "Phantom Famous Brand." If you do, and it is the DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT calling, you will win the Grand Prize of $2,000.

$1,000 BONUS! If you win the Grand Prize and have in your home at the time a box top or label from this week's "Phantom Famous Brand" (or a reasonable facsimile) PLUS a DOMINION cash register slip dated this week and totalling $5.00 or more, you will qualify for a bonus prize of $1,000.

$100 CONSOLATION PRIZES! If the DOMINION FORTUNE-HUNT calls your telephone number and you make the mistake of answering HELLO, but can still name this week's "Phantom Famous Brand," you will qualify for a consolation prize of $100.

GRAND PRIZE MUST BE WON! If this week's Grand Prize is not won on Saturday night, it will be added to next week's Grand Prize of $1,000. This will be repeated if necessary until someone wins the accumulated Grand Prize.

Employees and agents of Dominion Stores Limited and their families are not eligible for this contest.

BURR'S

Memorial, Decoration Day Well Attended

BURR'S — Many attended church for the memorial and decoration day service Sunday afternoon. The Rev. A. Poulter appropriately chose the Scripture reading from Hebrews 11, which portrays the superiority of the faith way and of its many heroes of the past.

His text was the first verse: "Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen." He expressed the thought of the faith in the future, the early pioneers must have had to brave the wilds and perils of a new land to build homes and places of worship.

"To them we owe deep gratitude for the foundation they built in the wonderful land we live in today.

"The trend of our 20th century living (surrounded as we are by so much luxury and evil) is far from the Christian standards of perfection and Christian affection striven for by our early forebears in the faith."

Mr. Poulter delighted in reading Parkman's History of Early Canadian life and glean from its pages the heroism of the early spiritual leaders who willingly endured suffering, persecution and death itself in their devotion to their faith.

"Even though in striving we sometimes fail, and oft times err, yet if we earnestly repent and pray as David did, 'create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me,' God will hear."

The choir and musical portion of the service was under the capable leadership of Mrs. Val Squire and was assisted vocally by Mrs. Elmer McFaul and Mrs. Walter Fox, who sang, "My Task."

The floral offerings in both the church and cemetery were truly lovely. Flowers in the church other than from its own congregation, were contributed by Mrs. Stanley Werden, Mrs. Douglas Black, Mrs. Val Squire and Mrs. Nellie Anderson, all adding much to the beauty and dignity of the scene of worship.

Burr's

BURR'S — Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chambers, Madoc, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Caverly, Marmora, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Harns and Mr. Frank Burkitt and with them attended the memorial service.

Mr. Lorne Burr and Miss Elsie Soble with Mr. and Mrs. William Dempsey called on Mrs. Lorne Burr at Kingston General Hospital on Sunday. Her condition is improved, and she may be home in a few days, all are pleased to hear.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Soble spent the week-end at St. Catharines.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Burr were Thursday guests of Mrs. Earl S. Anderson, Belleville.

Mrs. D. Anderson, Saint John, was home for the funeral of her father, the late Mr. Edwin Adams of Colborne.

Stirling

RECEPTION

STIRLING—On Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Bush entertained approximately 70 relatives and friends in honor of their son, and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Bush, and all enjoyed a turkey dinner.

Mr. Jack Bush was master of ceremonies, and led in assembly singing. Mrs. George Heasman contributed a vocal solo. Selections were read by Mrs. Gerald Brooks, Mrs. Percy Utman, Mrs. J. L. Donohoe and Mrs. Roy Bush.

Brief addresses were given by Messrs. Ernest Bush, Glen Miller, John McCullough of Toronto; George Heasman, Ross Bush and others.

WISHING WELL LEGEND

Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh read the legend of "The Wishing Well", and the bride and bridegroom were given prominent parts in this humorous skit.

Mrs. Jack Bush read "A Bride's Prayer".

The honored couple were the recipients of a large array of gifts.

A large charivari group from Stirling and River Valley, serenaded the young couple and all were invited in to enjoy refreshments served by the hostess and her assistants.

Principal K. Gillies has reported to the Stirling school board, that there will be 40 beginners to attend school on September 6th. Twenty-three children will graduate this year and that still leaves a net increase in attendance. A survey is to be made of the village to gather the probable attendance in the next five years.

Mrs. Alex Tanner spent a week with her daughter, Mrs. Elwood Bateman.

Mrs. Chester Sills spent Thursday with relatives at Selby.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Bush, Stirling, R.R. 4, entertained a few friends in honor of the fourth birthday anniversary of Judy Bush.

Mr. and Mrs. David Duffin and children, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Crown, Dorchester, last week.

You can make delicious

STRAWBERRY JAM

in just 15 minutes... with CERTO

4 cups prepared fruit (about 2 quarts ripe berries and 2 lemons)
7 cups (3 lbs.) sugar
½ bottle CERTO fruit pectin

To prepare fruit. Crush completely, one layer at a time, about 2 quarts fully ripe, hulled strawberries. Measure 3¾ cups into a large saucepan; add ¼ cup lemon juice.

To make jam. Add sugar to fruit in saucepan. Mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full, rolling boil and boil hard one minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat; at once stir in Certo. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once.

Yield: about 10 medium glasses (5 pounds). That's about 50% more jam from the same amount of fruit than you would get from "long boiling", and your jam will keep the fresh strawberry taste and color. You'll get perfect results every time if you follow the Certo recipe.

Hinted Cabinet Not Agreed On Bill to Continue Defence Production Act Indefinitely

OTTAWA (CP) —Commons debate on extension of federal defence production powers today enters its third day in the wake of renewed opposition suggestions that the cabinet is divided on the issue.

Hon. Earl Rowe (PC—Dufferin-Simcoe) hinted Wednesday that not all cabinet members are behind a government bill to let the powers continue indefinitely beyond mid-summer of next year—the expiry date set when the Defence Production Act was passed in the War days of 1951.

"I cannot help but think there are rumblings in the mulberry bushes in the cabinet over this issue," Mr. Rowe said.

Defence Production Minister Howe, meanwhile, rejected Conservative and Social Credit demands for a new time limit on his authority to procure defence supplies and equipment.

SIMILAR POWERS

Mr. Howe said that in 1947 he "liquidated" an act with similar powers because he did not think then they were necessary.

"When the emergency is through we will liquidate this. I do not propose to be told by any honorable member when I will liquidate it."

Today brought the Commons its first morning sitting of the session, adding two hours from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. to the 5½ hours of daily afternoon and evening sittings which have been the rule since the session began Jan. 7. The House will continue to have Wednesday evenings off, but Saturday sittings are expected before the session closes around the end of the month.

The defence production debate, which began Tuesday, has been sparked by Progressive Conservative charges that Mr. Howe's powers are dictatorial, an infringement of the rule of law and should be limited.

CLAIMS NECESSARY

The minister has replied the powers are necessary for effective operation of the defence program, that no one loses his right of legal recourse against government actions, and that Parliament retains its power of review over administration of the act.

Wednesday Mr. Rowe said the issue is one of parliamentary supremacy. The bill was "a blueprint and a perfect pattern for a socialist regime."

He said the minister has power to make a contract and then break it, to take over a business doing defence work if he thought it wasn't run properly, and to force a company to sign government contracts.

His party did not intend to yield "to the whims of a minister who thinks all powers are safe, so long as they are in his hands."

CCF VIEW

Stanley Knowles (CCF—Winnipeg North Centre) said continuation of defence production legislation is needed "in the national interest."

He said the Conservatives, instead of criticizing Mr. Howe for wielding power "on the basis of responsibility to Parliament," should criticize the power and influence held by heads of great corporations with no responsibility to the people.

Social Credit Leader Low said his party, like the Conservatives, is willing to put the defence production department on a permanent basis. But there should be a new expiry date on exercise of the powers to permit parliamentary review of them.

Changes His Mind On Repatriation

Otho G. Bell, one of 21 American soldiers who refused repatriation at Panmunjom, has had a change of heart and wants to return to his home in Olympia, Wash., according to his wife, Jewell. She received a letter recently saying that as soon as he can get a passport he will come back to her and their daughter, Paula, 4. (Central Press Canadian).

Can Build Ports

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio's House Wednesday passed a Senate-approved bill authorizing cities and counties to build and operate ports on Lake Erie and the Ohio river.

The measure now returns to the Senate for action on several House changes, including an emergency clause to make the bill effective on signing by the governor, instead of after 90 days.

Sponsors said the "port authority" measure was designed to put the Great Lakes upon completion of the St. Lawrence seaway by 1958.

Seek Wage Hike

CHICAGO (AP) — The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, the United States' largest union of operating railroad employees, announced Wednesday it will seek a $2.50 daily wage increase for its 215,000 members.

The present contracts with more than 300 railroads expire June 16, and the new demands will be submitted on that date.

Wage rates currently run from $13.45 a day for passenger brakemen to $19.07 for yardmasters.

Open Without Permit

MONTREAL (CP)—Twenty-four Montreal night clubs that were refused a renewal of city permits because they stayed open after hours will operate without a permit, a spokesman for the clubs said Wednesday night.

He said the clubs will wait to be summoned by police for staying open without the required city permit and fight the matter in court.

Protests Changes Being Announced Outside House

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition Leader Drew Wednesday protested changes in two top defence posts being announced outside of the Commons.

He said members of Parliament had to learn "second hand" from the press the retirement of Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds as chief of the general staff, appointment of Air Vice-Marshal Frank R. Miller as deputy defence minister and other changes.

The changes were announced by Prime Minister St. Laurent and the defence department about an hour before the house met.

Mr. Drew said announcement of the appointments outside of the Commons was another example of the government's disregard for the dignity and responsibility of Parliament.

Mr. St. Laurent replied the practice of announcing outside of Parliament appointments to the civil service had been followed for 68 years. There was no intention of being discourteous to members of the House. However, the remarks of Mr. Drew would be seriously considered.

Quebec Court Hearing Appeal Of Witnesses

QUEBEC (CP)—Quebec Court of Appeals Wednesday took under advisement an appeal through which a member of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect is seeking to have his children admitted to a Protestant school.

Paul Emile Perron of Rouyn, Que., is appealing a Superior Court decision by Mr. Justice Eugene Marquis, who ruled last autumn that the Rouyn Protestant school board is not obliged to educate anyone except members of its own faith.

Mr. Justice Marquis ruled Jehovah's Witnesses are not Protestants.

Perron's lawyer, Glen How of Toronto, argued Wednesday that some sections of Quebec's education laws are invalid and directly incompatible with guarantees of freedom of worship in the British North America Act.

Perron's three children were refused admittance to the Protestant school two years ago. He sued the board for $100,000 damages and asked that a court order force the board to accept his children.

FERRY OVERTURNS

ALLAHABAD, India (Reuters)—At least 31 women and a 12-year-old boy were drowned Wednesday when a ferryboat carrying 60 persons capsized in the middle of the Ganges river about 10 miles from here. About 20 persons are reported to have been saved, but the death toll is expected to be higher.

U.S. Weather Bureau Doubts A-Blasts Influence Weather

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States weather bureau says it has been unable to find any evidence that atomic explosions have had—or can have—any effect on the weather beyond a few miles from the blast.

"Although it is not possible to prove that atomic explosions have or have not influenced the weather, it is believed that this study has shown that such an effect is unlikely," the bureau recently told Congress after a study of the question.

The bureau investigators, meteorologists L. Machta and D. L. Harris, noted that their survey was limited to the effects of atomic explosions touched off at the Nevada proving grounds up to this year.

But they said also that preliminary examination of available information from the H-bomb tests in the Pacific "does not indicate that any obvious changes in the weather have been produced by these explosions outside the test area."

Machta and Harris sent questionnaires to most American organizations which employ meteorologists, asking for ideas.

Out of 80 replies received, about 50 per cent could see "no possible connection" between atomic blasts and subsequent weather.

The others offered these theories as to how there might possibly be such a link:

1. That atomic "debris"—radioactive particles from the bomb itself, and dust and dirt stirred up by the blast—might serve as a "cloud-seeding agent." That is, the debris might touch off rainfall in the same way that dry ice or silver iodide sometimes can if dropped into the right kind of a cloud.

2. That the radioactive character of the debris might produce changes in the electrical character of the atmosphere, possibly leading to observable weather effects.

3. Dust resulting from an atomic blast might interfere with the amount of solar radiation reaching the earth.

The weather bureau, equipped with information from the AEC and aided by co-operative studies carried on by air force and private scientists, believes it has knocked down these three suggestions this way:

1. Experiments show, the bureau says, that Nevada dust has "very poor" properties for serving as a cloud-seeder.

2. As for changing the electrical properties of the atmosphere, atomic debris deposited on the ground could change the electrical conductivity of the air near the ground. But, the bureau says, the change would be in such a shallow layer near the ground that it would be insignificant in terms of usual atmospheric phenomena.

3. As for atomic "dust" interfering with the amount of solar radiation reaching the earth, the bureau says it is true that a sufficiently large dust cloud can interfere with solar radiation—a fact demonstrated by the 1883 eruption of the Krakatoa volcano in the Dutch East Indies which tossed dust equivalent to several cubic miles of earth into the air.

"However," Machta and Harris say in their original report in the technical journal Science, "according to the best available information, there appear to be many orders of magnitude separating the amount of dust required to produce any significant reduction in world-wide incoming radiation and that produced by the Nevada explosions."

CNR APPOINTMENT

TORONTO (CP)—Roy H. Joslin, general agent for Canadian National Express here since 1952, has been appointed superintendent of the company's Toronto division. He has served the company at Hamilton, Brantford, Guelph, Kitchener, Woodstock, Sarnia, London and North Bay.

Army Engineer Says Power Being Lost at Falls

WASHINGTON (AP)—A U. S. Army engineer testified Wednesday that $60,000,000 worth of power is being lost each year the construction of new power plants at Niagara Falls is delayed.

The estimate was made by Col. William Whipple in testimony before the House of Representatives public works committee. It is considering bills that would direct either a public or private agency to build the new plants.

Whipple said depending upon the type of construction, the project would cost $369,000,000 to build if water is taken from the Niagara river to the generating station through an open canal and $424,000,000 if a tunnel, instead of a canal, is used.

He estimated six years would be required to build the development, which would virtually triple the Niagara power output.

Whipple said failure to proceed would enable Canada to utilize the United States' share of the water for as long "as we lack the necessary generating facilities." In effect, he said, that is like giving Canada $60,000,000 worth of power a year.

Premier Frost Said Ready To Continue Trade Fair

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government has decided to drop the Canadian International Trade Fair in Toronto but is willing to let Ontario pick it up.

Premier Frost said Wednesday night Ontario will do just that. He did not know how the province would ensure the fair's continuation.

But at his home in Lindsay, Ont., where he wound up his campaign for today's provincial election, he said every effort will be made to see that the fair continues because of the great contribution it has made to the economy of Ontario.

Mr. Frost, whose plans—naturally—hinge on the election's outcome, said the province likely will ask metropolitan Toronto to join it on a partnership basis.

TORONTO READY

And in that city Mayor Nathan Phillips and Fred Gardner, chairman of the metropolitan council, indicated their readiness to meet with the premier. They agreed that the fair should not be discontinued.

The premier also believed the federal government should reconsider, possibly joining a three-way partnership with the provincial and Metro governments.

Trade Minister Howe told the Commons Wednesday the government feels the fair, first of its kind in North America, has not lived up to expectations as a promoter for sales of Canadian goods abroad. Decision to stop it was based on a recommendation by officers of the trade department and after consultation with many Canadian businessmen and commercial organizations.

ASKS RE CONTRIBUTION

J. H. Ferguson (PC — Simcoe North) asked whether the decision would be reconsidered if Ontario offered a financial contribution toward the fair's operation. He said the province could well afford to contribute.

Officials of the trade department said the eight fairs have cost the federal treasury an estimated $6,786,600. Revenues amounted to about $3,823,900, leaving a $2,962,700 deficit.

Mr. Howe said the fair helped repair damaged trading connections between Canada and overseas countries after the Second World War, assisted overseas companies to establish in Canada and induced some foreign and Commonwealth manufacturers to build plants in this country.

The fair had not lived up to expectations, however, as a medium for the direct promotion of Canadian exports.

POWER PLAN

An artist's conception of the $50,000,000 Beechwood power project, 100 miles north of Fredericton, N.B., shows the dam and power station expected to generate 135,000 horsepower in 1960. First stages of the hydroelectric development—the dam and two generators—are expected to be completed by 1957. Beechwood is the first step in a proposed, long-range program of harnessing the 425-mile St. John River to provide low-cost power as a stimulus to new and existing industries. (CP Photo).

Beechwood Power Project Promises New Industrial Era

By DON HOYT
Canadian Press Staff Writer

FREDERICTON (CP)—Premier Flemming will touch off a dynamite charge June 11 that opens construction of the mammoth Beechwood power project, promising a new industrial and economic era for this "poorer" province.

Blasting of tons of rock at the Beechwood site 100 miles north of here will give the official go-ahead to construction work that has been under way for several weeks.

By 1960, the $50,000,000 power plant is expected to be producing 135,000 horsepower, more than one-third of the present combined output of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission and private industries. It is the biggest engineering job in the province's history.

FORECAST EXPANSION

Prospects of producing huge quantities of cheap electric power through a staggered series of dams along the winding 425-mile St. John river already have economists talking optimistically of New Brunswick's "expansion" and "industrial revolution."

The long-term Beechwood project is to be financed solely by the provincial government. The Liberal opposition has endorsed the Progressive Conservative government's project and its financing through bond issues.

Federal authorities, citing a Confederation demand by the provinces for control of their inland waterways, rejected several bids to assist in implementing the proposed 10-year, $200,000,000 program for exploiting the 710,000 horsepower potential of the St. John and its tributaries.

The overall plan was recommended by an international joint commission and approved by Quebec and the state of Maine, both of which would be affected by any development of the river basin.

AID NEW MINES

The 1953 discovery of vast lodes of base metals in northern New Brunswick increased the need for large quantities of inexpensive electricity if the province is to benefit fully from mining operations.

Professor W. Y. Smith, chairman of the University of New Brunswick's economics department, has said the estimated 100,000,000 tons of zinc, lead, silver, copper, tin and manganese can "work a revolution" in the province's economy.

"The more refining and smelting of the ore within the province the greater will be the increase in incomes of the people of New Brunswick."

But to build and operate smelters and refineries a surplus of electric power is needed. Beechwood is the cornerstone of the required surplus.

KEY TO FUTURE

Mr. Smith, in a pamphlet entitled "the door to New Brunswick's opportunity," says "New Brunswick must have more power."

"Cheap power, together with proper use of our known resources, is the key to our future.

"Surplus power at reasonable prices would serve as a stimulus to all the province's industries. It could reduce costs and enable them to compete on a more equitable basis with the manufacturing industries of central Canada."

Premier Flemming has said the government is "not hitching our wagon to a star" by building Beechwood.

Its prime purpose is to provide the power to meet ever-growing demands. When they are met the work of compiling a surplus to put New Brunswick on the road "to greater prosperity" can begin.

Other steps in the development propose generators at Morrill and Hawkshaw on the St. John river above and below Beechwood, which could add 342,000 horsepower to the province's electrical output. A slightly smaller amount could be obtained from rivers that find their way into the St. John.

Glistening Backs of The Beluga, The White Whale, Will Soon Flash

By WALTER GRAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WINNIPEG (CP) — The freezing waters of Baffin island's silent fjords soon will flash with the glistening backs of the beluga, the white whale.

But suddenly the Arctic silence will be broken by the chatter of rifle fire and the cries of excited Eskimos. For each July brings the annual whale hunt, a time when the natives feast on fresh meat and muktuk and make some extra money.

The hunt is one of the projects supervised by the Hudson's Bay Company designed to supplement the natives' income. Whale hides and blubber bring good prices.

BIG EVENT OF YEAR

Centre of the island whale hunts is Pangnirtung, a historic whaling port on the east coast of Baffin island, 1,550 air miles northeast of Winnipeg.

For the 630 Eskimos in the area it's the big event of the year, but it's not as thrilling a spectacle as it used to be.

Until a few years ago the Eskimo hunters herded the whales to slaughter much like a prairie cattle roundup. The whales, which feed along the island coastline, travel in schools up the fjords, carried along by the incoming tide. Once the school was spotted the Eskimos would form a floating barricade behind the beluga, slapping the water with their oars and firing wildly into the water to frighten the mammals.

The whales would rush toward the shallows and as the tide ebbed they would flounder on the sand bars, a simple slaughter for the hunters.

WASTEFUL BUSINESS

But the Hudson's Bay Company decided to put an end to the whale drives.

"The Eskimos wasted too much ammunition scaring the whales," Peter Nichols, manager of HBC's arctic division, said in an interview here.

"Now we say we want so many whales and the Eskimos go out and get that many. But they also shoot some for themselves as well."

The annual quota is set by the company's sole customer for whale hides—John Dawbarn, tanners of Market Harbor, England—who uses them in the manufacture of shoe laces.

The whale oil is shipped to Montreal and used in the production of margarine.

ESKIMOS KEEP MEAT

The hunters kill the porpoise-like whales from the shore or their boats. The carcasses are towed to shore and skinned. The Eskimos keep the meat for themselves.

The whale is skinned by slitting it down the belly and back. The hide is covered by a thick coat of muktuk, white cork-like substance which the natives delight in chewing.

R. J. Wickware of Port Credit, Ont., post manager at Pangnirtung, pays the natives five cents a pound for the green hide. The average annual catch is 100 whales.

The hides are salted and bundled and shipped by the company's supply boat, the Ruperstland, to Montreal for delivery to England.

Once the killing and skinning is over, the men leave the rest of the job to the women. Wives and the children tote the hides to the post's rendering plant. There they skillfully use their razor - sharp knives — to cut the hide from the blubber. The fat is dumped into a huge meat grinder, then runs off into vats where it is allowed to sit in the sun for several days.

MARKET CLEAR OIL

The clear oil floats to the top, is skimmed off and put in barrels for shipping. The residue is heated, producing a brown oil. However, Mr. Nichols said the company has not yet found a market for this brown oil, probably because of its color.

Last year the company shipped 5,000 gallons of clear oil from Pangnirtung at a cost to HBC of 35 cents a pound f.o.b.

Once the excitement of the whale hunt is over—it usually lasts only a week—the Eskimos return to seal hunting. The waters around Baffin island abound with jar seal, the small mammal that is the staple food of the Eskimo. Its skin is used for clothing, its oil for lamps and meat for food.

The silver-grey skin is sold at the coast at prices ranging from 50 cents to $6.50, depending on type and age. The average price is $3.50.

AMMUNITION IMPORTANT

HBC officials feel they have reached a solution to the ammunition problem. This summer four cartridge-loading machines will be in operation at Lake Harbor, Sugluk, Spence bay and Reid Island.

Although shells are sold at company posts at cheaper prices than they can be obtained in Winnipeg, the natives are forced to spend a good deal of money during the year on ammunition.

"Ammunition is a luxury item in the city but it's an essential item to the Eskimo. . . It's the same as our bread and butter to them," said Mr. Nichols.

He said the most expensive part of the manufactured unit is the shell which can be used over again at least 10 times.

RETRIEVE SHELLS

Now the Eskimos are being asked to retrieve the shells and return them to the posts for reloading.

The cartridge loader consists of a press with dies to fit the chief calibres of the rifles commonly used by the Eskimos. Bullets, powder and primers have been shipped to the four posts. Eventually handicapped Eskimos will be trained to operate the machines.

"We figure we can sell a box of re-loaded cartridges for little more than half the cost of the manufactured article," said Mr. Nichols.

Art Collection Not for Export

LONDON (Reuters) — The vast art collection of Edward Ernest Cook bequeathed to the British nation last March, is to be strictly "not for export."

Cook, 80, shy bachelor grandson of the travel agency pioneer Thomas Cook, left his entire £848,571 fortune to the public, it was announced this week.

However he ordered that none of the paintings, furniture, silver, books, manuscripts and other art work to be distributed to public galleries, libraries and museums, should be sent out of England for exhibition or any other purpose.

Annual Wage Could Produce More Stability, Higher Prices

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP) — Some federal officials feel the guaranteed annual wage could bring greater business stability to the corner store—and higher prices to the Canadian consumer.

The whole question of the guaranteed wage and its possible impact on the Canadian economy is getting intense government study following the CIO Auto Workers' partial victory at United States Ford plants.

The powerful union sought a company guarantee of full pay for the full year. Ford finally agreed to guarantee workers 60 to 65 per cent of regular pay for a maximum of six months after layoff. US manufacturers fear the annual wage may damage the American economy and lead to a socialistic state.

LITTLE HEADWAY

In Canada, the guaranteed wage drive as yet has not made much headway, but the United Auto Workers (CCL-CIO) are currently negotiating with General Motors for the earnings guarantee, while the CIO union is dickering with GM in the U.S.

One federal economic authority said the guaranteed wage could, in times of full employment, lead to higher consumer prices if the labor concessions are not matched by increased productivity.

It could mean manufacturers working on narrow profit margins would face higher production costs without achieving any increased production. To make ends meet, therefore, they would have to charge higher prices or go into the red.

Major problem Canada now faces in striving for world markets is how to keep prices competitive in the face of competing production by some countries where living standards are lower and workers accept less take-home pay.

Another aspect, said the federal authority, is that the guaranteed wage could help business men in the community. In some areas, such as the big auto centre of Windsor, Ont., an auto plant layoff has a damaging effect on local shops as workers run short of cash.

It might also lead to steadier employment. Federal authorities said an employer may be less likely to lay off a man if it means paying him while he is idle.

Not all unions favor the annual wage scheme. For example it would be difficult to fit it in with the seasonal work of the construction industry.

Another problem the unions face is the disqualification under the Unemployment Insurance Act. Any workers who accept the guaranteed annual wage would not be eligible for unemployment insurance benefits under current regulations.

However, federal authorities now are swinging more to the opinion that as far as the legal terminology is concerned, the concession granted by Ford is not a guaranteed wage but higher unemployment insurance benefits granted by the company. It is not a wage but a benefit.

Dancing Champions Return To TV After Seven Movies

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Marge and Gower Champion, who were among television's earliest stars and then danced their way to film fame, will return to home screens soon.

The Champions are adapting their current Broadway musical production, "Three for Tonight," for a one-hour telecast on CBS' new Wednesday night drama hour June 22. And they're considering offers from both CBS and NBC for three or four color spectaculars during the coming fall and winter season.

Marge and Gower played as a team only in night clubs until their TV debut in Max Liebman's Broadway Revue series in 1948.

The show, often called TV's first spectacular, brought instant national recognition to the Champions and two other relatively unknown performers named Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca.

Since then the Champions have been featured in seven major pictures.

Meanwhile, they have made only three TV appearances. Two were on Ed Sullivan's "Toast of the Town" first in a telecast on their life story, and then in another devoted to Columbia Pictures. Their other performance was in a TV play.

Dinah Shore will be starred in at least two of NBC's "Tuesday at 8" telecasts next season in the time spot in which Milton Berle, Martha Raye and Bob Hope alternate. Hope, who has just signed a new five-year contract to do all his TV for NBC, will be on six and possibly eight of the Tuesday night telecasts.

Two of ABC's TV standbys, "Break the Bank" and "Make Room for Daddy," have been renewed for next season. The network's new one-hour Lawrence Welk show, which premieres on the network Saturday (9 p. m. EDT) has picked up a sponsor.

GRENOBLE, France (AP) — Many roads and railroads in the Alpine section of western France were cut Wednesday by flood waters or landslides caused by heavy rainfall and melting snows.

Phillips Critical Of Discontinuance

TORONTO (CP)—Mayor Nathan Phillips Wednesday criticized the federal government for what he termed its "suddenness" in deciding to discontinue the Canadian International Trade Fair.

He said the government should have given interested parties some notice that it planned to discontinue the fair.

"To do a thing like this suddenly throws the thing into a turmoil, even supposing the government were justified in discontinuing its support."

Deseronto

DESERONTO — Mrs. Pearl Delanty, of Oakville, spent the week end with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Gordanier and family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Burley spent the week-end in Toronto.

Cpl. and Mrs. W. Kelles and family, of Ottawa, were week-end guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lindsay and family.

Mr. Jack McEwen of London, visited with friends in town over the week-end.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Charles Bevette included: Mr. and Mrs. R. Harris and family of Kingston; Earl and Tommie Carter, of Kingston, also Mr. and Mrs. R. Joyce of Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvan Cochrane and children of Toronto, were the week-end guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Cochrane.

A large number from town attended the Liberal meeting in Belleville on Friday last.

PHOTOGRAPHER HONORED

COLORADO SPRINGS (AP)—The National Press Photographers Association Wednesday picked Earl Seubert of the Minneapolis Star and Tribune for its annual award — "newspaper photographer of the year." The competition, in its 12th year, is sponsored jointly by the NPPA and the Encyclopedia Britannica.

ongress Pondering Proposal o Simplify U.S. Customs Laws

By GEORGE KITCHEN
anadian Press Staff Writer

ASHINGTON (CP) — Congress ondering a proposal to simplify ted States customs laws and s make it easier for foreign orters to crack the U.S. mart has under consideration a nplex administration bill that uld simplify the method of valu- foreign goods coming into the S. and help break a log jam customs appraisal cases which w totals 655,000, or half a year's rk.

The effect on U.S. tariffs would generally slight, although on me things, such as sugar and gar products, it would bring m down by 13 per cent. On whole, government experts timate the changes would reduce riffs by an average of one-half one per cent on a group of com- odities surveyed a year ago.

EAR PICTURE

But, by clarifying the notori- sly-cumbersome U.S. customs ocedures, the legislation would ve foreign exporters a clearer cture of what they can expect the way of duties when they ip goods to the U.S. It also would t their products on a more equal oting with U.S. goods on the unters of American shops.

Like all legislation relating to eer trade, the measure already as run into opposition from pro- ective pressure groups who cry at it will make the U.S. market e dumping ground of the world. Canada, as the biggest exporter the U.S., is watching the pro- ess of the legislation closely ecause its adoption would encour- te more Canadian businessmen enter the American market.

me Canadian officials feel that is more important, in the long n, than the Eisenhower admin- tration's reciprocal trade bill, s main piece of trade legislation r this session of congress.

Under the present law, the cus- ms bureau applies duties to the higher of two values: 1. The whole- sale value of imports in the U.S. market; 2. The wholesale value in the domestic markets of the country of origin. Because of this, foreign exporters are never quite sure what the duty will be when their goods reach the American border. American importers are in the same position.

It is this double-barrelled meth- od of valuation that has produced the great backlog of cases await- ing appraisal.

SINGLE VALUATION

The new proposal would elim- inate the foreign value and base the valuation on one figure—the going U.S. wholesale price. This would enable foreign exporters to calculate more accurately the duties which will be applied on their goods.

One of the greatest outcries against the bill has come from a vigorously protectionist organ- ization known as the Nation-Wide Committee of Industry, Agricul- ture and Labor on Export-Import Policy. It claims the bill would be "an invitation to use the United States as the dumping ground of the world."

The Manufacturing Chemists As- sociation says it will work unneces- sary hardship on the chemical industry.

Supporting the bill are the United States council of the Inter- national Chamber of Commerce, the American Association of Port Authorities and the Committee for a National Trade Policy.

Administration supporters in Congress answer the critics by arguing that the legislation would stimulate trade by removing the uncertainties and complexities of U.S. customs procedure.

Burmese Prime Minister Is Politician by Necessity

By DAVID CHIPP

RANGOON (Reuters) — Bur- mese Prime Minister U Nu, who visits North America later this month as part of a world tour, is a politician by necessity and an important statesman because of his charm and obvious sincerity.

He reluctantly took office after Gen. Aung San and his cabinet colleagues were murdered in 1947, a few months before Burma achieved independence, and has been prime minister ever since.

But he still says that his one wish is to retire to a monastery to spend his life in contemplation and mediation.

HATES VIOLENCE

U Nu is a devout Buddhist, with a hatred of violence and the taking of life.

Like the majority of Buddhists he is tolerant. He believes that though the country is predom- inantly Buddhist, other religions must be allowed to flourish.

This policy of tolerance and the objective of unity for Burma, which contains many races and minorities, has been the prime minister's constant aim. In the past, he has acted as a check on some of the more chauvinistic of his followers who believed that Burmans ought to have supremacy over the other races.

U Nu rarely wears western dress these days and throughout his tour will be seen in the tradi- tional Burmese costume of longyi (sarong), angyi (waist - length jacket) and gaung baung (silken turban). His only concession to the West will be leather shoes and brightly-colored ankle socks.

U Nu was known until a few years ago as Thakin Nu. Like many other fighters for independ- ence, he took the title Thakin—a term meaning "master" and usual- ly used by Burmese when address- ing Europeans—to show that he was the equal of the Europeans who ruled Burma.

NEW TITLE

It was as Thakin Nu that he signed the transfer of power in 1947 but later gave up the title for the Burmese "U" meaning "uncle," or "respected sir."

To his colleagues and to many others in Burma, however, he is still known affectionately as "Koggi" (elder brother), a name which has stuck since his days as a student leader at Rangoon University.

Thakin Than Tun and Thakin Soe, who once fought with him for independence but now are in rebel- lion, he is known as Nga Nu, a term usually reserved for crim- inals.

U Nu's dearest dream now is to see his country as the focal point for a great Buddhist revival, which he believes can offer much to Asia and the world.

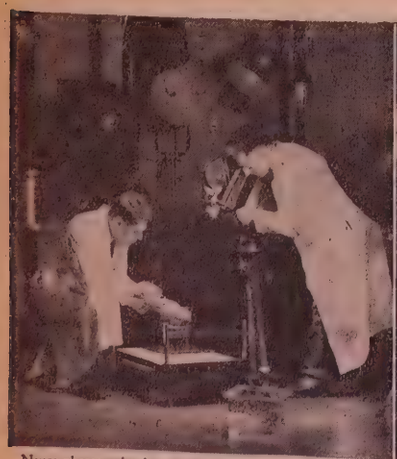
Battle Against Epilepsy



Dr. Wilder Penfield, director of Montreal Neurological Insti- tute, is world renowned for his skill as neuro-surgeon and teacher. Many of his students are now teaching on their own or heading neurological centres in such places as China, Poland and Australia.

In 1937 Montreal opened the doors of its modest 47-bed Neurological Institute, designed to care for emergency brain surgery cases which could not be handled by the Royal Victoria Hospital, with which it is affiliated. Since then, under the skilled hands of famed neuro-surgeon Dr. Wilder Penfield, the Institute has taken on international stature and today it serves as North America's central clearing house of neurological surgery and research.

Although the Institute still handles occasional emergency accident cases, its expanded, 100-bed hospital is considered primarily a research unit. Through M.N.I.'s research program, great gains are being made against disorders of the brain. Epilepsy is the Institute's number one project, and, with equip- ment which localizes electrical disturbances in the brain caused by tumor or accident, neurologists and neuro-surgeons are coming closer to a greater understanding of the entire nervous system.

Fellows and students from all over Canada, U.S.A., and Europe are presently working and studying at the Institute. M.N.I.'s aim: To train young doctors from all parts of the world so that they may carry vital knowledge and skills back to the hospitals and medical centres in their own countries.

Neuro-photography has an important place at M.N.I. All operations are filmed, for discussion and teaching purposes, through a large mirror over the operating table using a 40 in. lense. Photographer Charlie Hodge photographs brain as part of a film on neuro research.

Some types of epilepsy require long intricate surgery. Here, the skill of the surgeon and the results of intensive research are put to the final test. During the operation, lasting up to seven hours, the patient is conscious for his reactions to electrical stimuli on the brain are vital to the surgeon.

Brain model in clay and plastic, used for demonstration pur- poses, is given final touches by Mrs. Marita Else Heymann. Although Montreal Neurological Institute is primarily a re- search centre and post-graduate school, emergency patients from other hospitals, mostly accident cases involving injury to the brain, are admitted into its 100-bed hospital. While the number of patients treated is small, the machines designed at the Institute and the co-operative discoveries which are being made, are pushing insistently at the frontiers of neurology and will eventually aid millions of sufferers.

TRY THIS GREAT COMBINATION—ALL-BRAN AND MILK

An aid to health and regularity

Supplies the laxative food bulk of whole bran

A delicious dish that promotes comfortable elimination

The greatest advantage of Kellogg's All-Bran is that it corrects the cause of irregularity due to insufficient bulk.

Chemical or drug-type laxatives, on the other hand, are intended only for overnight relief of a temporary stoppage. That is why the facts about one of nature's great food combinations, All-Bran and milk, will not only interest you but may even surprise you.

For instance, did you know this about Kellogg's All-Bran? It is made from the outer layers of the whole-wheat kernel. Milled for maximum effectiveness, All-Bran not only supplies natural food bulk—but is also an excellent dietary source of niacin, which is necessary for the normal functioning of the body.

All-Bran is a wholesome, good-tasting dish. And it provides a safe, natural way to improve your "intestinal tone"—so necessary to comfortable regularity.

Many people enjoy All-Bran served with hot milk as well as with cold milk. But whatever your preference, be sure to get Kellogg's—the one and only All-Bran.

Kellogg's has been making and improving All-Bran for nearly 40 years. It is the original natural laxative cereal. And Kellogg's stands squarely behind it. We'll prove to you that All-Bran and milk will give you gentle, effective relief from constipation within 10 days or double your money back. That's a promise from Kellogg's, London, Ontario.

ROYAL "RASSLER"

Wrestling royalty comes to town. A Somoan prince of the royal blood (and don't argue), Prince Maiava, with all his colorful accoutrements and South Sea Island grand Vizier, "Coconut Willie" will be in Memorial Arena Friday night.

This Prince is quite a guy. He has a fine physique, stands 6' 3", weighs 230 pounds and is 26 years of age. He was born in the Samoan archipelago, but left twelve years ago to become boss-man of a tribe in the Fijis.

His Samoan Highness has quite a war record. He was a scout for the U.S. Marines, wounded four times, knifed 45 Japs and won a Truman citation.

Prince Maiava epitomizes the "psychology" paraphrase that one half of the world does not know what the other half eats. Nor does he give a damn. He eats what he wants—and that's it.

No delicious roast turkey, chicken, steaks or pheasant under glass for the Prince. No sirree. Give him a tasty dish of raw fish, alive preferred, wash it down with a flagon of cocoanut milk and chase the meal with a dessert of a casserole of bats (the winged type, not those that hit home runs) and he's happy.

But get this! The Prince is no savage, albeit fans here will think when they first see him that he is a wild and woolly aborigine.

True his general appearance, will, with his native costume, plus "Coconut Willie," leave the local faithful somewhat awed.

His shock of black hair is thick on top of his pate. It falls in long tresses over his shoulders. There is enough of it, if shorn, to thatch a hut.

Around his neck he wears a necklace of wild boar tusks, slain with his own bolo knives. He likes walking. He tossed away a pair of shoes once into a snowbank when he thought they were excess baggage.

Prince Maiava prides himself on his native dress. Native-like he wears goodluck charms. He values them highly. Among these is a headdress made of human hair handed down to him over hundreds of years ago by his royal antecedents.

He's a tough guy, as we said before. Shucks, he sleeps on a pillow made of solid mahogany. He is as acrobatic as a bloody clown. He can swutch, sideswipe or drop kick any opponent. But the prince is not all the show. Meet Willie the "Coconut." Willie is the Prince's manager, confidant and interpreter.

Willie met the prince during the war in the South Pacific. He was a major in the U.S. Marines at the time and saw in the Prince a peacetime gold mine. He brought him to this country a couple of years ago. "Willie" is almost as colorful a character as is the Prince.

We'll have more about these colorful characters tomorrow. Don't miss this one—it should be good, especially since the Prince is teamed with Pat Flanagan against the "hated" team of Lou Plummer and Dick Raines.

FISHIN' DOOM!

The first quarterly estimate of production of the commercial fisheries of Ontario for 1955, just released by the Department of Lands and Forests, shows a total catch of 1,531,000 pounds—a drop of 41% from the 2,595,000 pounds reported for the first three months of 1954. A million pounds of this decrease is attributable to the drop in Lake Erie landings, from 1,629,000 pounds to 634,000 pounds. The severe storm of March 22nd, followed three weeks on the opening of commercial fishing, caused a large loss of gear and the temporary crippling of the industry on the lake. This considered, production for the Province, excluding Lake Erie, shows little change.

Increases in production were noted for Lake Huron, up from 1,000 pounds to 19,000 pounds, and Lake Superior, from 40,000 pounds to 56,000 pounds. Lake Ontario produced 150,000 pounds, as in the first quarter of 1954. Landings reported for the Georgian Bay, the North Channel and Southern Inland Waters were down 25%.

DENY REPORT

GALT (CP)—The purchase of leftwinger Roy Partridge from Galt Black Hawks by Barrie Flyers of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A league, reported earlier this week, was denied by Galt officials Wednesday.

Black Hawk president Jack Patrick said Hap Emms, general manager and coach of Barrie, has not completed any deal on Partridge.

"Emms is mistaken if he thinks we are playing Santa Claus early in June," Patrick said. "We haven't made any deals or released any players. If Emms wants any of our players he will have to show us the color of his money."

FALONEY DRAFTED

CALGARY (CP)—Bob Robinett, manager of the Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, said Wednesday night quarterback Bernie Faloney will not be with the club this season. Robinett said Faloney has received his draft orders.

Tribe's Three Homers Fail To Subdue Boston Red Sox; Dodgers Unravel Redlegs 3-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It might be a good idea if general manager Hank Greenberg told his Cleveland Indians to forget about breaking the American League home run record and get them busy hitting the singles that win ball games.

With a third of the season gone, the Indians are four home runs ahead of their 1954 pace that won the AL humer title, but they've lost four more games than a year ago.

What's more, they've left 41 runners stranded in the last six games for the lack of those snubbed singles. Going for the fences, the Tribe has batted just .222 in the slump, and has slipped into third place, 4½ games behind the Yanks.

LOST AGAIN

The Indians had one of their three - homer games Wednesday night, but wound up losing to Boston in 12 innings 5-4. The Red Sox had only one homer — and six singles.

Although remaining in third, the Tribe didn't lose ground to the Yanks, who were beaten 3-1 by Detroit. Second - place Chicago White Sox also stayed static, losing to Baltimore 3-2. And Kansas City toppled Washington 3-2.

The National League played 'em close, too. Brooklyn beat Cincinnati 3-1 as Don Newcombe became the first pitcher to win 10 this year. New York Giants regained third from Milwaukee, defeating the Braves 5-4 in 10 innings. Pittsburgh edged the Chicago Cubs 2-1. Rain postponed St. Louis at Philadelphia.

ERROR HELPED

Boston beat the Tribe on Jim Piersall's double and a fielding error. Vic Wertz had tied it at 4-4 for the tribe with his solo homer in the ninth. Gene Stephens' three-run homer gave the Red Sox a 4-1 lead in the fifth. Al Rosen homered for the other runs scored by the Indians, who had only six hits.

Detroit had but six hits, too, but made the most of Bob Turley's 10 walks to hand the Yankee right-hander his fourth defeat. Turley, who fanned five to tie Cleveland's Herb Score for the strikeout lead with 92, walked the bases full in the fourth and the Tigers scored a pair on an infield out and Bill Tuttle's single. Frank Lary, with the help of four doubleplays, won his sixth.

Tuesday's four-player deal between the White Sox and Senators failed to pay off immediately. Jim Busby, reclaimed by the Sox, hit into a bases-loaded doubleplay at Chicago, where Hoot Evers won it for the Orioles with an eighth-inning homer.

And at Kansas City a two-run homer by Clint Courtney—the ex-White Sox catcher—wasn't enough for the Senators. The A's took it on a pinch-single by Enos Slaughter in the ninth.

Newcombe was in command all the way for the Brooks, who moved nine games ahead of the second-place Cubs. The unbeaten right-hander, despite rain and cold, tossed a four-hitter, fanned seven, walked none and retired the last 16 men he faced. Newk, who was 9-8 a year ago, also singled and doubled to figure in two runs.

A pinch single by Bobby Hofman won for the Giants, who edged ahead of Milwaukee in the standings after the Braves had tied it at 4-4 in the ninth with the help of two New York errors.

At Pittsburgh, Dale Long's bases-empty home run in the ninth packed it away for the Pirates. Long also doubled to score the other Buc run on a single by George Freese in the second.

INVADE QUEBEC

MONTREAL (CP) — The Montreal Alouettes will invade Quebec in the fall to drum up interest in that city in Big Four football. Co-owner Vic Obeck said Wednesday the move is designed to "promote football throughout the province."

Jim Norris New President Madison Square

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Norris, multi-millionaire boxing promoter and part owner of Chicago Stadium, takes over as president of Madison Square Garden today.

The president of the International Boxing Club will succeed General John Reed Kilpatrick with the latter moving up to the chairmanship of the board of directors.

Because Norris is a partner in the Chicago Stadium which owns the National Hockey League Black Hawks, General Kilpatrick said a new corporation would be set up to run New York Rangers, another National Hockey League club, owned by the Garden.

"I will be president of the Rangers and Mr. Norris will not be an officer," said Kilpatrick. "The Rangers will just be tenants of the Garden."

"I'll have no connection with the Rangers—no more than I ever had," said Norris. "I root for Chicago Black Hawks."

As the Garden's board chairman, Kilpatrick will replace Bernard Gimbel, department store owner, and will have a more active role, said Norris. The board of directors will also have its membership reduced from 15 to nine with the resignation of six directors, including Gimbel.

Sugar Kings Nudge Toronto; Leafs Split Pair

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Havana Sugar Kings are going right after the league leading Toronto Maple Leafs in the International League.

The Sugar Kings swept a double-header from the Rochester Red Wings Wednesday night for their sixth straight victory to move within 4½ games of the pace setters. They came from behind to take the opener 3-2, and then captured the nightcap 6-2.

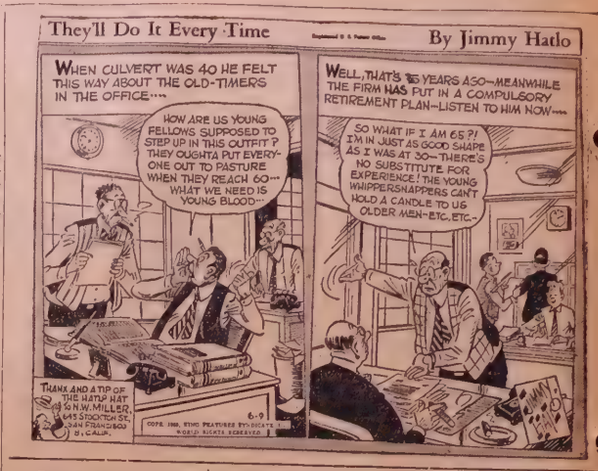
In other games Toronto split a doubleheader with Richmond Virginians. The Leafs took the first behind the one-hit pitching of Jack Crimian, 1-0. The Virginians came back to edge the Leafs 3-2. The Buffalo Bisons and Syracuse Chiefs divided their twin bill, with the opener going to the Chiefs 3-2. The Bisons came back to topple Syracuse 6-2. In the only single game Columbus Jets nipped Montreal Royals 2-1.

Havana's victories made it four straight over Rochester. Havana took the second game behind the three-hit pitching of reliefer Paul Sanchez. He replaced Julian Ladera in the first after Rochester scored twice. A two run homer by Ray Noble in the fourth and a solo shot by Angel Scull paced the Sugar Kings' batters.

BROKE TIE IN SIXTH

A leadoff homer by Loren Babe in the first inning was all Crimian needed in the opener. Crimian had a no-hitter for 5 2-3 innings when Ed Kusko lined a triple.

In the afterpiece the Virginians scored the tiebreaking run in the sixth inning when catcher Don Griffin threw wildly past first in a pickoff attempt, which allowed Vic Marasco to score from second.



Buffalo jumped off to a 3-0 lead in the opener on Ron Samford's three-run homer. The Chiefs tied the score in their half when Bob Bowman hit a two-run homer. Bob Micelotta's bases empty blast in the fourth broke the deadlock.

The Bisons bunched four of their seven hits in the sixth inning of the nightcap for five runs.

Spider Wilhelm's bases-loaded single in the ninth inning broke a 1-1 tie for Columbus.

Glenn Cox held the Jets to four hits through the first seven innings, and didn't allow a run until the eighth.

Charley Hagg pitched the ninth inning to get credit for the victory. Mike Kumesin his eight innings struck out 10, walked one and gave up only five Montreal hits.

Pitching — Don Newcombe, Dodgers, ignored rain and cold to become first to win 10 this year, tossing four-hitter that beat Cincinnati 3-1 as he fanned seven, walked none and retired the last 16 men to face him.

Batting—Jim Piersall, Red Sox, his second double of the game set up the run that beat Cleveland 5-4 in the 12th inning.

Seventeen, Probably Less, Will Run In Historic Queen's Plate Classic

TORONTO (CP)—Only about 17 of the 188 thoroughbreds originally nominated will run for the Queen's 50 guineas in Canada's richest stake race Saturday.

Another two or three probably will be scratched before the horses go to the post in the $20,000-added Queen's Plate classic at Woodbine racetrack.

Of the field left for the Plate, only five or six are considered to be in contention. The others, the experts say, probably will go along just for the exercise and with the hope one of them might pull off an upset.

SOON DWINDLED

It didn't take long for the number of nominations to dwindle. It was late in 1953 that the 188 were named. By last May 1, 53 colts and fillies were still in the running. Never before had so many horses remained eligible after the annual May 1 payment.

Then the withdrawal movement started to roll. Owners, for various reasons, didn't want to send their candidates against the outstanding horses.

Still the favorite is Senator Jim, a 5-to-2 shot owned by Jack Stafford of Toronto. Loyalist, a disappointment in the Plate trials, is backed down to second choice at odds of 4 to 1. The brown gelding was bred in Manitoba and is owned by Bill Moffatt of Toronto.

Ace Marine, the fine brown colt owned by Larkin Maloney of Toronto, is third choice at 5 to 1. He breezed an easy mile in 1:42 3-5 Wednesday to end serious workouts for the 96th running of the Plate. He won two of his six starts last year, was second once and third twice.

WITH BROKEN WRIST

CINCINNATI (AP) — Bud Podbielan pitched 4 1-3 innings against Brooklyn Dodgers Tuesday with a broken right wrist and will be out of action for eight weeks, it was learned Wednesday. The Cincinnati Redleg righthander broke the wrist while sliding into second base in the third inning. He continued in the game, however, until being lifted in the 7th with 1 out.

Sam Snead's Golf School

4. The best swing is made in as nearly a vertical plane as the player can make it. A player who is heavily built in the middle must necessarily use a flatter swing. Such players who lack distance sometimes compensate by using long-shafted clubs. These clubs have the clubhead leaving the shaft at a flatter angle than normal. And, by using a club so designed, the player must use a flat swing. But unless you fit into the heavy-in-the-middle class of players, the upright swing should be your preference. There are obvious mechanical reasons why this is so. Pictured is a square stance. The player who has difficulty in swinging inside-out may find the square stance a help in straightening out his shots. Some may even want to try the closed stance, which means the right foot is farther back from the direction line than the left.

May Match Swaps, Nashua

CHICAGO (AP)—A match race between Swaps, Kentucky Derby winner, and Nashua, victor in the Preakness, is in "the discussion stage and looks promising," a racing executive said Wednesday.

The race would be for a $75,000 purse, winner take all, Benjamin F. Lindheimer, executive director of Arlington and Washington Parks said.

Lindheimer said the race probably will be run at Washington Park in August, the date depending on the condition of the horses.

Earlier, Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, trainer of Nashua, said he had "heard nothing" of the proposed match race.

"If there was anything to such a race I think I would have been told about it," the veteran trainer added. "This is very premature. I don't think there is anything to it."

Belmont Field Still Mystery

NEW YORK (AP)—Nance's Lad was withdrawn Wednesday from the $100,000 Belmont Stakes Saturday, and it was still a major mystery how many colts might oppose Nashua in the big three-year-old classic.

Two late additions to the race, which if nothing else has set a record for confusion, are the King Ranch's Retamero and the Barclay Stable's Blazing Count.

This made a field of five horses virtually certain to face the starter in the 87th running of the 1½-mile event which will be televised and broadcast (CBS) from 4:30-5 p.m. (EDT).

In addition to Nashua, Blazing Count and Retamero, the others are the Cain Hoy Stable's Flying Fury, and Laudy Lawrence's Jabneh.

Terriers Make Player 'Swap'

GALT (CP)—Two veteran Intercounty Senior Baseball League players have been released by Galt Terriers to make room for two other men, it was reported Wednesday.

Catcher Art O'Connor and pitcher Alf Gavey have been released while catcher Dick Anderson and Marv Raab have been signed to Galt contracts.

O'Connor started his third year with Galt this season. He had played several seasons with Guelph Maple Leafs before going to Terriers. Gavey, a lefthander, played with Brantford Red Sox a few seasons ago and was unconditionally released to Galt this spring.

Bobcats Whip Madoc 18-8 In Weird Battle

By GARRY ALEXANDER

In a weird hour and a half of errors, walks and misjudged hits, the Belleville Bobcats gained their second victory of the season by outlasting Madoc 18-8 at the C. N. R. A. A. Park last night. The game was played in a drizzling rain which finally halted action after 7 1/2 innings.

The Bobcats went in front 8-0 in the initial frame and were never threatened, collecting nine hits off the combined slants of Jim Ruckstule and Bob Schofield while scoring numerous runs on walks and wild pitches. Ruckstule took the loss in four innings, walking seven and allowing seven hits. The Madoc team committed a total of seven errors to the winner's four while both teams watched the ball bounce around for hits and misjudged fly balls on more than one occasion.

Skip Dracup gathered the victory while hurling five frames of relief ball, giving up three runs on as many hits while whiffing four and walking five. Jack Holmes opened on the hill but ran into trouble in the second, third and fourth frames and finally gave way to Dracup. Holmes gave up five runs off three hits but he walked seven to lead to his downfall.

Singles by Lockyer, Temple and a double by Harry Wardhaugh sprinkled with five walks and 3 errors gave the victors their first inning tallies. Two more errors, a sacrifice and infield out made it 9-0 in the second but Madoc came back with three in the third on two walks, a throwing error and a wild pitch.

Temple's crew batted around in the third with Dave Lockyer's homer that took one bounce over the centrefielder's head the big blow of the frame. Five runs crossed the plate with singles by Creeggan and Woods helping along with two wild pitches and a couple of stolen bases.

Back to back doubles by Sherry and Carswell brought on Dracup but two walks, as many errors and a passed ball gave the visitors four in the fourth while a homer by Bronson accounted for their final tally in the sixth. Ross Empy slammed a three-run homer for the Bobcats in the fifth while a walk to Duesbury with the bases full in the seventh closed out the scoring.

Dave Lockyer had a homer and single for the city nine while Bob Temple punched a pair of singles. Empy homered, Wardhaugh doubled and singles went to Duesbury, Creeggan and Woods. Sherry poked a brace of doubles in defeat and Bronson claimed his home run. Carswell had a double with singles going to Hagerman and Ruckstule.

Line ups:

Madoc: Sherry, Carswell, Schofield, Bronson, Shaw, Hatch, Burnside, Hagerman, Ruckstule.

Bobcats: Duesbury, Wardhaugh, Creeggan, Lockyer, Woods, Hurst, Bone, Temple, Empy, Letman, Holmes, Dracup.

Tony DeMarco Underdog In Basilio Fight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—A 17-to-10 underdog in his first title defence, welterweight champion Tony DeMarco arrives in this hotbed of Carmen Basilio supporters today quietly confident he'll still be wearing the crown after Friday night.

The Boston Buzz-bomb looked strong and sharp in sparring 51 rounds at his mountain training camp at downstate Monticello.

DeMarco and Basilio, an onion farmer from nearby Chittenango, will clash before a sell-out crowd of 9,000 at the War Memorial Auditorium.

The fight will be televised and broadcast.

Basilio cracked back at DeMarco's handlers, who predicted the champion would win by a knockout.

"Let him come in and try it," Carmen challenged. "Then he'll leave himself wide open."

Buggy-Whip Bats Lash Home-Runs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Harry (The Hat) Walker, the new St. Louis Cardinals manager, says it's the lighter bat rather than a more lively ball that is producing more major league home runs.

Walker sounded off on sundry baseball topics after Wednesday night's game with Philadelphia Phillies was postponed because of rain.

He said it is "a lot of nonsense" to suggest that more homers are the result of a lively ball.

"It's the bats these guys use," he said. "They're like buggy whips. They swing those bats so much faster than the old 38-to-42-ounce bats that when they connect the ball flies."

Canada Cup Golf Tourney Gets Under Way

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fifty golfers from 26 nations tee off today in the international golf championships over a Columbia Country Club course soaked by rain and with more showers promised.

The sponsoring International Golf Association bills it as a $150,000 tournament, but that figure includes expense money and a $500 payment to each man who participates. Actual prize money is $11,800.

Chick Harbert, the U.S. Professional Golfers Association champion, said he thought a figure of 560 would win the Canada Cup, which goes to the country with the lowest combined score for its two team members for 72 holes of medal play.

Par for the 6,510-yard course in suburban Chevy Chase, Md., is 72.

Panthers Lose

OSHAWA (CP) — Oshawa Merchants scored four runs in the fifth inning Wednesday night and went on to defeat Kitchener Panthers 6-4 in a senior Intercounty baseball game.

Stan Breard and playing-manager Roy Lefevre paced the winners with a pair of doubles each. Freddy Thomas and Rollie Leveille added a pair of hits each for Oshawa.

Oshawa scored four runs in the fifth inning off two doubles, a single, a walk and a Kitchener error.

Bill Myers, Oshawa pitcher, and Panther hurler Preston Elkins, both went the distance.

Jack Oakie Had to Learn New Strategy as Scene Stealer in TV

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—That veteran scene stealer, Jack Oakie, will be up to his old tricks tonight when he appears on CBS' "Shower of Stars." But he's had to learn some new strategy for TV.

Oakie is enacting a scene from "Burlesque" which he performed earlier in the season, and he's happy that the scene is being repeated. Reason: he gets to uphold his honor as a scene stealer.

"I made a mistake the first time," he remarked. "I was over in a corner of the hotel room dancing with Dan Dailey. I didn't realize the camera was going to cut to the door, where Dick Foran was coming in.

LIVEN THE SHOW

"This time I'll be over by that door. Foran will have to shove me aside to get through."

Yes, the word "honor" is used in connection with scene stealing. Although the craft has criminal connotations, it is both ancient and honorable. It's the scene stealers who liven the show.

"Oh, we used to have a ball in the old days," Oakie reminisced between rehearsals. We tried to think of new ways to get closeup, one of my favorite tricks was shifting a drink from one hand to another between scenes.

"When they ran the rushes, they saw I had the glass in one hand for one scene, then in the other. So they had to shoot a closeup of me shifting the glass."

CHAPLIN BLEW UP

Oakie said he even topped the great Chaplin—until Chaplin wised up. It was when Oakie was playing the Mussolini character in "The Great Dictator."

"That was Charlie's first talkie and he wasn't hep to my tricks," Oakie said. "I'd never let him finish a line, interrupting him with 'Is that so?' or 'You don't say?'

"Charlie knew something was wrong, but he didn't find out until after weeks of watching the rushes. Then he really blew up."

Oakie made his last film almost five years ago, and it seems a shame that his comedic talent is wasted by Hollywood. He was whimsical about his inactivity, declaring: "They're not making my kind of picture any more."

DIES IN WRECKAGE

LOCKWOOD, Calif. (AP)—A 44-year-old pilot, pleading to be pulled free, was burned to death in the wreckage of his private plane Wednesday while four men, including his father, stood by helpless and horrified. Don McNab of Sonoma, Calif., had just taken off from an airstrip here when his Luscombe hit a 12,000-volt power line and crashed. A passenger, John Marcus, was thrown clear.

RADIOED FOR AID

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—A trainer plane from the navy's field here called out firefighters Wednesday and was credited with saving six farm houses from burning down. One house was destroyed, but fire chief Leroy Dunk said all seven would have been destroyed if the pilot had not radioed his base.

City Girls Down Madoc 12-3 For Second Win

In a Women's Belleville and District softball game played at the Alemite Field last evening, the Belleville Sheilettes took their second victory in as many nights by clipping Madoc 12-3.

Linda Wagg hurled her second complete game of the week to claim the victory, setting the visitors down with seven hits, fanning five and walking only one.

Leo Lucciola's girls laid the hickory to the ball for fifteen solid hits with Shirley Fox pacing the pack with a homer and two singles. Carol Baker and Eunice Summers followed closely with a trio of hits each while Mary Ann Ray, Louis Batchelor and Helen Reeves pounded two safe blows each.

Bernie, the Madoc twirler, claimed seven of the Shellettes on third strikes with one walk charged against her. No names were available of the Madoc players.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Friday, June 10, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Grand influences, but unreasonable shifting of plans and sudden changes are not sanctioned. A fine day for mental work, signing contracts, agreements; also for household interests. Seek, grant favors, too.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — This can be a remunerative, compensating day for all worthwhile matters, for personal gain and for happiness in family and home affairs. Finish incompleted tasks, or start new essential ones.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Stimulating, benefic influences from Mercury and the Sun promise fine results from earnest, honest endeavor. Whatever your schedule requires, tackle it with vigor, conscientiousness. Happy going!

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — The Moon's aspect advises sensible care in family relations, private interests. It can be a satisfying, productive period for hard work, trades, gardening, pleasant, healthy pastimes.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Enthusiasm, ambition and mental alertness should be at a peak now. Your Sun ☉ in a promising, benefic position. This can be a happy as well as fruitful period.

August 23 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Your day similar to Gemini. Don't hesitate to act and do try to promote your innate talents and skills. Social and church interests need your help.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Bright prospects for productivity and happiness now. Aim to include some new ideas in your plans. Now, sound projects and old but essential matters equally honored.

October 24 to November 23 — (Scorpio) — Grand influences on the whole but your Mars, somewhat inactive in tendency, suggests calmness as the recipe for a happy, prosperous day. Show your skill at self-control.

November 23 to December 22— (Sagittarius) — Matters of a delicate nature, the arts, research in science, medicine, new materials and products highly sponsored now. The influences are also good for home and industrial interests.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — Delve into other interests besides you own — activities beneficial to community, family; perhaps allied business transactions. An excellent day for broad and exhaustive undertakings, ■ sound.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — Uranus' position stresses a need for stability, restraint of unhealthy restlessness. You should net reasonable returns for your efforts. Pleasant rays for domestic interests, artistic matters.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — Neptune's aspect suggests that you think carefully before making decisions — especially where changes in plans or upsets in usual routine are concerned. Day is splendid for all worthwhile activities, however.

You born today are interesting, gay, energetic, always on the go and changing to something new. Yet you are faithful to family and home traditions, are ambitious to get ahead for loved ones and will work hard for success. Pray and strive for patience and stick-to-itiveness so that you may arrive at the happy destinations you seek. Never think you can go it alone; always ask God's guidance, protection. Heed sound suggestions of family and friends qualified to speak. Don't fret at delays. Birthdate: Sir Henry Stanley, African explorer; Robert Schumann, German composer.

FOUR OF A KIND DOING WELL

Two of the quadruplets, born to Mrs. Marcelle Philibert in Aubigny-Sur-Nere, near Bourges, France, are shown in an incubator as two nurses give them special attention. Little Benny's Note Book

Puds Simkins's father is an arkitect, and he gave Puds 2 old blue prints and we stuck them inside our sherts pertending they were the plans for a new atomic submerine that can live 3 years under water on its own lump of uranium.

Us 2 being the Forrin Intriggers, and we walked up to the Avenue to where the steem shovel was werking down in the big hole, and there was a big crowd standing around watching it, mostly kids and men, and Puds said, Hay, Operater One, there he is.

Who? I said, and Puds said, The enemy agent that's after our submerine plans.

Mecning a tuff looking man chewing gum with his hands in his pockits, and I said, We have to find out for sure, Operater 2. We'll walk past him with the plans in site, and see if he tries to pick our pockits, I said.

And we each stuck a blue print in our pants pockit, and we started to walk through the crowd, and we went past the man so closs we would probably of tred on his feet if he hadn't of moved them, but all he did was just look at us without trying to snatch the plans, and Puds said, He didn't quite have the nerve.

Let's try it again, I said.

Which we did, and the man moved his feet again and looked at us kind of close, so we tried it once more, and he grabbed us both by the arms with a fierce grip, saying, Look, if you kids crawl over me just once more, I'll nock your heads together with a bang like a firecracker.

And he gave us a push into some other people, making them mad, too, and we quick kept on going, me saying, It's him, Operater 2, he's the enemy agent, all right.

Proving we solved the case.

Sixth Victim Of Crash Found

EDMONTON (CP)—The charred body of a young mechanic was found Wednesday in the wreckage of an Associated Airways Ltd., Lockheed 14, raising to six the death toll in the test-flight crash.

The body of Eldon Johnston, 22, of Edmonton, was discovered by RCMP searchers. He was not reported missing Tuesday when the twin-engine aircraft crashed and burned in a small clearing on the Winterburn Indian reserve, 10 miles west of here.

Associated officials said Johnston two other mechanics and a third pilot "went along for the ride" when the plane was taken on a flight test by its crew. The mechanics had worked on the plane's 200-hour check.

Anti-Combines Body Urges Court Action to Prevent Merger of More Breweries

OTTAWA (CP) — Parliament's anti-combines body has accused the $125,000,000 Canadian Breweries Limited and board chairman E. P. Taylor of pursuing monopolistic merger practices. It has recommended court action to stop the company from buying out and killing off more of its beer competitors.

In a 104-page report to Justice Minister Garson, climaxing four years of investigation, the restrictive trade practices commission said it found the company bought out 23 Ontario rivals in 23 years, closing out 12 of them.

It said the company deliberately reduced the number of acquired beer brands in Ontario to nine from 250, thereby depriving the public of a wide and diversified beer selection.

It said the company also had moved into the Quebec and western Canada brewing fields, buying up companies, merging and consolidating and in some cases eliminating plants in alleged schemes to control the beer market.

WILL DECIDE LATER

Mr. Garson, on tabling the report in the Commons today, said he will decide later what action the government will take. The case is unusual since this is the first commission charge of a merger against public benefit under current anti-combines laws.

The commission, headed by C. Rhodes Smith, former Manitoba attorney-general, said Canadian Breweries followed a deliberate plan to acquire rival brewing companies and close, sell or dismantle a great number of them, to eliminate competition and to dominate the industry, first in Ontario, later in Quebec and then in the western provinces.

It said the company, under the direction of Mr. Taylor, 54-year-old Toronto industrialist, has not yet acquired this control and for this reason it was not necessary to split the company's holdings. But it warned that unless action is taken to curb the company's hunger for rivals, there was a danger it might ultimately attain this domination.

MAKES RECOMMENDATIONS

It recommended:

1. Canadian Breweries be barred from buying any more of the assets or controlling interest in the capital stock of any of its Canadian competitors. The company also has big holdings in the United States and Britain.

2. The company be prevented from increasing its shares of Western Canada Breweries Limited, Vancouver, of which it already owns about 25 per cent.

3. Canadian Breweries officers or agents be prevented from becoming or continuing as an officer or director of Western Canada Breweries.

4. Action to bar Canadian Breweries from price-fixing or competition-reducing arrangements with competitors.

ASKS HALT AGREEMENTS

The commission recommended this latter step, because of the company's "past history" and because the company could reduce competition only by "illegal agreements" with competitors if it is barred from buying up rivals.

The commission, in its report, included quotations from letters by the Ottawa-born Mr. Taylor and other evidence that he intended to expand his company's activities to exert control over the industry.

An investigation into the company's activities was started by the combines investigation branch in 1951 when it read press reports that the company intended to buy the National Breweries Limited of Montreal.

CLOSED OUT

Investigation showed it had bought up Ontario companies in the 1930-53 period of which these 12 were closed out:

Taylor and Bate Ltd., St. Catharines; Dominion Brewery Co. Ltd., Toronto; Grant's Spring Brewery Co. Ltd., Hamilton; Regal Brewing Co. Ltd., Hamilton; Carling Breweries Ltd., London; Budweiser Brewing Co. of Canada Belleville; Welland Brewery Ltd., Welland; Riverside Brewing Corporation Ltd., Riverside; Reinhardt Brewery Co. Ltd., Toronto; City Club Breweries Ltd., Toronto; Hofer Brewing Co., La Salle; Bixel Brewing and Malting Co. Ltd., Brantford.

Combines investigator T. D. MacDonald found a document in the company's files which said the company was set up for the purpose of acquiring and controlling a number of Ontario companies to establish itself as a "dominant factor in the brewing business" in the province.

He also found other documents in which Mr. Taylor spoke of consolidation of a number of companies, saying he could make the operations of these companies "so disastrous that they would be forced to consolidate with us or go out of business."

ANOTHER LETTER

In another letter, Mr. Taylor is reported to have said:

"I am sure that we now have the power to control prices and sales practices of the industry and while it may be necessary for us to start local price wars here and there to discipline a small competitor, I am sure the profits will prove most gratifying to the shareholders."

Canadian Breweries started moving into the western field in 1943. The commission's report quoted a letter written by Mr. Taylor that year saying the company had raised its sights to become a national concern, to acquire western companies to produce its Ontario brand beer "and gradually soft-pedal the local brands."

By 1948, Canadian Breweries got stock interest in two western breweries with plants in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and British Columbia. The following year they were merged under the name of Western Canada Breweries Limited with headquarters in Vancouver.

Subsequently Western Canada acquired control of another brewery in Manitoba and a new one in Alberta. In addition it holds minority interests in two Winnipeg breweries and one in Edmonton.

Canadian Breweries is the largest single shareholder in Western, holding 23.8 per cent of the stock in 1953.

In 1952 Canadian Breweries acquired National Breweries of Montreal, which owned six Quebec brewing plants. There was only one competitor, Molson's of Montreal. National was changed to Dow and two of the plants were sold on condition they would no longer be used for beer-making.

The 15 Ontario and Quebec brewing plants of Canadian Breweries are located as follows:

Brading group—Ottawa, Hamilton and Windsor; Carling group—Toronto, Waterloo, Tecumseh and Montreal; Dow group—Montreal, Quebec and Kitchener; O'Keefe group—Toronto, Walkerville and Ottawa.

ALLEGES BIG HOLDINGS

The commission said that as a result of the company's acquisitions, it has ownership in "more than 60 per cent of the brewing industry in Ontario and more than 50 per cent in Ontario and Quebec combined."

"Its holdings in the two populous central provinces give it close to 40 per cent of the business in Canada. That figure exceeds 40 per cent with the addition of those companies in western Canada in which Canadian Breweries is the largest single shareholder."

But even so, the commission felt that the two main competitors in the central provinces—Labatt's and Molson's—were sufficiently strong to withstand a take-over of market control by Canadian Breweries.

Canadian Breweries contended before the commission that when the original merger plan was devised, the industry was in a deplorable state of affairs because of bad merchandising and sales methods, activities of bootleggers, unethical advertising and poor sanitary and financial conditions. Canadian Breweries had corrected this situation.

The commission agreed that there may have been some bad conditions in the 1930s, but should be up to government and public agencies and not private companies who stand to profit through the market to change production conditions.

The company argued also that there is a general tendency nowadays for producers to become fewer and bigger; that the public continues to benefit from keen competition among the strong operators, and that Canadian Breweries had merely acted in accordance with the modern trend.

The commission said it was aware of the trend. Each case had to be studied on its merits. But if it was found that mergers were not undertaken for the purpose of achieving greater security and efficiency consistent with free competition, but to control industry to foster personal interests, "then surely such mergers cannot claim to be in the public interest."

RELEASED BY REDS

One of the 250 Austrian prisoners of war who had been sentenced in Russia to long terms of imprisonment as war criminals and who were released after the signing of the Austrian state treaty recently, Colonel Mascra is shown in touching reunion with his wife. He is the brother-in-law of Dr. Kurt Schuschnigg, former chancellor of Austria, who now lives in the United States. Col. Masera was the last commanding officer of the Austrian Guard battalion before its dissolution when Hitler annexed Austria in March, 1938. (Central Press Canadian).

FROST GETS SECOND LANDSLIDE VICTORY

Man Hunt Pays Off With Capture Of Bank Bandit

Youth Spotted Crawling Along Railway Track

ST. RAYMOND DE PORTNEUF, Que. (CP) — Starved, exhausted and dishevelled 17-year-old youth, one of two bank bandits sought since Tuesday in insect-infested bush country, today surrendered meekly to police.

The youth was spotted at 7:30 a.m. EDT staggering from exhaustion along a stretch of highway, under constant patrol since a bank at St. Marc, Que. was robbed Tuesday of $3,000.

Police chief Achille Cantin of St. Raymond identified the youth as Claude Gingras of St. Raymond.

Police said that at first the youth, covered with black fly and mosquito bites, told them he had been on a fishing trip and had become lost. Later, they said, he told them he was one of three sought in connection with the robbery.

One of the three, a 28-year-old brother of the youth, remains at large. Leo Cyr, 28, of Montreal was captured Wednesday, less than 24 hours after the men took to the bush when their car broke down while attempting to flee the scene of the bank robbery.

NO RESISTANCE

The youth offered no resistance when constables Roger Fradette and Jacques Lemieux approached to take him into custody. A 40-man posse had been under order to "shoot to kill" if necessary to bring in the bandits.

Police said the youth told them his brother is "just as exhausted as I was." He said the worst thing about the bush was the black flies and mosquitoes.

At some point during the chase the youth lost his shoes and when captured had only old rags wrapped around his feet.

Golfer Scores Hole in One In Side Pocket

KITCHENER (CP) — David Taylor of Hamilton put a ball in the side pocket while playing golf.

Playing the Druggists tournament at the Grand River Golf and Country Club here Wednesday, he teed off on the second hole. The wind caught the ball and, as Mr. Taylor shouted "fore," Dr. Archie Case of Waterloo, in the foursome ahead ducked. The ball landed in Dr. Case's right trouser pocket.

Increased Vote Gives Incentive To Work--Oliver

DURHAM, Ont. (CP)—Election of more Liberals in Thursday's Ontario election would have made for better government, Farquhar Oliver, Liberal leader, said in a statement Thursday night.

"I am naturally disappointed that more were not elected," he said.

"I believe it would be shown by the tabulated figures that the popular vote for the Liberals was higher than in the last election which should be some incentive to the party to put in an intensive organization campaign in preparation for future elections."

WAS MENTALLY ILL

TORONTO (CP)—Police said a young man found shot to death Thursday in a west-central hotel was mentally ill. They refused to discuss the case further and declined to identify the man.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: A band of cloud which now covers most of northern Ontario is moving slowly southward this morning and it should cover the province during the night. A few showers which have already fallen in northern regions will probably spread into most of Ontario today and Saturday. Temperatures will remain on the cool side.

FEDERAL SPENDING IN FISCAL YEAR $4,507,990,276

Amount 60 Millions Below Peacetime High

OTTAWA (CP) — Supplementary estimates tabled in the Commons Thursday boosted proposed federal spending for the current fiscal year to $4,507,990,276, second-highest in peacetime.

The total is about $60,000,000 below the peacetime high of $4,567,794,000, marked up last year. The all-time record was $5,322,000,000 in the war year of 1943-44.

The supplementaries tabled by Finance Minister Harris totalled $147,724,276 and came on top of original estimates of $4,513,800 announced last Jan. 28. It is likely further supplementaries will be proposed near the close of the 1955-56 fiscal year next March 31.

Biggest supplementary item is $63,300,000 for reductions in the amount owed by the Old Age Security Fund on temporary loans for the last and current fiscal years.

LOANS TO CBC

The CBC will receive proposed loans totalling $8,500,000 for capital expenditures at its six television centres—Halifax, Montreal, Ottawa Toronto, Winnipeg and Vancouver. Since 1952, exclusive of the proposed loans, the CBC has borrowed $15,750,000 for its TV service.

Other loans included a second advance of $6,000,500 to Atomic Energy of Canada Ltd., for construction of its new NRU reactor at the Chalk River atomic energy centre. The main estimates in January proposed a loan of $8,024,000 mainly for the reactor.

The supplementaries will boost AECL's expenditures this year to almost $35,000,000.

A further amount of $9,421,000 for war veterans allowances is designed to implement legislation passed at this session to increase the allowances paid to about 41,500 burned out war veterans and their dependents.

MUNICIPAL GRANTS

An additional $3,177,200 for grants to municipalities was included in the supplementaries to implement another piece of legislation now before Parliament.

The bill would about double grants paid in lieu of municipal taxes on crown property. The main estimates proposed grants amounting to $3,279,500.

Other major spending items forecast include:

Development of the Cornwall canal, as an adjunct to the St. Lawrence seaway, $2,500,000; reconstruction and capital expenditures for Montreal harbor, $2,002,000; St. Lawrence river dredging $1,500,000; construction and acquisition of transport department vessels $1,318,650.

New Man Heads RCMP Branch On Subversives

OTTAWA (CP)—A change of posting involving 17 officers in the Royal Canadian Mounted Police has brought Assistant Commissioner Clifford Harvison, 54, to the head of the Special Branch in Ottawa which handles subversives and associated problems.

Commissioner L. H. Nicholson announced the transfers today.

Alberta's Growling Turtle Mountain Revives Memories of 1903 Disaster

FRANK, Alta. (CP)—Growling Turtle mountain fanned anxiety today as the town it pancaked under millions of tons of limestone more than half a century ago.

Clattering rock and what appeared to be steam issuing from a mountainside fissure have revived memories of the great slide of 1903 that buried Frank and killed some 80 of the coal-mining town's inhabitants as they slept.

But townspeople were giving no thought to flight. Some were apprehensive but they have lived too long under the menace to panic at its ominous actions.

Vern De Coux, a resident of nearby Blairmore, said a boulder that roared down the mountainside at 6 p. m. Thursday was the largest in his memory.

And he told of seeing what appeared to be steam rising from the fissure.

"I looked at the mountain through binoculars," he said. "It wasn't sure whether it was dust or steam—and I'm not going up to find out."

He said, however, that he believes that snow melting on the 4,000-foot mountain is going down the fissures and reacting when it meets with lime.

He said the slides, if something more than the normal springtime rockfalls, may have resulted from blasting by road builders loosening the limestone.

The dust or steam is coming out about 800 feet down from the jagged summit.

De Coux said there is no danger of the mountain erupting as it is not volcanic but that the 200 persons who live about a quarter mile from the base of the mountain may be in danger if there is a large slide.

Several times the Alberta government has offered to relocate five or six families living in the river bottom area at the eastern base of the mountain but they have refused to move.

No coal mines are operating now at Frank—the sleeping Crowsnest pass town in southwestern Alberta never really awakened after it was buried in the great disaster—and wage-earners commute to jobs in other towns in the foothills area.

Shortly after 4 a. m. April 29, 1903, a massive slab of rock broke off from Turtle mountain and crashed into the valley, covering 32 acres of land and burying the town under 70,000,000 tons of limestone.

Lives were snuffed out in seconds. The countryside within a 15-minute radius shook with the vibration.

Until then Frank had been a bustling mining community rapidly growing from its 600 population. It boasted three modern hotels, stores, cafes and banks and a newspaper.

Triumphant Again!

PREMIER LESLIE FROST

Who, for the second successive time, led his Progressive Conservative government to a landslide victory at the polls in yesterday's Ontario election. Besides winning an easy personal victory in his home riding of Victoria, Premier Frost saw all but one of his 18 Cabinet ministers re-elected and gains and victories in new seats more than offset the few losses which the party suffered.

Re-Elected in Hastings Ridings

ROBSON

Roscoe Robson piled up a substantial majority in Hastings East in Conservative victory.

SANDERCOCK

W. Elmer Sandercock easily defeated his two opponents in Hastings West in Thursday's voting.

E. Sandercock, Roscoe Robson, Conservatives, Win Easily In Two Hastings County Ridings

Traditionally Conservative Hastings county kept pace with the greater majority of its sister constituencies in the Ontario elections yesterday, sweeping the Progressive Conservative candidates back into office in both its ridings.

Both the former sitting members in the Ontario parliament were re-elected by substantial majorities over their Liberal and CCF opponents.

In Hastings West Elmer (Sandy) Sandercock swept to victory over Irving McGaughey, Liberal, of Trenton and William Mundrey, CCF, Belleville. The unofficial majority for Mr. Sandercock with some 14 polls to be reported was 4834. This is a 1500 increase over the majority gained in the 1951 election over Liberal Angus Duffy.

Hastings East returned Mr. Roscoe Robson to office with a majority of 2479 with three polls to be heard from. This figure is a 500 increase over the return of the 1951 election.

In Prince Edward-Lennox, Norris Whitney, Progressive Conservative was also returned to office with a substantial majority over Liberal Percy Mellott.

Unofficial figures released last night by chief returning officer for Hastings West, M. C. Burgess were Sandercock 10,154; McGaughey, 5,320 and Mundrey, 1,126.

From Tweed, Graham Mouck, chief returning officer for Hastings East, announced the official count as Robson 5904; Dr. D. C. McVicker, Liberal, 3520 and Arthur C. Cole, CCF, 403.

The unofficial figures noted some 2,000 less votes in Hastings West as compared to the figures of the 1951 election. In Hastings East the figure was some 1,500 votes less than those of the last election.

Returning officers of three city polls inadvertently lacked the figure sheets in the ballot boxes. These figures will not be available for two weeks. The polling stations were Ketcheson 6, 8, M to Z, and 8 X.

Of the 454 eligible voters of the Tyendinaga Indian reserve some 201 exercised their franchise. Of these 111 voted for Mr. Robson, 88 for Dr. McVicker and two for Mr. Cole.

20 GM PLANTS CLOSED BY FIRM DUE TO STRIKES

Parts Shortages Close Assembly, Body Plants

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors Corp. today closed 20 car-assembly and body plants in the United States, leaving 60,000 workers idle because of strike-caused parts shortages.

National contract bargaining between GM and the United Auto Workers (CIO) continued, meanwhile, with every indication that the world's largest auto firm intended to make its bid during the day to stave off a threatened strike at midnight Sunday.

It was learned this morning that GM had made no offer yet which would indicate it would go along with the same contract deal the UAW negotiated last Monday with the Ford Motor Co.

The Ford settlement called for a modified form of the guaranteed annual wage, plus pay, vacation, holiday and other concessions estimated by the UAW to be worth more than 20 cents an hour for each worker. UAW president Walter Reuther said GM's 325,000 UAW workers would strike Sunday night unless GM matched these demands.

BLAME WILDCAT STRIKES

The GM shutdowns were caused by earlier wildcat strikes in apparent protest against slowness of the national bargaining negotiations, with the walkouts shutting off parts for various GM plants across the country.

The lack of parts, GM said, compelled the company to close down Chevrolet assembly and body plants in Detroit, Flint, Bay City and Saginaw, Mich., and in Buffalo and Tonawanda, N.Y., Indianapolis and Muncie, Ind., Toledo, Ohio, and Baltimore, Md.

GM said all the shutdowns violated its expiring contract with the UAW and added—with apparent hope of a contract settlement being achieved before the Sunday night strike deadline — that all workers would be recalled Monday.

SEE OFFER TODAY

The contract negotiations were recessed Thursday night until this afternoon. It was believed GM then would make its contract offer to match — or improve upon — the Ford settlement, to give the UAW time to assess it in advance of the Sunday night time limit.

Meantime, it was learned one reason for the delay in GM's submitting an offer containing the controversial guaranteed wage plan was that GM was seeking legal rulings from Washington agencies on the tax-exemption status of any guaranteed pay arrangement, and whether the government would absorb the costs on defence contracts.

EL CENTRO, Calif. (AP)—One of the earliest hot spells in desert annals, with temperatures up to 117 degrees, has brought death to one woman. Mrs. Lulu N. Brelan, 37, was the victim of the 117-degree heat, highest ever recorded on June 8 here. It was 116 Thursday.

'Bed Is for Youngsters' Says Dempsey As He Celebrates Victory at Polls

RENFREW, Ont. (CP) — James S. Dempsey celebrated into the early hours of today, the controversy that had swirled around him all through the campaign for Thursday's Ontario general election apparently forgotten in victory.

"I won two nominating conventions and now the election," he said after scoring a close but undeniable victory in Renfrew South. "Our people know what they want."

The 68-year-old contractor-politician had represented the constituency for the last 10 years as a Progressive Conservative, but failure to report a 1951 campaign contribution lost him Premier Frost's support in this election and he was forced to run as an independent. When it was over, though, Mr. Dempsey was certain he'd be taken back into the fold.

"I am elected as a Progressive Conservative candidate," he told a reporter after his victory over the three other candidates. "There's nobody can make me anything else."

Nat Lindsay, the Liberal candidate who never led but was always close behind Mr. Dempsey, conceded near midnight when the count from 96 of the 99 polls in the constituency gave Mr. Dempsey 6,604, Mr. Lindsay 6,287 and H. M. Reid, CCF, 562.

And the celebration was on. The burly Dempsey was all but mobbed as he left the offices of the Renfrew Mercury, a weekly newspaper, where he had waited out the returns.

At the Exchange Hotel, where he lives while in Renfrew, he danced to the music of oldtime fiddlers and told friends "Bed is for you youngsters."

It was his night and he wasn't going to waste much of it sleeping, he laughed as he left for another victory dance a short time later.

Conservatives' 68-Seat Majority Stays Unchanged

PCs Elect 84 Members, Liberals 10 and CCF 3

TORONTO (CP) — A mild-mannered small-town lawyer, who went to the people on past performance, today headed Ontario's government with the exact majority with which he governed the province for the last 3½ years.

Leslie Frost's Progressive Conservatives were re-elected for the fifth consecutive time in Thursday's general election, returned with a 68-seat majority in their second-straight election sweep.

A heavy vote turned out the only Communist member of the last legislature and, perhaps reflecting good times, rejected the promises of the Liberal and CCF parties to reduce taxation, improve health and welfare and increase employment.

HELD EARLY LEAD

The outcome was not long in doubt as government supporters surged into an early lead and stayed there. Sixty-seven minutes after the polls closed, The Canadian Press reported the re-election of the government with an undiminished majority.

Thursday's result parallels that of 1951 almost throughout. The Progressive Conservative landslide recalled the 1929 election when the Conservatives under G. Howard Ferguson returned 91 members in the 112-seat House, and that of 1934 when the legislature was reduced to 90 seats and the Liberals took 66.

Redistribution in 1954 increased the number of ridings to 98 in the first change in Ontario's representation since 1934.

In its victory sweep, the Frost administration obtained 48 per cent of the total vote, compared with 49 per cent in 1951. The Liberals increased their percentage to 33 from 31 while the CCF dropped to 17 from 19 per cent.

VOTE TOTAL

With counting of ballots almost completed, a vote total 1,710,656 had been tabulated. The record vote came in 1951 when 1,775,749 Ontarians cast ballots. Some 3,000,000 were eligible this time.

The result left the slightly-reinforced Liberals, under veteran Farquhar Oliver, as official Opposition. The CCF, trying under the new leadership of Donald C. MacDonald to regain the power it once held in Canada's most populous province was little more successful than in 1951. It won 21 seats in 1948.

The three major-party leaders were elected and Premier Frost, in winning personal victory in Victoria riding which he has held since 1937, carried 17 of his 18-man cabinet into office with him.

PREMIER JUBILANT

The premier smiling, jubilant, laughing in his committee headquarters in his hometown of Lindsay where he received results Thursday night, said he accepted "the verdict of the people with humility, conscious of the responsibility which this mandate carries."

'Silly Mistake' by Auditor Saw $11,000 Credited Twice

What was said to be a "simple, silly mistake" on the part of a township auditor provided the opportunity for the tax collector to help himself to municipal funds, amounting to over $15,000 over a six-year period.

This was the evidence of Fred G. Blake, director of the auditing branch for the Department of Municipal Affairs, told a Hastings County petit jury Thursday as he testified in the trial of Leroy Woods, 37, former Sidney township tax collector, charged with the theft of township tax money.

Mr. Woods was tax collector for Sidney during the years 1946 to 1951 during which time the Crown alleges there was a tax shortage of over $15,000.

Thursday was the third day of the trial which got underway on Tuesday morning after a grand jury had returned a true bill Monday. It will continue Friday with court officials expressing doubt the hearing will be completed Friday night.

CROWN COMPLETES CASE

The crown completed its case as court adjourned Thursday evening after 22 witnesses had been called and approximately 40 exhibits registered with the court registrar.

The auditor's mistake referred to by Mr. Blake was said to have been made by George Shortt, township auditor, in 1949 when he credited the tax collector twice with an $11,000 item. This was the amount of an outstanding deposit in connection with the 1948 tax roll.

Failure of Mr. Shortt to send out verification notices in connection with arrears of taxes for past years, in accordance with department requirements, meant that the tax shortage went undiscovered, Mr. Blake said.

The witness said that Mr. Shortt whose licence as a municipal auditor was discontinued by the department in 1950 because of inefficiency, had sent out verification notices only for the current year.

MISSING PIECE IN PUZZLE

Referring to the $11,000 item which had been credited twice to the tax collector, Mr. Blake said "this was the missing piece in the jigsaw puzzle. When I found that I realized how there could be such a large shortage without the council realizing."

Had the amount been shown correctly in the auditor's report, council or other township officials would have become aware that something was wrong.

The witness said that the simple error on the part of the auditor in 1949 had given the tax collector "a perfect alibi" for an $11,000 shortage. The error was not intentional, he said.

Mr. Blake said the first inkling he had that there may be a shortage in Sidney township was in December, 1952, when his advice was asked by Mr. Ross Neal who a short time before had been appointed to audit the 1951 township books.

At that time the only evidence of a possible shortage was the answers to verification notices sent out by Mr. Neal had indicated that taxes had been paid. It was then, Mr. Blake said that Mr. Neal was given authorization to audit the township books for the entire period for which Mr. Woods had been tax collector.

TWO AUDITS AGREE

In addition to Mr. Neal's audit, which indicated a shortage of over $15,000, he had made a personal audit, the result of which agreed with Mr. Neal's findings.

The department auditing director was on the witness stand all day, his examination in chief lasting until well on in the afternoon, followed by cross examination by J. D. O'Flynn and then re-examined by Mr. C. C. Savage, special crown counsel.

Evidence of the thorough preparation by the Crown investigators before the charge was laid against Mr. Woods was indicated by Mr. Blake who told the court that, in addition to his own investigation, he had spent a total of at least two thousand hours on the case.

He said his investigation included a check of the books of township treasurer Lorne Hunt because he "wanted to check for any possibility of collusion and to see if his figures were accurate."

TREASURER NOT INVOLVED

After examination of all the treasurer's records he said it was quite clear that the treasurer was not involved. "All money was accounted for," he said.

"After all that work have you changed your opinion as to the shortage?" queried Mr. Savage.

"Not in the slightest," was the reply. "Mr. Neal's figures were correct."

Continuing his evidence Mr. Blake said that one thing in the investigation which kept puzzling him was what entries in certain tax rolls made with purple colored ink meant.

Previously it had been brought out that isolated entries in the 1946 and 1947 tax rolls had been made in purple ink when genuine entries were made with a different colored ink.

He said he had come to the conclusion that these entries in colored ink had not been recorded on the date stated but at some later date.

He noted that 35 such entries had been made in the 1946 roll, all having been dated December 30th or 31st.

With permission of the court the witness illustrated his testimony for the benefit of the jury by listing tax roll amounts in large numerals on a board. He showed that the 35 entries in colored ink in the 1946 roll totalled $1,966.86 and that 39 such entries in the 1947 roll totalled $1,398.90.

He noted that Mr. Shortt's audit for the year 1946 had shown tax collections of $66,899.78, while the total tax collections listed in the roll, including those in colored ink, had totalled $68,866.64.

THINKS ENTRIES MADE LATER

"I wondered how Mr. Shortt got a certain figure as the total of tax collected, while I got a larger figure, then I came to the conclusion the colored ink entries could not have been in the roll when Mr. Shortt made his audit," Mr. Blake said.

Taxpayers whose names appeared opposite the colored ink entries were checked and it was found these people had receipts for their taxes but the date on their receipts was later than the date of the entry in the tax roll.

"What conclusion did you arrive at?" asked the Crown.

"It was obvious then that the entries could not have been made at the time they were dated," was the reply.

Failure of Mr. Shortt to send out verification notices for arrears of taxes for past years, would, according to the witness, provide an opportunity for the collector to take what he liked without fear of detection.

It was stated also that Mr. Woods had kept all tax rolls in his possession and with no verification notices being sent out for past years Mr. Shortt would have an inadequate picture of the township finances.

WOODS KNEW ABOUT METHOD

Asked if Mr. Woods was aware of the procedure being followed by Mr. Shortt as auditor, the witness stated he had asked Mr. Woods this question and was told by him in the presence of a witness that Mr. Shortt sent out verification notices for the current year only.

"What would that enable Mr. Woods to do?" asked Mr. Savage.

"If you know that no one is checking up on what you are doing it gives you a pretty free hand," was the reply.

"Assuming that the shortage was growing year by year, should the treasurer or some other township official have discovered it?"

"If the tax rolls had been turned over each April as is required, the shortage would have been discovered," was the reply. "He would have noticed certain accounts to be shown unpaid and, realizing the large amount of unpaid taxes, would have investigated."

Referring to the amount of $11,087.46 which had been credited twice to the tax collector in the 1949 auditor's statement, Mr. Blake said when he found this he understood how there could be a shortage without it being realized by council.

COULD FILL IN TAXES

"Then having been cleared by the audit for $11,000, if he desired to do so Mr. Woods could now go back and fill in on the tax rolls for taxes collected but not reported?" asked Mr. Savage.

"Yes," was the reply.

Tax receipts previously entered as exhibits were examined by Mr. Blake. The receipts were for payment of tax arrears, the date of the receipt being for a later date than the corresponding entry in the tax roll.

It was shown that the color of ink used in the irregular tax roll entries was the same as that used generally in the 1950 tax rolls.

Crown counsel brought up the question of licensing of municipal auditors. Mr. Blake said that licensing of municipal auditors was commenced in 1941 and all practising auditors were automatically given licences. He said that Mr. Shortt's licence had remained in effect until 1951 when it was refused.

"Why was it refused?"

"Because the department had decided that he was incompetent."

"What occurred then?"

"Mr. Shorrt protested and he was given the opportunity to write exams," the witness said.

FAILED TO PASS TEST

Mr. Blake added that Mr. Shortt had failed to pass the test.

Mr. Savage also asked regarding Mr. S. C. Gay who at one time had assisted Mr. Shortt with the Sidney township audit.

Mr. Blake answered that Mr. Gay had never been licensed after the time of Mr. Woods becoming tax collector. He had had a licence in 1945 but this had expired. Mr. Gay also had tried exams but had failed.

Mr. Savage referred to a question of Judge Smith who had asked a previous witness regarding the benefit of annual audits.

The witness replied that annual audits such as done by Mr. Shortt "were of very little use . . ."

"Then when Mr. Neal says they provided "false security" would you agree?"

"With respect to an audit by Mr. Shortt, yes."

"But that would not be true of an audit by a professional auditor?"

"That was proven by Mr. Neal when he uncovered the shortage," replied Mr. Blake.

EXPLAINS SURPLUS

Mr. Savage asked how there could be a shortage of $15,000, yet in 1952 the township have an accumulated surplus of about $23,000. "What is included in a surplus, does it mean actual money?" asked Mr. Savage.

"No," was the reply, "a surplus is an excess of assets over liabilities, and could include unpaid provincial subsidies and also taxes receivable."

"Was a $23,000 surplus large or small for Sidney township?" asked the Crown.

"Considering there was no reserve, I would consider this a small surplus."

During the afternoon session Mr. Blake produced records in connection with tax collections and deposits made by Mr. Woods for a nine-month period in 1952 when he was collecting arrears of taxes. He said that in this period Mr. Woods had collected $2,008.45 more than had been turned over to the treasurer.

He quoted Mr. Woods as saying in Jan. 1953, that he had no more township money to deposit.

Cross-examination by Mr. O'Flynn and re-examination by Mr. Savage took up the balance of the afternoon court session.

Mr. O'Flynn asked Mr. Blake if it had been necessary to bring out that Mr. Shortt had received very poor marks in his examination for a licence as a municipal auditor.

"I suggest that Mr. Shortt knew he would not pass so did not try," Mr. O'Flynn said.

Asked if Mr. Shortt's work as an auditor had not been accepted by the department, Mr. Blake said it had not been accepted as satisfactory.

COULD HAVE BEEN FOUND EARLIER

Mr. O'Flynn then asked if a competent auditor would have picked up the shortage. Mr. Blake said such an auditor would have discovered the shortage in 1947 and most certainly in 1949.

Mr. O'Flynn objected strongly to the introduction of tax stubs and receipts by the Crown tending to show a shortage of $2,000 in 1952, without the entire amount being supported by taxpayers' receipts.

"I want proof that the money was collected, I am not satisfied that tax stubs are proof of collection," he said.

Under re-examination by Mr. Savage, Mr. Blake said that the loss of $2,500 in year would not be felt greatly by the township.

Underwriters Receive Awards

The similarity between a good sales talk and a good speech was the basis of an address delivered by Arnold W. Froom, regional vice-president of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada, at a recent meeting of the Quinte Life Underwriters' Association.

Mr. Froom presented national quality awards to McKinley Rankin, Robert Gamble, J. Gordon Jeffery, Harold L. Carruthers, J. J. Hibbard, C. E. McColl, Ralph B. Morden, William A. Holway, Harry F. Brant, G. V. Weir, Stanley C. Wiggins and J. M. Caverly.

Francis B. Elliott, of Napanee, and Donald G. Williams of Belleville, have won quality awards each year since the inception of the awards in 1946 and this year will receive a special plaque in recognition of their achievement.

McKinley Rankin, newly-elected president of the Quinte Life Underwriters' Association, welcomed guests. Harold Carruthers, retiring president, introduced the speaker.

Harold Bateman Prominent City Official Dies of Heart Attack

Harold Douglas Bateman, clerk-comptroller of this city, died suddenly of a heart attack at his home, 236 George Street, shortly before six o'clock on Thursday. The news of his untimely death swept through the city and many expressions of sincere sympathy were heard for the bereaved family.

In the death of Harold Bateman the corporation has lost an outstanding official, whose worth was not only recognized by members of council, civic officials, but also by the province at large. He was thorough in his work, he was fair and impartial and had the faculty of smoothing the waters when discussion on civic issues became heated.

The late Mr. Bateman entered municipal life in the city when he was elected as alderman. In 1937 he resigned his seat to become assessor of the corporation and later was promoted to assessment commissioner. In 1940 the council of that time named Mr. Bateman as comptroller for the city and when Wilfred Holmes in 1953 retired as clerk, he was given the dual position of clerk-comptroller of the municipality, a position he has held since that time.

HEADED ASSOCIATION

While a member of the assessment office at the City Hall, Mr. Bateman helped to organize and set up the Association of Assessing Officers of Ontario in 1941 and passed through the various offices to become president of the Association. His work carried him further afield in this important work and he became a member of the National Association, which covers groups in the United States and Canada. At the time of his death he was preparing to go to Niagara Falls with the Assessment Commissioner, Leighton Thompson, for the annual convention for the province.

Mr. Bateman was an active and faithful member of Christ church. He had served as People's and Rector's Warden in various years and at his death was general chairman of the fund raising campaign for the church. He was always ready and willing to serve on any committee and took great pride in the progress of the congregation.

Fraternally he was actively associated with the Masonic Order being a life member of Moira Lodge, A.F. & A.M. No. 11, a life member of Moira Chapter No. 7 R.A.M. and a life member of King Baldwin Preceptory No. 6.

During World War One, Mr. Bateman enlisted in the 155th Battalion but through illness was unable to proceed overseas. Following the cessation of hostilities, he became a war accounting officer with Military District No. 3 at Kingston, but was discharged when he accepted the assistant vendor position, when the Liquor Control Board established a store in this city. On the death of the vendor, B. L. Hyman, he became the vendor until 1934. Shortly after leaving the position he became associated with the late Bert Docter in a general insurance business in the city later going to the City Hall, where he has been continuously employed.

OTHER OFFICES HELD

Mr. Bateman always found time for other activities being a member of the Hospital Board, a former director of the YMCA, and for many years was chairman of the Board of Health. In politics he was a staunch Conservative and was founder and organizer of the Young Conservative Club and served as president. He was a member of the Kiwanis Club, a member of the Belleville Club, an associate member of the Hastings and Prince Edward County Regiment Officers' Mess and a director of the advisory committee of the Belleville branch of the Victoria and Grey Trust Company.

Despite his many activities in the civic, social and business life of the city, Mr. Bateman was an ardent sportsman. He enjoyed baseball, hockey, hunting and angling, and could always be seen at a baseball or hockey game. For complete relaxation with his family and friends he thoroughly enjoyed his life at the camp at Bass Lake, a summer home that had been in the family for many years. A member of the Game and Hunt Club he took an active part in conservation work and was always willing to take time out of a busy life to assist sport and recreation in any way. During his years he served on the executives of baseball and hockey clubs and his advice was eagerly sought.

Mr. Bateman was born in Belleville, being the son of the late Robert and Blanche Bateman and has resided all of his life in this city. He was educated in the public and high schools of the city. He was well-known and highly respected in all walks of life and his sudden death will bring sincere regret to a wide circle of friends.

Surviving are his wife, the former Beryl Hendricks Trenton, one son, Douglas Hendricks Bateman, barrister in the city and one brother, Joseph Edgar Bateman, principal of Prince Charles' School.

Claims N.Y. State Has Right To Build New Power Plants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Robert Moses Thursday told Congress it has no authority to take from New York state its right to build new power plants at Niagara Falls.

Moses, head of the power authority of New York state, was testifying before the House of Representatives public works committee. It is considering whether public or private interests should construct and operate a new $400,000,000 power generating system at the falls.

"We are convinced that New York owns not only the bed of the Niagara river on this side of the border but also the water that passes over that bed," Moses said.

"We don't think Congress has any right to give away what New York owns."

INTO THE COURTS

To do so, he said, would "drive us into the courts and we have no doubts as to the outcome."

Moses said the only reason the bitter public vs. private power controversy is before Congress is because Congress, in a 1950 treaty with Canada, reserved the right to designate a licencee for the project.

"If that hadn't been made a part of the treaty," Moses told the committee, "we wouldn't be before you. We'd be before the Federal Power Commission."

"And, as long as this dispute over Niagara continues, Canada will get the benefit—by using the water allocated to New York under the treaty for power purposes."

HITS PRIVATE POWER

An army engineer testified Wednesday that the U.S. is losing $60,600,000 a year by failing to build the new power system.

Moses ripped into the private power companies that have had Niagara plants for more than 50 years. He said because of their operations "50 per cent of the beauty of Niagara Falls and its gorge have been destroyed."

And, should they be permitted to undertake the further development, Moses said, their "first consideration would be one of profit."

DISPUTE MIX METHOD

TORONTO (CP) — Work on a number of major Toronto building projects has been affected by a dispute involving changes in the method of mixing plaster. The work stoppage came to a head Tuesday when the plasterers union (AFL) called a general membership meeting. The plasterers objected to plans of certain contractors to have plaster mixed by machine rather than by hand.

Little Girl Dies After Operation

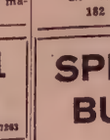
TORONTO (CP) — Loucinda Rowe, one of two babies who underwent rare heart operations in which their blood was passed through the lungs of a monkey, died today.

The 20-month-old Peterborough girl was operated on Wednesday by Dr. William T. Mustard, senior cardiology surgeon of the Hospital for Sick Children, assisted by Dr. John Keith and 20 others.

Hers was the third operation performed by the team. On May 26 Mona Parsons, 11 months, of Minto, N. B., underwent the second operation. A third little girl underwent the operation a week ago, but was so frail she did not survive.

The children's hearts were stopped for from 12 to 14 minutes while their blood was circulated by artificial methods through the lungs of a dead monkey.

With the blood by-passing the heart, the surgeon cut into the heart to repair defects in its interior.



MECHANICAL HEART USED

The use of the monkey's lungs is to supply oxygen to the child's blood during the operation. Without it she would die within a few minutes. A mechanical heart pump is used to keep the blood flowing evenly.

The operations were the first involving the lungs of a dead monkey attempted anywhere. Similar operations have been performed in the United States, using other media to supply oxygen and maintain blood circulation.

Previous methods show the chances of survival are about four in 10 if successful the operation means a normal life for the child instead of the probably early death from the heart defect.

Before her operation, Loucinda lost consciousness for six to eight hours each day.

Grade A hogs sold locally were 50 cents a hundredweight higher at $28.50. A few loads shipped off the market brought $28.75. Sows were $1 higher at $19 a hundredweight dressed, while stags continued unchanged at $14 dressed.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices were mixed to slightly lower in early afternoon trading at the stock market today.

Price changes were mostly less than a point as losses narrowly outnumbered gains in most sections.

Today's slight decline marked the end of an advance that carried through six straight sessions.

McIntyre eased ½ to 86½ in golds after its spectacular rise Thursday.

Papers, liquors and financial institutions showed the greatest relative strength among industrial components but most gains were under $1.

Anglo Canadian Pulp and Paper jumped 2¼ to a high of 46¼ for the biggest advance. International Paper edged up ½ to a high of 111 and Anglo Newfoundland gained ¾. Eddy fell $1 and Consolidated Paper ¼.

Aluminium dropped ⅝ to $101 after its recent sharp climbs and Ford A fell ⅝ to $121.

Steep Rock edged up ½ to 11⅞ after touching a high of 12 and Labrador gained ¾.

Algom went up ⅛ in a mixed uranium group. Bicroft gained 20 to ⅝ and Beaucage and Black Bay had smaller advances.

TRAFFIC TROUBLE IN TORONTO

Toronto traffic, which doesn't stop for very much these days, grinds to a halt here to allow a mother duck and her brood safe passage across busy Lake Shore Blvd. Mrs. Duck and her ducklings waddled across the thoroughfare after an afternoon at the beach with utter disdain for the heavy traffic.

Special Session Of Legislature Will Be Called

LINDSAY (CP)—Premier Frost said today he will call a one-day special session of the Ontario legislature as soon as possible to reconstitute select committees on toll roads, air pollution and car lien registrations.

The premier said it is unlikely the session will be held until after the last week in June but he does not intend to wait until fall.

The next big item on the premier's agenda is the fall federal-provincial conference at Ottawa.

He said the province wants to make an intelligent approach to health and hospital insurance at the conference. Other basic points to be brought up at the conference would be fiscal arrangements between Ottawa and the province, farm marketing and unemployment.

NOT CONSIDERED

The premier said he has not given consideration to any changes in his cabinet. It was reported in Toronto that W. E. Hamilton, a minister without portfolio in the previous government who was defeated in Thursday's election, will continue as an Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission member.

Mr. Hamilton, recently appointed to the commission, was defeated in Wellington South by Mayor Harry A. Worton of Guelph, the Liberal candidate.

Continue Hunt For Two Bandits In London Area

LONDON, Ont. (CP) — Police roadblocks were abandoned but the hunt continued today for two bandits, one armed with a revolver, who Thursday robbed a branch of the Toronto - Dominion Bank of $2,000.

The two entered the bank half an hour after opening time, ordered the bank manager and his staff to lie on the floor and scooped the bills from the cashier's till. A time lock foiled their attempts to open the safe.

The robbers escaped by automobile, possibly in a post-war model dark green Ford, police said.

One man was described as about 26 years old, five feet, 11 inches tall and weighing about 155 pounds. He had dark brown hair, dark complexion and was clean shaven. He wore a dark blue shirt and was in shirt sleeves. There was no description of the second man.

Discovers Way To Vaccinate Without Shrieks

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Vaccinations moved along smoothly and quietly Thursday as first- and second - graders received polio-prevention shots.

Not a youngster shrieked at the prick of the needle, and shrieks have been almost a standard accompaniment at many similar mass inoculations.

A woman volunteer worker had found the silencer. As each youngster stepped up for the injection, she directed:

"Just open your mouth—wide."

Result: The kids gulped, silently, at the touch of the needle.

ATOM SMASHER NEARS COMPLETION IN U.S.

The world's most powerful straight-line atom smasher is nearing completion at the University of Minnesota in Minneapolis. The actual atom-smasher is the long tube that runs through the centre of the picture, which is four feet in diameter and 100 feet long. It was built with a U.S. Atomic Energy commission grant of $1,800,000. Ions, travelling through a line of copper sleeves suspended in the centre of the barrel, will be accelerated by millions of electron volts. After passing through the final stage of the tube, the ions will emerge from a muzzle blast into targets of nuclei at a speed of about 60,000 miles per second.

Peeved Penguins Bite All Hands On Reaching U.S.

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—Six disgruntled penguins, shipped from Lima, Peru, arrived Thursday for the local zoo and promptly started biting hands.

Apparently miffed at a delay that kept them in Mexico City three weeks while congressional interveners persuaded an airline to bring them to Fort Worth without escort, the birds were in a surly mood.

Among those pecked were a zoo curator, a park board official, an airline hostess, and Ed Willems, Chicago, representative of the firm which donated the birds to the zoo.

Ontario Indians Give Liberals, PCs Even Split

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's Indians, voting Thursday for the first time in a provincial election, were about evenly split in support of Liberal and Progressive Conservative candidates. They gave CCF campaigners little support.

In Brant riding, where the council of hereditary chiefs asked the Indians not to vote, 223 of 1,532 eligible Indians cast ballots. They voted Progressive Conservative 95, Liberal 113 and CCF, 15.

About 100 Mohawk Indians staged a demonstration at Cornwall island reserve. None of the 206 eligible Indian voters went to the poll.

Indians on Tyendinaga reserve in Hastings East riding near Belleville registered nearly a 50 per cent vote, with 201 of 454 eligible ballots cast. They voted Progressive Conservative 111, Liberal 88, and CCF, 2.

Thirty-six of 64 eligible Indian voters on the Naughton reserve near Sudbury voted, 30 for Progressive Conservatives, four Independent and two Liberal.

In Algoma-Manitoulin, one subdivision was almost 100 per cent Liberal and in only one did the Progressive Conservatives receive a majority—of two.

VOTES SPLIT

Members of the two reserves in Lambton West riding near Sarnia gave the Progressive Conservative candidate a slight edge. On the Sarnia reserve 76 voted PC, 73 Liberal and 73 CCF while on the Walpole island reserve 85 voted PC, 38 Liberal and 6 CCF.

Another split was recorded in Lambton East where Indians from the Kettle Point reserve voted 68 PC and 68 Liberal.

In Parry Sound riding the one exclusively Indian subdivision gave the Liberal candidates 16 votes, the Progressive Conservatives 53 and the CCF 7.

National Ballet Of Canada Wins Praise in U.S.

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)— Washington drama critics have given high praise to the National Ballet of Canada for a polished and effortless performance which opened a 10-day stand Thursday night in the United States capital's Carter Barron Amphitheatre.

Their columns echo the applause of a warmly enthusiastic audience, replete with figures from Congress, the government and the diplomatic corps, who greeted the youthful Canadian company on its first visit here. The performance marked the start of the summer season in the big open-air theatre.

The group—its 34 performers average 19 years of age and are drawn from across Canada—peppered its opening program with two light pieces by Antony Tudor—his "Gala Performance" and "Offenbach in the Underworld"—and seasoned it with "Pas de Trois" from "The Sleeping Princess." The fourth number was Tudor's contemporary classic, "Lilac Garden."

LAST VETERAN "JUST FINE"

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Albert Woolson, last northern Army veteran of the American Civil War, returned home Thursday after being in hospital 10 days with a lung congestion. The 108-year-old veteran, apparently recovered after the third such attack this year, reported he feit "just as fine as ever."

Howe Says Red Acquisition Of H-Bomb Worsens World

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Production Minister Howe says Russian acquisition of the hydrogen bomb has made world conditions more—not less—serious than in 1951 when the Korean War brought enactment of Canada's Production Act.

The minister's statement came Thursday as an interjection in one of a series of Commons speeches by Progressive Conservatives attacking a government bill to extend indefinitely the broad powers under the act.

The act, passed during a crisis period in the Korean fighting, was set to expire July 31, 1956.

Douglas Harkness (PC—Calgary North) asked whether the present emergency is worse.

"It certainly is," Mr. Howe shot back. ". . . They (the Russians) didn't have any hydrogen bombs in 1951."

Mr. Harkness, arguing for the setting of a new expiry date on the act, said conditions are not nearly so acute now as in 1951 when the government saw fit to put a time limit on Mr. Howe's powers to procure defence supplies.

"You wouldn't say that if they dropped the first H-bomb," Mr. Howe said.

Mr. Harkness said the minister's argument is "a complete bogeyman." If H-bombs were dropped "it wouldn't matter one iota whether the minister has these powers."

The interchange was one of few sparks thrown off as a drawn-out debate on the bill continued through its third day. The debate was to be set aside today, the house turning to study of a measure on unemployment insurance.

At one point Thursday night Speaker Rene Beaudoin called one member, Walter Dinsdale (PC—Brandon-Souris) to order for violating a rule against repetitive argument. He said a remark by Mr. Dinsdale—that Prime Minister St. Laurent as sponsor of the bill had not spoken in the debate—was the fifth time at least that that argument had been made.

Mr. Harkness, Mr. Dinsdale and other Conservative members reiterated their party's main criticism: That the bill provides for continuation of dictatorial powers with no limit.

Rev. E. G. Hansell (SC—Macleod) said concentration of power in one man, written into the law forever, is "a wrong and evil thing."

Both Conservative and Social Credit members have said they are not opposed to permanent establishment of the defence production department itself. Their reservations on the minister's powers have not been echoed by the CCF party, which will support the measure.

PITCHES PERFECT GAME

HAMILTON (CP)—Gary Geiger, 18-year-old native of Gorham, Ill., pitched a no-hit, no-run game in the Pony Baseball League Thursday night.

Geiger, Hamilton Red Wing right-hander, struck out seven men as Hamilton defeated Erie Senators 5-0. Geiger walked six Senators but two of these passes were intentional. In the ninth, he walked two batters intentionally and then struck out Ken McClamrock, a pinch-hitter.

Geiger's teammates appeared a bit shaky as they made three errors. But they made up for the errors by collecting 11 hits for their five runs.

A DECISIVE VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Governments have been re-elected before. In fact, in Canada in recent years, re-election has become the rule rather than the exception. But it remained for Leslie Frost to write something of a record into Canadian political history, fathering twin landslides.

When the Progressive Conservatives were returned to power in November of 1951, Premier Frost led them into the Ontario Legislature with a majority of 68. Counting James Dempsey, who ran as an independent Progressive Conservative in Renfrew South, as a supporter of the government, the government, with 84 seats, has increased its majority.

The performance of the government since the 1951 election led the great majority of Ontario residents to anticipate the party's return to power in Thursday's election. But probably few of even the most enthusiastic supporters of the party had anticipated that Premier Frost would be able to match his record-breaking success of four years ago.

Opposition parties had not been idle. Both the Liberals and the CCF were under new management.

The Liberals had replaced Walter C. Thomson with an experienced and articulate leader in Farquhar Oliver. The CCF had substituted a youthful teacher and organizer, Donald C. MacDonald, for their scholarly lawyer, E. B. Joliffe, who was hardly the type one might expect to arouse enthusiasm amongst the ranks of organized labor.

The Liberal debacle of 1951 had been blamed by many Liberals on the extravagant promises of Mr. Thomson and the excessively flamboyant support, in news pages as well as in editorials, accorded Mr. Thomson by a Toronto paper.

This election Mr. Oliver was the leader and his press supporter was no more than normally outspoken in his support. It made little difference.

The CCF elected only two members in 1951. Its decline had been generally ascribed to disillusionment with socialistic policies following difficulties experienced by parties with similar policies in other lands, notably Great Britain and New Zealand. But the increase in unemployment during this past winter had been expected by some to result in a revival of CCF strength in the Toronto ridings, the Yorks and in some other industrial areas.

Yesterday's results reveal little, if any, indication that unemployment played an important part in the voting.

Besides a chahge in leaderships, the Opposition in this election also had the advantage of the situation resulting from the discovery of irregularities in some highway contracts. Every effort was made by both Liberal and CCF speakers to play up these irregularities as a first class scandal. There were questions about what had happened to $27,000,000, said to be the amount by which payments for highways exceeded the contract figures. By their votes, the majority of Ontario residents showed that they clearly recognized the difference between an "overrun," a payment in excess of the estimated cost because the amount of work required on the highway was larger than had been expected, and "overpayments" or money paid out without extra work being done. "Overruns" were numerous and large, but they indicate only faulty engineering estimates, and the system has been altered in an effort to eliminate them. "Overpayments" discovered were few and they had resulted in the prosecution and punishment of the individuals and firms responsible.

One of the highlights of the voting, a result which will be received with general satisfaction by the vast majority of Ontario residents, was the defeat in the riding of Toronto St. Andrew of J. B. Salsberg, the veteran Labor-Progressive member. Following on the defeat in the 1951 election of A. A. McLeod in the riding of Toronto Bellwoods, this cleans the Communists out of the Ontario Legislature.

If there is one reason for dissatisfaction with the result, it is that it was impossible for the residents of Ontario to give Premier Leslie Frost and his government a resounding vote of confidence without, at the same time, leaving the Opposition too weak to be truly effective. Mr. Oliver and Mr. MacDonald, who won personal victories in spite of the defeat of their parties, have a heavy burden of responsibility during the life of the new legislature. They will have to endeavor to make up by hard work and diligent study for what they lack in the number of supporters. It behooves the Progressive Conservatives, too, to realize that, with such an out-numbered opposition, the best interests of the people will be served if the governing party takes over some of the duties normally performed by the Opposition and gives all proposed legislation a doubly careful scrutiny.

CALIFORNIA LUXURIES

The California legislature has ruled that TV sets are "necessities," which can not be attached by creditors in bankruptcy actions.

This should not be an undue hardship on California's creditors. There are so many other things which are obviously luxuries in that state and which can therefore be attached. First thought suggests a partial list including rubbers, raincoats, vitamin pills and one's present wife or husband. Some of these articles are never needed in a land of perpetual sunshine, while others are constantly being discarded for later models.

COLOR STYLING

Since Betsy Ross our first flag made
With thirteen stars on a field displayed,
Our banner's been known when it comes in view
As the glorious old red, white and blue.
Three simple colors we proudly praise,
But they wouldn't be so in these modern days.

If you asked in a store for something red,
The clerk would say with a shaking head:
Red cannot be purchased at any price,
But in 'sunset red' we have something nice.
For our flag, you say? Well, you'll find just right
A wonderful fabric in 'egg-shell white.'

"For the blue you'll need, we've a deeper hue.
Let me show you our beautiful 'charcoal blue'."
You long for the colors plain and old
But nowhere today they are being sold.
Though you think each one of them looks the same,
The stylists have thought up a fancier name.

Letter to the Editor

Gas Pipeline Is Seen Of Vital Importance

Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,
Dear Sir:

Your recent editorial, on various aspects of the proposed natural gas pipeline from our prairie gas fields to eastern Canada, appealed to this rural Canadian as being alike economically and socially constructive.

I was especially struck by the logic in that closing paragraph which ran thus: "As for the question of whether the pipeline should be built partly through the U. S. by private capital or wholly through Canada with government assistance, that is another matter. There is, however, no good reason why a foreign - owned oil company should be permitted to assume the role of dictator. If it is decided that the all-Canadian route is preferable, the Federal Government will not lack widespread public support, from Canadians of all political faiths, for any legislative action it takes to compel companies owning gas-producing wells to supply the pipeline firm with this gas".

That looks sound and fair to me, Mr. Editor. It also brought to the reader's mind not only the original railway battle, which finally tied the ocean ports of this wide land together; and, denied which, we could never have become a national unit; but, also, the twin facts (a) that we must credit the much-maligned Crowsnest Pass Agreement freight rates with opening the grain markets around the seven seas to our prairie growers who otherwise, would be fenced-in at the heart of this Continent; and (b) that our great and good neighbor to the south did not become populous, powerful and prosperous by sending its natural wealth resources streaming through pipelines beyond their home boundaries!

In closing, may I express one Canadian's thought concerning the above nation-wide development and others (like the Saskatchewan River plan, for example) of vital importance to our future economic health; namely, that in these massive 5-year enterprises there is a time element which our leaders should not overlook. At my grassroots level, somehow the situation is also reminiscent of the dynamic challenge of one of the statements, back in the early and grim days of 1940-41 in rallying the free men and women around the earth: "There is not a week, nor a day, nor an hour to be lost!" (Churchill).

"Greengages"

Manchester's Magic Carpets

(Montreal Gazette)

The paradox of "carrying coals to Newcastle" has lost its point during the postwar era. More than once, Britain, the world's great exporter, has been forced to import coal to meet her own needs.

Now Manchester seems about to explode another tradition. A Merchant announces he has landed a big contract for carpets. Where is he selling them? Persia

The Manchester contract will hardly dent the Persian legend, however. There is much more to it than that. It is most unlikely that Manchester will ever produce either an Ali Baba or an Omar Khayam. And how would the world greet "A Thousand and One Nights —in Manchester?"

The Manchester merchant's carpets are undoubtedly up to high British standards or they wouldn't be accepted in Persia. But they'll never really compete with the home product.

For one thing, they don't fly.

Statistics Are Helpful

(Hamilton Spectator)

There is a class of person—and we confess to belonging to it—that takes peculiar delight in statistics. We do not mean their scientific study, for that is a serious profession, but such morsels of numerical fact as how many cigarets were smoked in El Salvador in 1918, and how many telegrams were dispatched from Mozambique in 1929; both handy things to know—they could come in useful any day.

There is a lot of knowledge about these days—far too much, some people think—and one never knows when a statistic will be needed to rescue one from an embarrassing situation. It is important to have a reserve of capsule knowledge in an age when ten-year-old boys can lucidly explain the principles of jet propulsion and add a few pithy remarks on aerodynamics. A man educated in less advanced times feels a bit of a fool if he can't bring the conversation round, say, to housing units and mention that there were 244,742 in Paraguay in 1950.

If he adds casually that 51.8 per cent of these housing units had running water and 9.7 per cent electricity, his intellectual victory is certain to be complete. This is the remarkable thing about statistics—they invest a person with an authority that is out of all proportion, perhaps, to his merits. Furthermore, they are hard to contradict, without a lot of trouble, to which people will not go these days. If a man asserts (and one "asserts" statistics, one does not "give" them) that 84,000 metric tons of goods were unloaded in the French Cameroons in 1937, who will question him? Perhaps nobody; the victory will be his completely.

Should a misguided soul go to the trouble of finding out that it is incorrect and that the proper figure is 73,000 metric tons, the statistician can slip out of it by remarking in an off-hand manner, "I must have been thinking of French Somaliland." Surely, no one but a fool would go to the trouble of finding out whether he was right or wrong in the second case, so, in the end, the statistician is left with his aura of superiority.

You can't argue with an amateur statistician, not with any hope of victory. They are always in the right. Perhaps that is why we have a sneaking liking for statistics.

Curing Scots Of Late Hours

(Philadelphia Bulletin)

One of the reasons street-car companies lose money, they say, is the fact that they have to maintain all-night owl service for only a few passeengers. Reports have it that Glasgow's trams charge double fare after midnight a rate that still makes them lots cheaper than taxis. Once the thrifty Scots catch on, the tramways expect a terrific rush around 11:30 p.m., after which no owl service will be needed. Hoot, mon, it's as good as a curfew, and no steam wasted on a whistle, God forbid.

Find Octopus In All Climes

(Natural History Magazine)

Take nourishing salt water foaming against a gravelly beach studded with boulders. Choose a spot sheltered from vigorous wave action. And no matter what the latitude, you have octopus habitat. For this legendary, unusual animal inhabits every ocean of the world.

No creature could be called more spinless than the octopus—he hasn't a bone in his body—yet he has the respect of sea creatures equipped with heavy armor and of cold blooded animals with backbones.

He is a shellfish without the shell, but he has evolved into a nimble predator of which his molluscan progenitors could be proud. Among the standard equipment found on every octopus are such features as powerful suction cups on eight arms, built-in jet propulsion, well developed eyes that open and close, an ever ready smoke screen and semi-automatic color change—faster than that of any other animal.

Along the coasts of the United States, the octopus population is near the saturation point, because he is rarely hunted for food here. But the early Greeks and Romans thought him a credit to a well balanced meal; indeed, he was ranked with the finest foods of the sea and was hunted vigorously.

In the Orient, he is considered a delicacy and is trapped and speared. In the Mediterranean, the Philippines, Japan and Alaska, he is taken for food in considerable abundance. Strangers to the octopus often feel that he would not add beauty to the table, but actually he is not much worse looking than a crab or a lobster, and need not be served entire. The meat itself is firm, pure white and of a mild, delicate flavor.

Even if Americans should ever go wild over the new taste thrill of octopus, there is little danger of exterminating the creatures. Octopuses have been found scattered from the surface and tidelands to a depth of 1,875 fathoms, and one authority includes 140 species in the sub-order octopoda. Most are coastal in habit.

Jail Parents Of Culprits

(Ottawa Citizen)

A new phase in the struggle against juvenile delinquency has opened in Louisville, Kentucky, where two mothers and a father of young offenders spent five hours in jail. If more widely adopted, this tactic might achieve unexpectedly good results. For undoubtedly fewer adolescents would get into trouble if more parents were doing their duty by them.

The Louisville parents had been warned several times about the misdeeds of their offspring, but had apparently taken no heed. The last straw was piled on the back of the patient authority when the boys were involved in a traffic accident at 3 a.m. To the police, it seemed like a case of parental rather than juvenile delinquency.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

RESOLUTIONS

I am not much for making idle resolutions, like so many do at the beginning of the New Year. Every day should be considered a new year, and one well in order for any good resolution. In fact a resolution a day would be a wonderful thing!

I came across this line from the writings of John Burroughs, the noted naturalist. He said: "Nothing relieves and ventilates the mind like a resolution." I experienced this when I gave up all smoking over a year ago. People have asked me if it was difficult to do and my reply has been—no! Getting down to the resolution itself is the most difficult—the rest is easy.

So many people find it difficult to do things they know they should do. Over and over again I have heard a person say: "I try so hard but it just does not work." I always say to such a one: Don't try —just do it!" If it's a habit, then an unharmful replacement for the harmful one would soon bring about a happier state of mind.

I dare say that nearly every day most of us are faced with decisions —and a resolute mind is the best friend to have. That mind is aired out and newly ventilated, as Burroughs has so well stated it can be, by firm resolutions.

We would gain much—and lose nothing—by exercising our convictions from day to day, so that when quick and important resolutions arise we may be ready to respond without doubt and confusion. How much happier we all would be, and how much better prepared to take hold, resolutely, of every human demand.

Success and happiness are both matters largely of our own choice. Ed Howe, the noted Kansas philosopher, once wrote a little book which he called "Success Is Easier Than Failure." It is! You have more on your side!

Land Awaits Plow

(Timmins Press)

All too few people are aware of the vast potential resources for agriculture which are to be found in the clay belts of the north. In the little clay belt, around Matheson and New Liskeard, there are over 1,000,000 acres waiting for the plow. In the great areas, there are 16,000,000 acres of land capable of making productive farms, all untouched, all ready for use.

Cost of TV

(Milwaukee Journal)

Some of the enthusiasm for noncommercial educational television will be chilled by results of pioneering efforts at Michigan State College. Michigan State has certainly tried hard to give its broadcasts educational value and appeal, but President Hannah says now that the costs are running almost $1,000 a day and "hardly anyone is looking at us."

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

160,000 Unnecessary Tonsillectomies

Medical or health authorities (of whom I am not one) estimated fifteen years ago that 1,335,000 a year were "performed" in the United States.

Drs. Hansel and Chang estimated (Archives of Otolaryngology, Jan. '40) that 160,000 of the annual one and a quarter million tonsillectomies were unnecessary. They believed that, in the absence of hay fever and asthma, nasal allergy and allergic bronchitis frequently eluded diagnosis and that tonsillectomy was often recommended because some smart aleck, tonsil snatchers. I'm merely trying to teach people the truth, as told by recognized medical authorities. I do hope neither Dr. Hansel nor Dr. Chang has changed his mind about it in the intervening years, as a Birmingham health authority did about rabies after he had concluded that "rabies is primarily a veterinary problem. Regardless of its prevalence among dogs it will probably never cause sufficient morbidity or mortality among human beings in this region" (the rabies capital of North America) "to allow its classification as a public health problem of importance." The Birmingham man later had dog catching made the prerogative of the county health department. The U.S. Public Health Service likes it that way, and you know the federal boys have something to say about the allocation of federal funds to local health departments.

Back in the halcyon days of health columning medical colleagues who knew I wasn't using my newspaper publicity to attract patients, as some columnists do, used to tell me they envied me the privilege of speaking out . . . well, this may have pleased some readers but it has made few friends in the medical and dental professions.

About the allergic manifestations which are so often mistaken for "repeated colds," "sinus trouble", "bronchial trouble" and "infected tonsils", demonstration of eosinophils in the nasal secretion indicates that the trouble is allergic and not infectious, according to these authorities. Eosinophils are cells similar to or identical with white blood corpuscles, which take a red stain (eosin) in the microscopic specimen.

Although I know precious little about allergy, a good many victims of the hypersensitivity found the remedies I recommend for prevention and relief highly satisfactory.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

HEROISM AT THE RUSH HOUR

A few months ago a woman rushing for a subway train slipped and fell, and her leg became wedged between the edge of the platform and the car. A hero appeared at that moment, not on a white charger or with any of the dramatic accompaniments of great rescuer, but in the form of a sensible middle-aged chap who knew what to do in a time of crisis and how to get people to co-operate.

As if he had thought it all out in advance, he held open the door so the train would not start and told half the people on the way in the car and throw all their weight on the side opposite that on which the woman was pinned. He then used as many people as could get their hands on the side of the car to shove it away from the platform. They were able to move it only a fraction of an inch, but this was enough to free the woman.

There were 50 to 100 people almost entirely unacquainted with one another who got together heroically in a time of crisis. Here was a prosaic individual who used keen observation and the sense of God gave him to perform a rescue worthy of a decoration. Poetry stalks our streets, heroism rubs elbows with us every day, greatness abides in little people.

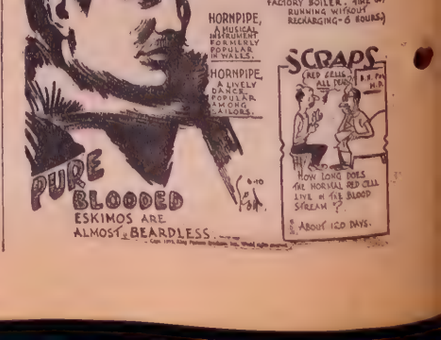
THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The most dishonest man I have met in my life had the most open, honest, straightforward gaze I ever saw in the human eye. He prided himself on his ability to look everyone in the eye, and rather fancied himself at staring other people down. Yet he was as crooked as a dog's hind leg.

A great many people find difficulty in looking others in the eye. Indeed, some of the most honest people, through shyness or timidity, give the impression of shiftiness because of their unwillingness to meet others' eyes. Some years ago, The Packsack gave a hint to people who face a gimlet-eyed person who has the habit of staring fiercely, do not lower your eyes. Simply focus your eyes on the bridge of the nose of the fierce-eyed one. It is a trick easily learned. When the boss calls you in and glares accusingly at you, do not flinch. Simply fix your gaze on the bridge of his nose between his eyes, hold them there, and answer his questions calmly. In a moment, indeed in a few seconds, you will observe the masterful airs of the boss start to wobble and weaken. He thinks of course, you are meeting his eyes. And in your eyes, strangely enough, he sees something he can't meet. He can't meet them, because you are not really meeting his. But he thinks you are. A vice-president of a bank tells me he employs this bridge of the nose technique with all big businessmen with whom he is discussing large financial transactions. He thus avoids being hypnotized.

There is another little trick The Packsack would now like to divulge. When you see people staring at you, say on the train, or in a restaurant, or in any other gathering where you cannot easily escape this attention, do not struggle to evade their stares. Just centre your attention on a point about one foot to either side of the starer, as if you were looking at something there. Then harden your eyes, and adopt a cold, intimidating expression such as Marlon Brando uses. This will startle and intimidate the the other and he will look away, glad he is not the object of your malign gaze.



Often the person you so treat will turn out to be your wife's uncle or your cousin Tilly, whom you haven't seen in years, and who is merely trying to catch your eye and be recognized.

City of Tomorrow

(Philadelphia Bulletin)

Mass evacuation of cities for civilian defence may not be an issue a few years from now. The way things are going, American cities will soon consist of nothing but parking lots, throughways, expressways, clover leafs and long concrete bridge approaches.

Voting Not Over In Kenora Riding

KENORA (CP) — Re-election of Albert Wren, Liberal-Labor candidate in Thursday's Ontario election, was reported Thursday night despite an incomplete vote.

Poor flying weather held up planes carrying ballot boxes to five isolated Indian reserves and voting continues at these polls today.

But on the basis of unofficial figures from political sources election of Mr. Wren was reported. These, for 91 of 153 polls, gave him 3,53 votes to 3,466 for Joseph Fregeau, Progressive Conservative, and 1,391 for William Carter, CCF.

There were no official figures. Clifford Hargrave of Kenora, returning officer, said he had received instructions from election headquarters at Toronto to withhold all results until the Indian reserve polls were open 11 full hours

Hamilton Drubs Petes 13-10

HAMILTON (CP) — A five-goal drive by Jack Dorney in the second period gave Hamilton Lincolns their margin of victory in a bruising 13-10 win over Peterborough Trailermen in a senior Ontario Lacrosse Association tilt here Thursday night.

Dorney counted for six Hamilton goals. Other Hamilton scorers were Meeke, two; Kapasky, Barregher, Doyle, Harte and Brown, one each.

High scorer for the Peterborough team was Allen Hildebrand who counted for three goals. Wipper and Mason with two apiece and Heffernan with one were the other Peterborough marksmen.

Peter Thomson Paces Aussie Team, Leads International Golf Tourney

WASHINGTON (CP) — A lone Australian conquered par Thursday as 50 golfers floundered through the wind and drizzle in the first round of the $150,000 International golf championships.

British Open champion Peter Thomson toured the par-70 course in a sparkling 67 to take a three-stroke lead in the individual standings and give Australia's defending champions a five-stroke margin over the United States in the Canada Cup competition with a combined total of 139 on Kel Nagle's 72.

Chick Harbert's par 70 and Ed Furgol's 73 made up the American total.

CANADA 13TH

Canada's entry of Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon and Stan Leonard of Vancouver was tied with three other teams for 13th place, Fletcher supplying a 74 and Leonard a 75 for a 149 total.

Tied with Harbert for second place at 70 in the individual scores were Roberto de Vicenzo of Argentina, Flory Van Donck of Belgium and Celestino Tugot of the Philipoines. There were three 71s and three 72s as tricky cross-winds played havoc with the field.

In third place in the team standings, tied at 14, were Belgium, Italy and Argentina. Scotland was alone in sixth place at 145, followed by Germany, France and the Philippines at 146, England and Ireland at 147 and Japan at 148. Colombia, New Zealand and Chile were tied with Canada at 149.

Three more 18-hole rounds will decide the team championship.

German House Spurns Bill For Recruiting

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Bundesrat (upper house) today spurned a bill for recruiting volunteers to serve in the German army. It sent the bill back to the government with a demand for clarification of policy on rearmament legislation and the legal basis for it.

The action threatened to wreck the Adenauer cabinet's plan for getting German soldiers quickly clined to take a stand on the measure because, members said, it was "unclear on a number of basic questions" connected with putting Germans into uniform.

The house action was unanimous, despite the fact that the Adenauer government has a two-thirds majority.

The 250-word bill provides temporary status of civil servants for the first volunteers for the German forces. The government intended it should eventually be replaced by permanent regulations laying down conditions of service for future soldiers.

The government aim was to push through temporary legislation that would authorize the call-up of the first 10,000 volunteers to begin training this autumn. Permanent legislation consists of some 20 complicated laws and will take months to get through parliament.

Two Children's Lives Are Saved By New Method

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says operations, performed here during the last two weeks for the first time anywhere, saved the lives of two children.

The newspaper, in a copyrighted story by Ken W. MacTaggart, says the operations were performed by Dr. William T. Mustard, senior cardiology surgeon at the Hospital for Sick Children.

The operations, during which their blood was circulated by artificial methods through a dead monkey's lungs, were performed on 11-months-old Mona Parsons, of Minto, N.B., on May 26, and on Loucinda Rowe, Peterborough, 20 months, Wednesday night.

Mona, previously expected to live for about a month, was reported Thursday night to be making continued improvement, the story says.

Doctors said Loucinda, who lost consciousness for from six to eight hours each day prior to the operation, also appeared to be recovering.

SURVIVAL CHANCES

In similar operations, performed at University of Minnesota, a dog's lungs were used and it was estimated the chance of survival was four in 10 cases, the newspaper says.

In a third operation by Dr. Mustard the little patient, who had undergone previous operations, died.

During the operation, Dr. Mustard, assisted by Dr. John Keigh, and 20 other persons, opens the chest and cuts the arteries carrying blood to and from the heart. The blood is diverted into a mechanical heart. It then is pumped through tubes into flasks in which a monkey's lungs are suspended in a carefully - computed atmosphere of oxygen and nitrogen. The lung functions exactly as the child's lung, oxygenating the blood as it passes through, back to the child's body.

Meanwhile, with the heart inactive, the surgeon repairs the damaged orfaulty heart. The heart remains inactive for from 12 to 14 minutes.

PRESIDENT GETS SMALL PLANE FOR SHORT HOPS

A sentry guards the four-seat plane in which President Eisenhower will fly from Washington to his farm in Gettysburg, Pa., 80 miles distant. The chief executive will use the small craft from time to time so he can avoid heavy traffic and also cut down time of the trip from two hours by auto to 30 minutes by air. Col. William Draper, the president's aide, will pilot the plane. A second pilot and a member of the secret service will accompany them. (Central Press Canadian).

Hollis Beckett's Margin Biggest

TORONTO (CP)—Hollis Beckett, Progressive Conservative candidate in York East, chalked up the biggest personal plurality in Thursday's Ontario election.

With the complete vote tabulated in the populous Toronto suburb Mr. Beckett had an edge of 7,791 over his Liberal opponent with the CCF candidate a close third.

Premier Frost ranked behind Mr. Beckett with a lead of 6,877 over his closest opponent in Victoria on incomplete returns. His margin compared with 9,512 in the 1951 election, the drop reflecting a general trend toward closer races than in the last vote.

Sixteen members—14 Progressive Conservatives and two Liberals—were re-elected with substantially increased majorities. The Liberals were veteran Harry C. Nixon, who has represented Brant since 1919, and party leader Farquhar Oliver, who has been returned in Grey South since 1926.

Troy, Ohio, School Choir Delights Local Audience

By EUGENE LANG

The city of Troy, Ohio, was put on the map as far as music was concerned before a local audience who heard "The Trojanaires" last evening in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The Trojanaires is a group of 34 teen-age girls and boys, at present making its second annual spring tour through Southern Ontario towns and cities, singing its way into the hearts of all who hear it. Out of 105 high school students who belong to an a cappella choir in Troy, these 34 have been carefully weeded out and selected for their vocal ability by their director and leader, Mr. Charles E. West, who is the supervisor of music in the public schools in this Ohio city of 12,000 population.

They are at present travelling through Ontario by bus, giving concerts mainly in churches and before service club organizations, paying their own respective ways as they go, simply because they love music and enjoy singing whenever they get the opportunity to do so. Last evening's performance by this gifted young choir proved its worth as regards versatility, capability and desirability to please its listeners.

Their chosen selections tended toward the religious and serious, with a few lighter numbers interspersed here and there. The familiar Silesian hymn "Beautiful Saviour" that opened the recital showed an all rounded wholesomeness in the full tones of its phrasing. The age old "Battle Hymn of the Republic" was sung with power and composity as the choir chanted its theme solemnly, finishing off with the congregation joining in the final stanza with gusto and relish (audience participation like this does lend for more informality and better listener approval).

THREE FINE SOLOISTS

The three soloists who sang (Eileen Scheckelhoff, Colin Wilson and Alfred Hart) gave a fine account of their voices in their individual offerings. The lovely and melodious duet "Sympathy," from Rudolph Friml's "Firefly," was woven fluently and endearingly contrived in the combined voices of Tana Sue Baldwin and Bruce Scranton. Miss Baldwin has a pearly tone of great clarity that offset Mr. Scranton's fine tenor with even balance.

In the lighter numbers the choir infused into its renditions a combination of humor and infectiousness in its projections of such selections as "Johnny Schmoker" (an 'Old MacDonald had a Farm" type of tune.) "The Modern Choir" (a take-off on the hazards and trials that a conductor has to endure with in training a choir) and "Simon the Fisherman" (a comic narrative spoken by four male voices against a soft choral background.) An 8-piece female group lifted from the main body of the ensemble was well received in its softly modulated versions of "A Night Has a Thousand Eyes."

GIFTED ACCOMPANIST

As a concluding number the familiar "Russia Picnic" was boisterously bounced around by the entire choir against a difficult piano accompaniment, played grandiosely by Libby Strock at the keyboard. Although the majority of the works sung were a cappella, wherever accompaniments were needed, Miss Strock came through admirably with controlled and sensitive pianisms.

The choir as a whole demonstrated its prowess in every offering sung, and even in some of the eight-part numbers showed clean detail and evenness of attack. It is to be hoped that on the next appearance of this ensemble here—should it be in this part of the province again—that a larger audience will hear the fine vocal stylings.

Rev. R. D. MacLean, minister of St. Andrew's Church, told the audience about this fine adolescent aged choir prior to the concert.

DELEGATE APPOINTED

Miss Alex Gilmour was appointed delegate to the Whitby School for Leaders to be held in August.

A lovely solo, "Just For Today" was sung by Miss L. McDougall.

Mrs. Holmboe and her group had charge of the program. Mrs. Holmboe read an interesting article on "India" written by Mrs. Harold Peterson, describing vividly, the contrasts of beauty and filth, wealth and poverty, of that land. It took the audience from the beautiful college where Mrs. Peterson was a guest, to the crowded market places of Calcutta.

India shows some promise that another generation will see better times.

Miss Lazier spoke for the auxiliary in saying farewell to Mrs. Holmboe, Mrs. Bonter, Mrs. Tindale and Mrs. Gorril, and then closed the meeting.

Contact Club Concludes Meetings

A financial report was given by the club treasurer, Thelma Saunders.

Daisy Rosevear was presented with a lovely cup and saucer, the prize for selling the most tickets.

It was decided that a pot-luck supper and social evening would be held next Monday, which will conclude all activities until the club meets again in the fall. Alice Wonnacott graciously consented to convene the affair.

URGE NEW JAIL

BRANTFORD (CP) — A grand jury Tuesday recommended the erection of a new jail for Brant county. All Women Candidates Defeated For Second Straight Election

TORONTO (CP) — The "men only" sign still hangs in the Ontario legislature.

For the second election in succession Ontario voters rejected all women candidates. The late Agnes Macphail, elected CCF member for York East in 1948, was the last woman to sit in the House.

Nine women were candidates Thursday and only Mrs. Wanda Miller a Liberal and mayor of Bracebridge, came close. With returns incomplete she was only 411 votes behind R. J. Boyer, editor of the weekly Muskoka Herald, who won Muskoka riding for the Progressive Conservatives. The vote was 4,611 to 4,200.

Miss True Davidson, a CCF candidate, polled the largest vote, but her 10,990 total in York East was far behind the 19,112 figure which retained the seat for Hollis Beckett, government member. In Peel constituency, Mrs. Ruth Houck, a Liberal, went up against former Progressive Conservative premier Thomas Kennedy and lost by 13,296 votes to 8,430.

The other defeated women candidates were Mrs. May Webb, Liberal, in Hamilton Centre, Mrs. Elizabeth Langfield, independent, in Toronto St. Andrew, and four Labor-Progressive supporters, Mrs. Helen Coulson in Hamilton East, Miss Mary Price in Niagara Falls, Mrs. Helen Weir in Toronto High Park and Mrs. Florence Theodore in York-Scarborough.

The Progressive Conservatives had no women candidates.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

RESPONSIBILITIES OF THE GROOM'S PARENTS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Our son is to be married in July, and my husband and I would like to know what our duties and responsibilities are. I know that ours is a minor role, but we do want to do what is proper. It is to be a semi-formal church wedding at 4 o'clock, followed by a reception in the church social room, and then a buffet dinner for the families at the home of the bride. We are only slightly acquainted with the bride's parents. They have visited us for several weekends, but we do not live in the same city. All of us work (including the bride and her parents), and so in these busy days before the wedding any social activities between the families would be really an inconvenience for all concerned.

2. To the wedding my husband plans to wear a dark blue suit. I am considering wearing either a dressy pastel suit or a two-piece dress, rather than a dressy gown, as we will have a two-hour motor trip before the ceremony. However, I will await your advice before making a decision. — Groom's mother

1. Your first responsibility will be to make out the list of the relatives and friends whom you wish to have invited to the wedding. . . the bride's mother will consult with you about this, telling you the number-allotment you are to have for invitations, and for announcements, if announcements are to be sent also. The next important decision is your wedding present. Also very often (but of course this is not a must) the groom's parents give the pre-rehearsal dinner or the post-rehearsal supper . . this is a charming and generous gesture for them to make, for they have so few other responsibilities, and their taking over this rehearsal party is a great convenience to the busy parents of the bride. (You might consult with your son about this, perhaps with the idea of giving it at a hotel in the bride's city.)

If there is to be a receiving line at the reception, the bride's mother will undoubtedly invite you to stand with her. . . she first in the line, as hostess, and you, who will be the woman guest of honor at the wedding.

2. A most important responsibility you have is to get in touch with the bride's mother (by telephone or note) at once and ask her for her suggestions as to your costume for the wedding. She tells you what she is planning to wear (type of dress, approximate length, the material and the color), and you are, of course, expected to wear a costume of the same type, approximately the same length, and of a color to harmonize with her dress. This conference about dresses is most important, for it is the bride's mother who must be your guide about your attire.

WHO BUYS CORSAGES FOR THE WEDDING?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

For a wedding, who buys corsages for whom? — H.

The groom buys the corsage his bride wears with her going-away costume. If it's an informal wedding and the bride is wearing or carrying a corsage, the groom provides this corsage. The groom also provides the corsages for "the mothers," the bride's mother and his own mother. Also in some communities the groom pays for the flowers, bouquets or corsages, of the bridal attendants.

INVITATION FROM FIANCE'S MOTHER

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My fiance's parents live some distance from where my family and I live. I have never met them, and although we have been engaged more than two months, I have not heard from them. My fiance is planning to go to his parents' home for the weekend in about a month, and has invited me to go with him "to meet the family." But my mother and father are adamant that I am not to go until I have been invited by his mother, that is, invited directly by her. Are they right, or may I go on his invitation? — Miss S.

Most certainly you must follow your parents' advice and wait to receive an invitation from your fiance's mother. How else indeed would you be sure that you would be welcome or that your visit would be convenient to the family plans? My advice is that you have a straightforward talk with your fiance, telling him how happy you would be to have a letter from his mother about the engagement (she may very well not know that she is expected to write you to welcome you into their family and to express happiness about the engagement) . . .then explain to him that your mother and father are unwilling to have you go to visit without direct word from his mother that his visit would be welcome and convenient. If the mother finds it not easy to write letters, it is quite proper for her to telephone to you.

An orlon and wool mixture is used for a casually smart dress, one that can be worn nicely for day or evening. By changing the large rhinestone buckle it can very well be a spectator sports dress in the travel wardrobe. The wide open square neckline is very flattering and since the dress is sleeveless, it can take on an under blouse, too, jumper style. The skirt is box pleated.

BE KIND TO YOUR EYES

Girls and women who fare forth to the busy marts each day to bring home the bacon don't have to be told that they should make every possible endeavor to maintain health and good appearance. But there is another matter that is important—the care of the eyes.

The specific factors in the field of business that make for success and promotion are a keen mind, steady nerves, accuracy and the power of concentration. And these factors are dependent upon normal vision. Eye strain can promote jittery nerves, the inability to think clearly; also cause errors of judgment.

Surveys show that about fifty per cent of all workers in commercial establishments and industrial plants have defective vision. Only eighteen percent of these have had professional attention and wear glasses. The remaining thirty two per cent suffer unknowingly, often producing less work than they should and doing it under difficulties. They are more subject to accidents than individuals of normal vision.

Protect your eyes from glaring sunlight, which is a serious strain on the optic nerves. If you are a sun-bather, wear dark glasses. When buying them, patronize a reliable oculist, since these protective specs should not be selected casually.

Don't read on moving trains. Of course you will, because everybody does. But it is a bad habit. Constant adjustments cause your eyes to overwork.

The woman who indulges in emotional storms may suddenly discover that her eyesight is weakening. That old expression "seing red" means precisely that. It comes with anger and other expressions of emotional stress.

Don't believe all you hear about eye exercises. They should be done only under the supervision of a medical man who specializes in the treatment of the eyes.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

SHE'S HAD NOTHING BUT "BAD LUCK" WITH BOYS

A girl who, I figure, is still in her teens, writes me that ever since she can remember, she has had bad luck with boys." To prove it, she goes back and begins her story at a time when she was only 13 years old.

"I started going with a boy," she says, "and we went together for three years. Then he died. For a whole year I didn't go out with anyone else. Then, at 17, I started going out with a friend of my brother's who was in the service. After going out with him for almost a year, he told me he was marrying a girl out of town. I went out with another boy, and the same thing happened.

"Now, for the past six months, another boy has been coming to the house every day. But three weeks ago he just stopped coming, and I haven't seen him since.

"I know I'm in love with this last boy, and I thought, from the way he acted, that he felt the same way about me. I never told him how I felt, because I always thought it was his place to tell me first.

"Would I be doing the right thing to write and ask him why he hasn't been around, or should I just wait and see what happens? I sure hope you can help me, because I'm getting so I don't want to trust any boy."

Well, "Two swallows don't make a summer," and a few disappointments in four or five years don't make a lifetime. Just on the basis of what she tells me, I hardly think this girl needs to go as far as to stop trusting boys.

After all, she must try to realize that nothing that has happened to her is too far out of the ordinary.

Sad as it is when a very young person dies and the fact of death comes into the lives of his very young friends, perhaps for the first time in their experience, death is still something that everyone encounters sooner or later, and it must not be made forever a reason for morbid brooding. And as for the other experiences the girl cites to prove her "bad luck," changing girl friends and boy friends is wholly natural and normal during the teens. And it's a good, healthy thing, too, because it provides the boys and girls with a chance to know a lot of different personalities and so, eventually, to determine what type of personality teams with theirs most companionably. That gives them something to go on when it's time for them to take the thought of marriage seriously.

So our teen-ager shouldn't worry too much if boys come and go. If she is always friendly, but not too anxious about a boy's friendship; if she makes sure she knows how to do well the things that teenagers enjoy doing, so that she is always prepared to take part in these activities; if she is always good-natured, good fun and a good sport, everybody will like to have her around and the boys will enjoy her company just as much as the girls will. I think if she will concentrate right now on being the kind of girl people will like, instead of concentrating on finding a boy friend, the boy friend will just naturally come along in the course of time—and perhaps she'll be surprised how soon he comes!

Oh yes—about writing to that last boy. The answer is "Don't.". It will only make her look as though she were chasing him.

WELLMAN'S DAISY M.B.

RAWDON — Wellman's Daisy Mission Band convened on Sunday in the vestry of Wellman's United Church with a good attendance.

The leader, Mrs. Burton Morton, presided over the worship, the theme of which was "The Good Gifts of God and Our Dedication of Them Towards Helping the Rest of the Children of the World."

The Bible lessons were read as follows: "The Good Samaritan," Carol Beckett; "Healing the Sick Man," Yvonne King. Richard Dracup read a poem, "The Joy of Being Friendly" and Burnard Beckett read "We Are Thy Children."

The offering was gathered by Carol Seeley and a prayer poem was said in unison from the blackboard as a dedication.

Richard Dracup, treasurer, forwarded $5 for first quarter and will send $10 this quarter to Presbyterial treasurer.

On July 5th, Wellman's WMS will entertain the Mission Band and Baby Band at the home of Mrs. John Heagle and plans were made for this meeting when the children will provide the program.

It was decided to have a Mission Band and Baby Band picnic with the mothers at a later date. Plans for this will be completed in July.

The leader told the story entitled, "A New Friend," from "Chand of India."

"World Friends" was distributed.

Women's Place In the Church Is Discussed

TORONTO (CP) — The general assembly of the Presbyterian Church slid over a report on women's place in the church Tuesday without a murmur.

There were no speeches nor any discussion from the floor on the possible ordination of women either as ministers or elders.

Rev. Louis Fowler of Harriston, convener of the report committee, read his report and got unanimous approval for its four recommendations. These were: that the committee continue consultation with women in the church; circulate copies of the report through the 38 presbyteries; have presbyteries vote on the question of ordination of women into the ministry and as elders; invite comment from church men and women.

The report was divided into three parts. Mr. Fowler's summary of the place of women in the church today and theological discussions by professors F. Scott Mackenzie and D. W. Hay, on the church's view of women.

TWO VIEWPOINTS

Mr. Fowler said research turned up two distinct points of view: first that the church should declare itself in favor of ordination of women as a matter of right and not as a privilege; second that equality in the church does not imply equality of function, and the nature of the ministry is such that ordination should be for men only, at least for the present.

Prof. Hay said: "My own view is that we are ready for a little closely-guarded experimentation. I would reject the idea of married women acting as ministers but suggest that we could open the ministry to women on condition of a vow of bona-fide intention of celibacy."

Prof. Mackenzie said the question of ordination of women is not found in the Westminster standards, governing standards of the Presbyterian Church formulated 300 years ago.

He said ordination of women is not as pressing as the question of the church's justification of its present discrimination against women.

"It is one thing for the church to extend the right of ordination to women under the pressure of the modern emancipation movement," he said. "It is quite another thing to take a position, based squarely on the proper understanding of the teaching of Holy Scripture and church faith."

He said obviously ordination was not regarded as an open question at all but one which was closed for all time. "Was not women's creation a sort of divine afterthought in the first place?" he asked.

Readers' Friday Column

As Conducted by Mary Moore

NOTE:

When (and if) you read this Mary will be driving around Cornwall in Merrie England in a hired car—thinking about you, of course, and longing for you "wishing you were here"! I will have seen Marianne and Herbie in Netheravon and will be itching to tell you how her cooking Englishbought food on a rangette is coming along!

QUESTION:

I received the recipes (one-egg cake, cookie press shortbread) about a week ago, and I must admit that I thought you had forgotten. After I learned how busy you are and were at this time I've had to sort of nudge myself not to be so quick. Thanks a lot anyway.

Now I've another request but it isn't in the cooking line. It's one for a "furniture shampoo" that I can make with my electric mixer. I've lost the one I had which was very good, so I'm hoping you will be able to send me another. . .your "homey" afternoon chats are the reason for my looking for your column first when the paper arrives—I'll add here I have three daughters, 2, 4, 5—a handful you will agree. . . you say you love to receive letters with "gives" in them. . .well I've a simply wonderful recipe for "Smorgasbord Spice Cake" which comes from Sweden . . . every time I've made it I've received compliments. . . if you would like to have it let me know . . . I would like to know if you believe that a person "copying" your dress is sincere with flattery? I do not.—Mrs. F. C.

ANSWER:

I do not think it is so much flattery as poverty of imagination and pride. Don't be annoyed—just be glad you have something that pleased someone so much they wanted one too.

Certainly I want the Smorgasbord Spice Cake—send it right along. While I won't receive it until I return on June 30 I can use anything so highly recommended in this never-ending race for more and more good recipes.

Now for the rug shampoo. I do not have specifically what you are referring to. Maybe when other readers see this they will be kind enough to mail in their formula. I have a friend though, Mary J. that I often speak of, who is a confirmed rug washer—she has a pink broadloom which she keeps perfectly clean by washing it about once every two months. She uses rather warm water with ammonia in it in one pan, wipes it off with that, then immediately rinses with another cloth wrung out of another pan of clear warm water. I telephoned her and read her your letter. For amateurs she recommended the rug cleaner (something like sawdust) that you can buy and sprinkle on dry in squares that overlap and rub it in then vacuum it off. But obviously you know about this and are no amateur. She said she has used a few tablespoons of spic and span in a big pan of warm water, wipes it on then off carefully with clear water at once. She says that for a figured rug one of her friends beats up one of the detergents with a very little ammonia in a very little hot water and quickly wipes off the rug in overlapping squares and wipes it off at once. I hope these little ideas help—and will of course print readers' offerings if and when they arrive.

In the city where Hastings West headquarters was located, returns started to come in at 8.20. The first came from Glen Miller, which gave Mr. Sandercock a lead he never relinquished. This gradually mounted until it reached figures that indicated re-election with half of the polling divisions heard from.

With twelve polls in, Mr. Sandercock had a majority of 544. At the forty-poll mark this had increased to over 2,000 and from there in Mr. Sandercock literally coasted to election.

Mr. Robson scored a 125 majority with nine polls in, and he too, never looked backward. It increased to 600 with 21 polls heard from and jumped to 1700 with the returns of 64 polls submitted.

An upset in the Hastings West election occurred with Mr. Sandercock taking the traditionally Liberal Trenton. Mr. McGaughey's home town. The successful candidate polled 1,836 votes as against 1,526 for Mr. McGaughey, while Mr. Mundrey was given 211 votes. In the 1951 elections Mr. Sandercock polled 1,748 with Angus Duffy the Liberal candidate receiving 1,889. The CCF aspirant Mr. Gibbs recorded 314.

Mr. Sandercock made a clean sweep at the forty-four city polling booths with three to be heard from. He recorded 4,704 votes as against 2,269 for McGaughey and 648 for Mr. Mundrey.

Sidney township maintained its Conservative loyalty giving Mr. Sandercock 1377, McGaughey 869 and Mundrey 125. Rawdon gave the Conservative 649, the Liberal 103 and the CCF candidate 15. Bancroft came through with 455 Conservative votes, 102 Liberal and 56 CCF.

TRIPLED LIBERAL VOTE

Stirling tripled the Liberal vote giving Sandercock 391 McVicker 101 and Mundrey 15. Frankford gave Sandercock 296, McGaughey 142 and Mundrey 17. Marmora almost doubled the Liberal vote giving Sanderdock 290, McGaughey 150 and Mundrey 25.

Mr. Robson took majorities in twelve of the fourteen Hastings East communities, which reported last night. Dr. McVicker was given 436 votes in his home village of Deseronto as against 254 for Mr. Robson and 16 for Mr. Cole. McVicker took the traditional Liberal Tyendinaga township with 660 votes nosing out Mr. Robson by four. Mr. Cole recorded 24 votes.

Hungerford township swung to the Conservatives giving Robson 616, McVicker 474 and Cole 21.

Thurlow township was two-thirds solid Conservative recording 1,717 votes for Robson, 806 for McVicker and 198 for Cole. It was closer in Tweed with Robson getting 397 397, McVicker 282, and Cole 21.

Madoc township went true to form giving the successful candidate 426; Dr. McVicker 109 and Cole 12. The village stood strongly behind Mr. Robson recording 365 votes for him, 136 for the Liberal and 12 for Mr. Cole.

Huntingdon gave Mr. Robson a vote of 426, McVicker 118 and Cole 3. The northern townships of Elzevir and Grimsthorpe, Tudor and Cashel, Limerick, Dungannon, Bangor and Wicklow and Monteagle all returned strong Robson majorities. The township of Faraday, Wollaston, Hershel, McClure and the village of Deloro had not reported last night.

The election hereabouts was one of the "quietest" in years. There was little or no excitement in the downtown sections of the city and nothing of a demonstrative nature occurred until near ten o'clock when the victorious Conservatives staged a horn-blowing motorcade through the prineipal streets.

SERVING THIRD TERM

Mr. Sandercock who will be serving his third term as a member of the Ontario legislature visited his supporters in Trenton, Frankford and Stirling where he was given a warm reception and ovation.

In a brief post-election statement, he said "I am happy about the whole thing. It is clearly evident that the people of Ontario wanted the Frost government back in power — and they certainly made no mistake about it. I have tried to be honest and fair in my dealings and I must pay sincere tribute to the many loyal workers who toiled so hard for me, and the public for once again placing their confidence in my abilities. I want to thank them all from the bottom of my heart."

Mr. Robson could not be reached for comment at the time of writing. The Hastings East member will be serving his fifth term as the representative of his riding.

If telephonic inquiry is an indication of public interest in the election, it could be said that the city public was lethargic to say the least. The news room of this newspaper had an augmented staff with members of the business office standing by to answer phone calls and assist in the tabulation of records.

The number of calls asking for the election results was negligible as compared to those of former years—or those of civic elections.

After the first return was submitted at 8.30 the figures were relayed in consistently. A staff reporter was stationed at Tweed, from which point he forwarded returns from Hastings East. The first return to reach that point came at 8.10, an advance poll from Bancroft.

Some of the telephone calls had their usual spice of humor. One woman when told of the Conservative victory sighed and said "Now I can get some sleep." Yet another said "I'm so happy I could cry".

According to the unofficial figures of yesterday's election as ocmpared to those of 1951, the Conservatives practically held their own while the Liberals and CCF candidates lost ground.

The Progressive Conservatives polled a total of 16,520 in two Hastings ridings in the 1951 election with the Liberals receiving 10,981 and the CCF, 1981. Yesterday's unofficial returns reveal the Conservatives polled 16,000 votes, the Liberals 8,482 a decrease of some 2,000 while the CCF dropped to 1,519 a decline of over 400 from the previous election.

As mentioned before both successful candidates had larger majorities than in the previous election. Mr. Sandercock hoisted his majority from 3,341 in 1951 to 4,834 in 1955. Mr. Robson hiked his margin from 2,198 in 1951 to 2,684 yesterday.

It was the same story in Prince Edward-Lennox. Mr. Whitney boosted his majority from 1,277 in 1951 when he defeated the sitting Liberal member Don Baxter to 2,226 on Thursday. Mr. Whitney's election was conceded fairly early in the evening.

$600 UP ON HORSE

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (AP)—Mrs. William Froelich complained in state Supreme Court Thursday that her estranged husband spends $400 a month on his race horse, Tippetywitch. He could at least do as well or better by her, she argued in seeking a separation. Justice Charles S Colden agreed. He gave her the separation and $1.000 a month support—which left the 35-year-olo brunette $600 a month up on Tippetywitch.

CONSERVATIVES'

Mr. Oliver, who arrived late at his campaign headquarters in Durham after spending the day at his home in nearby Priceville, said he was "naturally disappointed that more were not elected," because election of more Liberals would have made for better government.

"There is no use in kidding—it's a big disappointment," said Mr. MacDonald, who left his crowded committee room standing up in the back seat of a small convertible at the head of a motorcade. "In the industrial areas where we thought we'd get in, we just didn't."

The coming legislature "is going to be much poorer with the small opposition it has," he said.

Campaign issues—highways, Hydro, health and welfare, education, taxation—had little effect on the outcome, a reflection on the success and prosperity of the present time.

Mr. Frost, 59-year-old leader who has held the premiership since 1949 when George Drew left to lead the federal party, stumped on his government's record, promising only to continue good government dedicated to progress, prosperity and human betterment.

He went to the people "confident of their unerring judgment," and was returned with another thumping vote of confidence.

Under Mr. Oliver, who led the party in 1948 but gave way to Walter Thomson in 1951, the Liberals promised reduced taxation at the municipal level, improved highways administration and increased grants to hospitals and schools.

HIGHWAYS CHARGES

The Liberal leader had charged the Frost government with maladministration of highways, using as his chief talking point the hearings of the last legislature's select committee on highways department irregularities.

Mr. MacDonald, 41-year-old successor to E. B. Jolliffe, who lost his bid for re-election in 1951, led the CCF in promising a province-wide hospital care and health insurance plan. His platform also included better education, increased old-age pensions, lower-cost auto insurance and a better deal for labor.

The Conservatives made only a few inroads on other party territory, but won seven of the eight new seats to offset five losses to the Liberals, one to the CCF and one to an independent Progressive Conservative. They gained one from each of the Liberals, CCF and Labor-Progressive (Communist) parties.

The CCF picked up one new seat — Wentworth East—and retained Oshawa, both industrial ridings. Mr. MacDonald himself was elected in the urban riding of York South.

MINISTER LOSES

Premier Frost lost from his cabinet William E. Hamilton, minister without portfolio and vice-chairman of the Ontario Hydro - Electric Power Commission, who was defeated in Wellington South by Liberal Harry A. Worton, mayor of Guelph. Mr. Hamilton had held the seat since 1945.

But George Doucett, former highways minister who resigned his cabinet post last January, was returned in Lanark, which he has held since 1937. His successor in the ministry, James N. Allan, won re-election in Haldimand-Norfolk.

Some familiar faces are missing. Joseph B. Salsberg, Labor-Progressive member for Toronto St. Andrew for 12 years, was turned out by Progressive Conservative Allan Grossman, a Toronto alderman.

William J. Grummett, CCF member for Cochrane South since 1943 and party House leader through two terms of the legislature, lost to Mayor J. W. Spooner of Timmins, a Progressive Conservative.

Liberal Gordon Innes defeated Thomas Dent, Progressive Conservative and internationally-known Holstein breeder, in Oxford riding, which Mr. Dent had held since 1943.

CCF TURNABOUT

In York South, Progressive Conservative William Beech, who defeated Mr. Joliffe in 1951, this time was turned out by Mr. MacDonald, making his first election bid after being appointed CCF leader 18 months ago.

Among the old faces still around is that of 51-year-old Mr. Oliver, a member for Grey South since 1926 when he was elected as a United Farmers Organization candidate.

Also re-elected was Liberal Harry C. Nixon, at 64 dean of the legislature in point of service. He has held Brant riding continuously since 1919 when he was elected on the UFO ticket.

KENNEDY RETURNED

Conservative Thomas L. Kennedy 75, former agriculture minister, was returned in Peel, which he has held since 1919 except for the years from 1934 to 1937.

Liberal-Labor member Albert Wren, who supports the Liberals in the House, was re-elected on unofficial returns in the northwestern riding of Kenora.

The only Independent elected was James S. Dempsey, who sought re-election in Renfrew South. A total of 314 candidates contested the election, three less than the record 317 in 1945 and well above the 271 in 1951. The Liberals ran 94 candidates, the CCF 80, Labor-Progressives 31 and there were 10 others.

REGIONAL SWEEP

The Frost government made the sweep complete regionally, too. Only in western Ontario did the Liberals make headway and here they took only nine of the 27 seats, compared with four of the 26 in 1951.

The Conservatives retained 16 of the 18 eastern Ontario seats, the Liberals taking one and Mr. Dempsey the other. They swept 12 of the 13 seats in northern Ontario where Mr. Wren won Kenora; took 19 of the 20 Toronto ridings, the other going to the CCF, and 18 of the 20 in central Ontario where the CCF won two.

Still to be tabulated is the vote of Ontario's servicemen serving overseas with the armed forces. Election officials estimated that only about 8,000 of the province's 40,000 or so active servicemen were likely to cast ballots. The ballots will be opened in Toronto next Thursday.

Standing in the 90-seat 24th legislature at dissolution May 2:

Progressive Conservatives 78, Liberal 6, CCF 2, Liberal-Labor 1, Labor-Progressive 1, Vacant 2. The vacancies were in Conservative seats. In the interval since 1951 the Conservatives won one seat from the Liberals, in a by-election at Niagara Falls.

Churchill Submitted Name Of Eden to King George as P.M. Designate During War Years

By DOON CAMPBELL

LONDON (Reuters) — Thirteen years ago, Sir Winston Churchill submitted the name of Anthony Eden to King George VI as prime minister-designate.

It was wartime—1942 — when Churchill was preparing to fly the Atlantic for urgent discussions with President Roosevelt after the attack at Pearl Harbor.

King George raised the question: Who would succeed were Churchill to become a casualty of war? A few days later, Churchill gave his considered reply, by letter, submitting his formal advice that the choice should fall on Eden.

Eden was recommended as the outstanding minister in the largest political party in the House of Commons and as one "who I am sure will be found capable of conducting Your Majesty's affairs with the resolution, experience, and capacity which these grievous times require."

LONG SUBORDINATE

This little-known fact is revealed in a book by Lewis Broad, entitled "Sir Anthony Eden — the Chronicles of a Career" (Hutchinson and Co.).

"Nor has a prime minister-designate continued for so long a term to serve as subordinate to the minister he is designated to follow," says the author of Sir Anthony, recognized for so many years as the prime minister-in-waiting, the heir-apparent of Sir Winston.

Two books, perhaps the most important in a personal sense to Sir Anthony in his 32 years of political life, have appeared now he is finally prime minister.

The other biography, "Sir Anthony Eden" (Robert Hale Limited) is by Alan Campbell-Johnson, who says the call to 10 Downing street came "only just in time before his ambition was blunted and his will to lead sapped."

POLITICAL MASK

Broad writes that few men have been more prominently in the public eye over the last 25 years than Eden, but none has been able to conceal himself more effectively behind his political personality.

"He has preferred to be the man in the political mask . . . at the outset of his life Sir Anthony learned his first lesson that self-effacement is the easiest form of self-protection . . . the uncontrollable rages that possessed the father were a warning to the son."

He tells this story about Sir Anthony's father, Sir William Eden. Distressed by the persistency with which his barometer registered fair although the heavens were discharging themselves outside, Sir William tapped the glass, which stubbornly refused to budge. Pulling it from the wall, Sir William flung it on the lawn saying: "There, see for yourself, you bloody fool."

That is one of the stronger human glimpses into the character of Sir Anthony's father who, according to Campbell - Johnson, found "excruciatingly painful" the sight of red flowers in a garden, the yelping of a dog, or the smell of whisky or tobacco.

Both authors acknowledge that Sir Anthony has inherited an irascible streak.

Both agree that throughout his career, Sir Anthony has been a good House of Commons man, an acute debater, a master of his subject and a tireless worker.

On a recent birthday, Broad recalls, the foreign secretary had had a gruelling day. The cabinet had argued long and he had just returned home when another dispatch box was brought in marked: "From the prime minister, for immediate attention."

For once, Sir Anthony jibbed. "I'm damned if I'm going through that as well," he said to a friend with whom he was having a drink. "I shouldn't get to sleep before two."

In the morning, he telephoned his friend repentantly: "I take back everything I said about Winston. The dispatch box from No. 10: what d'you think I found inside it? Two boxes of cigars and a note in Winston's handwriting—'To Anthony on his birthday with good wishes from W. S. C.'"

Both authors refer to Sir Anthony's recent serious illness.

"Since undergoing his major operation two years ago," writes Broad, "Sir Anthony has recovered his health and the fitness of years gone by. Physically and mentally the improvement has been striking and it has been attended by a nervous relaxation that has produced a man more at ease with life than ever he was in the past."

Campbell - Johnson writes: "Eden's illness served as a great warning to him in middle age with his relentless and self-dedicating energy to give himself time to turn round, to think and to relax."

Broad lists some of Sir Anthony's distinctions as: The youngest foreign secretary in 100 years; the youngest adjutant in the British army; the only minister of the crown who has won honors in Oriental languages and who has been able to converse in their native tongue with Arab and Persian. To these he adds another distinction—"He is the enigma of British politics. No man in public life has continued to be so well known and yet so little known."

W.I. Enjoys Talk On England

STIRLING — The June meeting of Stirling Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Ross Rosebush with nine members and 12 visitors present.

The meeting opened with the new president, Mrs. E. Foster, in the chair. The visitors were welcomed. Correspondence was read which included a letter from the Salvation Army asking for help toward the "Red Shield." This was laid over till a later date. A thank-you message was received for a box of fruit sent to Mrs. Clara Wright. Solos were given by Mrs. Harold West and Mrs. Bob Hulin.

The guest speaker for the meeting, Mrs. A. Packman, was then introduced by Mrs. W. C. West. Mrs. Packman took as her subject her home country, "England." She has spent a few years in Canada and likes it very much. Canadians think England very damp and foggy, but she says it is not. They still have a few thatched cottages.

Books and pamphlets were passed around with pictures of their colleges and notable buildings, especially Westminster Abbey. A map was shown of the Thames River and the subway they travel on, which in places was under the river. She said it would be an educational trip for anybody to take. Her talk was much appreciated.

A reading was given by Mrs. E. Foster, "Giving Sunshine."

Refreshments were served by the hostess and the executive.

Mrs. Stanley McMurray moved a vote of thanks to the guest speaker, soloist, hostess and all who helped with the program and refreshments.

Double and triple somersaults from a teeter board are all in a day's work for the seven St. Leons, world famous teeter board troupe. The group will be one of 30 outstanding circus acts appearing with the world's greatest indoor circus, Clyde Bros. Circus in their two-day engagement in Belleville Memorial Arena for the local Police Association on June 15 and 16.

Many Sensational Acts Featured in Clyde Bros. Circus

The act lineup for the Belleville branch of the Ontario Police Association which is sponsoring the Clyde Bros. Circus to be presented in the Belleville Memorial Arena Wednesday and Thursday, June 15 and 16, has been announced.

Among the more than thirty acts in the big three-ring, two and a one-half hour show are such famous circus names as: Poodles Hanneford, the world's greatest and funniest riding comedian; the St.-Leon Teeter Board Family; the Great Gretonas, featuring the world's youngest and most sensational high wire walker, ten-year-old Gloria Gretona; Violette Rooks and her thrilling head stand on the swinging trapeze; Clyde Bros. famous black and white Liberty horses; the Eriksons, masters of head-to-head and hand-to-hand balancing; the flying Deislers, unique in their field with their double somersaults and double cross-over passing leap; the Teeners on the Rolla-Bolla; Klara Benson, artiste of the silver strand; the Montes De Oca troupe from Brazil with amazing acrobetic leaps; the 'Harrison Three' with the oldest active circus performer, 76-year-old Cloyd Harrison; the Hoffman Duo, Clara and Eugene, king and queen of the art of juggling.

AT HOME IN RAFTERS

"Up around the rafters I feel right at home but on the floor with roller skates on I'm as nervous as they come."

That unlikely statement was made by Bonita Deisler of the Flying Deislers, trapeze troupe who will appear with the Clyde Bros. Circus.

"I must be accustomed to height and travelling in straight lines with a few somersaults and twists thrown in. I don't feel at home circling around the floor on skates with all those people."

From skates to queens is a long jump but Bonita made with no trouble at all when asked about Canada and the Dominions. This is not the first time that the Deislers have been in Canada but it is the first time for several years. "We have been in the Commonwealth for the last four and one-half years in the "down under" countries: Australia and New Zealand where he had the honor of a command performance before Queen Elizabeth and Prince Phillip. That, too, made we a little shaky but I will always remember it as one of the most important moments in my life."

Th Deislers, a three-man troupe are renowned in show business for their finesse and perfection. Double somersaults from a fly bar to a catcher is difficult at any time but when done blindfolded it requires absolute perfection. A missed second and Roy Deisler the flyer, would tumble to the net beneath. Very few acts even attempt this near impossible feat but the Deislers do it at every performance.

Clyde Bros. in presenting the Flying Deislers are continuing a tradition which demands a top rate trapeze act with the show each year.

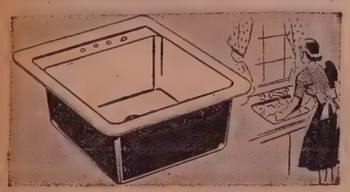
Must Report Entering Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The senate has given third reading to a bill which would require every person entering Canada to report to a customs house.

Under the present Customs Act —which the bill would amend—only a person "in charge of a vehicle" or having goods in his possession is required to report.



A customs official described the amendment as bringing the Customs Act in line with the Immigration Act and "half a dozen other acts" requiring people to report on entering the country. Many customs officers are also immigration officers and the amendment will facilitate their work, the official said.

Vaccine's Mass Manufacture Had Threatened to Wipe Out Safety Factor Says Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States public health service today said it was required to develop new and safer standards for Salk polio vaccine after unexpected problems in mass manufacture had threatened to wipe out a "built-in factor of safety."

Surgeon - General Leonard A. Scheele expressed belief, however, "that this vaccine will fulfill its bright promise as a major advance in the prevention and control of disease that has shadowed the lives of children and young adults for many generations."

And the lessons that have been learned "offer promise of solutions to a hitherto baffling group of disease problems."

Dr Scheele said:

"We can expect that potent new biologics will be developed which will have unprecedented application, particularly to control of virus diseases."

PROGRAM REVIEWED

The statements were contained in a comprehensive and highly technical review of the entire polio vaccine program, long promised but released unexpectedly early today. Publication of the document, running 163 typewritten and printed pages, was ordered after the New York Times printed a portion of it.

In a letter transmitting the report to Welfare Secretary Oveta Culp Hobby, Scheele said that "events which in the traditional course of scientific development would have covered years were telescoped into months and, as a result, both successes and failures have been magnified."

"In the long run, however, the nation and the world will surely have gained from efforts to speed the availability of an effective immunizing agent against this disease."

HISTORY TRACED

Much of the material in the report is history—the story of last year's extensive field tests, the general approval of the polio vaccine on April 12 this year, the development of polio in some vaccinated American children, the go-slow warnings and subsequent stoppage of immunizations in the U.S., and the development of new U.S. testing standards which Scheele said at the time were designed to "make a safe vaccine safer."

Much of the new material reviews the technical data and studies made by American scientists behind closed doors. These led to the increased American safety standards.

Deputy Returning Officer Ordered Off of Reserve

CORNWALL (CP) — Deputy returning officer Colin Chisholm was ordered off the Cornwall island Indian reserve Thursday during an Ontario election-day demonstration by about 100 Mohawk Indians.

Police were called and stood guard outside the polling station after a voters' list posted on the building was torn down. Chisholm was advised to stay inside the polling centre with his wife and children.

The Indians formed a picket line in a demonstration opposing the right granted them for the first time to vote in an Ontario election.

Five of the six eligible white persons voted. None of the 206 Indians eligible went to the poll.

INDIANS AFRAID

The Indians, members of the Iroquois tribe of the Six Nations Confederacy, were advised earlier by their hereditary chiefs that they will lose inviolable Indian rights if they vote.

"They are afraid the whites are going to take advantage of them," an observer said. "They are worried about losing their right to free access to the United States. Now they can cross freely any time they wish."

Are 29 New Men Among Members Of Legislature

TORONTO (CP)—There will be 29 new faces in Ontario's new legislature.

Newcomers to the province's political arena elected in Thursday's general election included 22 Progressive Conservatives, five Liberals and two CCF—including the Socialist party's provincial leader, Donald C. MacDonald.

Seven of the Progressive Conservative newcomers were elected to new seats established by redistribution. The other new seat was captured by a CCF candidate.

Three new Progressive Conservatives got in on gains in Liberal, CCF and Labor-Progressive seats. Eleven took over when sitting members retired and one filled a vacancy left by death.

The new Liberals all got in by gains from Progressive Conservatives. Mr. MacDonald also got in on a gain from the governing party.

Three newcomers are mayors: Mayor J. W. Spooner of Timmins, who captured Cochrane South for the Progressive Conservatives; Mayor Ross Whicher of Wiarton, Liberal winner in Bruce; and Mayor Harry Worton of Guelph, Liberal victor in Wellington South.

Drew Delighted By PC Victory

OTTAWA (CP) — Hon. George Drew, national Progressive Conservative leader, said Thursday night in a statement he is delighted at the return to power of the Ontario Progressive Conservative government.

His statement said in part:

"I am delighted to see such a decisive expression of confidence in my friend, (Premier) Leslie Frost, and the Conservative party generally throughout the province. . . ."

Govt. Accused of Cloaking Retirement of Gen. Simonds

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has been accused of putting a "cloak of mysterious secrecy" around the retirement of Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds, 52, as chief of the general staff.

The charge was made in a statement issued Thursday night by Opposition Leader Drew following his earlier unsuccessful attempt in the Commons to obtain additional information on the decision to retire Gen. Simonds Aug. 31.

Mr. Drew said Prime Minister St. Laurent's official reason—that the general has "completed the normal four-year tour" as army chief—"is no explanation at all and merely emphasizes the need for frankness."

"The people of Canada are entitled to know now why our most brilliant field officer has been retired under circumstances which demand a full and satisfactory explanation," he said.

There was considerable talk in London and Paris military circles last year that Gen. Simonds would succeed Field Marshal Montgomery as commander of NATO land forces, he said. If such an appointment were planned, the government should say so.

"Parliament and the people of Canada have a right to demand that so important a subject should not remain shrouded in a cloak of mysterious secrecy."

Mr. Drew's statement said what he apparently had been trying to say earlier in the Commons before he was interruped by shouting from Liberals.

He said Gen. Simonds was appointed army chief Feb. 1, 1951, and that the same day his predecessor, Gen. Charles Foulkes, was made chairman of the joint chiefs of staff. He was not suggesting Gen. Foulkes should be retired, but if the length of appointments were to be fixed by length of service Gen. Simonds would be succeeding Gen. Foulkes.

"The suggestion by the prime minister that this is merely an incident in the ordinary rotation of appointments is not borne out by the facts," he said.

In the Commons, Mr. Drew said Mr. St. Laurent's statement Wednesday that new defence department appointments are routine is "manifestly . . . not accurate." On Wednesday, Mr. Drew had protested the government's action in announcing outside the Commons Gen. Simonds' retirement.

Mr. St. Laurent said the Opposition leader does not have the privilege of determining how public business is to be dealt with. There were several occasions when important appointments had been made outside the House without it being considered a discourtesy to the Commons.

Political Sense Of Gen. Simonds Not Acute Report

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Why is Lt.-Gen. Guy Simonds being retired as chief of the general staff?

That question today bounced around the corridors at national defence headquarters and other spots in the capital.

The only official explanation is that Gen. Simonds has "completed the normal four-year tour" as a chief of staff.

But the real explanation probably lies in the character itself of the general, a professional soldier for more than 30 of his 52 years and Canada's most brilliant Second World War field commander.

Gen. Simonds lives and breathes the army. He is proud of the force and of his profession. The objective constantly before him is to make the Canadian Army the best fighting machine in the world.

POLITICAL SENSE

But, most observers here say, his political sense is not acute. That is, he has not been particularly concerned with the political ramifications of some of his actions.

This has resulted in a series of political embarrassments for the government, probably minor in themselves but accumulative.

A case in point is the Regiment of the Canadian Guards, formed in 1953 after Gen. Simonds' persistent efforts. Former Defence Minister Brooke Claxton was opposed to formation of the regiment.

Taunts have been hurled at the Guards that they have never lost a battle because they have never fought in one. Such criticism has not bothered the army or the government a great deal, but it could have been avoided altogether.

NO BIG CLASH SEEN

It is unlikely that Gen. Simonds is being retired because of any big policy clash with Defence Minister Campney.

For instance, he has publicly favored military conscription. But the government knew his views on this matter long before he was appointed chief of the general staff Feb. 1, 1951.

More likely, it was a collection of relatively minor factors that led to the cabinet's decision not to retain him.

Gen. Simonds has made it plain that he is not being fired.

What probably happened is that he is stepping down by mutual agreement—and with mutual respect—between himself and his civilian chiefs, neither party wishing to give any ground.

It is extremely unlikely that Gen. Simonds will ever try to state publicly his side of the argument. He is too much the soldier for that.

His successor, Maj.-Gen. Howard Graham, chief of the army's central command, is nearly five years older.

He was a corporal cook in the First World War and was not a permanent force soldier between 1919 and 1939.

Gen. Graham, trained as a lawyer, was at one time mayor of Trenton, Ont., and has a so-called "local sense." He is a good golfer and a keen student of current affairs.

Results Known 67 Minutes After Polls Close

TORONTO (CP)—Ontario's daily newspapers and the two national telegraph systems co-operated—through The Canadian Press—in giving Canada the result of the Ontario election 67 minutes after the close of the polls.

At 9:07 p.m. EDT The Canadian Press announced the re-election of the Progressive Conservative government on the basis of early returns indicating increased majority.

In the 1951 election the re-election of the Progressive Conservative government was flashed 11 minutes after polls closed.

The Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Telegraphs carried the constituency returns into the compiling centres of Ontario newspapers from where they funnelled into the central compiling rooms at the Toronto office of The Canadian Press.

TELEPHONED TOTAL

Thousands of deputy returning officers were instructed by Roderick G Lewis, chief election officer, to telephone the total vote at their polls to constituency returning officers at government expense. The move definitely speeded the collection of complete returns.

The vote by parties was compiled progressively and issued each hour by The Canadian Press.

The Canadian Press delivered its election service to the CBC and, through CP's subsidiary, Broadcast News Limited, to private broadcasting stations in Canada.

Premier Frost Thanks Voters For Endorsation

LINDSAY (CP)—Premier Frost said Thursday night it is "apparent that the verdict across the province has resulted in a great endorsation" for his Progressive Conservative party which swept back into power in Thursday's Ontario election.

"My first words here among my friends and neighbors," he said in a victory statement, "are of gratitude to the people of Victoria and Haliburton who again have given me their confidence."

"May I say that the confidence given to me by my own riding is the cause of great gratification during these many years when I have had to be away almost continuously. They have assisted me and for their great expression of confidence I can find no words to express my gratitude and thanks.

"At this time of their great endorsation which is rated as a great political victory, I accept the verdict of the people with humility conscious of the responsibility which this mandate carries.

LOYAL COLLEAGUES

"In these days of great expansion and development which bring in their train great responsibility, I face this task aware of my frailties but I am fortified with the knowledge that I have beside me loyal and able colleagues. . . .

"The people of the province by their ballots have decided the issues and rendered their verdict. Let us all join together regardless of how we may have voted and as a united people face the great opportunities and the challenges, and as well the complexities, of tomorrow.

"I pledge that we will work together with all people of goodwill, with all governments of whatever level for the good of our great province and country. . . .

Conservatives' Total Vote Slightly Lower Than in '51

TORONTO (CP) — The Progressive Conservative party scored its sweeping victory in yesterday's Ontario election on a slightly smaller share of the popular vote than it had in its similar triumph in 1951.

Almost complete tabulation by The Canadian Press showed that Progressive Conservatives, who elected 79 members to the 98-seat House, captured 48 per cent of the vote. Four years ago it elected 79 members in a 90-seat House with 49 per cent of the vote.

The Liberals, with 10 members in the new House compared to seven in the last election, got 33 per cent of the vote compared with 31. The CCF, increasing its membership to three from two, saw its share of the vote drop to 17 from 19 per cent.

Other candidates, two were returned in each election, got two per cent of the vote this time compared with one per cent four years ago.

The vote, though heavy, appeared unlikely to top the record of 1,775,749 in 1951.

Here is the CP compilation (11,993 of 12,436 polls), with all seats decided, compared with the vote in the last election (percentages in brackets):

	1955	1951
PC	818,874 (48)	860,898 (49)
Lib	559,719 (33)	551,794 (31)

Others	45,676 (2)	23,681 (1)
Totals	1,710,656	1,775,749

Following is the almost complete party vote (1,780 of 1,797 polls) for the 13 Toronto seats, all won by Progressive Conservatives (percentages bracketed):

PC	(45) 95,724
Lib	(25) 54,169

Fuel Savings Can Pay Cost Of Insulation

Insulation plays the dual role of making the home cooler in summer (by keeping the heat out) and warmer in winter (by keeping the heat in).

Actually, insulation is a self-liquidating home improvement as it can pay for itself in fuel savings in a relatively short time. Fuel consumption may be reduced from 10 per cent to 40 per cent depending on the type and amount of insulation used.

Usually a home owner can do his own attic insulation, either by stapling blanket insulation between the roof rafters or by spreading bulk insulating material between the attic floor joists.

House walls cannot properly be insulated from the outside by amateurs. The job calls for a thorough knowledge of house construction as well as professional skill and equipment.

Insulating materials are made of mineral wool, rock, glass or slag, paper pulp, gypsum, asbestos, cork, aluminum foils, vermiculite, cotton, and other vegetable and mineral matter.

There are four basic forms of insulation material, as follows:

Flexible insulation takes the form of "blankets" enclosed in heavy paper covering. It comes in long rolls, "batts" and pre-cut sections, all of such size as to fit in hollow spaces between studs, rafters and joists in walls or under the roof.

Fill-type insulation comes in bales or bags. It is loose material which can be poured into place .It can be either dumped between floor joists in the attic, put into small spaces by hand or blown into walls or ceilings.

Insulating boards, rigid or semi-rigid, may be used as a base for plaster or can become the decorative finish themselves. They are especially popular for finishing off an attic or basement.

Reflective materials, such as aluminum foils bonded to tough building paper, insulate by turning back heat in much the same manner as a mirror reflect light.

Aluminum foil is bonded to heavy building paper or wallboard.

In applying foil backed board, the continuous sheet of aluminum foil is placed against the stud on the warm side of the wall. The same procedure (foil side up) is followed when the board is applied to the joists or rafters in the top-floor ceilings.

Like regular wallboard, the foil-backed variety lends itself to any decorative treatment — paint, wallpaper, fabric or texture.

Insulation Keeps Homes Comfortable All Year 'Round and Reduces Fuel Bills

Owner Can Do the Job Himself

You can keep your home comfortably cool in summer, cut your winter fuel bill as much as 40 per cent and save yourself from $50 to $100 on the job in the bargain by insulating your attic yourself.

Two people can usually complete the project in a single afternoon. You may choose from among several different types of insulating materials, as follows:

"Fill-type" insulation is loose material that comes in bales or bags and can readily be poured into place. If you will give your building supplies dealer an idea of the size of your attic he can tell you what quantity of material you will need.

If your attic is unfloored, pour the "fill-type" material directly from the bags into the spaces between the joists. Floored attics can be insulated by removing one or two floorboards and pouring the material under the floored portion.

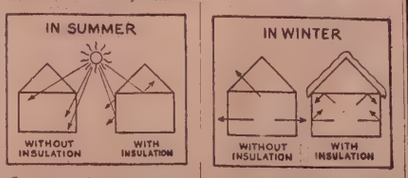
Even off the material to a three-inch depth with a cardboard rake, which can be obtained from your building supplies dealer. For floored attics, the cardboard is nailed to a wooden handle for smoothing the material under the floored portion.

Another popular insulating material for do-it-yourself application to attics is the "flexible type." This is produced in the form of "blankets" or "quilts" and comes in long rolls, as well as in "batts" or pre-cut sections. It is made wide enough to fit in the hollow spaces between studs, rafters and joists in walls or ceilings or under the roof.

The "batts" or pre-cut sections are simply placed between the joists of unfloored attics. In the case of floored attics it will be necessary to remove the floorboards. If purchased in long rolls, these can be cut to the desired dimensions, as installed.

The insulating material is enclosed in heavy paper covering with one side impregnated with asphalt to serve as a vapor barrier. This barrier should face the inside (or "downstairs") area of the house. It prevents vapor from passing through the ceiling and reducing the effectiveness of the insulation.

UNDER-ROOF INSULATION

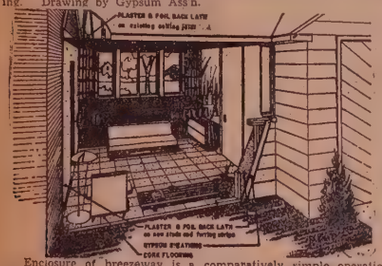


If your attic is used constantly for storage or play, the "flexible type" of insulation should be placed between the rafters under the roof.

If you are finishing off an attic, you can insulate at the same time by using "insulating boards" which have sufficient structural strength to use as a base for plaster. Or they can, themselves, serve as a decorative finish.

"Reflective" materials afford another type of insulation which functions by turning back heat, much as a mirror reflects light.

Do-it-yourselfers insulate home for cool summers and fuel-saving winters. He pours fill-type insulating material between attic floor joists while she levels material to a 3-inch depth with cardboard rake. Photo by Vermiculite.



Summer sun's heat penetrates uninsulated home, creates oven-like conditions. Insulation keeps much of this heat out, keeps folks much cooler inside.

Winter furnace heat escapes from uninsulated home, wastes fuel. Insulation keeps furnace heat inside home, saves fuel. Drawings by Gypsum Association.

Most Homes Have Good Add-a-Room Possibilities

How-to-add-a-room possibilities are spotlighted above. Materials used, as identified by numerals, are as follows: To convert garage, (1) wallboard or lath and plaster, (2) sheathing; to enclose breezeway, (3) sheathing, (4) wallboard; to finish off attic, (5) wallboard; to finish off basement, (6) plain finish wallboard, (7) wood-grain wallboard; to enclose porch, (8) lath and plaster, (9) sheathing. Drawing by Gypsum Ass'n.

Enclosure of breezeway is a comparatively simple operation. Existing posts can be used as studs for the two new walls that must be built. The breezeway area is ideal for combination bedroom-den. It can become an important part of your house. Drawing by Gypsum Association.

Breezeway before conversion into an extra room as illustrated below.

GUARD AGAINST TERMITES

Guard against these destroyers when you build. Proper construction methods and the use of wood treated under pressure with a good preservative will often obviate the need for costly repairs later.

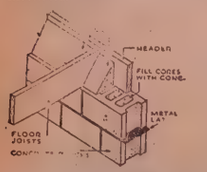
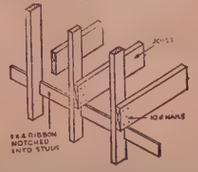
FARM BUILDING TIPS AND NEWS

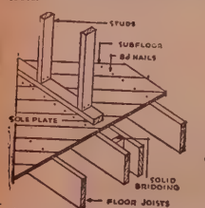
Construction Check-Points



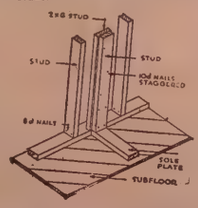
Sound construction is essential to the success of any building project, from remodelling an old home to building a new one. A few of the important points to check, suggested by the Small House Planning Bureau, are illustrated here.



When fibreboard or insulating sheathing is used instead of board, nailing should be done as illustrated.



Wall sheathing should be applied diagonally on the outside studs; boards double-nailed at each bearing.



If no sill plate is used, place metal lath under top course of blocks and fill voids with concrete.

Where joists do not rest on top plates of partitions, a 1 x 4 board, called a ribbon, is notched into studs.

When partitions run parallel to joists, the concentrated load should be supported by double joists.

Where two partitions intersect, a nailing edge (2 x 6 stud, as shown) must be provided.

Many Home Owners Can Add Extra Rooms at Small Cost

Would you like to add an attractive extra room to your present living space without spending a barrel of money? Then you'll be wise to check carefully into all the various Add-A-Room possibilities that are open to you.

Whether you're interested in adding a new bedroom, rumpus room, combination den-guest room, or something else, chances are you can find some space that's already under roof which you can use for the project.

These under-roof areas, at any rate, are the first you should consider, since it's generally much more economical to utilize such an area than build an entire new addition.

The cost of a particular Add-A-Room project depends of course on many factors such as the exact size of the new room, the building materials used, the nature of any plumbing and heating installations, etc., which may be necessary.

It is often possible to create an additional room in a basement or attic on a $400 budget, or to convert a garage or enclose a porch or breezeway for about $800 to $1,000.

If one considers the value of an added room, and what it can mean in increased comfort, convenience and pleasure, these figures are reasonable indeed.

It should be noted, however, that labor costs average up to 60 per cent of the cost of the complete job. So if you're at all handy with tools, there's no reason why you can't substantially reduce the cost of your project by doing all or part of the work yourself.

To secure expert advice and guidance, consult with your lumber or building materials dealer. Your contractor can build the entire room or just the shell of the addition, installing wiring and heating, and let you finish the job yourself.

Available today are many varieties of gypsum wallboard, prefabricated floor sections, packaged windows and doors which you can apply or install, yourself.

Almost always, a well-designed room adds far more to the value of a home than it costs. Home-improvement loans for this purpose are easy to obtain from your bank or other lending institution.

LIGHT YOUR ENTRANCE

Proper lighting at the entrance of the home is an important safety consideration.

CONCRETE SEPTIC TANKS
STEEL REINFORCED

These tanks are made from a special mixture of cement very similar to the formula that is used in the manufacture of our concrete burial vaults and are fully reinforced with a steel wire mesh. The baffles are cast into the tank and no special or any fittings are needed to connect the tank to the sewer lines. Being a horizontal type of construction the above tank has a much higher rate of digestion than tanks poured into the ground.

All tanks are guaranteed waterproof as this is done in the batching of the cement, it is therefore not necessary to plaster or asphalt as in the case with poured tanks.

Time Is Nearing for Eskimos To Gather in Their Coal Supply

By WALTER GRAY
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

WINNIPEG (CP) — A band of Eskimos now winding up winter hunting and trapping on the rocky barrens of Baffin island soon will gather at the base of a cliff near Pond Inlet, a settlement on the northwest coast, for several days of work and fun—mostly fun.

The metallic clink of pick and shovel will ring through the hills, drowned out now and then by shouts and laughter.

For it's the time of year when the 240 Eskimos gather in the coal supply for the Hudson's Bay Company settlement at Pond Inlet. It means extra credit for them at the post, but more important it allows time for games and idle chatter.

Peter Nichols, manager of HBC's Arctic division, said in an interview here that the Eskimos treat the mining operation much the same as the white man does a harvest festival.

"Everyone more or less is in a holiday mood," he said. "They look forward to it with pleasure."

There is no mine manager, no eight-hour day, five-day week. David Stevenson of Lesmahagow, Lanarkshire, Scotland, Pond Inlet's post manager, sets a quota, and pays the Eskimos 95 cents for each 100-pound bag of coal, plus an additional amount for the removal of overburden.

The natives are handed picks, shovels and bags at the post. They journey seven miles upriver to the mine, don old mining clothes and start to work.

But, said Mr. Nichols, they work in a free-and-easy style. If someone starts up a game, in no time the picks and shovels are thrown to the ground and everyone joins in the fun until they tire of the sport and return to the job.

The strip mine is one of a few projects started by HBC to provide supplementary income and create new activities for the natives.

The coal seam is located at the base of the cliff. The coal, a soft brown lignite, crumbles when exposed to air but has excellent heating qualities. It is easily mined with pick and shovel.

The filled bags are loaded on komatiks, or sleds, and are pulled to the post by dog team. Each sled can hold from 12 to 15 bags.

The average annual coal production is 30 tons. Because of transportation problems the fuel is mainly used locally. However, the government supply boat occasionally accepts shipments for other island settlements such as Arctic Bay, Clyde River, Pangnirtung and Frobisher Bay.

Pond Inlet, 1,600 air miles north of Winnipeg, has been taking coal from the mine for the last 20 years. It is leased from the federal government which receives a small royalty on each ton mined.

Federal geologists have examined it but as yet have not been able to determine the mine's potential, said Mr. Nichols.

HBC is now considering shipping briquetting equipment to the mine but transportation presents a problem.

Although they mine it, the Eskimos do not use the coal, said Mr. Nichols. They prefer the lighter and more easily-carried seal oil.

The best of Tall Tales

An old trapper accidently got caught in one of his own deadfalls, and lay pinned down by the heavy log. After a week his neighbor had an air search started. But the trapper couldn't be seen from the air. The temperature was 70° below and still falling. He was saved by a sheer fluke. Just as the search 'plane came over for the last time, he shouted 'HELP'. Naturally the pilot couldn't hear him above the engines. But the air had grown so cold that the word 'HELP' froze solid in mid air and fell to the ground where it was easily read in the six foot letters it made in the snow.

Two-by-Two Club Hears Talk 'Home Religior'

RAWDON — Mount Pleasant Two-by-Two Club held its annual church service Sunday evening. The church was comfortably seated with several visitors from other clubs in attendance. Baskets of red and pink peonies, yellow roses and white spirea added beauty. Mrs. Douglas Campbell presided over the service. Mrs. Ira David read the Bible lesson and Mr. Orno Sharp offered prayer.

Frankford male quartet, Messrs. Arthur Southworth, Harold Slingerland, Ernest Wallace and Ronald Mitz, with Mrs. Harry MacDonald as accompanist, contributed two selections.

The club choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Mac Sharp, rendered an anthem. The congregational hymns were: "Now God Be With Us," and "Sweet the Moments." The offering was gathered by Messrs. Herbert Smith, Mac Sharp, Harry McAdam and Burton Sharpe.

The pastor, the Rev. W. G. Fletcher, B.A., spoke briefly and introduced the guest speaker, the Rev. Arthur Packman, of St. Paul's, Carmel, who spoke on "The Value of Religion in the Home." He based his message on a recent Sunday School lesson, where the grandfather set a proud example, but the son forgot his religion, and the grandson lost his living standards.

Following the service a "Fellowship Hour" was held in the church hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell, of Foxboro, visited with Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw on Sunday.

LIGHTNING STRIKES

A bolt of lightning struck along the fence between the property of Mr. A. Wood and Mr. E. McMaster's store early Tuesday evening, setting ablaze dry grass and leaves, but quickly burned out. At the same time going on the McMaster television wires ignited the living room drapes. Mrs. McMaster quickly extinguished the blaze with a pail of water. David McMaster, who was on the lawn, felt shock in one arm and leg.

Miss Sharon Chappell of Foxboro, spent the week-end with Helen Fleming.

The sympathy of this community is extended to the family of the late Jean McAvoy, whose death occurred early Sunday morning. Jean, a lovely, talented young girl, showing much promise, will be sadly missed in the home, the school and the community.

Bronx Bombers Barge Into Cleveland With Fat Lead Over Sox, Indians

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By GEO. H. CARVER, Sports Editor

AFTER ALL!

Being a referee in the National Hockey League is one thing—and holding down the job as the manager of a swank country club is another.

After all being the target of things intangible as well as tangible for sixteen years is liable to make a guy look for something a trifle softer, yet it doesn't seem possible that a fellow could quit at a moment's notice.

And maybe Bill Chadwick, NHL arbiter, may change his mind before another whistle-tooting season rolls around. Bill resigned last April in favor of golf. He was "signed" as manager of the Pine Hollow County Club, a lush course on Long Island.

Bill, the second American-born referee to toil in the National Hockey League—(Bill Stewart, also a baseball umpire, was the first)—reckons it is much safer outdoors on the fairways than on the ice in a hockey rink when the fans line their sights and missiles on hapless officials.

But, Bill says, "I quit because there is a better future in what I'm doing. "I'll never knock hockey. Yet it is one sport where the fans do get out of hand. It is a good thing they put beer and soft drinks in paper cups at most arenas these days."

Chadwick got the Bronx cheer from Gotham fans, he says, "because I was a native New Yorker. They used to throw beer cans on the ice."

At one time, Chadwick recalls, Chicago fans tossed a cardboard box on the ice. When it hit the ice a big rabbit leaped out and scampered all over the place. The late Bill Barilko of the Toronto Maple Leafs picked it up and threw it back into the crowd.

In Chicago the fans thought up a new gimmick. Someone tossed a deck of playing cards that slithered all over the ice and held up the game for some thirty minutes. The "joker" was never found.

A Detroit wag once tossed a live octopus or a squid on the ice, which wriggled its way on the strange surface as the crowd howled.

In Montreal, professional hockey is a boon to dentists and shoe factories. The fans down that way, Chadwick says, have a habit of throwing false teeth and overshoes when official decisions irk them. Their bark was worse than their bite.

Genteel Toronto fans had a softness in their hearts towards the arbiters. They disdained from throwing anything but programs at the sweater-and-whistle brigade.

The Nob Hillers and Back Bay boys from tea-party Boston had other ideas. Every hockey night was a Fourth of July to the rabid bean-eaters. They hurled fire-crackers (half-inchers) and paper bags filled with salt on the ice. The salt would tend to melt the ice and slow down the game. Such cads!

"But," Bill says: "I cannot complain. A hockey referee is the best paid official in sports, and that goes for major league baseball. I took a lot of abuse in the days of the one-referee rule, but the new rules have made it a great sport to work."

He said a penalized player no longer can talk back to the referee. The umps has the backing of the league. It makes the job easier and it takes off the pressure.

Chadwick entered the arbiter game in a strange way. He was playing for a high school team in Gotham when it won the New York city championship. During a league game the referee failed to show up, so Bill took off his shinguards and grabbed a whistle.

Chadwick had one loyal fan, who agreed with every decision he made. It was his father, "Dad" always wanted Bill to be in the big leagues regardless of what phase of sport.

"Dad got a big kick out of watching me work," says Bill. "He was disappointed when I quit. He agreed with every call I made."

"There was one time when Dad was certain I made the right call," Chadwick recalls. "I penalized Micky Adelson in the Madison Square Gardens. When I skated past the penalty box, Adelson started a fight with me. Dad jumped out of his seat, leaped into the penalty box and started throwing fists on my behalf."

BASEBALL!

Tomorrow night Al Kelleher's Haggis junior baseballers take on Dick Fitzpatrick's Picton Lightfoots at Exhibition Park. 'Joe's Kids" won a neat 9-1 victory in their last performance behind the tight hurling of St. Denis and they should give the alleged powerful Picton crew a run for the money tomorrow night.

The Little Spain crew handed Al' boys an 8-1 defeat in the opening game of the year but since that time they've had plenty of extra drills and have tasted the sweet fruits of victory, so it could be an altogether different story come 6.30 tomorrow night.

These kids come up with a fast, exciting brand of baseball and Kelleher has them hustling every inch of the way, so how about getting out and giving some well-deserved support?

Stengeleers Whip Tigers 7-3 As Boston Totters Tribe 4-2; Roberts 3-Hits Cards for 9th

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Are the New York Yankees being conned into a false sense of security, or is that really a bunch of dead Injuns back there in third place in the American League?

The next three days may tell. The Yanks move into Cleveland tonight for a four-game series against the tribe.

Having disposed of a two-game losing string by beating Detroit 7-3 Thursday, the Bombers barge into Municipal Stadium with a fat five-game lead over the second-place Chicago White Sox and a 5½-game spread over the Clevelands, who lost their third straight to Boston, 4-2.

INDIANS NOSEDIVED

That's the best Yank margin yet, and it comes as a surprise. A week ago, when they were three games up, it looked like New York would be lucky to reach Cleveland still in the lead. The Yankees had eight games to play against Chicago and Detroit, both first division clubs, while the Indians were entertaining two second raters, Washington and Boston, for seven games.

But the Yanks split the two series, playing .500 ball, while the Indians won just once. All of which leaves Cleveland in a state of shock.

Manager Casey Stengel goes into Cleveland playing the percentages. He needed a victory Thursday, so he called on Whitey Ford (7-1), presumably passing him over for the Indians' series.

Ford didn't go all the way, Jim Konstanty winning his third game in relief, but Stengel got the victory he wanted, gaining a half game on the White Sox who were rained out of a doubleheader with Baltimore.

In the other Al game, Kansas City won 4-2 over Washington.

ROBIN ROBERTS GOOD

In the National, Chicago Cubs beat Pittsburgh 6-2 and Robin Roberts defeated St. Louis with a three-hitter 2-0 for Philadelphia

Rain and cold postponed Cincinnati at Brooklyn and Milwaukee at New York.

Eddie Robinson hit his 10th home run (the Yankees' 71st) with two on in a four-run first inning that beat the Tigers.

Three errors beat Cleveland and Herb Score, trying a comeback after his first-inning kayo by Boston Tuesday night. Only one of the Red Sox runs was earned, driven home in the fourth on a double by Frank Sullivan—Who shut out the Tribe on four hits until the ninth when he needed help from Ellis Kinder to win his sixth.

Score, lifted for a pinch-batter in the fifth, fanned nine to boost his league-leading strikeout total to 101.

SENATORS FADING

Washington's second straight defeat at Kansas City pulled the Senators down to sixth behind the Red Sox. Art Ditmar singled home the final two runs to win his third game.

At Philadelphia, Roberts won his ninth, walking none and retiring the first 12 men he faced before giving up the first of the Cards' three singles. Del Ennis had three of the Phils' seven hits off Larry Jackson.

Paul Minner tossed a six-hitter for the Cubs. Walker Cooper's home run broke up a 2-2 tie in the seventh as Chicago tagged Bob Purkey for 13 hits and his seventh defeat.

The buyer was J. H. N. M. Monaghan Farms, Co., Derby, Colo. Fly Wheel has won half a dozen stakes races, and about $120,000.

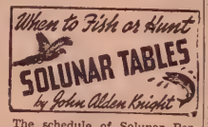
DeMarco Rated Underdog In Basilio Fight

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Welterweight champion Tony DeMarco of Boston invades Carmen Basilio's home territory tonight as a 17-to-10 underdog for the 15-round title fight at the War Memorial Auditorium.

It's turnabout for the chunky, 23-year-old Bostonian. Last April 1 he grabbed the 147-pound title on his home grounds by stopping Johnny Saxton in 14 rounds at the Boston Garden.

The swarthy son of a shoeworker isn't dismayed by the odds. He made a joke of the wise money by whipping Saxton, a 4-to-1 favorite making the first defence of the crown he won from Kid Gavilan.

Tony said he is confident of winning but his handlers go him one better. They believe DeMarco will win by a knockout in his first title defence even though the 28-year-old challenger never has been stopped.



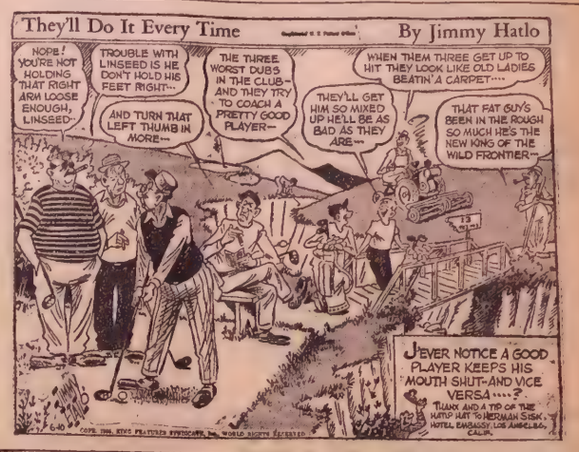
"Neither was Saxton until he met Tony," said Sammy Fuller, DeMarco's trainer. "Tony is greatly underestimated. He has the punch to put away Basilio."

Basilio's handlers feel the same way about their fighter.

"Carmen by a knockout," said Johnny Dejohn, Basilio's co-manager.

The fight was sold out shortly after promoter Norm Rothschild announced the ticket sale. Rothschild, co-promoting with the International Boxing Club, has a 9,100-seat and $115,000 sellout.

In addition, the coast-to-coast radio broadcast and telecast (both NBC) for the 10 p.m. EDT scrap will add another $50,000 to the pot.



The schedule of Solunar Periods as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

Mike Goliat's Big Bat Pacing Leafs, Eighth Homer Breaks Up 3-All Tie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Infielder Mike Goliat, who helped the Philadelphia Phillies win the 1950 National League pennant, is enjoying his best season in baseball since leaving the Phils in 1951.

Goliat's big bat is one of the reasons Toronto Maple Leafs are still front runners in the International League pennant race.

The 30-year-old second baseman has been hitting at a .330 clip and has smacked eight home runs.

His eighth homer came Thursday night to break a 3-3 tie with the Richmond Virginians and gave Toronto a 4-3 victory in the first game of a doubleheader. Richmond came back to take the nightcap 7-6, with four runs in the eighth.

JETS ON HOT STREAK

In other games, Columbus Jets won their sixth straight by edging Montreal Royals 5-4. A ninth-inning home run by Ben Tompkins gave Syracuse Chiefs a 3-2 victory over Buffalo Bisons and Emilio Cueche allowed only four hits to lead Havana Sugar Kings to an 8-1 triumph over Rochester Red Wings.

Goliat's home run came in the final inning after Toronto catcher Lou Berberet had smacked a two-run homer to tie the score at 3-3 in the fifth. It was Goliat's sixth home run in seven games against the Virginians. Johnny Hetki limited Rochester to four hits in gaining his third victory of the season, while Mario Picone went down to his sixth loss.

In the second game Toronto held a 6-1 lead, with the help of catcher Don Griffin's three-run homer, going into the seventh. Richmond picked up a pair in the seventh and exploded for four in the eighth, to wrap up the game.

HOMER BEATS ROYALS

Bill Stewart's two-run homer in the seventh inning capped a four-run uprising by Columbus. The Royals had built up an early lead on home runs by Bobby Wilson and Clyde Parris.

Tompkin's circuit shot enabled Syracuse to move into seventh place, seven percentage points ahead of Buffalo.

Ben Johnson yielded only three hits in gaining his fifth victory against one loss.

Cueche had a two-hitter going into the ninth inning when Vern Benson homered for Rochester's lone run.

Olympics Team To Get Grant

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's 1956 Olympics team will receive $60,000 in a special federal grant forecast in supplementary estimates for 1955-56 tabled Thursday in the Commons.

The grant to the Canadian Olympic Association is to help defray expenses of the Canadian team, estimated at $206,504.

The association, which asked for a federal grant of $60,000—compared with $40,000 in past years—hopes to raise $212,900, including the grant.

It estimated that $167,748 will be spent for the Canadians at the summer games in Melbourne, while the winter games at Cortina, Italy will cost $29,556.

Sam Snead's Golf School

5. This is a full shot with wood so the ball is played well forward. Notice that this player's hands are high. They bisect the distance between the back of his head and right shoulder. This is all to the good. The bad point here is that he has overswung! So he'll find it hard to get the clubhead to the ball at the right instant. His right side is straight as it should be. His right leg is straight too, but the knee is not locked. That's right. His left knee has moved in toward his right and his raised left heel keeps his knees even. That prevents left side sag. He has a good firm grip on the ground with his left too. This player has kept his eyes on the ball. He has made a full shoulder pivot so that the back of his shoulders "faces" the hole and he's made a complete hip pivot. Now he's all ready to go. And let's hope that overswing doesn't spoil his shot.

Fifteen Teams Form Minor Ball Organization

Fifteen teams are expected to form the Belleville Minor Baseball Association for the 1955 season including six pee wee, five bantam and four midget squads it was learned today.

A., coached by Dave Lockyer, Houston Lumber with Mel Richards at the helm, Ernie Young's Stewart Warner and Elliott's, coached by George Digby. Any players of midget age are asked to contact one of the coaches.

All players are asked to get in touch with their coaches to learn practice dates.

Following are a list of the pee wee and bantam teams, their players, managers and coaches. Parkdale Pee Wee and Point Anne Bantam players names are not available.

Battle Brews In Western Lacrosse Circles

VANCOUVER (CP) — A battle brewed in lacrosse circles today after the president of the Canadian Lacrosse Association slapped the wrist of the Ontario body.

The Ontario group said four players who signed with British Columbia clubs would not be eligible for Mann Cup playoff spots and refused transfer applications for them.

Dr. Frank Kenny, president of the Canadian body, said Thursday the CLA and not the OLA will decide which players will be eligible.

The players in question are Jim McNulty and Derry Davies, both with Nanaimo Timbermen, and Bob Dobbie and Feewee Bradshaw, with Victoria Shamrocks.

"They are eligible to play in the inter-city setup and will be until we have made a decision," Dr. Kenny said.

OLA secretary Chuck Rowan was quoted Wednesday night as saying that before a player can transfer to another league he must obtain permission from the league in which he is playing. Since the OLA refused permission, the CLA would have to follow suit.

"I don't see how they can hold them," Dr. Kenny said. "Bradshaw Davies and McNulty complied with the CLA rulings before moving. Dobbie didn't but has since."

Dr. Kenny said he didn't know how long it would take before a final decision was handed down. Any decision, he said, would have to be delayed until the OLA submitted a verbal complaint.

"It all depends on how long it takes for the OLA to notify us," he said.

'Fairator Will Win Plate,' At Least So His Owner Says

TORONTO (CP) — Raw-boned Jim Fair, the Cainsville farmer who likes to speak his piece, says flatly: "My horse Fairator will win the Queen's Plate. I'm not afraid of any horse in the race."

That's some mouthful, but Big Jim Thursday sized up the 10 other thoroughbreds likely to start in the $20,000-added classic at Woodbine racetrack Saturday and called his bay gelding to take the Queen's 50 guineas and a pot of cash.

He's the only owner around who calls his choice without hedging. Others agree with him on Fairator but to a point. The experts think Fairator will be up against too much class opposing horses as Toronto-owned Senator Jim, Ace Martine and Loyalist.

The bookmakers have made Fairator a 6-to-1 choice. Fair, who owns a farm near the southwestern Ontario town of Cainsville, says it doesn't mean a thing. He's still counting on Fairator picking up the winner's share of the purse in Canada's richest stake — about $251,000.

It might be worthwhile listening to him. Folks around here remember Plate Day in 1948 when Last Mark, a Fair horse upset the field. And only Big Jim called the shot. Last Mark's win, in the record time of 1:52 over the 1¼-mile distance, provided Jim with $11,260.

Pompey KO's Ivano Fontana

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP)—Yolande Pompey of Trinidad knocked out Ivano Fontana, Italian light heavyweight champion, in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round match Thursday night. Pompey weighed 172, Fontana 175¾.

Pompey was a replacement for Randy Turpin, British lightheavy champion, who this week underwent an operation for appendicitis.

Mel Brown, St. Paul, Minn., light heavyweight, was taken to hospital with a possible concussion and eye injury after being stopped in a scheduled 10-round fight by Ron Barton of London.

Barton, 170, undefeated in 17 professional fights, battered Brown, 166¾, to the canvas for a nine count in the second and had him bloody and groggy when the bout was stopped after two minutes of the sixth round.

Beaches Will Rely Strictly On Homebrews

TORONTO (CP) — Toronto's Balmy Beaches football team will play this year without imports.

Beach president Sam Shefsky made the announcement Thursday after the Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four said they will not support the Beaches — their Ontario Rugby Football Union farm team —this season.

Shefsky said he and a group of former Beach players will pick up the franchise and run the team but that lack of money will force them to rely entirely upon Canadian players.

"We have an obligation to Sarnia and Kitchener who have already spent money for the coming season," he said. "We're going to do our darnedest to carry on for the good of the league."

Argos, who have maintained the Beaches for the last five years, severed connections with the team because the cost—$30,000 last season—was too high. In those five years they have obtained many fine players from the Beaches team, including Gerry Doucette, Nayland Moll, Oatem Fisher, Merv Collins and Jack McGee.

Fergus Wins First Game

ST. CATHARINES (CP)—Fergus Thistles won their first game of the Ontario Lacrosse Association's senior league this season by downing St. Catharines Athletics 13-8 Thursday night.

Thistles were backed by the exceptional netminding of goalie Jim Robertson who made 42 stops.

Jim Halls led Thistles with three goals, while Al Garbut, Jack Sibbald, Tony D'Amico and Don Gear got two each. Ken Watkins and Pete Bradkin had one each.

Norm Corcoran scored three for Athletics and Al Frick two. Skip Teal, Bill Allen and Don Moore got the others.

England Leads South Africa

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters) England's cricketers got off to a good start in the first test match against South Africa Thursday, scoring 244 runs for the loss of four wickets.

Five matches will be played in the series, each lasting five days.

Twenty minutes before the close of play, England was 228 for two. Then two more wickets fell quickly.

SHOEMAKER SUSPENDED

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Jockey Willie Shoemaker Thursday was handed a five-day suspension for interference and it may lead to withdrawal of Kentucky Derby winner Swaps from the $100,000 added Californian at Hollywood Park Saturday. The U.S. riding champion has been Swaps' regular jockey in his last three races, including the Derby. Swaps will be racing against older horses for the first time in the 1 1-16-mile Californian.

London Majors Idle Their Way Into First Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

London Majors are proving that it pays to be idle in the Senior Intercounty Baseball League.

Twice in the past week Majors have found themselves perched atop the standings without lifting a bat. A week ago they were in second place behind Oshawa Merchants. Merchants lost while London was inactive and slipped to second spot behind Majors. This week Oshawa climbed over London by winning a game on a night when Majors weren't in action.

Thursday night Majors were again having a rest but moved back into first place as Brantford Red Sox handed Merchants a 4-3 setback. In another game, Kitchener Panthers defeated Galt Terriers 7-4.

In the Oshawa contest, a pair of runs in each of the second and fifth innings provided Red Sox with the winning margin. The winners were outhit 8-6 by Merchants and made three errors. Oshawa's downfall was the nine men left on base. Playing-manager Roy Lefevre helped Oshawa with a bases-empty homer in the seventh.

USED THREE PITCHERS

Harry Fisher, Brantford hurler, lasted until the eighth inning when Don Robertson relieved him. Oshawa used three pitchers.

At Kitchener, righthander John Maldovan went the route for the winners. He gave up eight scattered hits and struck out five. Teammate Dolph Regalski, shortstop, helped matters by driving home three runs although he only had one single in three trips to the plate. Panthers tallied three times in the fifth frame and added singles in the first, third, sixth and seventh. Galt put together two runs in each of the first and sixth stanzas.

Jim Martin started pitching the game for Galt but was taken out in the seventh inning when leftfielder Don Lumley came into the game. It was Galt's eighth loss in 10 decisions this season.

Tonight London invades St. Thomas for a single game against Elgins.

Frisky Filly Wins Race After Frolic

BELMONT, N.Y. (CP)—The bettors installed Aiming High as favorite in Thursday's fourth race at Belmont Park, a 4½-furlong affair for maiden fillies.

On the way to the post, Aiming High reared, turned and straddled the infield fence. Jockey Paul Bailey, eyeing an ugly-looking pile of benches dead ahead, slid out of the saddle.

The filly reared again, returned to the track and galloped a brisk three furlongs, much to the bettors' dismay, before the outriders grabbed her. Bailey climbed back aboard and the horses entered the gate.

Unabashed, Aiming High galloped another 4½ furlongs to win by a length over the eight-horse field. Her backers pocketed a hard-earned $5.90 for their $2.

TWO DIE IN FALL

MONTREAL (CP) — Two men died Thursday in hospital of injuries suffered when they fell to the pavement from a suspended platform while plastering a wall. They were identified as Robert Guillemette, 29, and Rene Cloutier, 40.

Dodgers Sell Joe Black To Redlegs

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (AP)—Brooklyn baseball club Thursday sold pitcher Joe Black, who won 15 games in 1952, to Cincinnati Redlegs for a reported $20,000 in cash and a player to be named in the next couple of days.

The club declined to disclose the amount of cash involved but sources close to the Dodgers put the figure at $20,000.

Black, 31, went into a slump after his impressive 1952 season, winning only seven games since. His record this year is 1-0.

In 1953 Black won six games and lost three and last year was shipped to Montreal where he had a 12-10 record.

He started the 1952 world series against New York Yankees and won one and lost two during the series. He also was voted the National Lague's rookie of the year for 1952.

Black broke in with Montreal in 1951 when he won seven and lost nine in 26 games.

Nothing Takes Paper's Place In Advertising Says Official

By WAYNE OLIVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawrence Valenstein is breaking a television tradition in hopes of setting the record straight about advertising agencies and executives.

The president of Grey Advertising Agency particularly wants to debunk the concept of the typical ad-agency executive as a fast-stepping, smooth-talking huckster who transacts most of his business on the golf course or over a martini.

So NBC will take viewers inside his agency for the telecast of "Mr. Executive" Saturday to see how ad campaigns for newspapers, magazines, radio and TV are planned. The show is one of a series on various business fields.

"The impression of the business as a wild and fabulous haven has been drawn entirely, it seems to me, from bad books, bad motion pictures and bad plays," declares the veteran of 37 years in the field.

"The people in advertising, by and large, are as sincere, hard-working individuals as you'll find."

Does he foresee the time when some of the present forms of advertising will be completely replaced by newer ones, such as TV?

"I foresee a continuing use of all major media," he says. "And there's nothing that will take the place of the newspaper."

One of the most drastic revisions in network radio programming since TV came on the scene is scheduled for NBC this weekend.

The NBC radio network, starting 4 p. m. EDT Sunday, will launch its new weekend service entitled "Monitor" will start at 8 a. m. Saturday and continue straight through to Sunday midnight.

One feature will be frequent pick-ups of news and entertainment from all parts of the world.

However effective it may prove to be, it's one of the most drastic steps taken yet by a radio network to counteract TV's continued encroachment on radio audiences, particularly at night.

NORRIS INSTALLED

NEW YORK (AP)—Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club and part owner of Chicago Stadium, Thursday was formally elected president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation in a realignment of officials.

Six directors, including Bernard Gimbel of the department store family who had been chairman of the board, resigned and their places were not filled. The board will function with only nine members.

AT THE McCARTHY

Elia Kazan's "East of Eden" Opening Today.

"East of Eden," Elia Kazan's production of John Steinback's best-selling novel, will premiere locally today at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

"East of Eden," in CinemaScope and WarnerColor, stars Julie Harris as Abra and introduces James Dean as Cal in what is said to be one of the most brilliant performances of any new star since Marlon Brando's advent. Raymond Massey, distinguished veteran of stage and screen, has the role of Adam Trask, the father, in this film-play of twisted emotions and loyalties. Burl Ives, and Richard Davalos who plays Cal's twin brother Aron, head the capable supporting cast.

While the screenplay by Paul Osborn only concerns itself with the last part of the monumental novel, the studio advises that every tension of the complete novel has been successfully retained in this story of the love of two brothers for the same girl, the jealousy generated by the father's rejection of one son's love, and the emotional turmoil created by the brothers' discovery that their mother, long thought dead, is the notorious "Kate," proprietress of the "house on the hill."

The film marks the return to the Warner Bros. lot of Elia Kazaan whose most recently directed effort was the award-winning "On the Waterfront." His first directorial assignment for Warner Bros. was "Streetcar Named Desire," which made a star of Marlon Brando. Now Kazan predicts the same sensational stardom for James Dean. Advance notices on his performance in "East of Eden" would seem to bear him out.

"Highway Dragnet"

Joan Bennett, a freelance magazine photographer, and her model, Wanda Hendrix, are on assignment to cover western resorts. In Las Vegas they meet Richard Conte, just discharged from the marine corps, who is hitch-hiking to the home of a friend near the Salton sea. Mary Beth Hughes, a one-time model known casually by Conte, is found murdered; Conte is suspected of having killed her and, riding with Joan and Wanda, is the object of a five-state manhunt. Conte and the two women reach the home of his friend, but find the house awash from the rising waters of the Salton sea, flooded by drainage canals. The police close in and Joan, suddenly made violent by panic, is revealed to have murdered the girl, who had driven Joan's husband to suicide.

Jane Russell Refuses to Live Up to Reputation Off Screen

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Jane Russell continues to confound the typecasters by refusing to live up to her film siren reputation off the screen.

Jane has never been loquacious about her movie career, but get her started on a topic dear to her heart like WAIF and she'll talk from now until Tuesday.

Between scenes of "The Tall Men", which she is making with Clark Gable, she explained her great interest in WAIF. The initials stand for Women's Adoption International Fund.

"The organization was set up three years ago," said Jane, one of its leaders. "There seemed to be a real need for a group which could attend to one of the world's most pressing human problems. That is, that there are areas in the world where people want children, and there are other areas where children need parents.

"The purpose of WAIF is to help these two groups get together."

WAIF operates as an arm of International Social Service, Inc., a 35-year-old organization with headquarters in Geneva.

"One of our principle problems is adoption laws," she explained. "Most of them were enacted merely as a protection against white slavery. There are 33 different adoption laws in this country, and many of them are pretty poor. We hope all of the states will adopt a standard up-to-date code for adoptions.

"Finding parents is no problem—we have 10 prospective parents for every available child. What we need is money to promote our work. We get some contributions at WAIF, but a cause like this requires a personal approach.

"We're planning a weekly entertainment show on TV with the proceeds going to WAIF. Also in the works are a feature picture and a cartoon. And plans are under way to promote an annual WAIF ball."

Jane became interested in adoption matters when she encountered difficulty adopting children herself. She and Bob Waterfield now have a daughter Tracy, 4, adopted here, and Tommy, 5, from a British couple who felt he would have more advantages in the United States.

EXCHANGE WINS

MANCHESTER, England (AP)—Britain and India each won a match Thursday in the opening of their third-round European Davis Cup tennis series. Roger Becker, 21, beat Naresh Kumar, India's 26-year-old captain, 6-2, 7-9, 6-2, 6-3. Ramanathan Krishnan, 18-year-old Indian, surprised Tony Mottram, Britain's No. 1 player, in straight sets 6-4, 6-0, 6-2.

AT THE BELLE — Singing Star Jane Powell follows her recent hit in "Seven Brides for Seven Brothers", with another hit role in "Hit the Deck", M-G-M's big 1955 CinemaScope musical in color, set to songs by Vincent Youmans. Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Saturday, June 11, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — All activities, whether business or personal, can move forward to creditable ends if you are alert to trends. Encourage others; the more others prosper, the more do you.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Those engaged in buying, selling, building and manufacturing should be content with moderate returns to-day. Don't push things beyond reasonable possibilities.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — New ventures can be made workable, if carefully checked first. Don't fear to tackle hard jobs. And don't forget that diplomacy reaps rich rewards.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — In your desire to be helpful to others, don't neglect any important matters, — either personal or business. Take up your way, resolutely, with faith in God's goodness.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — Certain developments may conflict with your views, rouse resentment. Be careful; weigh well. Are you right in your deductions? Think twice.

August 23 to September 23 — (Virgo) — Your planetary outlook presages a happy, progressive mood. There should be fruitful results for better trys, sound management. Coordinate your talents, reasoning and wisdom to achieve.

September 24 to October 23 — (Libra) — Don't expect too much today, especially from routine duties. You'll have to put extra effort to whatever you try. Avoid a tendency toward nervous haste, impatience; it deflects possible gains.

October 24 to November 22 — (Scorpio) — Fairly encouraging for those of you who are unselfish. For others there will be obstacles. Buckle down consistently. Day generally sponsors personal affairs, children's interests, social matters.

November 23 to December 22 — (Sagittarius) — Things may be at a standstill up to Noon. After that, many things may happen — and all at once. So be alert, ready to get on the bandwagon of opportunity; you could profit greatly.

December 23 to January 21 — (Capricorn) — Friendly rays for essential matters, teaching, study, building, electrical and machine work. Worthwhile efforts can be productive now. Be watchful always.

January 22 to February 20 — (Aquarius) — Be wise today; profit by others' mistakes and by past experiences. For youth, we suggest that you seek vocational guidance in desired fields; don't ever be discouraged.

February 21 to March 20 — (Pisces) — The mature will keep a watchful eye on the purse strings now. Allocate tasks so as to get everything possible for your efforts.

You born today are usually blessed with tremendous vitality, seldom give up or in until you have made your point, gained your share. But watch carefully that you don't start one thing, then switch to another. Finish what you start. You are practical and tenacious but dislike being told what to do or how to do it. With your versatility, you could do well in many fields. Select your course thoughtfully — then full speed ahead! You love fun, travel; 1955 still offers much. Birthdate of: John Constable, noted painter; Richard Strauss, German composer.

BAN RED TRADE

GUATEMALA CITY (AP)—The Guatemalan ministry of finance announced Tuesday a ban on trade with Communist countries. A ministry statement said the action was taken "to defend its economy" and because the governments in those countries represent the opposite of Guatemala's "own genuinely democratic tradition."

MURDOCH NOMINATED

CLEVELAND (CP)—Walter M. Murdoch of Toronto Tuesday was nominated without opposition as executive committeeman for Canada of the American Federation of Musicians at the union's 58th annual convention. Elections will be held later this week and Mr. Murdoch's re-election is virtually assured.

RESCUE 8 IN DISTRESS

TOKYO (AP)—A Japanese coast guard boat today entered Soviet territorial waters off northeastern Hokkaido to rescue eight Japanese fishermen, a spokesman for the Maritime Safety Board reported. The spokesman said the patrol boat went to the rescue "without permission from Russia." He said the fishing boat Kaneta-Maru sank near the uninhabited Harukari island in the Habomai group.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and Glasses Magee took a Sunday walk with the bewty looking twins yesterday, me walking in frunt with one and Glasses walking in back with the other one. Their names being Flora and Dora, and I thought, Heck, I wish I knew which one I was walking with, but there's no use asking her.

Which there wasn't, on account of them always trying to make us guess and then not even telling us whether we guessed right or not. Being their idea of something funny, and I thought, I know what I'm going to do, I'll suddinly call her Flora while she's not thinking.

And I said, Hay Flora?

What? she quick said, and I said, Oh, nuthing. And I said, Oh boy, she fell in the trap, she's Flora all right.

And pritty soon I thought, Maybe I better suddinly call her Dora, just to make sure.

And I said, Hay Dora?

What? she said, and I said, Aw heck.

Making her giggel as if she thought she was pritty smart. Which she is, and after they had to go home for luntch I said to Glasses, Which one were you walking with, do you know?

No, I called her Dora and I called her Flora and she ansered both times, Glasses said, and I said, That's what happened to me. Oh well, we had fun, anyways. Everybody terned around to admire how cute they looked, both alike and everything, I said.

Sure, what's the diffrence about their names, there's no use being too fussy, Glasses said.

Making us feel partly better but not perfect.

Sunday School Lesson:

Delinquency an Adult Problem

By ROY L. SMITH

Fundamentally speaking, the problem of juvenile crime is an adult problem. Our young people did not make the world in which they find themselves; they were thrust into it and are trying to live in it and have a good time. If in the effort to enjoy life they sometimes make tragic mistakes, the generation which furnished their world for them will have to take some part of the blame. If they find their way aright, their elders must lead that way themselves.

TRADITION OF GREAT GRANDFATHER

In spite of a few shabby spots in his life, David was a great king, all inspiring leader, and a man generally godly. He had been dead for several hundred years when the young king Josiah came to the throne, and something of his spirit hovered about the Holy City like a guardian angel. It is the highest possible tribute that could have been paid to David that, when later historians wanted to extol a king, they said he "walked in the ways of his father David." Time showed great charity for the hot-blooded sins of which he had been shamefully guilty, and when the people thought of their finest and best their minds ran back to the shepherd king. Let no godly man despair. His godliness is never wasted. It crops out again and again in later generations.

SICKENED OF SIN

There is no explanation in the scripture of the process by which the fine young king was trained in godliness and decency. It is quite probable that he had been sickened by sin as he had seen it exemplified in his father, and especially his grandfather Manasseh. Outrageous living can have that effect. In fact, it does, very often.

"I have seen enough of liquor. I saw what it did to my dad, and so help me God, never a drop for me!" Such was the testimony of one young man who had been a helpless witness to a lifetime of drunkenness.

"I watched my mother's heart break, and there wasn't a thing I could do about it. But I made up my mind that I would build a different kind of home for the girl I loved," said another young man, just launching out on his career.

"My father tried to give it some soft names, but the hard facts were that he was stingy— just plain stingy, and his money gave him so little satisfaction, I made up my mind I would find some better way of managing money, and I think I have." And with that a rising young community leader, already enjoying a reputation for generosity, explained his selfless life.

The Uniform Sunday School Lesson for June 12: "Young King Josiah," II Chronicles 34: Nahum.

It called for a deep conviction, and vast courage, but Josiah made a success of it. He broke the chain that bound him to a sinful and shameless past, and became great by his own conscience and effort.

BREAKING DOWN, BUILDING UP

There have been many reforms in this old world of ours that have failed because they exhausted themselves in breaking down old evils, so that they had no interest in building up new virtues. It is not enough to pass laws forbidding the use and sale of narcotics. The adult population of every community must find some way of opening the gates of life so that youth will run out into green pastures. In order to make our fortunes we have built too many factories where playgrounds ought to be. We have commercialized too much amusement. We have taken too much interest in the children's nickels and too little interest in their future citizenship. It's an adult problem all along the way, and the children are getting the blame for it.

TO THE
CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION
FOR ESTABLISHING A PERMANENT

HALL OF FAME

TO HONOUR CANADIAN ATHLETES

A permanent Hall of Fame to perpetuate the memory of Canada's great athletes will be established at the Canadian National Exhibition. For the present, the Canadian Sports Hall of Fame will be housed in temporary quarters in the remaining building of Stanley Barracks, just west of the C.N.E. Automotive Building. However, in the near future, a permanent new building will be erected on the C.N.E. Grounds to serve as the official home of Canada's Sports Hall of Fame. In establishing this tribute to great Canadian athletes, the Canadian National Exhibition will be bringing due recognition to these outstanding men and women who have brought fame to our country through their memorable athletic achievements. Two New Programs For Peaceful Use Of Atoms Outlined Eisenhower Proposes U.S. Provide Money, 'Know-How'

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) President Eisenhower, outlining two new atoms-for-peace programs, proposed today that the United States provide money and "know-how" to help the free world obtain atomic research and power reactors.

The president suggested that the U.S. pay half the cost of the research reactors, and he called the twin programs "the gateway to a broad avenue of world progress in the peaceful uses of atomic energy."

In a major address prepared for delivery at Pennsylvania State University's centennial commencement exercises, he added:

"Our purpose is to spark the creative and inventive skills latent in the free world, to pool them and put them to work for the betterment of conditions under which men must live."

Eisenhower appealed anew to Russia to join in his 1953 atoms-for-peace program, and seemed to be making the appeal to the Russian people rather than what he called "their Communist overlords."

The president said he will submit his two new programs to Congress for approval "in the conviction that they reflect the spirit and intent of law and of the American people."

The president gave no estimate of the cost of the program, but he said it will be "small indeed when measured against the certain returns, tangible and intangible."

The U.S. already has entered into atoms-for-peace agreements with Turkey, Lebanon, Israel, Italy, Spain, Switzerland, Denmark, Colombia, Brazil and Argentina, and is negotiating additional pacts.

"Now we move in further action," the president declared. Then he set forth the two new programs.

They are directed specifically to "free nations" of the world, but the president at one point seemed to be appealing to the Russian people over the heads of the Kremlin dictators.

"Surely those of the Russian people—who, despite their Communist overlords, still think for themselves and who still retain respect for human dignity — are moved by the same feelings as we," Eisenhower said.

"I still hope earnestly that the Soviet Union may join in an international effort to harness the atom for man's good. But I have such unlimited confidence in the creativeness of free minds and in the capacity of free men that I know we will, with or without the Soviets, achieve a more abundant life for those who join together in this historic venture."

EXCEEDS OBJECTIVE

TORONTO (CP) — James Cardinal McGuigan's jubilee campaign has exceeded its $3,000,000 objective by $825,000, it was announced Friday. The campaign is a fund-raising drive to celebrate the 25th anniversary of the date the Toronto cardinal became a Roman Catholic bishop.

Sightseeing Bus Catches Fire, Two Are Burned

OSNABRUECK, Germany (AP) A sightseeing bus packed with 43 Dutch children caught fire and exploded today, killing two of the passengers and injuring 21 others.

Police chief Paul Curtze said an earlier report of four deaths was erroneous, caused by a double count of the fatalities.

All the children were members of a youth choir from Den Ham in The Netherlands. The condition of five of the injured was described as critical.

A police report said the fire was caused presumably by gasoline leaking from two spare cans stored behind the driver's seat.

Drift from Land Debate Subject

OTTAWA (CP) — The government should do something to stop the drift from the land and point out to the young the advantages of country life, a farmer-parliamentarian from Prince Edward Island told the Commons Friday night.

Angus MacLean (PC — Queens) said there has been a "tendency to educate our children away from the farm and the country."

The government should circulate a good film showing the advantages of the country, which now offered most of the amenities of city life.

"In the last 40 years, he said during an agriculture debate, almost 4,000 P.E.I. farms have gone out of business. This land now was idle and becoming useless scrub.

EFFORTS TO END BRITISH STRIKE AT CRUCIAL STAGE

Report Government Offers Wage Increase

LONDON (Reuters) — Efforts to end Britain's crippling two-week-old rail strike entered the crucial stage today, with the success of settlement attempts hinging largely on the attitude of a non-striking union.

The government commission which runs the nationalized rail system is understood to have offered the 70,000 striking engineers and firemen cash pay increases in a bid to end the strike.

The question now is whether the non-striking National Union of Railwaymen will demand increases for other classes of workers in the industry. A decrease in the differential between engine crews and other workers set off the strike.

Meanwhile, the 22,000-ton liner Saxonia and the 13,00-ton Media, both of the Cunard line, were expected to sail from Liverpool this afternoon, the first trans Atlantic liners to leave the port since a seaman's strike started there 11 days ago.

A dock strike, which has been tying up work on ships in the ports of London, Liverpool, Birkenhead, Garston, Manchester and Hull, is expected to drag on for a few more days.

The strike is over demands by the small Stevedores' Union for equal negotiating rights in ports outside London with the big Transport Workers Union.

8 Resolutions Are Accepted

LONDON (CP)—Eight Canadian resolutions submitted to the 13th biennial conference of the British Empire Service League have been accepted.

Osmond F. Howe of Ottawa, an associate delegate with the five-man Canadian group, said there was no "significant discussion" preceding passage of the resolutions from the Canadian Legion.

These included:

A request that the league approach the British government again about compensation for recipients of British disability pensions who now live in Canada, and whose pensions have suffered by devaluation of the pound sterling.

A request that the league seek an adjustment in the method used to determine the rate of British income tax paid, with a view to easing this burden on widows and elderly pensioners now living in Canada.

A request that aged parents living since the Second World War with sons or daughters in Canada be eligible for increases in British contributory old age pensions.

BEER MAKERS RETURN

TOKYO (Reuters) — A major crisis for Japan's millions of beer drinkers ended today when 9,000 workers at the Korean breweries decided to halt a five-day wage strike. Many large beer halls in Tokyo had run out of draught beer and been forced to close their doors.

Raft Voyage Will Test Old Legend Of Indian Who 'Discovered' Portugal

MONTREAL (CP) — An ocean adventure inspired by an ancient legend is due to begin some time this afternoon.

Four young men are scheduled to leave the nearby Longueuil Boating Club aboard a 26 feet by 14 feet home-made raft on which they hope to cross the north Atlantic.

"Our attempt is inspired by the story of an Indian who was found stranded on the coasts of Portugal before Columbus," says Henri Beaudcut, 28, skipper and organizator of the expedition. "A pirogue, a type of canoe hewn of a tree trunk, was found too. It was assumed by later historians that he had crossed the ocean.

"We want to prove the truth of that theory, even though we will use a raft."

Other members of the crew are Bernard Sorieul, 24, navigator; Gaston Vanackere, 28, cameraman, all free-natives of France; and Paul Lapointe, 24, radio operator, the only Canadian.

The young adventurers hope to float down the St. Lawrence river and reach Europe by following the Gulf Stream along the 45th parallel, taking advantage of favorable winds.

The squat vessel, which cost more than $5,000 to build, is equipped only with a rectangular sail, 18 feet by 10 feet, and a small wooden rudder. Contact with the outside world will be maintained by means of two small radio transmitters with a 500-mile range.

Although the crossing might last more than 2½ months, supplies for only six weeks have been piled up in the small wooden hut which also serves as sleeping quarters. The men hope to gather the balance of their food from the sea.

Three Select Committees Will Be Named at Special Session

TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's newly-elected legislature will meet for a brief session in July to reconstitute three select committees whose work was unfinished at the dissolution of the last legislature.

Premier Frost said Friday that a session is necessary to replace two men, W. J. Grummett, CCF, and Dr. S. F. Leaveine, a Progressive Conservative, who lost their seats in the election. There is a possibility that a new committee to study conservation will also be created.

The new provincial House is heavily weighed by Progressive Conservatives. They won 83 of the 98 seats. And probably can count on the support of James Dempsey, Independent Progressive Conservative for Renfrew South.

The committees were studying the problems of toll roads, smoke abatement and car liens.

At the same time, the premier said he has given no consideration to shuffling his cabinet. All but one of his ministers were returned.

Mr Frost said in an interview he does not intend to wait until fall to call a special session. Since the members have just been through an election, he said, he will give them a breathing space.

"I would like a breather myself," added the 59-year-old premier, who covered more than 7,000 miles in his three-week campaign tour.

However, preparations for the Dominion-provincial conference in the fall will engage his attention almost immediately.

"We want to make an intelligent approach to health and hospital insurance at that conference," he said.

Fiscal arrangements between the federal government and the provinces and farm market problems are other topics due for discussion.

"On unemployment we won't be satisfied just to work out some system of relief at this conference," said Mr. Frost. "We all set our sights higher than that and plan work and development, for there is so much to be done. In the United States there is an upturn again and very high employment and this is a good opportunity for us to work things out. It's better to do it when we have time to figure it out, instead of waiting for the problem to come to us."

U.S. Public Health Service Under Fire from Two Fronts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States public health service was under fire from two quarters today as Surgeon-General Leonard A. Scheele declared "we can go forward," now that the safety of anti-polio vaccine production has been assured by stiffer Washington standards.

Scheele's confident statement came at a press conference Friday after publication of a lengthy "white paper"—a detailed review by the health service of the brief but troubled history of the Salk vaccine program in the U.S.

The surgeon - general conceded that the program "might have come close to the line of safety" in the past. But he said he had no doubts about safety now.

Osmond F. Howe of Ottawa, an associate delegate with the five-man Canadian group, said there was no "significant discussion" preceding passage of the resolutions from the Canadian Legion.

These included:

A request that the league approach the British government again about compensation for recipients of British disability pensions who now live in Canada, and whose pensions have suffered by devaluation of the pound sterling.

A request that the league seek an adjustment in the method used to determine the rate of British income tax paid, with a view to easing this burden on widows and elderly pensioners now living in Canada.

A request that aged parents living since the Second World War with sons or daughters in Canada be eligible for increases in British contributory old age pensions.

BEER MAKERS RETURN

TOKYO (Reuters) — A major crisis for Japan's millions of beer drinkers ended today when 9,000 workers at the Korean breweries decided to halt a five-day wage strike. Many large beer halls in Tokyo had run out of draught beer and been forced to close their doors.

Blades termed it "most unfortunate, misleading and not in the public interest" that "suspicion should be cast on Wyeth vaccine and its routine retesting program and inference be given that Wyeth vaccine is 'suspect.'"

The drug company official said it has been nearly two months since injections with Wyeth vaccine began, and "information available to date does not warrant the implications contained in the statement attributed to Dr. Shannon."

While Scheele reiterated his confidence in the Salk vaccine and voiced optimism, he did not say when he expected the mass immunization of American school children to get back into full forward motion.

Meanwhile the summer speak polio season draws closer, with many localities still awaiting fresh supplies of vaccine with which to inject first- and second-graders.

Winters Forecasts 2,500,000 New Homes in Next 20 Years

MURRAY BAY, Que. (CP) — Works Minister Winters said today Canada will have to build more than 2,500,000 homes in the next 20 years to house a population increase of 11,500,000.

He also told the annual convention of the National Association of Master Plumbers that a record number of homes will be built in Canada this year "unless something of a serious character now unforseen develops."

Mr. Winters estimated that the population of Canada will be about 25,000,000 by 1975. This increase alone would create a need for at least 2,500,000 homes.

"There is, however, a trend that will result in a greater number of houses being required per capita period," he said. "This is the trend of rising real per capita income.

"We will not only have many more families, but the population as a whole is going to be better able to afford housing."

Since 1945 the number of families in Canada had increased by about 30 per cent. However, the number of families in a position to purchase new housing had risen more than 50 per cent in the period.

Mr. Winters said 113,527 houses were started in 1954 and 101,965 completed. Housing starts up to April 30 this year were 7.4 per cent higher than for the same four-month period last year and completions 21.4 per cent higher.

"Applications are presently at a higher rate than last year and unless something of a serious character now unforseen develops we are assured of a new record in the field of housing accomplishment in 1955."

See Possibility Somebody Tried To Wreck Train

CHATHAM (CP) — A fast passenger train hit a steel bar on the tracks 10 miles west of here Friday night.

Police said today they are investigating the possibility that someone tried to wreck the train, the New York Central Railway's Wolverine which has no scheduled stops between Windsor and St. Thomas.

Investigators marvelled that the diesel-powered train was not derailed. Marks on the roadbed indicated the steel bar bounded along under the train for 500 feet before burying itself in the sand between the tracks.

The train was eastbound when it struck the bar near North Buxton. It went on its way after a check.

Officials said the locomotive and cars suffered extensive damage. One passenger was cut by flying glass but remained on the train after treatment.

Section foreman Bill Hudson found the steel bar, identified as a "splice" or rail joiner.

Two joiners were missing from piles of the supplies laid out for track workers.

JOBLESS TO GET BENEFITS UP TO THIRTY-SIX WEEKS

Govt. Raises Maximum Time by Six Weeks

OTTAWA (CP) — The government has yielded on its original intention to reduce to 30 weeks from 51 the maximum period for benefits under its new unemployment insurance plan.

Labor Minister Gregg - Friday moved to change the period to 36 weeks and the Commons agreed, amending a massive bill that revamps the 14-year-old Unemployment Insurance Act.

The government's first decision on a maximum period of 30 weeks for insurance payments had been strongly opposed since the bill was introduced earlier this session. Progressive Conservative and CCF members continued their demand Friday that it remain at 51 weeks.

Mr. Gregg said the government feels it can go no further than 36 weeks. It had agreed to that because of requests by Commons members and labor organizations.

JOBLESS BENEFITS

The Commons wound up clause-by-clause study of the measure which increases the top amounts paid to jobless. Weekly payments will be a maximum $30 for married persons and $23 for single unemployed, compared with present ceilings of $24 and $17.10, respectively.

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative labor critic, said there could be no danger to the Unemployment Insurance Fund from retaining the 51-week period of maximum benefits. The government had said only 3.5 per cent of claims were for more than 30 weeks

Clarie Gillis (CCF—Cape Breton South) also urged retention of the present payment period. The reduction would increase municipal relief costs. Insurance should be aimed at helping people as long as they are out of work.

A series of members repeated long-standing requests that unemployment insurance be extended to fishermen.

Mr. Gregg replied that the question is being studied by the labor and fisheries departments. Insurance could cover only the 6,000 hired fishermen in the industry. But it would be unfair if that were done without helping 60,000 others in the industry, mostly self - employed. The fisheries department was studying a plan for that larger group.

Mrs. Fairclough was unsuccessful in a motion, defeated by a vote of 49 to 8, to exclude municipal firemen from coverage. She said the Firefighters' Association has asked for the change.

Police Seek 'Reluctant Samaritan' Who Left Stabbed Man at Hospital

TORONTO (CP) — Police are investigating the circumstances under which a man early today was carried into the emergency ward of a city hospital suffering from stab wounds by a person who left before he could be interviewed.

They said William Lebo, 22, of suburban Malton, apparently was stabbed three times. There was a deep wound in his abdomen and hospital officials said only immediate attention and blood transfusions saved his life.

Police are seeking the person who carried Lebo into the ward and left him in fainting condition without speaking to anyone. They said they also are searching for two men who they believe took Lebo for a "ride" in a car and dumped him out on a downtown street.

Police said robbery was not the motive for the attack. They said Lebo was hazy about the evening's events and could not give the name of the reluctant Samaritan.

Apparently Waits Till Eleventh Hour Before Bid Made

Strike Deadline Is Set For Sunday at Midnight

By NORMAN WALKER

DETROIT (AP)—The American auto labor situation developed into a grade-A mystery story today as General Motors Corp. delayed making its bid for a contract settlement before a fast-approaching Sunday midnight strike deadline.

GM's plan apparently was to wait almost to the 11th hour, fling an offer at Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union (CIO), and give the union little time to argue, only to make a yes or no answer.

Lack of any protest over the delay from Reuther or UAW vice-president John Livingston, head of the union's GM department, led to belief they had some assurance from GM negotiators that the eventual offer would contain the basic principle of the guaranteed wage.

Reuther already has won a modified guaranteed wage plan from Ford Motor Co., providing for a system of company-finance payments for laid-off workers augmenting state unemployment compensation payments, plus pay boosts and pension, holiday and vacation improvements.

MIGHT ENDANGER GAW

If GM negotiators Harry W. Anderson and Louis G. Seaton had given Reuther advance assurance that they will make a guaranteed wage offer patterned after the Ford plan, there was guessing that GM might do so in a manner that would embarrass Reuther and even endanger his guaranteed-wage idea completely.

There was speculation that GM might make two offers, one like the Ford plan and another proposing much larger cash pay boosts for GM workers, with the suggestion that the UAW let the workers choose between the two plans.

In the Ford negotiations Reuther had proposed just such a popular vote among the workers. He called for a worker choice between a Ford plan to let workers buy company stock at half price and the UAW's guaranteed wage plan. Ford failed to take up the vote offer, but negotiated a guaranteed wage.

Any GM offer providing for a fat pay raise, either alone or as an alternative to the guaranteed wage might put Reuther on the spot.

Since the Ford guaranteed wage plan was announced Monday there have been a number of Ford work stoppages and worker protests that Reuther bought the guaranteed wage principle at a price of forgoing healthy wage increases from the profit-swollen auto insutry.

This could mean that workers, faced with a choice between the guaranteed wage and steep wage increases, might vote against Reuther and take the latter. If GM could engineer this, it could be a severe personal blow to Reuther and might even endanger his keeping the guaranteed wage plan won at Ford, which has not as yet been ratified by Ford union members. It would put GM in the role of saving business generally from the guaranteed wage.

WILDWOOD, N. J. (AP)— There's a big reward awaiting anyone who can bring back alive a hefty character who jumped ship off the New Jersey coast.

Former Tax Collector Will Take Witness Stand Monday

LeRoy Woods, former Sidney township tax collector, charged with the theft of approximately $15,000 of township tax money, was scheduled to take the stand in his own defence Monday as his week-long trial entered what was expected to be its final day.

The accused will be called to testify in his own behalf by defence counsel J. D. O'Flynn after three other defence witnesses took up all the time of Friday's session which adjourned shortly after the noon hour.

When there seemed no possibility of the trial being completed Friday, Judge G. F. Smith said Woods' evidence would be heard Monday followed by argument by counsel and the charge to the jury. He said the jury would be expected to bring in its verdict the same day.

22 WITNESSES

Twenty-two witnesses were called by Crown Counsel C. C. Savage, Q.C., of London, prior to the crown's resting its case on Thursday evening.

Friday morning, Col. Roscoe Vanderwater, clerk of Sidney township was called as a defence witness. He had been called earlier as a Crown witness. Other witnesses called Friday were: Stillman C. Gay, Foxboro, and George W. Shortt. Mr. Shortt had audited the township books from 1946 until 1950, while Mr. Gay assisted with the audit in 1946.

Following questioning regarding his lengthy experience in municipal matters, Col. Vanderwater was asked to explain to the jury the system of township taxation.

It was explained that the township was required to collect taxes for purposes other than township expenditures. These included taxes for county purposes, money for school purposes, relief, federation of agriculture, for road purposes as well as for township administration.

The amount for township administration was a specific item on the tax bill each year and amounted only to around nine per cent of the total tax bill.

Figures relating to the total tax roll, the amount of the total tax roll, the amount of the levy for administrative purposes, the amount of taxes collected by the tax collector and the amount transferred by the collector to the treasurer for the years 1946 to 1952 were read to the court by the witness.

It was shown that in some years the collector had transferred less to the treasurer than he had received in taxes, while in the last two years transfer to the treasurer had amounted to $10,000 more than was collected.

COULD MAKE EXTRA LEVY

The witness said that if taxes collected together with subsidies and other forms of revenue failed to meet expenditures, council would have to make it up in an extra levy the following year.

"Tell me," during the years 1946 to 1951 did you for any cause have to make an extra levy?" asked Mr. O'Flynn.

"None," replied Col. Vanderwater, "nor was there any undue bank borrowing."

"Was the township in a healthy financial condition?"

In reply the witness referred to the recent sale of township school debentures which, he said, sold for a premium. "The township was of no source of worry to purchasers of the debentures," he said.

"And although according to figures produced here to the effect that $20,000 in taxes was not collected, the township was not embarrassed?" asked Mr. O'Flynn.

"No," was the reply.

Mr. O'Flynn referred to the period during which Mr. George Shortt acted as auditor and asked if there had ever been a complaint from the Department of Municipal Affairs in Toronto.

"There was never a letter, or even a verbal complaint," said Col. Vanderwater.

$15,442 MISSING

The levy during the years 1946 to 1951 for administration purposes were totalled and shown to amount to $49,720.80 for the six-year period. "And about one-third of that amount, or $15,442.42, is reported to be missing," commented Mr. O'Flynn.

During cross examination by Mr. Savage, the witness was asked what the township surplus had been at the beginning of 1946.

"I have no way of knowing that, the treasurer has the records," replied Col. Vanderwater.

"Then maybe we can show you," returned the Crown. "I am told by Mr. Blake, the department auditor, that the surplus at that time was $40,418, and that by 1950 the surplus had shrunk to $25,000."

"Before I answer that I would want to know whose figures they are," replied the witness.

"But let us assume that those are the figures," continued the Crown.

"I am assuming nothing on this stand," cut in Col. Vanderwater.

"Mr. Shortt's audit for 1950 shows the $25,000 figure," noted Mr. Savage.

"That's the figure stated," admitted the witness.

"Then if those figures are correct the township council knew that their surplus was decreasing," suggested Mr. Savage.

"There were certain factors governing that," the witness stated as he attempted to make the explanation.

"But they would know their surplus was decreasing," cut in Mr. Savage.

"According to the figures," Col. Vanderwater admitted.

"LIVING BEYOND MEANS"

The Crown suggested that if the township surplus was diminishing and the municipality was levying for its full administrative costs then "it was living beyond its means."

Col. Vanderwater replied he would have to have the breakdown of what the surpluses were before he could answer.

"I repeat that if the surplus was decreasing, either the township was living beyond its means, or, maybe there was a leak somewhere?" questioned the Crown. "If there was no overdraft in 1946 there would be quite an overdraft in 1950?"

"I have not the records," replied Col. Vanderwater.

"There is nothing in the report that says all the shortages were taken from the administrative levy is there?" asked Mr. Savage.

The witness admitted there was not "but that is where the repercussions would occur," he said.

At the request of the Crown, Col. Vanderwater totalled the full township levies from 1946 to 1951 and reported the sum was $607,985.65.

"All the report says is that from this total there is a shortage of $15,442.49," suggested the Crown.

"That is what the figures say," replied the witness.

"It doesn't say it was taken from the levy for administrative purposes."

"May I qualify that?" asked the witness.

"Do anything you like," returned Mr. Savage.

The witness then went on to explain that the county levy had to be returned to the county by a certain date while school costs had to be met currently.

COUNTY LEVIES

The witness was then asked to total the county levies for Sidney township for the years 1946 to 1951. The total was found to be $258,758.61.

"Did you actually pay that amount over to the county?" asked Mr. Savage.

"No," was the reply, "but we had to raise sufficient for all purposes and the levy was figured to the closest tenth of a mill. Sometimes it was a question of robbing Peter to pay Paul."

"I suggest that the actual payment to the county was about $249,000."

"That is quite possible, but the money was used to pay school grants and for other purposes," replied the witness.

Stillman C. Gay, of Foxboro, who had assisted Mr. Shortt as auditor in 1946, was the next witness. He said the audit was a "good audit. I would have signed it myself."

George Shortt, Sidney township auditor until 1951, said that he had carried out instructions of the department to the best of his ability.

Asked by Mr. O'Flynn if there was any complaint of Mr. Woods' work, the witness replied the only complaint was that in one year the tax collector had more deposits than what the tax roll showed there had been collected.

"Then some collections were not being marked off?" asked Mr. O'Flynn. "Yes," said Mr. Shortt. "Some slips or stubs were not there at the time, so I reported to council and recommended that a tax arrears ledger be set up."

CONFUSING SYSTEM

Asked regarding the system used in Sidney, Mr. Shortt said it was difficult for the tax collector because "half a dozen" were taking in taxes and it was hard to keep accurate accounts.

He said that the treasurer, as well as different banks were accepting tax payments.

Mr. Shortt said, however, that Mr. Woods "had tried to put everything in front of me."

Under cross examination Mr. Shortt replied to questions concerning his training in accounting and replied in the affirmative when asked if he knew that tax rolls were required to be returned each year by the tax collector to the treasurer. He realized that if this had been done the job of auditing would have been much simpler.

He disagreed with a previous witness who had said he could find no record of Mr. Shortt having sent out verification notices for arrears of taxes for past years.

"I disagree, the notices were sent out for previous years," he said.

The witness could not remember the date when he had called the attention of council to the fact that Mr. Woods had more money on deposit than the tax roll had called for. When the Crown suggested it may have been after he had made his 1949 audit, Mr. Shortt said he could not remember.

MADE RECOMMENDATIONS

Asked if he had been able to explain to council how it occurred that Mr. Wood had more to his account than the tax roll called for, Mr. Shortt said he made certain recommendations to council but before they could be carried out the township books were given to another man.

"I am not suggesting that it was your fault, but you did not get the answer?" asked Mr. Savage.

"No," was the reply.

"Mr. Blake says a mistake of $11,000 was made in the 1949 audit. Would that account for it?"

"I don't know whether I made a mistake," replied Mr. Shortt. To a question regarding his opinion of the accuracy of Mr. Blake's report Mr. Shortt said he would not be prepared to say whether Mr. Blake was right or wrong.

Women Enjoy Afternoon Games At Bowling Club

Delightful weather greeted the women's section of the Belleville Bowling Club on Thursday when the regular afternoon meet was held. Mrs. Harry Thompson with a rink of Mrs. H. Fonger and Mrs. Gordon Vince as vice skip won the two-game high score followed by a rink of Mrs. A. Bulford, Mrs. Helen Buchanan with Mrs. Leah Gerow as skip. The third high was Mrs. H. Hermon, Mrs. G. Reid and Mrs. Charles Mott.

At the conclusion of the bowling the women enjoyed a social hour in the clubhouse, where refreshments were served. The hostesses for the tea hour were Mrs. Joseph Legault, Mrs. Rita Lloyd, Mrs. Bram Humphreys and Mrs. H. Hermon.

The executive of the club have decided to supply light lunches of sandwiches, cakes, pies and coffee, when the men's section stage the O'Keeke tournament on Saturday, August 20th. This is the first time for this beautiful trophy to be competed for and a large entry is expected from the district.

Strawberries More Plentiful On Local Market

Strawberries held steady to their middle-of-the-week price on the local market this morning, selling at 35 cents per quart box. A few vendors offered the fruit at 30 cents.

Elsewhere there was little change in either prices or offerings. Apples, McIntosh, Spies and Snows, showed signs of nearing the end of the season with Macs and Spies bringing 75 cents a six-quart basket and Snows 65 cents. Spies sold for $3 a bushel.

Potatoes were 75 cents a six-quart basket, $3.50 per 75-lb. bag for table potatoes. Spinach was 20 cents a half peck; lettuce 10 cents, three heads for 25 cents. Radishes were five cents and asparagus two bunches for 35 cents; rhubarb sold up to 10 cents a bunch, three for 35 cents; lettuce and spring onions 10 cents.

Plants were in smaller supply but continued at the same price level—35 cents. They included tomato, geranium, English daisy and Sweet William plants. Nursery plants sold from 25 cents to $1.50. Shrubs were $2-$2.50.

Peonies added a fresh touch of color to the stalls, selling for 25 cents a bunch; cornflowers were 20 cents and Sweet William 25 cents.

On the inside market eggs sold at 50 cents for large and 45 cents for mediums. Fowl was 50 cents and spring chickens brought up to 55 cents.

Off-Street Parking Scheme Hinted at C of C Meeting

A hint that Front Street's traffic bottleneck might be smashed in the foreseeable future by an off-street parking scheme that "will accommodate hundreds and hundreds of cars" was made Friday at an open meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce by Alderman Enos David.

Mr. David, discussing traffic problems in relation to Chamber of Commerce policy, let slip that his committee was working on a plan to provide off-street parking that would be presented to the public for approval before the next general election.

"We feel the city should provide parking but not free parking," said Mr. David. "Our proposal will be for self-liquidating parking. The streets should be cleared. Streets are made for movement of traffic, not for parking."

Mr. David made his remarks in a general discussion of a new 16-point declaration of policy by the Chamber at a directors' meeting in the YMCA that was attended by about 50 of the Chambers' 300 members.

The policy statement ranged from agricultural to town planning in favor of both, through free enterprise, education, industrial relations, tourist promotion, and safety, to communism, which was opposed.

Members wanted to know Chamber policy concerning the Community Chest, tag days, industrial promotion, parking, planning and traffic regulation.

The Chamber also went on record as officially extending the sympathy of its members to the family of the late clerk-comptroller H. D. Bateman.

"We all learned, with deep regret, of the sudden passing of Mr. Bateman," said P. C. McGuire, chairman of the Chamber.

GREATLY MISSED

"Mr. Bateman was always active in civic affairs here and he will be greatly missed. With the approval of the members I shall direct the secretary to extend to Mrs. Bateman and the family, the sincere condolences of the Chamber in their sudden bereavement."

J. T. Ransom, land surveyor, launched discussion on planning by asking the Chamber to avoid the word "planning" except when it referred to a specific project such as new homes, new industries, traffic arteries or school sites, because "planning is an abstract term".

He asked members to decide on the role the Chamber should play in planning for growth of the city, how it would study the problems, what conclusions would be supported and how any conclusions would be put into effect.

He asked for "a decision on objectives and a procedure for implementation."

SEEK RECOMMENDATION

Alderman Enos David urged the formation of a committee of Chamber members to draft and present recommendations to city council.

Frank Creeggan inquired about the Chamber's record in industrial promotion and was told that the secretary-manager, Don Kingdon, was also secretary of the industrial commission. Mr. McGuire also mentioned participation in the Lake Ontario Regional Development Association.

Sid Sillitoe asked about a policy regarding downtown parking and was told that the Chamber had a committee investigating the problem.

In discussing general membership support for the Chamber's program, Ken Ross said that "the directors have many ideas, such as a new bridge over the Moira from Dundas East to Dundas West", but wanted to know whether the members were interested in having directors pursue the matter.

AGAINST TAG DAYS

"It is high time the Chamber of Commerce did something about the number of tag days," said Ben Cork. "I know nothing of where the money goes and it seems to me there are tag days every week. We should see what can be done to restrict the number of tag days."

"I think I could run one for myself and get away with it," said chairman McGuire.

Alderman David said that to the best of his knowledge permission to hold tag days was given by the clerk-comptroller. He said he would introduce a motion at city council to the effect that council be asked to regulate the number of tag days and that council permission be mandatory for the holding of tag days of any kind.

Mr. Cork also stated that he "declined to donate to the Community Chest, of which the YMCA is the largest beneficiary, not knowing where the money goes. No one knows where the money goes," he said.

CHEST APPEAL POOR

"As an appeal the Community Chest is a washout. I refuse to donate to these organizations unless I know the scope of their work and the use they make of the funds."

Mr. McGuire explained that the YMCA served a useful purpose in the community and that for the past few years it had operated at a deficit that would have forced closure unless supported by the Community Chest.

"Unless the Y is accepted as a community benefit it will have to close its doors," he said, explaining that 50 per cent of Community Chest collections went for its support.

Ken Ross then asked members to vote in favor of a Community Chest embracing all appeals, including the Red Cross, the Salvation Army and so forth.

A vote for a single united appeal encompassing all organizations canvassing in the city, was unanimous.

A committee headed by Lorne McDougall was formed on the spot to investigate the formation of a single appeal.

SEEK MORE PARKING

Bill Wills, in speaking of parking, said that the problem can be solved if the merchants will band together, seek expert advice, finance development of a definite plan and present a "concrete proposal" to city council.

Charles Lundy suggested that "if retailers and their clerks would ride the bus to work and leave their cars at home, there would be no parking problem."

Mr. Sillitoe, speaking of traffic regulation at the Northern Electric company plant at dispersal hours, suggested that the Chamber should sponsor "a program of common sense" for police officers directing traffic.

"Traffic police should make traffic flow," he said. "Drivers are rigidly set upon by local police who have traffic stop at stop signs. They make traffic flow slowest when it should flow fastest. They should apply common sense."

Mr. McGuire said that the Chamber would look into the problem.

During the meeting John Deacon led a sing-song accompanied by Stan Goodwin at the piano.

IN MEMORIAM

WILSON. — In loving memory of our dear grandfather, Andrew J. Wilson, who passed away June 11th, 1954.
God knew what he was suffering,
That the hills were hard to climb,
So He closed his weary eyelids,
And whispered "Peace be thine."
Away in the beautiful hills of God,
In the valley of rest so fair,
Some time, some day, we know not when,
We will meet our loved one there.
—Sadly missed by granddaughter Dorothy and Bill.

Cabbage Juice Plus Bland Diet Heal Ulcers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Six years of experience with raw cabbage juice as an ulcer treatment indicates that procedure should be tried on all such cases before resorting to surgery, says a Stanford University physician.

Three weeks on cabbage juice plus a bland diet helped most ulcers in a series of 63 cases, Dr. Garnett Cheney reported in the Stanford medical bulletin. Six patients with "huge" ulcers needed 56 days of treatment. Conventional treatment for ulcer with drugs usually requires six weeks or more.

Raw cabbage juice is particularly rich in a substance which Dr. Cheney tentatively calls vitamin U. It apparently helps the stomach lining to resist breakdown. The substance also is present in leafy green vegetables, milk and eggs.

Treatment calls for drinking at least a quart of cabbage juice daily.

Stories of Famous Hymns

by HORACE B. POWELL

JESUS, I MY CROSS HAVE TAKEN

Jesus, I my cross have taken,
All to leave, and follow Thee:
Destitute, despised, forsaken,
Thou, from hence, my all shalt be;
Perish every fond ambition,
All I've sought, and hoped, and known;
Yet how rich is my condition,
God and heaven are still my own.

Let the world despise and leave me,
They have left my Saviour, too;
Human hearts and looks deceive me;
Thou art not, like man, untrue;
And, while Thou shalt smile upon me,
God of wisdom, love, and might,
Foes may hate, and friends may shun me;
Show Thy face, and all is bright.

Scotsmen who paged through a little booklet of "Sacred Poetry" which was published in Edinburgh in 1824 found this hymn-poem under the title, "Lo! We Have Left ALL And Followed Thee". The name of the hymnist was not given, and it was not until several years later, when the verses again appeared in a volume entitled "Poems Chiefly Religious" by Dr. Henry Francis Lyte, that Dr. Lyte was revealed as their author.

Half a dozen years before the verses first appeared in Edinburgh, Dr. Lyte had an unusual experience which, according to his own testimony, completely changed his life and preaching and which many of his admirers believe influenced him to write the hymn we are discussing.

He was called to te bedside of a stricken fellow clergyman who, as death neared, became much concerned over what he felt had been errors in his ministry and preaching. The two ministers prayed together and when death came the stricken man met it peacefully, confident that the atoning death of Christ would answer for his own shortcomings. Dr. Lyte gave this version of the incident:

"He died happy under the belief that though he had deeply erred, there was One whose death and sufferings would atone for his delinquencies, and be accepted for all that he had incurred.

"I was greatly affected by the whole matter and brought to look at life and its issue with a different eye than before; and I began to study my Bible, and preach in other manner than I had previously done."

Dr. Lyte was born near Kelso Scotland on the first day of June in 1793. He was educated at Trinity College in Dublin and was graduated there in 1814. A year later he took holy orders in the Church of England and in 1823 he was appointed curate of a parish in Lower Brixham to which he devoted the rest of his life. Shortly before his death, in 1847, he wrote the beautiful hymn, "Abide With Me", which all the world has taken to its heart.

A Lift For Living

The First Law of Nature

By DR. RALPH W. SOCKMAN

Firmly embedded in the mind of the race is the old maxim, "Self-preservation is nature's first law." When a person is driven down to the rock-bottom decisions of life and death, he will struggle to the last ditch in order to save himself. The man on the street will tell you that each fellow is looking out for number one.

Of course, he may tell you there are exceptions. A devoted mother will die for her child. A husband will often give his life for his wife. A true officer will perish at his post to save his ship. But are not such heroic emergencies only the exceptions which prove the rule?

There is a note of falsness in a person's going around asserting his willingness to die for others. The husband, for instance, who goes about telling his wife he would gladly die for her is quite often one who does not work very sacrificially for her. And the patrioteer who in Fourth of July orations and political campaigns shouts his determination to give his life for his beloved land is frequently one who so takes advantage of his office that we almost wish he would go out and die for it.

SHALLOW HEROICS

We feel disposed to label such language as "heroics." We suspect its genuineness. Jesus, himself, seemed so to regard it. The Master saw through all shallow sentimentalism. He based His program on the bed-rock elements of human nature.

He began His service to men on the principle of self-preservation as nature's first law. He came to people who were being crushed and cramped by hard conditions and social injustice. He knew that His countrymen desired to save themselves and to secure a larger life. His first announced purpose was to help them in this self-preservation.

His first sermon in His home town of Nazareth was a proclamation that His purpose was to give health, liberty and life. When He finished making this announcement, He turned to His hearers and said, "Ye will surely say unto me this proverb, 'Physician, heal thyself.!"

Yes, that is exactly what we do say to anyone who comes offering us health or help. We naturally assume that if a person has found a blessing or cure of any kind, he will help himself with it. And we are skeptical of any solution which does not appear to have worked in the case of him who offers it.

One night on a street corner, I saw a long-haired quack selling success pamphlets which were supposed to guarantee the way to health and prosperity. As I looked at his frayed sleeves I felt like saying, "Physician, heal thyself." It made me think of the friend who told me that he knew what were the sure things to buy on the stock market, but before he left he asked for a loan.

Yet the Great Physician pointed out the paradox in this law of self-preservation. There is a deeper sense in which we save ourselves. The fellow who is always looking out for Number One does not really see Number One. We must lose sight of ourselves in order to find our real selves.

LOSE SELF TO FIND SELF

The person who thinks too much about his own health becomes a miser of his strength and makes himself miserable watching for germs and ailments. I know a fellow who is anxious about everything he eats and does, asking whether it is good for him. How much better he would be if he forgot himself in finding what he is good for.

We do not preserve the strength of our bodies by protecting them from work, but by using our muscles. We do not save the health of our minds by sheltering them from study but by straight hard thinking.

We do not secure our happiness by looking first to our own interests but by looking out in love for the welfare of others. Therefore, when His neighbors said to Jesus, "Physician, heal thyself," He answered by citing Hebrew prophets who had gone forth to help others even in other places and among other peoples.

Self-preservations, yes. But remember, we save love by spending it. And there are even times when we save our souls by losing our bodies.

Bulletins From Birdland

NORTHERN IMITATOR

Like its namesake, the domestic cat, which seems to sleep with one eye open so as not to miss anything, the catbird is always alert. It is very easily disturbed, and you cannot get anywhere near its nest without hearing a great rumpus of loud "miaow" calls. For this reason many people imagine it can make no other sounds, and are quite disparaging in their remarks. But they are absolutely wrong.

The song of the catbird is particularly pleasing, long, and varied, broken up into sections with pauses, mewings, and imitations. This Canadian species is a member of the thrasher family, to which belong both our brown thrasher, a wonderful singer, and the mockingbird—actually more an inhabitant of the southern part of the continent, although recently some have reached Ontario.

Naturally, then, the catbird sings well and has a long repertoire of imitations. A well-known ornithologist made records of the vocal efforts of one individual, and found that they contained 74 phrases all its own and the imitations of 20 sounds—mostly bird songs.

CLEVER IMITATIONS

So sometimes when you imagine you hear a redwing, a robin, or even a black-throated green warbler, it may be merely the clever catbird. Generally, the singing period ceases once nesting begins. But that does not mean we never hear its voice again. Oh, no! More than ever, the catlike notes and snapping sounds are given as the bird attempts to drive off some supposed enemy. Perhaps it has an inferiority complex, because although so noisy it is really very shy and retiring.

The only handsome part of the slate grey bird is its tail, which is large and somewhat fan-shaped. Every "miaow" is emphasized by a flipping of this tail. The black cap and a rusty red patch of feathers under the base of the tail are not at all noticeable.

The home is made about four feet up in deep shrubbery near a lake, pond, or stream; and since civilization has invaded the catbird's territory it also uses man's ornamental bushes. The nest of twigs and leaves is clumsy looking and not very substantial, but the interior is usually carefully made up of fine fibres.

When a catbird discovers that the ground beside its nest has been trampled or twigs on the closest bushes bent or broken, it deserts, even though the home itself has not been touched. Evidently, it fears that some enemy will later follow up these clues and find the nest.

Safety Rules For Summer

By NANCY CLEAVER

"Summer is a-comin' in!" with vacation folk and tourists crowding our highways. Boys and girls delight in holiday plans, but parents realize that they must impress on their children the importance of following safety rules in traffic. With more hours of sunshine, freedom from school, and thousands more trucks and cars on the road, the number of persons injured and killed in traffic accidents increases sharply.

In an average summer in Ontario, 560 school-age children were killed or injured during July and August. Thirty-one of these youngsters were playing on the street, 35 were crossing the street not at the corner and 55 ran out from behind a parked car.

Country parents may be surprised to learn that 40 children were injured or killed crossing a rural highway. Two hundred and four boys and girls mostly age five to nine, were on foot. Bicyclists were in accidents too 138 mostly age 10 to 14. The rest were hurt or killed riding in a motor vehicle.

What are the chances that your child will be injured in a traffic accident? He may not be as safe as you think!

3,000 DEATHS

Did you know that in 1953 there were close to 3,000 traffic deaths in Canada? Every week 56 people die on our roads or streets. In the same year in Ontario, alone, 1,050 persons died from accidents on the highways and 25,000 were injured. What if your boy or girl should be hurt this year?

Every responsible citizen must be concerned over the steady growth of road fatalaties in Canada since the war. In 1946, there were 1,663 traffic deaths, and in 1954 there were 2,906 deaths!

The managing director of the Canadian Good Roads Association, Mr. C. W. Gilchrist, recently jolted Canadians out of any feeling of complacency about accidents on the highway. He pointed out that the post war traffic death toll since World War II is greater than all the Canadians killed in the land battles in which our troops fought with the U.N. forces in Korea. Statistics may seem very cold and impersonal, but what if your son or daughter had been among those suffering or dead from a traffic accident?

MUST BE PROTECTED

Some parents wrongly believe that once a child graduates from a play pen, if he is warned, "Stay off the road!" it is safe to let him play on the street. But a pre-school child is too immature to be trusted to keep out of danger.

In a recent graph showing fatal injuries to children, age one to four, motor vehicles accounted for over one third (35.8 per cent) of the deaths. The next three grave dangers were fire (28 per cent fatalaties) drowning (11 per cent) and poisoning (5 per cent) deaths.

A very little child must have an enclosed place in which to play. Being tethered with a rope is a second best. But he cannot safely be given complete freedom. If his ball rolls out on the road, he is very apt to run after it without looking. An absent-minded neighbor may back swiftly out of his driveway, and knock a small child down who is crossing the driveway on his tricycle. A child may be racing his scooter, trip and fall in the path of an oncoming car. There are a dozen common situations in which little children playing on a street are injured!

Example is more effective than scolding or punishment, insurance experts, who have studied the details of hundreds of accidents point out. By your actions are you demonstrating to your child the ways of safety?

SAFETY CONSCIOUS

Do you go to the corner to cross the road? When you are walking along a street do you stop at the curb at the corner, and look both ways to see if it is safe? Do you obey the traffic policeman and cross on the green light at an intersection? If in doubt or if a car is turning a corner, do you wait? Do you refuse to get on or off a moving vehicle? Do you look left and right when leaving a bus or streetcar? In wet, slippery weather do you wear suitable footwear and cross the street with extra care? If there is no sidewalk do you walk facing oncoming traffic? If possible, after dark, do you wear light colored clothing or carry a white object?

There is scarcely a newspaper which does not have an account of a traffic mishap. Do you read this aloud, or better still, have your child read it to you? Discuss how this particular accident might have been avoided.

Far too many lives are being lost and far too many people injured in traffic accidents. Teachers do a splendid job in safety education. But during the long summer months, this training is a holiday extra which parents must look after. Your child is too precious to be killed or injured on the highway. Do your part in keeping him safe!

HAROLD D. BATEMAN

The untimely death of Harold D. Bateman, besides being a great blow to his family, has also been a great loss to the city. As comptroller of the corporation of Belleville he had an intimate knowledge of the business affairs of the city which no one could equal. It takes years of work to acquire the experience needed to cope with the many problems which constantly arise in municipal government. It was because of this vast fund of knowledge that Mr. Bateman was able to supervise so well the various city hall departments over which he had control.

As a citizen Mr. Bateman also took a more than ordinary interest in his church. He gave generously of his time, having served as People's and Rector's Warden of Christ Church. Recently he was general chairman of a campaign to raise a considerable sum of money for his church.

Harold Bateman also was active in other organizations which worked for the common good. He was chairman of the Board of Health for several years, a member of the Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital and a former director of the Y.M.C.A. He was always willing to accept responsibilities no matter what the task might be.

There was no part of his leisure time that he enjoyed more than when he was at his summer camp at Bass Lake. Here he was able to relax with his family and here it was that he had planned to spend as much time as possible this summer. He loved the quiet routine of camp life —the fishing, the boating, the complete change which means so much to a man who has so many matters calling for his personal attention.

A wide circle of friends and those who were associated with Mr. Bateman in the City Hall will greatly miss his keen judgment and wise counsel. His door was always open to those who sought information and guidance. His many kindnesses and courtesies will be remembered for a long time by young and old alike. This newspaper joins with a host of friends in extending to the bereaved family every sympathy in the loss of a loving husband and father.

DREW MAKES A POINT

George Drew, leader of the official Opposition in the House of Commons, made an important point on Monday, in debate on a recent speech by Air Vice-Marshal John L. Plant.

The Air Marshal was relieved of his job as chief of RCAF technical services and made chief of the air forces' material command. This change has the effect of ending his association with the army and navy on tri-service co-operation policy. In view of Plant's reported suggestion that Canada should abandon its army and concentrate on the RCAF in the nation's defence measures, the termination of this tri-service association appears necessary.

But, as Mr. Drew pointed out, the Air Vice-Marshal's statement regarding the likelihood of war—Plant was reported to have said that war with Russia was inevitable —was much more serious. This involved not merely the co-operation of Canada's three services, but international reaction to Canada's foreign policies. Prime Minister St. Laurent used the words "inappropriate" and "indiscreet" to describe the Air Vice-Marshal's address, which apparently was in humorous vein. The use of these words by the Prime Minister is certainly both appropriate and discreet. It remains to be seen whether a mere change of jobs is an adequate precaution against some other airman, soldier or sailor making a similar statement.

It is, of course, necessary to draw a distinction between the rights, sometimes even the duty, of a private citizen to voice a warning to his countrymen and the duty of a public servant to remain quiet unless he is entrusted by Parliament with the authority to make official pronouncements.

The type of statement made by Air Marshal Plant should only be made by a private individual or by a minister of the Crown entrusted with responsibility in the realm of national defence.

SAVED BY WATERLOO SOUTH

A report by The Canadian Press early Thursday afternoon on the voting in the Ontario election would have given cause for concern had the Eastern Ontario reader not gratefully met his Waterloo South midway through the item.

The report said that early morning voting had been brisk in western Ontario ridings of Wellington South, Oxford, Kent and Wellington-Dufferin and in the northern ridings of Cochrane North and Cochrane South. On the other hand, in Toronto, the Yorks, the Ottawa ridings and the central and eastern Ontario ridings of Simcoe Centre, Peterborough, Kingston and Frontenac-Addington early voting was light.

The inference was plain. The brash westerners and northerners were up betimes and about their duties, while the effete east slumbered in bed or was caught asleep at the switch.

And then came the saving sentence.

"Waterloo South reported one of the quietest starts on record."

Thank you, Waterloo South. Just living up to tradition, no doubt, waiting for the arrival of late reinforcements to decide the battle.

RETURN VISIT

"Were another life allowed and they asked you to return,
Would you live as you have lived or try better ways to learn?"
That's a question often asked and is frequently discussed.
"Back on earth again," I say, "in the Lord I still should trust.

"If remembrance of the past should continue, it could be
When I started life again there'd be little change in me.
I'd do just about the same. Still for friendship I should seek.
I'd be foolish many times and at times I would be weak.

"The old errors I'd repeat, since perfection life denies,
And there's very little fun for the man who grows too wise.
I would love as I have loved, and in spite of sighs and tears
I would try to do my best through another term of years."

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

It has been my experience that ninety five out of a hundred motorists, spring, summer, autumn and winter, flip the butts of their cigarettes out of the window of their cars rather than stubbing them out in the ash tray with which every car, including trucks, is equipped. It is probably a universal Canadian habit. Yet no one knows how many of the desperately costly forest fires which have disgraced the Canadian season this year so far were due to cigarette butts flipped out car and truck windows.

It is an ingrained habit, and will be hard to eradicate. At a summer resort resort recently, I was in the car of a friend whose cottage is one of over 300 occupying a beautiful wooded point extending out into a lake famous as a summer resort. As we drove along the winding gravel road leading off the point, he flipped his cigarette butt out the open car window, not even looking to see if it fell on the road or into the debris of early summer, half new growth, half tinder of last year's leaves. Having just a day or two before had an aeroplane view of one of the season's deadliest forest fires, I cried out and asked him to back up and find the butt. He laughed and said he had no fear of the woods at this early hour of the morning, when the ground was wet with dew.

Fortunately, we drove back from the general store less than fifteen minutes later. The spot on which the butt had fallen was one of the particular little patches on which the morning sun had played, and the dew was gone. The butt had landed, as far as I could figure, in a cluster of last year's dead bracken. We saw the smoke of the fire several hundred yards before we reached the scene. Only about thirty square yards of ground litter and small underbrush were burning, and we were able to beat it out, in a frantic way, I assure you. For, five more yards, and the fire would have been into a clump of spruces. And from there possibly the entire point and its 300 cottages would have gone up in a roaring inferno, fanned by a fresh morning westerly breeze.

The cigarette may or may not be suspect as a cause of cancer. But there can be no question that it is more than suspect as a cause of countless forest and submarginal forest fires that cost us all money in the loss of an important wage-earning public asset, whether we lose our cottages or not.

Cat's Social Call

(Fort William Times-Journal)

Here is another believe-it-or-not, involving a Fort William druggist and a cat.

The feline wandered into his store with a badly cut leg. The druggist proceeded to put a dressing on it.

After that the cat kept coming in every day to have the wound dressed. Then one day last week the druggist decided the animal did not need his services any longer—for the cat stuck out the wrong leg.

Vacation Ground Rules

(Ogdensburg Journal)

Write me a verse, my old machine—
I lack for an inspiration;
The skies are blue and the trees are green,
And I long for a long vacation.

So wrote Edwin Meade Robinson in "The Typewriter's Song."

And now that the skies are blue, and the trees are green, the month of June is swishing its pretty way towards us, let's decide on your vacation.

Oh no, we cannot arbitrate that dispute that blossoms when milady wants to inhale the evergreen ozone of the mountains and her spouse wants to hook a halibut by the seashore. Impossible for a third party to adjudicate.

But we may be able to state some ground rules. You take it from there.

First of all, just what is a vacation? Does that make you think?

The dictionary answers with such phrases as: "Respite, or a time of respite from something." "Freedom from work or cares; leisure."

"A scheduled period during which activity or work is suspended."

Well and good. But those phrases are inviting us to think the thing through a little more, which most of us do not do.

For example, to a carpenter a "time to respite" means horrified flight from anything resembling a hammer, a nail or a lathe. But to a paunchy desk jockey, it could well mean reaching eagerly for hammer and nails and building something. . .a respite from business suits, vouchers, and chicken a la king luncheons.

The point we are sneaking up on is, that one man's meat is another man's poison ivy. We shouldn't be "taking a vacation" without first thinking just what we need in the form of a vacation. We shouldn't be wasting the time and money taking a physical vacation if we are going to cart along the mental worries. We shouldn't be taking the sort of bodily vacation which leaves the mind at the desk.

Following this reasoning, a cab-driver is hardly vacationing if he goes touring, a postman is compounding a felony if he goes on a hiking trip, and a harried housewife should think twice before swapping her home kitchen chores for the same toil performed over cranky kerosene burners in a battered cottage.

Sorry men, maybe we shouldn't have said that.

There are the ground rules. Now let's plan a vacation.

Stop Speeding In 'Nice' Way

(Christian Science Monitor)

Out near Glenwood, Iowa, a farmer has erected a sign warning motorists of a speed trap farther down the road. He said he did so because he felt this method of catching speedsters was not "nice."

Drivers and highway patrols may not often agree on just what is nice in this respect, but an electronic device shown in New Hampshire at least offers a new approach to the subject and gives the driver an opportunity to check himself. When a car is moving too fast down the road a radar-type device causes a sign at the side of the road suddenly to be illuminated. It says, "Slow Down. You Are Speeding."

The New Hampshire exhibition also included a television camera and receiver which enabled viewers to observe traffic flow on a turnpike some distance away.

This sort of gadgetry may not strike the speed-law violator or the in-and-out driver as being quite sporting, but it may help make travel more relaxing for the safe and steady driver who now sometimes says to himself: "Why is it there never is a speed cop around when one of those fellows zips by?"

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

LIVE LONGER — AND HAPPIER

I shall never "retire" from work —or play, either, for each is essential to a rounded life. When advancing age scents a chance it sure makes up for lost time. It runs all over its subject and gets it in a terrible mess. I do believe, however, in so changing one's former habits and tastes as to put added interest in life.

I recently read of an example of this changing about. It was in a book I have had on my book shelf for many years. This is what I read. One of the richest of bankers in New York City was George F. Baker who founded the First National Bank. He arrived at the age of 70—a time when most have either retired or died. Most men who smoke are advised at that age to give it up. Baker started to smoke. He also joined a golf club and became a player. He died at the age of 91—and confessed that the latter years were by far his happiest!

It's interests and new adventures that keep us on the up and up. Tennyson's "Ulysses" has always been an inspiring poem. It should be read at least once a month by every man past the age of 60! There would be more happy men alive than is the average. Something goes to rust when a man retires. There is nothing inspiring to the picture of old men in their fancy club, looking out of the window.

The "reclining years" should bring new vistas, new adventures—at least of the mind—and a world of happy memories. That's why we were given memory—so that life's interests might continuously accumulate. When interests die out —man dies out! It is tragic to live longer than one expected when that added stretch is not a happy one. Another way of living longer, and happier, is to take added interest in others, especially your friends.

Insurance Officer's View

(Financial Times)

"Canada has too great a contribution to make in this world to be saddled with unnecessary, but politically attractive, forms of welfare, which incidentally, have been tried in various countries where political and economic development has been such as to have no resistance to inroads of this kind. In every instance it had met with failure, not always obvious or easily recognized failure, but failure none the less, because the nation becomes so concerned with its own welfare that it cannot play its accustomed and expected role in the world. It then falls an easy prey to further draughts of socialism until the nation grinds to a standstill and merely exists, it does not live or contribute."

These words do not emanate from the Canadian Manufacturers Association, the views of which on the question of social welfare are always suspect by the protagonists of social welfare because it represents "big business" — which it does not; it represents business at all levels. Nor are they the words of a "stiff-backed reactionary of a big company executive." They are called from an address to the annual meeting of the Canadian Life Insurance Officers Association by A. Bruce Matthews, president of that body.

Considering the fact that life insurance has contributed more to social welfare—not only in Canada but anywhere in the world that life insurance has gained a footing—than have all your governments, socialist or otherwise, Mr. Matthews' opinions on the expanding pattern of government social welfare schemes are eminently worthy of consideration. Life insurance has good reason to view with apprehension the growth of government social welfare.

The retiring Life Insurance Officers president urges his colleagues in the business to get into the fight and strongly advance its views on this momentous question, making particular reference to the increasing pressure for government health insurance. The initiative must, he says, be taken: "we cannot remain on the defensive as with it goes the loss of flexibility, of freedom of movement and of the generation of ideas." All power to their elbows!

Do Not Breath On Paintings

(Hamilton Spectator)

There is something remarkably depressing in a report from Bordeaux, France, that a decade of exposure to the public has already done grave harm to the famous Lascaux cave paintings fo oxen, buffalo and antelope which had survived, unscathed, 10,000 tourist-free years.

The trouble, it seems, is not the propensity of the tourist to carve his initials on monuments —that is well guarded against. It is a subtler thing—you might call it a sort of non-radioactive fall-out. The breathing of thousands of visitors has lowered the oxygen content of the air in the caves and increased the amount of carbon dioxide, which, reacting with moisture, has deposited carbonic acid on the paintings and is steadily eating away their pigments.

There's a moral somewhere in this—we're sure of it— but we can't quite figure out what it is.

Long Time No See

(Aftonbladet, Stockholm)

In Rio de Janeiro, 76-year-old Signor Alberto Pagliano got two resounding slaps on his face from an elderly woman he encountered on the street. She was his wife—now 69 years old — from whom he had run away 34 years ago, and she recognized him when they met.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Is There An Osteopath In The House?

Back in the days when I was an honest doctor I served as one of the board of censors of the County Medical Society, with two other doctors. It was the duty of the board of censors to give applicants for membership the o.o. and report on their eligibility.

Well, sir, one of the other censors had a professional colleague who had taken the same state board examination at the same time as he had, for licence to practice. He persuaded his colleague to apply for membership in the County Medical Society.

We the censors called on the applicant and sized him up. We unanimously recommended that the society elect him a member.

But there was one slight flaw in the man's fitness to be one of us. He was a D.O., not an M.D. His application was rejected with considerable vehemence. From the way the old guard spluttered we censors feared we might be expelled.

The osteopath was legally qualified to practise. He was a man of good character and as competent as any other physician to treat sick people. His M.D. neighbors frequently worked in consultation or co-operation with him.

Probably, had he cared to do so, he could have taken the matter to court and compelled the medical society, chartered by the state, to admit him to membership.

A lot of bridges have fallen into the water since, but they tell me some medical societies are still dead set against according osteopaths recognition.

An editorial article in the official Bulletin of the Passaic County Medical Society stated that some of the members resented the fact that osteopaths were being sent on emergency calls by the telephone-answering services. "Some of our members" the editorial explained, "have indicated their willingness to answer emergency calls if they involve the eye, the little toe of the left foot, or the appendix. This is sheer nonsense. An emergency call is an emergency call. . ."

A neat crack at what I call "trick specialism."

Except as a nice way of getting legitimate graft, what excuse can you, as a presumably intelligent citizen, trump up for granting me a licence to practise any branch of medicine or surgery I choose in the State of New York, but exacting from me $100 for stamping my licence Good in California? Or what's the sense of the board of examiners finding me fit to practise in one State and the board in another State insisting that I pay them a fat fee and undergo their examination before I practise in their State?

The licensing of healers in Yankeeland is a lot of hokum. If the graduate is not qualified to practise anywhere in the country, upon receiving the degree of M.D., D.O. or whatever, then it's high time to overhaul, improve or close the educational institutions that grant the degree.

Strength for the Day

AMONG THE TOMBS

Everyone knows the New Testament story of the man possessed by a legion of demons, who was healed by Jesus. Before his cure, this man was described as "dwelling among the tombs."

Among the tombs—not a very comfortable residence, and yet still crowded. For in the modern sense, we have a great many dwellers among the tombs—those whose lives are bound up in the dead past, and not in the living present or future.

One familiar graveyard-haunter is the man who made a big success early in his career and has gone downhill ever since. Because he cannot repeat his first triumph, he has given up trying, and sits at the local bar talking about the good old days.

Another tomb-dweller is there because illness, personal calamities, and deaths of loved ones have put him in the shadow of a headstone. He refuses to believe that there is sunlight on the other side, if he would be man enough to look for it.

Another is haunted by the guilt of a past mistake. Repentance, confession, perhaps restitution, and rededication would take him out of the cemetery of the past into a new future, if only he would take the first step.

We shall all be resting among the tombs soon enough—meanwhile, there is work to be done, life to be lived, and joy to be found in the living.

So That's Her Name

(Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph)

No doubt you noticed the report from Miami about the young lady who lost her panties while running for a bus. While the report did not mention her name, we suspect that she will be known for a long time as Lucy Lastic!

Conservation Briefs

A series of little known facts about conservation, under the heading "Conservation Briefs" will occupy this space weekly. These briefs are being written by the Moira Conservation Authority to let you, the people, know what your Conservation Authority stands for.

Did You Know That:—Today, the farmer who is more progressive than his fellows is learning to apply improved tillage and cropping practices to conserve both water and soil. He is learning the value of contour plowing and strip-cropping, and of hedges and windbreaks. He is realizing the beneficial effects of balanced rotations of crops. He is using sod-crop residues and livestock manure for their content of organic matter. He appreciates the need for fertilizers to restore soil fertility. He is realizing the need for pasture improvement, and that grassland management is of high importance in soil conservation. He is the successful farmer.

But, on the majority of our farms, many of the old malpractices still continue in spite of the best and constant advice of our agricultural experts.

Former Agriculture Minister Kennedy states 90 per cent of Ontario's agricultural produce is grown by 50 per cent of its farmers.

In Great Britain, a country much smaller in area than the Province of Ontario, the value of the agricultural production is greater than that of the whole of Canada. True, the British have climatic advantages which we do not enjoy, but the fact remains that they are good conservationists (we are not) and for hundreds of years they have practised sound farming methods.

Along Canadian Trails

The Tory Era In Canada

By LEONARD L. KNOTT

Illustrated by David Ranson

Canada became a nation without much bloodshed or revolution. It did have its revolutionary period, however during the early years of the nineteenth century.

Because in the long run the reformers were successful and the rule of the aristocratic Tories was ended, many people forget that Canada's first ruling class contributed much to the nation that was just being formed. Many of Canada's finest traditions today were laid down by the representatives of what became a hated group.

Canada's Tories were Loyalists who had left their homes in the American Colonies during or after the Revolution to come and live under the British flag. Many of them had been wealthy, well-educated men and women. They had lived in fine homes with many servants, had driven in fine carriages and enjoyed all the luxuries of life in the rich colonial cities.

HUMBLE SETTLERS

In Upper Canada, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick they began life all over again as humble settlers. They built log cabins, worked on their farms felling trees and pulling out stumps. They made their own clothes and performed many menial tasks. But it was not many years before they began to create in their new world some of the finer things they had enjoyed before the Revolution. These things they contributed to the new colonies in which they now lived.

In Nova Scotia, many former Yankees became merchants, shipbuilders and professional men. During the War of 1812, they made huge profits out of trade, and from privateering. The Maritime Provinces had their greatest period of prosperity during the days of the sailing ships. It was then that Tory society ruled.

Halifax soon established a snobbish social life. In the fashionable town of Windsor, the rich merchants built fancy villas and country estates. Horse racing and hunting, sleighing parties and dances kept the people of society occupied.

COLLEGE FOR ALL

King's College was founded at Windsor by intellectual Loyalists as suitable college for the education of gentlemen's sons who were members of the Church of England. Other denominations, too, founded their colleges and Dalhousie University was founded by the new Canadian Yankees who looked back on their days at Harvard and believed there should be a college for all students of whatever religious creed.

The beautiful Government House in Halifax was built, as a residence for the Governor and a scene for social events. Province House, handsome and beautifully designed was erected for the legislature. It was here that the battle between reformers and Tories was fought.

In Upper Canada, it was the same. The Tories built schools and colleges and churches. They introduced to the rude frontier country the snobbish but more refined customs of England and the former American colonies. They fought hard to maintain what had been taken from them in the United States but here, too, they fought a losing battle.

REFORMS WON

The rich with their slaves and their great mansions and their privileges saw the things which they had given up in the United States gradually taken from them in the new Canada. In both Upper and Lower Canada, in 1837, they fought successfully against those who sought to end their rule by force. But they could not prevail against the insistent demands of the real pioneers and all Canada became like its revoelutionary neighbor a country of freedom and equality for all.

Those things which the Tories founded and which were good, however, have remained. King's College and Dalhousie, the beautiful buildings of Halifax, the universities of Ontario even the horse racing at old Woodbine Park in Toronto—all these have survived the passing of the Tory rulers of old.

Judgment Can Prevent Overheating

By EUGENE MILMOE

Not even the newest car with everything in perfect condition is guaranteed against overheating. Good driving habits and judgment will always play a key role in holding engine temperatures down to a safe level. Here are a few suggestions for keeping your car cooler in hot weather:

(1) Don't encourage overheating by operating your high compression engine on low octane gasoline. (2) If your car has automatic transmission, avoid excessive idling in Drive, or running too long in lower gear speeds. (3) When you're caught in traffic on warm days, and heat begins to build up under the hood—race the engine frequently in neutral so that your fan and lubricating system can do a better cooling job. (4) Remember that overloading for those beach trips is another good way to promote high engine temperatures.

PINGS ON HILLS

R.S asks: I've had wonderful success with my 1954 car except that it "pings" very slighlty when pulling on a hill. Several mechanics have told me it is a normal condition. Are they correct? When I use regular fuel, the ping is too severe—must I always use high octane?

(A) The mechanics were right. Normally, the most desirable spark setting is one which gives a slight ping with part or full throttle on a hard pull. If you wish to use low octane fuel, it will be necessary to retard the ignition timing. This, of course, will bring a reduction in engine performance and efficiency.

From V.H.: I was told to use the H-D brand of oil because my car is equipped with hydraulic valve lifters. Is this necessary, or will any good brand be satisfactory?

(A) H-D in this case refers to a grade of oil, not a brand name. Sometimes called heavy-duty or high detergent oil, this grade is particularly recommended for engines with hydraulic valve lifters.

M.V. writes: The brakes on my car squeak as I come to a spot. Before taking the car to a mechanic, I'd like to find out just what the trouble might be.

(A) Some high-friction brake linings have this tendency, and it may be necessary to have drum springs installed to eliminate squeaking. Faulty brake shoe adjustment or foreign particles on the linings will also promote brake squeak.

HARD TO START

J.S. asks: My 1953 car is very difficult to start. I have had new plugs, points and condenser installed, but they haven't helped. Do you think that I might need a new coil?

(A) Your difficulty might be due to the coil, but it could also be choke, carburetor, fuel pump or compression trouble. A little trouble-shooting by a good mechanic will probably find the trouble.

E.F. writes During the seasonal change-over, the mechanic removed my thermostat and said that I do not need any during the hot weather. Another mechanic tells me that I should have one. Which theory is correct?

(A) The second mechanic has the right answer. Any cooling system that is designed for a thermostat should always have one, regardless of the season. Removal invites overcirculation or surging, with a resulting loss of coolant.

Union to Seek Compensation From Railways

DETROIT (CP) — W. Aspinall, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Maintenance Waymen Employees Union (AFL-TLC), said Friday night his union will ask compensation from Canadian railways for work done by private contractors.

He said the compensation demand will call for full payment to the waymen of wages lost on jobs let to the private companies.

He charged the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway are having stretches of road built by private contractors instead of by the waymen.

The demand has not been presented formally to the railways yet, he said, but it has been discussed. He said union representatives and railway officials may meet next week to consider the proposal.

'Missing' Bank Branch Is Found

MONTREAL (CP) — Missing, one branch of the Bank of Montreal, until bank officials brought their records up to date.

The case of the missing bank began when officials noticed that their "west end branch" could not be found in the west end.

It turned out that the branch, founded in 1889 and believed the first sub-branch of any chartered bank in Canada, had changed its location as the city grew in the last 66 years. It can now be found in the midtown shopping district.

To prevent further confusion, bank officials promptly changed the sub's name.

Says Louis Riel Should Have Been Freed as Insane

REGINA (CP) — Chief Justice J. T. Brown of Saskatchewan Court of Queen's Bench says Louis Riel should have had a new trial.

"If Riel were tried today I believe the defence could get a dozen doctors to prove he was insane and almost any jury would have acquitted him because of insanity," Mr. Justice Brown said Friday.

Addressing the annual meeting of the Saskatchewan Law Society, Mr. Justice Brown, who has made a special study of Riel's trial, also contended the police magistrate erred in his address to the jury in a manner damaging Riel's defence.

Riel, the Metis leader, was convicted of treason and submission to the devil and was hanged in Regina Nov. 16, 1885.

ECONOMICAL DEPARTURE

LONDON (AP) — Terence Hennessey, 23, strolled up to the shooting booth at a fair here Friday night and paid sixpence for six shots with a miniature rifle. Then he lay on the ground and shot himself dead. Hennessey was recently invalided from the army. No immediate reason was given for his suicide.

Plans Paddle Across Ontario

VICTORIA (CP) — A 54-year-old Vancouver window washer plans to paddle across Lake Ontario between Toronto and Youngstown, N.Y. next month.

Romeo Ordano, who will try to paddle his two-pontoon "finner" across the Strait of Juan de Fuca between here and Port Angeles, Wash., a distance of 18.3 miles, Sunday, announced his July plans today.

His craft consists of two pontoons about three feet apart with a board resting on the supports that join them. Ordano lies on the board and propels the craft with two paddles attached to his hands.

Fear Trouble In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Argentine authorities watched Roman Catholic preparations for today's Corpus Christi procession inside Metropolitan Cathedral. Trouble could erupt if the crowd spilled out into the square in front of the church.

Although the square, the historic Plaza de Mayo, is the traditional scene of the annual ceremony honoring the Eucharist, President Juan Peron's police have forbidden it to the marchers this year.

Some church sources said the procession, scheduled for late afternoon, might attract one of the largest Catholic crowds in recent months in this country, where the church and Peron's government have been feuding since last November.

Only Brave Dare Be Christians In Red China

HONG KONG (Reuters) — An American Roman Catholic bishop expelled from China said today that "only the bravest man" would dare become a Christian there in the face of Communist persecution.

Most Rev. Frederick Donaghy, formerly of New Bedford, Mass., made this statement at a press conference here and described how he was framed by Communist secret police who "discovered" a pistol and a package of opium in his home.

Bishop Donaghy described as "absolutely false" a statement by Premier Chou En-lai that there is complete religious freedom in Communist China.

The bishop said 60 per cent of his congregation still attend mass on Sundays in Wuchow, but Catholics in rural areas have been intimidated and even forbidden in some places to go to church.

Given Run-Around

DETROIT (AP) — Tired of arguing with a woman passenger who wanted him to honor an expired transfer, bus driver Clenard Osborne, 26, detoured his load of rush-hour passengers to police headquarters Friday.

Hot and crowded, passengers waited until police decided they had no grounds on which to act.

Osborne climbed back into his bus and drove back to his route. The woman, unidentified, was left standing on the curb.

Bannister Married

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) — Dr. Roger Bannister, the first man to run a four-minute mile, was married in a civil ceremony here this morning to Moyra Elver Jacobsson, daughter of a Swedish economist.

The ceremony was performed in Basel's civil registrar's office in the heart of this picturesque old city.

From the very bottom of my heart, I wish to thank all the good people of West Hastings who worked so hard on my behalf, and voted for me in the recent provincial election.

The tremendous victory you gave me with well over a 4,000 vote majority gives me the assurance of your support, and I promise you that I will continue to work untiringly in the interests of all.

Is Your WILL Up to Date?

Many people review their Will from time to time. Your executor may have moved away or become ill or become unable to give sufficient time and attention to administer your estate. In view of the considerable changes in dollar values your Estate has probably changed in value.

You may have given too many legacies, or too large in amount, under your Will and have deprived your wife and children of sufficient to provide for their care and keep. You may have to adjust some of the shares going to beneficiaries. Births, marriages and deaths in your family may have made your estate plans obsolete. Increased succession duties and income taxes may affect the estate plans made by you for your family.

Your Will is one of the most important documents you will ever be called upon to sign. If you have a Will, we suggest that you review it now —and if not, make your Will now and appoint Victoria and Grey Trust Company as Executor.

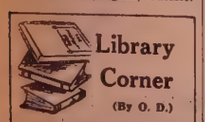
PIERCE—MALLORY

Standards of yellow and white snapdragons, tulips and spires formed a lovely setting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Mallory, Frankford, Ontario, for a pretty spring wedding on Saturday, May 28, at 2.30 p.m., when Donna Evelyn Mallory, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Mallory, became the bride of Donald Edgar Pierce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Pierce of Brigden, Ontario. The Rev. G. A. Puttenham officiated.

Miss Helen Burkitt, Frankford rendered the wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked lovely in a bridal gown of white penaglaze, with fitted bodice and sheath-like sleeves pointed over the wrists, and a floor-length skirt of soft folds. Her fingertip veil of embroidered nylon was held with a seed pearl embroidered cap. She carried a white Bible crested with red roses and stephanotis and streamers of rosebuds.

Miss Wanda Mallory, sister of the bride, attended the bride, wearing aqua nylon, ballerina length, with matching headdress. She carried a nosegay of yellow rosebuds.



The flower girl, little Lynda Mallory, youngest sister of the bride, wore yellow organdie and carried a nosegay of pink and yellow roses and wore a pink and yellow headdress.

Mr. James Mason of Sarnia, was the groomsman.

The reception was held at the home of the bride. The bride's mother received the guests in a navy sheath dress, with a corsage of pink Sweetheart roses. She was assisted by the groom's mother wearing a navy suit dress, with white accessories and corsage of pink Sweetheart roses.

For the wedding trip to the central and eastern States, the bride chose a navy blue suit with white accessories and corsage of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierce will make their home in Brigden, Ontario.

Airlines End Irritating Rule

By SHIRLEY AND BOB SLOANE

On June 15 the scheduled airlines will finally take an aspirin for one of their biggest headaches. The requirement that passengers reconfirm reservations is being ended.

The rule, which called for passengers to advise the airline of their intent to use their return or continuing reservations, was another in a long list of conspicously unsuccessful attempts to eliminate the problem of people who don't show up for a flight.

It just didn't work. Most inexperienced air travelers simply didn't understand it and failed to reconfirm, thereby losing their seats even though they showed up.

On the other hand, experienced travelers were reconfirming even though they weren't sure they were reconfirming even though they weren't sure they were going. Thus the two groups generally cancelled each other out.

The rule also led to a great deal of resentment on the part of regular customers, most of whom, the airlines dicovered, were not in the habit of failing to fulfill reservations. The resentment stemmed largely from the frequency of errors and disagreements between the airline and the passenger as to whether the traveler had actually reconfirmed.

NO PROOF

Usually the passenger got no written proof of his reconfirmation. And even if he did, once the error was made and someone else given his seat, there was nothing he could do about it except sue the airline, which some pleople did—often successfully.

Reconfirmation was illogical—and perhaps illegal—salesmanship since it required the customer to reiterate his order for a service he had already asked for and paid for.

Thus the passenger was sometimes placed in the position of having a ticket that, in terms of his space on a given flight, wasn't worth the paper it was written on, through no fault of his own.

At this writing a substitute measure for licking the no-show problem has yet to be worked out. There is talk of exacting a penalty for not showing up. But if cancellation is permitted by telephone, there will be more arguments about whether it was done or not in individual cases.

And what about passengers who haven't bought their tickets yet? You can't deduct anything from their refund if there's nothing to refund. Under this plan, too many passengers undoubtedly would wait until the last minute to buy their tickets

A probable solution will be a requirement that passengers pick up their tickets a specified number of hours before flight time, which just about puts the airlines back where they started a few years ago before reconfirmation. The only difference may be that the no-show habit has been pretty well broken.

But it will likely still be a while before the airlines have solved all their service problems and laid away much of the criticism to which they've been subjected from various quarters recently.

BASIC PROBLEM

Some of the criticism has been understandable, a lot of it unfair, but an unfortunate amount of it based on a lack of appreciation of the airlines' most basic problem—how to fill as many seats as possible on every flight and still keep happy those customrs for whom there is no room. Reservations and the fulfilling of them are the be-all and end-all of airline economy.

The airlines' passenger and reconfirmation lists are its reservations bible, but abuses of it—inadvertent and otherwise—have been staggering.

It isn't generally known, but some airlines have taken to ignoring tacitly either passenger manifests and or reconfirmation. One major airline has been honoring any proper ticket so long as the passenger says he reconfirmed, whether he shows a record of it or not.

Another important carrier has taken to disregarding reservation lists altogether at its busier airports and will board anyone with a ticket filled in for a specific flight and marked "ok." Passengers who have caught on to this have taken advantage of it.

We have personally observed individuals approach a ticket counter with an "open" ticket, i.e., one that is paid for to and from certain points but with no specific flight reservation.

On learning that the flight they wanted was filled, they merely ducked into a corner, filled in the flight number anyway, marking it 'ok,' and got in line with the legitimate passengers.

GATE CLOSED

When the plane was filled—with real reservation-holders still standing in line—the gate was closed and the plane sent off without ever checking the passengers' names against the airlines' reservation record. The airline apparently figured that as long as the flight is filled and is off on time, amends can be made later to those left holding the bag.

The waiting-list system, whereby prospective passengers are assigned preference on a filled flight in the event of cancellations, has also been abused. We have called for reservations and been told, "You're lucky; I just got a cancellation and you can have the seat." Apparently a bird in the hand was worth a dozen on the waiting list, regardless of how long the others had been waiting for a break.

Other things have gone wrong with the airlines operations too, such as inaccurate advice about arrival and departure times, hasty and sometimes unnecessary flight cancellations, and frequent breakdowns of coordination between the airlines' various reservations offices and pre-flight contact with passengers.

But until the airlines make their problems better understood and appreciated by the general public and iron out the kinks in their own passenger service and reservations rules and systems, they'll continue to have their hands full, reconfirmation or no.

Women's Activities

BAYSIDE W.M.S.

Mrs. Floyd Dudley was hostess to the ladies of the Bayside Woman's Missionary Society on Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance of members and two new members.

The president, Mrs. Clifton Rush, presided over an interesting meeting, the theme being, "The Lord Reigns; Let the Earth Rejoice; Let the Coast Lands be Glad."

The Scripture 1 John 3:16-23 was read by Mrs. Ritchie Ketcheson.

Mrs. E. Windover gave a reading from the United Church Observer and Mrs. George Bilham outlined a chapter of the study book.

Mrs. George Bilham contributed a solo 'I Depend upon my God' with Mrs. Dudley as accompanist. This was much enjoyed.

The Rev. R. W. T. Middleton and Mrs. Middleton contributed a duet "Less of Self and More of Thee", with Mrs. Middleton accompanying. This was appropriate for the occasion and was much enjoyed.

The offering was dedicated by the Rev. R. W. T. Middleton.

Mrs. Rush moved a vote of thanks to the hostess who served refreshments and all enjoyed a social time together.

An afghan was handed in to be shipped with other goods for missions. A quilt finished in the winter will be shipped by a neighboring W.M.S.

Many Attend Visitors' Day At Ontario School for The Deaf

Many friends and parents from far and near took advantage of the ideal weather conditions yesterday afternoon to attend the "Visitors' Day" at the Ontario School for the Deaf when the exhibition of the pupils' work was on display at the girls' gymnasium both afternoon and evening; and to visit the class sessions by conducted tours, where the teaching methods, from the primary to the advanced class in lip reading, were demonstrated.

Later, the guests assembled in the school auditorium for the enjoyable program which consisted of two numbers by the senior and junior rhythm bands, under the direction of Mr. Alec Gordon. The senior band rendered "Overture to Alice in Wonderland", written and arranged by Mr. Gordon; and the juniors, "The Wedding of the Painted Doll," both of which were well rendered, and received a fine applause.

Another feature of the program was the modelling by the school's children of clothing made by the senior pupils. These displayed children's sport styles, and were modelled by little girls and boys; tots, and juniors, showing little velvet outfits, the little tot girl wearing a black velvet two-piecer and the lad, knee pants and a yellow silk blouse.

BASKETBALL UNIFORMS

Other styles displayed basketball uniforms, in green and yellow and blue and yellow; afternoon dresses, street dresses, in varying colors, with red predominating. Most of the girls' dresses were either sleeveless, or with puff sleeves; some were in three-quarter length, and featured fitted bodices and full skirts.

One of the highlights of the program was the presentation of a scene from "Alice in Wonderland" by the senior students, which depicted the "Queen's Croquet Match". Those who missed the whole play some time ago were able from this one scene to form an opinion of the loveliness of the whole feature, and the adorable costumes worn, all of which were made by the students under the direction of Miss N. Ketcheson and Mrs. E. Jackman.

VOCATIONAL-ACADEMIC DISPLAY

In the gymnasium was a fine display of the various activities in handiwork done both in workshops and in the academic line. In the metal work division there were copper trays; lunch boxes; dust pans; waste paper baskets; wall brackets; bait pails; and many other well made articles. An outstanding exhibit was the "Jungle Gym" made from good used pipe, which was cut and welded by the boys, and had a sale value of $375. This was constructed by the boys. In the school grounds a new merry-go-round was appreciated by the children, which was also a school project.

Agricultural mechanics included a farm sleigh; express wagons; mail storage boxes, made by an Indian lad, George Metigural. These boxes are of heavy material strong enough to resist any marauding bear. A refereeing balcony drew considerable attention. There were also several step-ladders, and kitchen stools.

EXQUISITE WOOD WORK

In the wood working division, the diversity of projects was most admirable; here were lawn cutouts; blonde chest of drawers; lamp stands in natural; sewing cabinets; rest-inviting lawn chairs; a black willow chest of drawers was a work of art, and a thing of beauty, as was the other desk in dark oak in limed finish. Some checker board design fruit bowls were well turned and finely made, as were the fern stands.

The Academic work, as usual, was superb, and displayed typing; business practice; social studies; reading and literature; books on speech reading; language and composition; Sunday school work; and art, which included the popular finger painting, designs in India ink, and a case of fine leather craft.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS-CRAFTS

The industrial arts-crafts displayed book shelves; magazine tables; fern stands; rocking horses; ship building, and many other fine pieces of work.

In the sewing division there were flannelette pyjamas; girls' dresses; fancy work, embroidery work; place mats and crib quilts, to mention but a few.

Mr. J. D. Demeza, superintendent of the school, who extended a most cordial welcome to the parents and friends, mentioned that there were other departments of the school which were unable to display their work, as the laundry, and the carpentry, but which were both needed, and did a fine bit of work for the school, especially in the maintenance of buildings and in other ways.

Following the afternoon session, tea was served in the Home Economics room, where those in cooking school, demonstrated their ability in the preparation of the refreshments served. Miss K. B. Daly, instructress.

EVENING SESSION

An evening session in the boys' gymnasium included tumbling, by both girls and boys; exercises by girls; the five jumping beans, girls; pyramid building, boys; and Indian club swinging, girls, under the physical training instructors, Miss B. Wilbur and Mr. B. Williams.

STAFF

Those in charge of the various departments were: Agriculture and Mechanics, Mr. J. W. Hodgson; carpentry, Mr. L. Hall; industrial arts and crafts, Mr. A. C. Stratton; printing, Mr. L. Morrison; intermediate sewing, Mrs. E. Jackman; senior sewing, Miss N. Ketcheson; typing and business machines, Mr. J. Chard; beauty culture, Mrs. G. Lewis; woodworking, Mr. H. Vaughan.

Those in charge of the fashion show and program, Miss Ketcheson, Mrs. Lewis, Mr. Alec Gordon and Mr. Graham.

Wm. Meagher New President PTA Assoc.

A general meeting of St. Joseph's Parent-Teacher Association was held in the school auditorium on June 7. Mr. W. Meagher presided and led the opening prayer.

The minutes were read and adopted.

Correspondence concerning salacious literature was circulated.

A plaque, the Paul Mercier award, to be presented annually to the best boy public speaker in St. Joseph's school, was given to the association. It will be placed in the main display case of the school and engraved each year with the winning boy's name.

Mrs. K. Callaghan, on behalf of the members presented a rosary to Miss K. Morrell, who is leaving the school staff.

Mrs. G. Ehler, chairman of the nominating committee, presented the following slate of offices:

President, Mr. W. Meagher; vice-president, Mr. B. Smith; treasurer, Mr. C. Ford; secretary, Mrs. K. Callaghan; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. Hanley.

It was moved by Mrs. Trepanier that this slate be accepted. Mrs. C. Young seconded this motion. The executive was elected unanimously.

The attendance prize was won by the class of Miss Morrell.

Refreshments were served by the class mothers.

Mr., Mrs. William Ray Celebrate Golden Anniversary

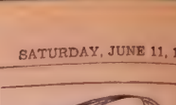
Fifty years ago, in the Methodist parsonage at Ivanhoe, William Ray and Miss Blanche Jeffrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jeffrey were married by the Rev. J. Weatheral, and recently they celebrated that event by being 'at home' to over 100 of their friends and relatives.

The home was beautifully decorated for the occasion with baskets of golden colored chrysanthemums, snapdragons, and roses, and the numerous guests received by their three daughters —Mrs. M. D. (Hazel) Wellman of Ottawa; Mrs. H. (Ann) Stairs of Belleville, and Mrs. Roswell (Edna) Reid of Halloway.

A turkey dinner was served to the immediate family with Mrs. Cecil Ketcheson, Mrs. Clifford Ketcheson, Mrs. Ralph Sills and Mrs. R. Bunnett pouring tea. Those who assisted in serving were their granddaughters and their daughters-in-law.

In 1905, Mr. and Mrs. Ray left Ivanhoe for the 8th concession of Thurlow, where they have farmed ever since.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Ray are enjoying good health and though they have not taken up any hobbies, yet for Mrs. Ray, keeping her home spotless, and providing for the needs of the household, is her chief concern, while Mr. Ray, an enthusiastic farmer and herdsman finds his time full and most enjoyable.



They have seven children, the three daughters mentioned above, and four sons, Percy and Clifford of Halloway; and Gordon and Floyd at home. There are also 13 grandchildren and two great, grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray were the recipients of many cards of congratulation, lovely flowers, and gifts, among which were a studio couch and chair and an occasional chair from the community. Telephone calls from friends far and near brought good wishes, and from the Parliament Buildings of Toronto, came a scroll of congratulations.

The bridegroom's gift to his bride of fifty years ago, was a gold wrist watch.

A lovely surprise was the arrival of the bride's only brother, Mr. John A. Jeffrey, of Rosetown, Saskatchewan, who arrived by plane from Long Beach, California, to be present for this occasion. Mrs. Ray's two sisters, Mrs. Martha Wilson of Winnipeg, Manitoba, and Mrs. T. J. Tanner, of Stirling, were also present, but her other sister, Mrs. Hugh, (Jennie) Sutherland, of Carstairs, Alberta, was unable to come.

The citizens of the city join with the relatives and friends in extending to Mr. and Mrs. Ray congratulations on arriving at their 50th anniversary milestone, and wish for them a happy, and healthful 60th.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

HE'S A BACHELOR—SHE'S A ARRIED WOMAN

Dear Bs Fairfax:

I am bachelor, 29 years old, and in ve with a married woman two yrs younger. I know I shouldi be, and I have tried to forget hr, but nothing seems to work.

We t three years ago, when she w having trouble with her husbat and we went out together a goochany times. Please don't think : had an affair, though, because e didn't.

Nower troubles at home have straigened out, and she seems to be perctly happy and anxious to forgetll about our friendship. That'all right for her, but what aboutie? What am I going to do when know I can never forget her? Henry T.

Dear enry:

Hayou really done anything to help urself forget this woman?

I raer suspect that the chief reasc you are still so tied to the thous of her is because you have beenidulging yourself in thinking abouner constantly and trying to find ays of persuading her to see you ;often as you could. Naturally, it not possible to forget someone ten you are making her the centof your attention.

I'glad that both of you had the aracter to keep away from an air, but I think you should showequal character in resolving to p this woman out of your life. Whaver your feelings may be, you ve no right to have anything to dwith another man's wife, as you low yourself, especially when you ve reason to believe that the now happy with her husband.

If ou can't put her out of your mincany other way, then you ough to go to another city far enou off so it won't be easy to go backny time you happen to feel like ; get yourself a new job and maka lot of new friefds. If you havehe will power to do this, and to sk with it, I am quite sure thisnfortunate romance will gradually slip back in the past where it suld be, instead of continuing to eminate your present.

ARTHDAY GIFT FOR THE GIRL FRIEND

DearMiss Fairfax:

Mygirl friend's boy friend has askeme what he could give her for h birthday. He doesn't want to gi her anything that would makpeople think they are too serio about each other yet, becausshe is only 16 and he is 17.

Heas thought of giving her a locke Do you think that would be a go thing? Or, if not, what woul you suggest? — Dorothy DeaDorothy:

I cn't think a locket would be a goodea if the boy just wants to makthe girl a friendly gift.

A tter choice would be some prett hankerchiefs, a bottle of nice erfume, a compact, a book on sne subject in which she is specily interested, some extra-nice tationery, or a couple of recor of her favorite music—thingshat aren't either too personal oroo expensive. Any one of thesevould, I am sure, be very muchppreciated.

GOOD MANNERS

GROOM UNCERTAIN ABOUT WEDDING EXPENSES

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Our son is to be married next month, and as his finances are very limited, the amount he will be able to spend for flowers, gifts and other responsibilities would not be very much. He would like to have you tell us if it is a must that he buy gifts for the bride, the bridesmaids, and the flower girl. Also, what kind of flowers should he provide for the bridesmaids? — J.S.

Usually the groom does give his bride a wedding present, but this is optional. It is the bride who buys the gifts for her attendants: maid of honor, bridesmaids, flower girl. The groom gives gifts, as simple and inexpensive as he wishes, to his attendants: best man and ushers.

To be of most help to your son, here is a list of

What the Groom Pays For:
Wedding ring
Marriage Licence fee
Wedding present to bride
These flowers:
Bride's bouquet.
Bride's going-away corsage.
Corsages for "the mothers" (the bride's mother and his own mother).
Boutonnieres for the best man, ushers, and for both fathers.

(In some communities the groom pays for the flowers for the bridal attendants. Concerning this he should consult with the bride.)

Contribution to the minister who performs the ceremony.

Presents to best man and ushers: also their ties and gloves if it is a formal wedding.

Bachelor dinner (if he gives one).

Transportation for the best man and himself, from house to church.

Transportation for the best man and himself, from house to church. All expesses of the wedding trip . . . beginning with the car in which he and the bride leave the reception.

THANK-YOU NOTE TO SHOWER HOSTESS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please give me some suggestions as to how I would word a thank-you note to the hostess who gives a shower for me? Thank you, if you will. —Bride-to-be

Your note might read somewhat like this:

Dear Kate,

What a wonderful friend you are to plan such a happy shower-party for me! It was a beautiful occasion, everything perfectly planned by you, and I shall always cherish the joyous memories of it. The table setting was most colorful and artistic, with your so-original centerpiece for the gifts. And such wonderful gifts—my heart is full of appreciation.

Dearest love and deepest gratitude to you for your goodness to me, and let's get together soon and talk over all the joys of your party!

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

DON'T WORRY IF YOUR FEATURES AREN'T PERFECT

In the book, "The Sheltered Life," by Ellen Glasgow, an observing man remarks, "You have the eyes and the hair of a wood nymph, and when you have lovely eyes and hair it doesn't matter a bit if God has forgotten about your nose and your chin."

Sweet Young Things often bewail so-called beauty "imperfections" which most persons don't even notice. Freckles, for instance, are no heart-crushing matter. They often make a girl look piquant, outdoorsy, sassy and healthy.

For some reason, nearly every girl in her teens regards her nose with disfavor. Yet even an imperfect nose can lend interest to the general facial composition.

Eyes and hair, however, are real beauty standouts, and nothing should be left undone to enhance their lovliness. The charm of the eyes is largely in expression. Turn on the highlights of friendliness and good nature, and they are compelling. As for the "glorious crown," no matter what its color or texture it can be made lovely by continuous care and a becoming arrangement.

It is doubtful if any woman is without some imperfection. Lillian Russell, considered the greatest beauty of her time, had ugly arms. So she never left them wholly uncovered.

An old lady who knew Lily Langtry, an international beauty, told this writer years ago that, when displeased or angry, Lily was downright homely.

It is what the feminine face expresses that makes it captivating or otherwise.

A vote of thanks was extended to the hostess and the lunch conveners.

After the meeting closed an exchange of slips followed.

Good corsetry, light, flexible, yet controlling, is prepared to give almost any figure type the right foundation for any time. This coat is cut on the princess line and has an away-from-the-neck collar that is wearable with or without the printed silk scarf. There is a low placed shoulder line and seaming on the bodice that terminates in gores on the skirt. Flapped pockets are placed slantwise.

Who Was This?

By A. A. M.

Who was the woman who stood weeping in the garden outside the tomb of Joseph of Arimithea where Jesus' body had lain after the crucifixion? She stooped down and looked inside the tomb and there she saw two angels, clothed in white.

They asked her, "Woman, why are you weeping?" She answered, "Because they have taken away my Lord, and I do not know where they have laid him."

Then she turned away and saw another figure standing beside her. It was Jesus but she did not recognize Him. He also asked her, "Woman, why are you weeping? Whom do you seek?"

Thinking that He might be the gardener, she pleaded with him "Sir if you have cirried Him away, do tell me where you have laid Him. I want to take His body away." Then Jesus, as he called her name, revealed himself in the tone of voice he used.

Quickly she turned and cried in Hebrew, "Rabboni!" which means "Teacher!" Jesus warned her not to take hold of Him, for He had not yet ascended to the Heavenly Father. But he commanded her to go to the desciples and say to them that he was going to ascend to God.

Immediately this woman went to the disciple and said, "I have seen the Lord." She related her whole experience. This woman's name and this story is found in John, Chapter 20, verses 11 to 18.

As Conducted by Mary Moore

QUESTION:

What is the most satisfactory method of getting the salt out of cured ham. I think they are so salty. I generally parboil by starting in cold water for a short time before roasting but even after the roasting is done there seems to be too much salt. One cafe cook tells me she puts a bottle of beer around the meat in the pan and that works out well. Let me know your method re cooking please. —(Mrs.) M. Doan.

ANSWER:

Soak the ham overnight in cold water then dry it very well before roasting. This is the method that the meat packers use when they have held hams too long in brine before they are ordered for sale. Roast a 10 to 12 lb. ham 18 minutes to the pound. Total time about 3 1-4 hours—or if you use a meat thermometer 150 deg. Fahr. internal temperature. Okay?

QUESTION:

. . . when I saw Marianne's wedding photograph I just had to write. I was thrilled to see it. After reading your column for years you seem like a special friend. During the war we lived in Stoney Creek, Ontario. I enjoy cooking but not being very well off financially have to forego any but practical recipes. I especially like the Whole Wheat cookies. We use whole wheat flour as a porridge. . . I shall enclose the recipe—also one for Soda Crackers. I like using Pyrex pie plates, then I can see if the pie is done on the bottom, but unless I grease the dish, the shell always sticks. Such a nuisance greasing it!—Judith M.

WHOLE WHEAT PORRIDGE

(Courtesy Judith M.)

Into upper part of double boiler put 1 cup milk and 1 teaspoon salt. Add 1 cup whole wheat flour and mix well so it isn't lumpy. Place over boiling water and add 2 cups boiling water. Cook, stirring until smooth and thick. Cook at least 1-2 hour.

SODA BISCUITS

(Courtesy Judith M.)

Seven cups flour, 1-2 cup shortening, 2 teaspoons cream of tartar, 1 teaspoon soda. Mix all together, then add 1 1-2 cups water. Roll, sprinkle with salt, cut prick. Bake in hot oven.

ANSWER:

Thank you so much Judith. Never mind, you are "well off" spiritually and that's what counts. To readers I want to say those soda crackers should be rolled very thin—about 1-16 to 1-8 inch and baked at 425 deg. F. I would suggest that if you could get fresh wheat germ you add about 1 tablespoons to the porridge and try it. I hope you will forgive me for adding these comments to your excellent offerings, Judith.

QUESTION:

. . . I would like to ask for your help in getting a recipe for a Pineapple Chiffon Cake. I had one and lost it and it was delicious, so thought maybe you or some of your kind readers would have it.—Mrs. John R.

ANSWER:

PINEAPPLE CHIFFON CAKE

Sift into mixing bowl 2 1-4 cups sifted cake flour, 1 1-2 cups sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt. Make a "well" in the centre and add in order 1-2 cup cooking (salad) oil, 5 unbeaten egg yolks, 3-4 cup pineapple juice or syrup, 1-2 cup well-drained finely crushed pineapple, 2 teaspoons vanilla, 2 teaspoons grated lemon rind. Beat with a spoon until smooth. Into a large mixing bowl measure 1 cup egg whites (room temperature) and 1-2 teaspoon cream of tartar. Beat whites until they form very stiff peaks. Pour egg yolk mixture gradually over whipped whites, gently folding with rubber scraper just until blended. Pour into ungreased tube pan and bake at 325 deg. Fahr. for 55 minutes then at 350 deg. Fahr. for 10 to 15 minutes. This may be baked in oblong or loaf tins shorter times.

Garden Notes

Iris--Cheap Way to Color Garden

By FLORA M. SAVILLE

The Iris has been called the poor man's orchid. Certainly they are as colorful, their price is low and the ease with which they grow is amazing. I have seen unwanted clumps tossed into a vacant lot, beside a road, or on the trash pile, and they survive the heat, lack of soil and drought and bloom on, year after year.

We have been told for many years that July and August is the best time to transplant them, but they can be moved at almost any time. The earlier the better, since they then have a long season to make new roots and get established for next year's blooms. You can move them whil e in flower and do little harm. And, while they are in flower you can best choose the color you wish. So if you wish to establish a new iris border, or just move some of the best in your garden to new locations, this is a good time to plant iris. That goes for bearded types and other early types. Late bloomers should be allowed to come into blossom or finish blooming, before they are moved.

Before deciding where the iris is to go consider its neighbors. The iris does not like its roots shaded, so, while peonies, Oriental poppies and iris come into bloom at about the same time, and make a bright tapestry of color together, they should not be planted close enough to shade the fleshy rhizomes of the iris. Or, if you plant annuals around them see that they do not shade the lower parts of the leaves and the roots. The fleshy rhizome, or underground stem, is the food factory that stores up material for next years leaves and bloom: so they must have sun and air.

NO SOIL COVERAGE

Then to, the fleshy part must not be covered with soil. It is apt to rot. The long fibrous roots will need to be spread out in good garden loam with good drainage. If you have good garden soil you can grow good iris, but a handful of bone meal, half bushes of compost improve the plans. Add one pound of complete plant food for each square feet of soil surface. Work the mixture well together before-setting out the new plants. If you are sure your soil is acid a good sprinkling of ground limestone will be appreciated by the bearded iris. Do not let any of this touch the roots. Cover them with untreated soil and let the rains and hose carry small quantities gradually down to the roots as needed.

Iris are hardy and only in the very cold sections do they require a light mulch of excelsior, cedar branches or straw, which will not mat. Where freezing and thawing occur frequently, as in Essex county, it is best to watch newly set rhizomes for heaving. When that happens press them back firmly and pack soil around them.

One thing more before we start to dig—for best all over effect plant in clumps of nine, or twelve, with the fan of leaves outwards and the rhizomes facing inwards to form a rough circle, with one or two plants in the center. Chose more light than dark clumps for best general effect, light and dark yellow, white, pale blue and light shades of violet give better results than too many deep bronze purples and maroons.

One good way to set out iris is to make a double trench around your circle, or clump. Set the roots astride this trench at eight inch intervals. Press the rhizomes into the top of this, and firm the soil around the roots. For the center plants make a small hill and set the rhizome on that, covering the roots, but allowing the top half of the fleshy rhizome to remain uncovered. Water the roots, but leave the rhizome dry, if possible.

In selecting new plants, try to determine the new sections. Once a section has sent up a flower stem and this has bloomed it is finished as far as blooms are concerned. New sections grow out from the old and establish new bloom material. So, discards the center sections if you are taking new cuttings from an old clump, take only fresh, firm well developed outside eipecs. Cut the leaves off to five or six inches of ease of handling. There is a rest, or dormant period, after the iris has bloomed. Then there is a new spurt of growth in the fall. This is a good reason for transplanting early and it will give the roots a chance to become established before the top growth starts.

Chuter Ede Quits 'Shadow' Cabinet But Hits Dalton

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—Chuter Ede is the latest Labor greybeard to quit the "shadow" cabinet—but woe to him who suggests age as the reason.

In a stinging letter to leader Clement Attlee, Ede says he is quitting of his own free will, and not because cabinet colleague Hugh Dalton has publicly advised the over-65s to step down.

Ede is 72, Dalton 67.

"We have all recognized and deplored Dalton's failing physical powers and can sympathize with him," wrote Ede. "Fortunately, these signs of senility are not infectious."

Good, grey Chuter Ede, as he is often called, was home secretary in the last Labor government. A grocer's son, one of the first to win a scholarship offered to elementary schoolboys, he has won a respected place in the Labor movement, and his humanity is admired by all parties in the House of Commons.

OTHERS QUIT

Dalton, once a Labor chancellor of the exchequer, had left the shadow cabinet earlier and advised his elderly colleagues to do the same. William Whiteley, 72-year-old chief whip, and Emanuel Shinwell, 70, have since bowed out.

The shadow cabinet changes are part of the sequel to Labor's defeat in the May 26 election. It appeared for a time that the consequent turmoil inside the party might affect the leadership, but it was made known Thursday that Attlee has agreed to remain in the saddle indefinitely.

TITAN WHITE ONE COAT HOUSE PAINT

A beautiful white—a brand new paint, Lowe Brothers TITAN WHITE has extra high Titanium content that actually gives it the hiding power of two coats of normal paint over previously painted surfaces. No need now for those high repainting estimates. You can do the job yourself simply by cleaning the surface and brushing on one coat of TITAN WHITE, saving half the time and labour expense of normal 2-coat repainting. And TITAN WHITE's new warm tone contrasts attractively with harsh, stark whites.

SELF-CLEANING . . . STAYS WHITE

Season after season Titan White retains its original beauty and whiteness. Microscopic particles of paint film are gradually washed away by rain, carrying with them surface dirt and grime. A controlled chalking process ensures that only enough of the paint film is washed away to keep the surface free of dirt . . . the surface is still adequately protected for the life of the paint film. The gradual wearing away of the paint film keeps the surface smooth and free from checks and cracks . . . eliminates burdensome surface preparations before eventual repainting.

$8.30 PER GAL.

WHAT'S BEST FOR YOU... ONE COAT or TWO?

If you are painting over previously painted surfaces in fair condition, one coat of TITAN WHITE will give completely satisfactory hiding and surface protection. When painting new wood or badly weathered surfaces Titan White or Lowe Brothers High Standard House Paint should be used over a coat of 260 Primer. This provides scientific protection by means of 'controlled penetration'. The specially compounded oils in the 260 Primer seal all porous surfaces, whether wood, brick, concrete or plaster—penetrating the immediate sub-surface just far enough to ensure firm anchorage of the prime coat. Enough oil is left on the surface to form a tough, elastic film, providing an ideal foundation for the finish coat and preventing its essential oils from being absorbed.

Woman Member Fails to End Discrimination

OTTAWA (CP)—Mrs. Ellen Fairclough failed today in a bid to end what she says is discrimination against married women by the unemployment insurance commission.

The Progressive Conservative party's chief labor spokesman proposed in the Commons that the commission's power to make special regulations for married women employees be removed from the Unemployment Insurance Act.

Her motion was defeated by a vote of 29 to 12 during study of a government bill revising the act.

Mrs. Fairclough, who represents Hamilton West, has long campaigned against a regulation under which working women, for the first two years after their marriage, can draw no insurance benefits the first time they are out of work. They can qualify only by returning to work and paying insurance premiums for another 60 days.

SAYS ONLY GROUP

She said married women are the only group discriminated against by having special regulations applied to them.

"There is no other class of workers who are so treated. No male workers is disqualified by reason of the fact that his wife is employed."

There has been talk of unjustified "raiding" of the insurance fund by married women, she said. But the insurance commission had blind disregard for similar attempts by men to get benefits unfairly.

A brief by the commission to the Commons labor committee had contained "a slander against women workers." It had said married women are undesirable workers and had little or no interest in getting jobs if they could get unemployment payments.

Labor Minister Gregg said the insurance commission has said it will study the committee's request.

Police Hunting Robbery Suspect Still in Bush

By ALEX DIMEO
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ST. RAYMOND DE PORTNEUF Que. (CP) — Provincial police moved out on dawn patrols today, armed and ready for what they believed would be their best chance to capture an armed bank robbery suspect.

Friday, for the fourth consecutive day, provincial police cars moved unsuccessfully up and down the country roads around St. Raymond in the hunt for 18-year-old Frank Gingras. Two other suspects have been arrested.

Provincial police said they were pinning their hopes on a capture at dawn today.

They reasoned that the fugitive would be unable to attempt a breakthrough of the police patrols in broad daylight. His best opportunity, police believed, was in the half-light of the dawn when he "might be under the impression the patrols were not too active and when he could see well enough."

ONE PLEADS GUILTY

One suspect, Leo Cyr, 28, of Montreal, pleaded guilty Friday in Quebec, 50 miles east of here, to taking part in the armed robbery of $5,000 from the Banque Canadienne Nationale in nearby St. Marc. He will be sentenced June 17.

Cyr was found at the side of a road here Wednesday, exhausted and hungry. Friday, 17-year-old Claude Gingras, brother of the remaining fugitive, was found by two provincial policemen stumbling along a road four miles from here.

He was famished, his body was covered with mosquito and blackfly bites and his feet were wrapped in old rags. Police said young Gingras will be charged today, the charges depending on results of questioning, at Quebec. Police said he admitted taking part in the robbery.

According to Claude, he and his brother had not eaten since they fled into the bush Tuesday shortly after the robbery. By today, provincial police expected the fugitive to be near starvation.

HUNTING FOOD?

Shots were heard in the woods Friday and police believe Gingras may have been trying to hunt game or small birds for food.

Police caught a brief glimpse of the elder Gingras Friday. Wearing bullet-proof vests and heavily armed, officers moved across a field three miles west of here after a man was seen running unsteadily along the edge of a wood. They failed to find any trace of the suspect.

A man was also reported seen near a sawmill on the outskirts of town. This lead, too, led to nothing.

There was also an unsuccessful search for money which Cyr said he had hidden near the banks of the Ste. Anne river, six miles west. Lieut. Conrad Giroux said that although Cyr accompanied the officers to the spot where he supposedly hid his share of the bank loot the search was a "wild goose chase."

Friday night, police again set up roadblocks on all routes in the area. Cars passing through were thoroughly searched.

A passenger train that had passed slowly through the area where the hunted man was believed hiding was also searched.

FIND WOMAN'S BODY

HAMILTON (CP) — Police at nearby Saltfleet township Friday investigated the discovery of a woman's body found washed ashore at Winona beach. Police said the body, in the water for about two weeks, was clothed in a blue dress and blue serge windbreaker.

Fear Missing Private Plane Sunk in Lake

WINNIPEG (CP) — Provincial police, following up the first clue in the hunt for a private plane missing with two persons since Wednesday, today prepared to drag a small lake 25 miles east of Kenora.

Sqdn. Ldr. W. H. Nickel, officer commanding the communications and rescue squadron here, spotted an oil slick while flying over East Hawk lake Friday in a float-equipped Otter. He landed on the lake but was unable to find further clues.

The missing aircraft, a Beech Bonanza, was flown by Charles Day, believed to be from Short Hills, N.J., and Douglas A. Haines, about 65, general tourist agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway at Montreal.

The plane was last reported over the northern Ontario community of Sioux Lookout Wednesday on a 110-mile flight to Kenora from Kapuskasing.

Twelve aircraft from the RCAF and USAF were scheduled to continue the air search today.

Ford Contract Sparks Rise In Market

By HENRY BAKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

A contract settlement between the Ford Motor Company and the United Automobile Workers union provided the spark for an explosive advance on Canadian and United States stock markets this week.

Following announcement of the settlement at the beginning of the week, Ford stock jumped sharply on the New York and Toronto markets and steels and other related industries followed suit.

Off to a flying start, the Toronto exchange moved confidently ahead and industrial issues hit record index levels.

Light profit-taking Friday, however, stemmed the upward surge that had carried through six successive sessions. But losses were small and most industrial issues ended $1 or more higher on the week.

URANIUM SALES HIGH

Demand for uranium and other lower-priced mining stocks kept daily volumes near the 9,000,000-share mark, only on Friday did the pace ease.

Uranium gains ranged close to $2 amid glowing reports from Canada's mining camps. One report said the Algoma basin in Ontario's Blind River area contains an ore potential of 180,000,000 tons with a gross value in uranium of some $3,000,000,000. The report added that the present ore potential is triple the estimate made a year ago.

Consolidated Denison, one of the largest companies in the area, moved up $1.87½ during the week to close at $11.50.

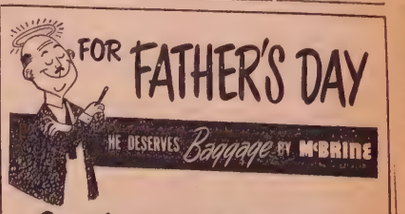
Best advances among industrials went to Aluminium, up $5.25, Union Gas up $4.75, Shawinigan up $4.25, Price Bros. up $3.75, General Motors up $2.87½, Great Lakes Paper up $2.75.

Ford A, Anglo Canadian Pulp and Paper and Asbestos each gained $2, Page-Hersey dropped $2.12½, Royal Bank $1.62½ and International Utilities $1.37½.

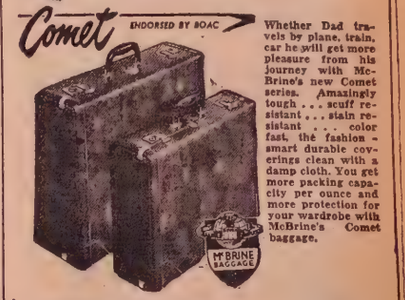
STEEP ROCK UP

Steep Rock led almost all base metals higher, climbing $1.25 following reports that shipments of ore from Port Arthur had increased substantially.

Falconbridge went ahead $1.12½ and Sherritt 70 to $6.70 among other leaders. Hudson Bay fell $1.75.



Among golds, McIntyre, which broke into the headlines with a jump of $9 Thursday, ended $6.87½ higher on the week. Rumors are that the company is planning a $25 cash dividend and that a stock split is in the offing. There is also talk of an impending battle for control of the company, Canada's third largest gold producer.



Western oil activity saw Bailey Selburn A lead most issues higher climbing $1.37½.

In New York, the market roared ahead to record peaks in the first three sessions. It dropped back a little Thursday, then climbed to a record high again Friday.

The Montreal market ended on an indecisive note after advancing fairly steadily throughout the week. Continued strength in paper stocks provided much of the upward push.

Index changes at Montreal: Banks up .30 to 47.07, utilities up 4.5 to 132.7, industrials up 7.5 to 285.4, combined up 6.5 to 234.5, papers up 38.51 to2 1438.12 and golds up .26 to 82.81.

Basilio Takes World Welterweight Title From DeMarco In Gory Battle

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

"TO BE OR NOT TO BE . . ."

There was a distinct note of optimism at a meeting of the senior "B" hockey group some time ago despite the fact that all the clubs but one looked at large gobs of red ink in the financial statements.

Today and Sunday, the group brass under the chairing of OHA president Frank Buckland, Peterborough and vice-president Lorne Cook of Kingston, go into conclave at the Viamede Hotel, a summer resort some 20 miles north of Peterborough on Stoney Lake.

It is no secret that all the clubs with the possible exception of the champion Goodyears of Kingston kissed goodbye to a lot of folding money last season, and the signs indicate that the most of them are willing to repeat next year—unless something short of a miracle takes place.

That the calibre of senior "B" hockey in this part of Ontario is tops, plus, has been evident for the past three seasons, Kingston has taken the titular bauble twice and Oshawa once, defeating Western Ontario opposition in the finals with more or less ease.

This, apparently, gave rise to the stories which were circulated after the Goodies won last year's title, that this loop was ready for senior "A" company. Nothing could be further from the truth. And we doubt very much if the OHA takes any action along these lines despite what some clubs want.

The question will probably come up for discussion at the week-end conclave. Oshawa's Wren Blair has been urging a jump to "A" company for the past two years, and according to reports, the Goodyears, following their triumph over the Sarnia Sailors are toying with the idea.

How the rest of the group entries will take the suggestion is not known. They had better remember that there isn't sense in sending a boy to do a man's job—and from their financial experience of last season they won't be in any condition to pay "man's wages."

As a matter of fact, according to the current rates—or those of last season, the majority will not be able to pay a "boy's" salary. It's the high cost of puck-shoving that might lead to dire results as far as the game is concerned.

We do not know if Belleville will be represented at the group conclave this afternoon. It was stated some time ago that the Arena Commission will not sponsor the club next season—and if not, who will? Strong rumors are extant along the hockey rialtos that a private individual has approached the commission with a view to renting the arena and assuming its activities including a senior "B" hockey club. Just what these rumors are worth we do not know.

We are not going to attempt to dictate to the commission what it should or should not do. Last season the commission reported a financial loss of some four thousand dollars in the operation of the hockey club. And this with a 100 per cent take at the box office.

Whether it will consider the proposal to rent is not known either, but it seems logical that whatever the rental figure or percentage might be—at least it will be "velvet."

And if the arena sticks to its guns on refusing to sponsor the club, what is it going to use for money to keep the arena in operation twelve months of the year? From former observations it cannot pay its way unless there is hockey.

Naturally every city likes winning clubs. And with this idea uppermost there has been a decided movement throughout the group to keep up with the hockey "Jonses." Talented players cost money. And this is the main reason for the excess of red ink in club ledgers.

One team cannot and will not cut the operational overhead. There must be a general agreement among all the clubs to reduce this expenditure and live up to the agreement. Otherwise senior "B" hockey in these parts may see an early demise, or at least sleeping sickness.

Knocks Out Former Champion In Twelfth Round of Slugfest; Fight Close Until 10th Round

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP)—Battle-scarred Carmen Basilio looked forward to a fishing trip today while his manager started work on reeling in some more greenbacks for the newly crowned welterweight champion.

The 26-year-old ex-marine from nearby Canastota, N.Y., earned his vacation Friday night by stopping valiant Tony DeMarco in 1:52 of the 12th round of a thrilling and bloody title fight in the War Memorial Auditorium.

Although Basilio said he was willing to defend his crown "against anyone I'm called on to meet," his manager had other plans for the immediate future.

"We'd like one or two non-title fights for Carmen to bring in some cash," said Johnny Dejohn.

GOOD PAYOFF

Carmen, one of the 10 children in the happy Basilio family—earned approximately $30,000 as well as the title. DeMarco, who held the crown only 70 days, collected a hefty $60,000.

DeMarco, a chunky, hard-hitting 23-year-old, was very much in the running until he got nailed on the button by a power-packed right in the 10th. Two more rights to the chin sent the bleeding and staggering Bostonian to the deck for seven. He came up flying and then ran into a blazing left hook to the jaw that sent him on his back. He wobbled up at seven again and somehow managed to survive the round.

DeMarco, bleeding from cuts over both eyes, the mouth and nose, wasn't through trying. But Basilio pinpointed his blows to head and body until referee Harry Kessler called off the slaughter.

The crestfallen DeMarco said he had no excuses. "He threw some good punches and I went to pieces and that was it. I'd like to fight him again. I might fight him differently."

Toronto Loses To Richmond; Bisons Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Buffalo Bisons and Syracuse Chiefs are having difficulty deciding which team will hold down seventh place in the International League.

It has been in again out again for the two teams during their recent five-game series as both have been fighting to stay out of the cellar. But as the standings read today Buffalo held on to the seventh slot.

The Bisons broke out with five home runs Friday night to set the Chiefs back into the cellar with a 10-3 victory.

In other games the Richmond Virginians dumped the league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs 5-1. The game between the Havana Sugar Kings and Rochester Red Wings was suspended after eight innings with Havana in front 4-1. The Montreal Royals and Columbus Jets contest was postponed by rain.

Home runs by Steve Demeter, Chick King, Charley Kress, Ronnie Sanford and Tom Yewcic sparked a 12-hit Buffalo attack. The Bisons broke loose for four runs in the second and third innings on loser Kent Peterson and Ed Zinker. Vince Trakan allowed only nine Syracuse hits, including a two-run homer by Bob Micelotta.

Ed Kasko's two-out single in the seventh broke a 1-1 tie and sent in the key runs for the Virginians. Richmond scored one in the fifth and Toronto came back to tie the score in the seventh. Bill Voiselle came in to relieve starter Vern Bickford in that inning and with the bases loaded retired the next two men.

Havana was leading 4-1 when the game was called to allow the Red Wings to catch a plane back to the States. Corky Valentine had given up only three hits and had struck out 10 Red Wings.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Herbert Campos of Honolulu filed a suit in federal district court Friday asking $250,000 each from Carl (Bobo) Olson, world middleweight champion, and Sid Flaherty, Olson's manager.

Campos' complaint stated that in 1948 he signed an exclusive contract with Olson to manage the fighter, and that this contract was renewed in July, 1949, for a 10-year period.

Yankees Ram Another Spike In Tottering Tribe's Coffin; 'Oiskin' Extends Dodgers' Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ol' Casey Stengel is really traveling first class these days for a guy living on relief.

His American League - leading New York Yankees rammed home another nail in Cleveland's coffin Friday night 3-2 to move 6½ games ahead of the toppling Tribe. But they had to call on Tom Morgan, and of course Jim Konstanty, to get the job done.

Morgan came on in relief of Tommy Byrne after the Yanks had taken a 3-1 lead in the seventh. And when Morgan faltered in the ninth, Konstanty strolled in to retire the last two batters with the tying and winning runs on base.

It was the 10th straight game in which Stengel has had to go to the bullpen, and his firemen have won or saved six of them.

FIRST OF SERIES

Friday night's performances may have been the biggest help, for it sent the Yanks winging in the opening game of a big four-game series at Cleveland and dumped the Indians to their seventh defeat in eight games.

Boston, with two home runs by Ted Williams, beat Detroit 5-2 and Baltimore defeated Kansas City 3-0 in the other AL games.

In the National, Brooklyn and Carl Erskine slammed the runner-up Chicago Cubs 7-0 as the Brooks took a 9½-game lead. New York beat St. Louis 2-1. The Milwaukee-Pittsburgh game was rained out. Philadelphia and Cincinnati weren't scheduled.

Singles by Gil McDougald, Andy Carey and Mickey Mantle broke up a 1-1 tie in the seventh at Cleveland and got Byrne started toward his third victory. Morgan's contribution was a strike-out of Al Smith and a force out grounder by Bobby Avila after Byrne had loaded the sacks in the bottom half of the inning with one out.

ON A FOUR-HITTER

At Brooklyn, Erskine won his eighth on a four-hitter and belted his first major league home run. Peewee Reese and Roy Campanella added two more homers among the Dodgers' five hits off loser Sam Jones, who was cautioned against bean balls by umpire Frank Secory, and relievers Dave Hillman and John Andre. It was No. 18 for Campy, who now leads the majors in home runs.

Rookie Gail Harris hit his second big league homer in the eighth to win for the Giants as Jim Hearn won No. 7. Rookie lefty Luis Arroyo lost his second after winning six straight. Twenty-three runners were stranded in the game—12 by the Cards, who slumped to seventh behind the Phils.

Umpire Al Barlick warned both managers after Hearn sent Rip Repulski ducking and Arroyo hit Hearn.

Williams teed off at Detroit for his first two trips to the plate as Willard Nixon won his fifth victory on the seventh try. Boston now has won five straight.

Jim Wilson and Ray Moore scattered eight Kansas City hits as Baltimore won its third in a row after losing seven.

Elgins Win Over Majors

ST. THOMAS (CP)—St. Thomas Elgins defeated London Majors 4-1 in an Intercounty baseball game here Friday night behind the six-hit pitching of lefthander Bill Jamieson.

The win was Elgins' sixth without a loss at home this season. It was London's first loss in games and its third loss of the campaign.

Catcher Stan Glenn broke up a scoreless mound duel when he blasted a two-run homer in the seventh inning to put St. Thomas in front to stay.

Elgin hurler Bill Jamieson, and Lew Fisher, London pitcher, both went the distance in a well-pitched game. Jamieson struck out six Majors without issuing a walk. He allowed London six scattered hits.

The St. Thomas lefthander helped his own cause by getting two singles and a walk in his three trips to the plate.

Canadian Sports Hall of Fame Formally Established Friday

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Sports Hall of Fame to perpetuate the memory of Canada's great athletes was formally established Friday. It will open Aug. 26 at its permanent site at the Canadian National Exhibition here.

The national committee of the hall, made up of sports editors and columnists and sportscasters from every province, met for more than five hours Friday and decided the first to be honored would be limited to the following:

Individual athletes chosen by sports editors and sports-casters in The Canadian Press half-century poll, Olympic and world champions and a few others in Canada's storied past in sports who have brought fame to the country. The committee will extend the list of those to be honored from year to year.

It was decided also to approach the Hockey Hall of Fame, now just a dream of Jim Sutherland of Kingston, Ont., with a view to incorporating it in the hall here.

TWO TEAMS

Only two teams will be honored this year. They are the Olympic relay team of Myrtle Cook, Bobby Rosenfeld, Florence Bell and Ethel Smith who won the 400-metre title in the 1928 games and the current figure-skating world pairs champions—Norris Bowden and Frances Dafoe, both of Toronto.

The committee, faced with the names of scores of Canadian greats of the past, decided also that the late Dr. James A. Naismith, native of Almonte, Ont., who invented basketball in 1892, and Percy Page of Edmonton, Grads women's team from 1915 to 1940, deserved a place in the shrine.

Also given a spot was Sam Langford, Weymouth, N.S.-born fighter whose challenges to world champion Jack Johnson were ignored. Langford, now 75, blind, broke and almost forgotten, is living in the United States.

Also given entry this year to the hall were Capt. Angus Walters, most famous Nova Scotia skipper of modern times who made the name of his fishing schooner, Bluenose, and its designer, W.J. Roue of Halifax, known around the world Angus, from Lunenberg, N.S., sailed the Bluenose to four North Atlantic fishermen's championships.

Here is the list to be honred this year:

Clear Day, Fast Track Is Forecast For 96th Running of Queen's Plate

TORONTO (CP)—In something under two minutes today, a horse owner's three-year dream of glory will come true.

It will only take that long for 17 thoroughbreds, babied along since they were first nominated, to charge around Woodbine racetrack in the 96th running of the Queen's Plate, Canada's richest stake.

The success or failure of those years of planning and grooming, at a cost of thousands of dollars, will be known as the Canadian-bred three-year-olds pound down the stretch before some 35,000 fans.

The Plate candidate will race over a 1¼ miles journey for a record purse of $32,645 in the last Plate renewal on the historic grounds of old Woodbine. The winner's share is $25,270, plus the Queen's 50 guineas and the prestige of a champion.

GOOD WEATHER

A clear day and a fast track is forecast for the race, scheduled for 5:20 p.m. EDT.

The field has caught the fancy of racing fans. Although they have installed Senator Jim and Bernford, two outstanding colts who will run as an entry for the Jack Stafford Stable of Toronto, as 2-to-1 favorites, the race must be considered wide open because of the unwieldly field.

But, if the Senator, a gray son of Bunty Lawless out of Bright Jewel, and Bernford get running space the experts figure they are as safe as aces back to back. Senator Jim is a hard-charging stretch runner while his stablemate has plenty of early foot.

The Senator, rated as the horse to beat in the Plate after his smashing victory in the second Plate trials, will break from the No. 2 gate. Bernford, an 8-to-1 shot before he was coupled with the Senator after Friday's final $250 entry fee was made, starts from the seventh post position.

Ace Marine, owned by Larkin Maloney of Toronto, is second choice at 5-2. Fairator, the bay gelding owned by Jim Fair of Cainsville, Ont., is third choice at 6 to 1.

Then Along Came the British And Pat and The Prince Win

By GEO. H. CARVER
(Sports Editor)

You've got to hand it to Lord Athol Layton, towering British blue-blood wrestler, for a spot of versatility.

Not only is the Surrey-side Briton a powerful bloke in the ring but he can step out of character and become a two-fisted slugger or a referee, if necessary.

That is what happened last night in Memorial Arena.

It seems the hard-fisted duo of Dick Raines and Lou Plummer, a couple of ornery hombres from Texas, had become fed up with the actions of the official Sammy Godder. So they promptly dispensed with his services and flopped him into the first row of seats.

Then they started another battle of the Alamo against the lithe, agile Prince Maiuiva and pal Pat Flanagan. And danged if they didn't have it their own way until there leaped into the ring a six-foot-sixer all dolled up in street clothes. He was Lord Athol Layton.

The British fists fired rights and lefts at the villains from the Lone Star State. He flattened 'em as fast as they could get up. Then he raised the hands of the Prince in victory. By this time Sammy the Man had come to and as far as this observer is concerned patted Lord Layton on the back signifying his approval of the Britisher's verdict. It was OK with the Prince and Pat.

BEAT THE DRUM

The Samoan chunk of royalty lived up to all advance notices. He leaped, jumped kicked, punched and tossed and seldom got his signals crossed. His confidante and adviser 'Cocoanut Willie' kept him advised of what was going on through the medium of the jungle signal corps, the drum. "Willie" thumped out warnings and advice through the skin-ticker, and we expected at any moment to see a bevy of grass-skirted hulas hop into the ring.

It was a good show and worthy of a better crowd. The Prince proved a clever wrestler with all the physical characteristics of a sparrow riding a telephone wire, a monkey doing his tree stuff with not a little of Tarzanic embellishment. In fact he almost stole the thunder from pal Flanagan who at times came through with some neat drop-kicking.

The Prince wearing a shock of hair that looked like a noggin' replica of an atomic bomb explosion, was good. He showed plenty of wrestling ability and proved more than once that his "pinkies" are like a couple of cement blocks and his shock-haired noggin' just as rocky.

Plummer and Raines gave him the foot-and-head treatment, but the tribal boss from the Fijis merely nodded and two more Texans bit the dust. He did a mysterious back-flip that caused his top-piece to give Mr. Plummer something to think about after 20 minutes of the first fall and La Plummer went bye-bye pronto.

In the second fall the villains had their way. They biffed, battered and bumped the Prince and finally picked on Pathrick. Plummer cracked the Irisher over a bended knee and Pathrick went flatter than a two-day flounder. That was that and the business was all even.

Then came the third fall and the Prince hopped and jumped, rode the ropes, and, in all, gave the hated pair a lesson. Somebody slugged Sammy and he rolled out of the ring. Then Raines hopped in to help his "podner" and the battle was joined.

Came the British. Lord Layton leaped into the ring and started swinging fists. He plopped both bad boys until they grunted the Texas version of "uncle" and, Lordavaduck, if Athol didn't take it on himself to award the Prince and Pat the honors.

Lord Layton, incidentally, made short work of Don Lewin by the neat application of some of his famous judo punches, while Chico Perez and Sammy Berg battled to a draw.

Orfuns Rally To Defeat Frankford 8-6

By GARRY ALEXANDER

A four-run rally in the seventh inning backed by fine relief pitching by Bobby Green gave the Belleville Orfuns their fifth straight victory last night, an 8-6 triumph over the Frankford Merchants in a scheduled Belleville and district softball league game. A fair sized crowd at the C.N.R. witnessed a keen little tilt all the way, although Belleville held a 4-0 lead at one time, the visitors rallied to lead 6-4 going into the bottom of the seventh. Frankford's Doug Radner walked Wardhaugh and Hull and with one out Glenn Young doubled to right centre, scoring both runners. Dave Jones then lifted a fly ball to short centre but outfielders Dafoe and Gilmour crashed into each other chasing the ball and it went for a run-scoring triple to break the tie. Jones came home later on a passed ball.

Bob Green picked up his third victory of the young season after taking over from Bob Hunter with one out in the sixth. He gave up two singles the rest of the way and nipped five of the Merchants on strikes while walking three. Hunter, making his first start of the year, appeared to be in for a great game when he retired the first nine men he faced. Frankford worked him for only three timely hits but he tired, walking three and losing his early lead on several errors. He claimed three on strikes.

Doug Radner went the distance for the losers and deserved a better fate, his mates making a trio of costly errors while a bad bounce in the outfield cost him another run. He was touched for nine hits, whiffed five and walked five for three earned runs.

The city squad opened the scoring in the first on a walk to Barclay, Hull's single and a two-run error by Ackerman on Young's fly which would have been the third out. The breaks went to the Orfuns again in the second when Claude Carr lined what appeared to be a single into right field but the ball took a weird bounce over Rankin's head for a homer. A walk followed by a throwing error on a double play ball, getting only one, and Young's single made it 4-0 in the third.

Dafoe walked the first Frankford base-runner, to open the fourth and Carl Austin singled over shortstop while Cosgrove's sacrifice left Hunter in trouble. Bill Rankin punched a single down the left-field line plating one, but Barclay's throw to the plate got away from Young, letting Austin score. Rankin continued around the sacks and slid in when Wardhaugh, covering home, failed to hang onto Young's toss from the backstop.

The visitors went in front in the sixth with Mort Leavitt's single to left scoring two runners, on by walks, and Cooke sending the other tally across with another single, the latter's hit coming off Green.

Glenn Young spearheaded the winner's attack with a double and single while Vic Bromley had a brace of one-base blows and Carr homered. Jones claimed a triple while singles went to Barclay, Hull and Hunter. The Frankford hitters were Cooke, Leavitt, Rankin, Cosgrove and Austin, each with a single.

Manager Herb Rankin of the Merchants was ordered from the park by plate umpire Shud Ethier in the 7th for unfavorable remarks concerning Ethier's calls.

The line-ups:

Frankford — Dafoe, Austin, Cosgrave, B. Rankin, Wickerson, Leavitt, Cooke, Ackerman, Gilmour, Radner.

Orfuns — Barclay, Wardhaugh, Hull, Batchelor, Young, Jones, Carr, Bromley, Hunter, Green.

Line Score:	R	H	E

India Scores Upset In Davis Cup Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

India took the lead over Britain and Italy over Denmark Friday as upsets marked the opening of the European zone Davis Cup tennis quarter-finals.

Two other encounters—Chile vs Belgium and Sweden vs France—were all square after the first day's play.

India's doubles team of Narsen Kumar and 18-year-old Ramanathan Krishnan handed Britain's veteran doubles combination of Geoff Paish and Tony Mottram their first Davis Cup setback in five years, 2-6, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5, 6-4. Paish and Mottram have teamed 17 times in Davis Cup doubles.

Britain and India, which divided the opening singles Thursday, will play the deciding singles today at Manchester.

Italy, the European zone favorite, won both singles matches from Denmark at Copenhagen. Fausto Gardini raced to an easy 6-2, 6-3, 6-1 victory over Kurt Nielsen, then Giuseppe Merlo, a tireless little retriever, beat Torben Ulrich, 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 6-0.

Solunar Notes

Fishing in The Florida Keys

By JOHN ALDEN KNIGHT.
(Noted Sportsman, Author and Creator of Solunar Tables.)

The Metropolitan Miami Fishing Tournament certainly has its effect on the fishing that is done down in Florida Bay, about 1,000 square miles of shallow fishing grounds, which lies to the west of the Florida Keys. You who read this column regularly know about this annual affair.

It is held during the winter months, ending in mid-April. You need no entry blank or fee to participate. All you do is to arrange your tackle according to tournament specifications, readily available at any of the boat docks, and go fishing.

If fortune should send you a good fish, you take it to a weighing station (there are plenty of them, conveniently located) and the weighmaster will do the rest. He makes out the entry blank, you sign it, he gives you a copy and mails in the original. You keep the fish or he will send it in for you to be mounted, as you choose.

At the close of the tournament, if your luck holds and your fish takes top place in your classification, you will be sent a fine prize which you will be proud to own.

TAKE NO CHANCES

Thus, when you go fishing in the Miami area, you will find that it is more fun to fish according to tournament rules than not. While you may feel that you are in competition there is no use taking chances and passing up the winning of a tournament prize.

As I say, the tournament certainly has its effect on the fishing in the Miami area. Consider, for example, what took place this year. Prior to the 1954-55 tournament, fly-rod terminal tackle was restricted to 15-pound test, and wire snells, traces or leaders were not allowed. This year the rules were changed to 12-pund test and 12 inches of wire.

A great many times in past years I have hooked monstrous tarpon and huge snook, only to lose them because of the failure of terminal tackle. Tarpon, with their rasp-like scales and bony mouths would soon fray through a nylon leader point. Large snook, with their razor-sharp gill covers, would cut through nylon like so much butter.

Now, with 12-inches of steel wire to bear against those sharp and abrasive surfaces, a new vista is opened for the fly-rod fans. With blood in our eyes and the painful memories of many lost fish, we went out into Florida Bay determined to show some of those monsters who was boss.

Well, we had quite a time of it. Obviously, hundred-pound tarpon are not fly-rod fish. But fishermen are hard-headed guys, difficult to convince. I managed to hook 11 of those whoppers, some of them large enough to tip the scales at 135 pounds, maybe more.

PLENTY OF FIGHT

Some of these I lost on the first jump. Others stayed with me for anywhere from eight to 11 jumps, a matter of 30 or 40 minutes of bone-tiring labor. At long last I did actually manage to land a 64-pounder, not much of a fish as tarpon go but a real handful on a fly rod. One hour and three minutes it took. The 1st three minutes seemed like three hours.

Ted Williams led the fly-rod entries with a 95-pounder, only to be knocked off on the last day by a Miami angler, Mr. Charles Clowe, with a 96-pounder. Tarpon on a fly rod makes wrist-breaking, arm-wrecking business out of fishing but they are exciting, spectacular and much fun.

With the snook the story was somewhat the same. I lost two really large fish whose weights I would hesitate to estimate and must be content with the guide's assurance that both were in excess of 25 pounds.

The last day of my stay, however, Lady Luck smiled upon me. I hooked and landed a big boy (for a snook, that is) of 17 pounds, 10 ounces and this one was awarded first place in the fly-rod division.

But here is a strange twist. No doubt about it, fishermen are peculiar people. You remember back some years ago that everybody wanted to catch a bonefish. Bonefish on the fly rod had the reputation of being the absolute tops in angling sport.

Well, this year nobody fished for bonefish with a fly. When I left the Keys on April 8th there was not a single bonefish entered in the fly-rod division of the Miami tournament. The longer I live, the less I understand fishermen, including myself.

Marilyn Bell Leaves For Channel Swim

TORONTO (CP)—Marilyn Bell, who achieved fame last summer when she swam Lake Ontario, left Friday night for Montreal on the first lap of a trip to England where she will attempt to swim the English channel.

Marilyn boarded a plane at nearby Malton airport at 9:30 p.m. EDT with her coach, Gus Ryder, her mother and a close friend, Joan Cooke. She will stay overnight in Montreal and will leave on her flight to London about 7:30 p.m. Saturday.

A round of social functions will be Marilyn's first concern, especially her scheduled presentation to the Queen at a royal garden party July 14. When these are finished the group will set up training headquarters in Folkestone, a famous English resort noted for its seclusion.

Her crack at the unpredictable channel crossing was originally slated for July 1, but several factors—chiefly the tides—forced a postponement. Her coach now thinks that late July or early August will be the best time.

United States Takes Lead In Golf Tourney

WASHINGTON (CP) — The United States two-man team of Chick Harbert and Ed Furgol took a one-stroke lead over a tightly bunched field at the halfway mark of the International golf championships Friday as Belgian and Irish golfers highlighted the individual competition by firing four-under-par 66s, equalling the course record.

Harbert's 69 and Furgol's 70 Friday gave them a combined 36-hole total of 282, one stroke ahead of the Belgian and Argentine teams.

Flory Van Donck's spectacular 66 shot him three strokes ahead of Harbert and Argentina's Roberto de Vincenzo in individual competition with a 136, but the 73 turned in by teammate Arthur de Vulder gave the Belgian team its 283. De Vincenzo's 69 and Antonio Cerda's 70 brought the Argentines their second-place tie.

Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon and Stan Leonard of Vancouver moved Canada into a 10th-place tie in the 25-team field with a 292 total.

Sam Snead's Golf School

Golf Club Starts Tourney

The qualifying round of the Bay of Quinte Golf and Country Club championships began today on the club links. They will run through June 11th to 18th inclusive with all members of the club invited to participate.

Disney Will Use TV Medium To Preview Disneyland Park

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Walt Disney, who has already proved that television can be used to promote his other enterprises, will use the medium to its fullest extent when he previews his Disneyland park.

Plans are shaping up for a giant telecast from the Anaheim, Calif., pleasureland on Sunday, July 17. Publicity departments of Disney studios and the ABC network are polishing up their best adjectives for the event.

The show will be unique in at least one respect: It will be the first time a Disney TV offering will be seen on a live basis. Walt will be on the screens to conduct his millions of fans on a tour of his dream project.

TO USE 22 CAMERAS

It will be a 90-minute attraction from 7:30 to 9 p.m. PDT (8:30-10 ADT). ABC has lined up three sponsors for the show and announces that 22 cameras will roam the 160 acres of the one-time orange grove. This is claimed to be a record, but no doubt other networks will dispute this statement.

Five thousand guests are being invited to the preview, including 1,000 press and numerous film stars. It's reported that the 48 governors will be asked to raise the flags of their states on the Disneyland grounds.

The Disney people do things thoroughly. There will even be a preview of the preview. The regular Disneyland show on July 13 will feature a half-hour report on the final preparations for the park. This will be the only new segment of the current season of re-runs.

WILL SHOW ALL

Disney has said that he won't stint on showing the TV audience the wonders of his park. He plans extensive tours of his four realms —Tomorrowland, Frontierland, Adventureland and Fantasyland.

Most other showmen would resist showing too much to the home viewers for fear it would lessen the box-office take. Disney doesn't hold to this.

Jockey Dies

LONDON (Reuters) — The death of Canadian - born jockey Fred (Bruher) Herbert, who rode more than 3,000 winners in 50 years of riding, was announced here today. He was 67.

Herbert, a Kentucky Derby winner, rode his last race in England in 1947. He rode his first winner at the age of nine and his last just before he was 60.

Bad Weather Scatters Planes

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — More than 50 women pilots participating in the Washington-Havana "powder puff derby" headed for Key West today after bad weather scattered them for 800 miles along the south Atlantic coast.

Only three of the 33 planes which left Washington early Friday reached Key West by nightfall. Others were strung out as far north as Florence, S.C., victims of turbulent weather that delayed the start 24 hours.

The 33 planes were scheduled to rendezvous at Key West today and continue the flight to Havana Sunday.

Assault Charged

TORONTO (CP) — Police said a 48-year-old laborer Friday night was arrested in a city rooming house and charged with indecent assault on an 11-year-old girl. They said Penno Newmann enticed the girl into his room and committed the offence.

The general rules are good for what ails you most in bridge. They keep you on the right path in the greatest majority of cases. They are your standby when there is any doubt in your mind.

In your responses to a simple overcall, the general rule is to pass. Only with good and sufficient purpose do you disturb the bid you have heard your partner make.

Why is this so? A simple overcall may be made with a hand that is not strong in big cards. If it is good at all it may be so only if it is played in the trump suit named by the simple overcaller.

On the other hand, the simple overcaller may have some stuff in addition. Even so, it may not be help for your suit. So, if you respond in a different suit it is a sign for him to pass.

The main purpose of answering to a simple overcall is to give partner the idea that you have help for a game. This the responder can do by assisting the suit already named.

Times are when the assister knows at once there is game in the pair. If so, he does not merely assist to encourage toward a game. He jumps the bid, thus taking any guess out of it for partner.

Catch yourself holding this east hand:

EAST
♠A 5
♥K 7 4 3 2
♦10 6
♣J 9 4 3

The south opponent starts with an opening bid of one spade and your west partner comes in right there with a simple overcall of two hearts. It is a promise of six tricks if played in that suit.

North passes and you find yourself with support for the heart suit in a hand containing four tricks. Your ten tricks total has a good chance to make game in hearts. Jump to four hearts.

If you simple assist to three hearts, partner may pass if only six tricks are in his hand. You are the one who sees the ten needed for game. Take him out of his misery.

Soccer Player Gets Life Ban

Several other players received suspensions ranging from two weeks to two months for recent rhubarbs.

'Theodora' Ablaze with Byzantine Splendor, Savagery, Seduction Sin.

Ablaze with the splendor, savagery, seduction an dsin of the turbulent Byzantine Empire, "Theodora, Slave Empress," Italy's lavish, colorful and action-filled historical extravaganza bids fair to out-colossal Cecil B. De Mille and other American past masters of motion picture spectacles.

Filmed in Pathecolor with a cast of 3,000 under the direction of Ricardo Freda, Italy's outstanding specialist in "colossal" pictures, and co-starring the green eyed Italian spit-fire, Gianna Maria Canale, with the handsome young French star, Georges Marchal, the spectacular American language film released by I. F. E. is coming Monday to the Capitol Theatre for its first Ontario showing.

"Theodora, Slave Empress" is an ambitious and authentic recreation of the dramatic stranger-than-fiction true story of the Byzantine dancing girl who married an Emperor and shared his throne Teeming with the pomp and pageantry that characterized Constantinople in the 6th century when that semi-Oriental metropolis was the seat of the most powerful Christian Emperor of the day, it vividly reconstructs on the screen one of the most exotic eras the civilized world has ever known and one of the most controversial heroines ever memorialized on the pages of history.

Above and beyond the oversized production crew needed to shoot the huge crowd scenes, more artisans, scholars, workmen and designers were involved in the preparation of this picture than have ever before been employed for a single European film project.

Five hundred tailors were recruited to cut and stitch the battle costumes, togas, royal robes and dancing costumes; 200 skilled construction workers reproduced a single set, the mammoth Circus Maximus using thousands of tons of yellow and grey marble blocks to form the sides and bleachers of the gigantic arena. Fifty thoroughbred horses were imported from Spain for one sequence; six lions accompanied by two animal trainers arrived from Austria for another.

Architects and costume designers commuted to Ravenna where the famous Byzantine mosaics representing a pictorial record of the ancient Empire are now preserved in a famous church. Free of monetary and time restrictions, the huge staff of experts devoted six full months to research and physical preparation before the first rehearsal of the cast was even called.

On the same program in Technicolor "Duel in the Sun", starring Jennifer Jones, Gregory Peck and Joseph Cotten.

"IVORY HUNTER"

Anthony Steel, game warden in Africa, quits when ordered to slaughter animal life on a wholesale basis and sets out, with his wife and son, to establish a wild life sanctuary. Problems mount as Harold Warrender, head of a gigantic ivory-poaching ring, does everything possible to wreck Steel's plan. Warrender's trump card is played when he introduces into the national park a nomadic tribe, the Masai, whose cattle are known to be disease-ridden. The authorities now are determined to eliminate all wild life on the grounds the game is all infected. He and a native pursue the poacher, who is killed by a charging rhinoceros, and the game authorities, at last convinced Steel is right, give him full power to continue his undertaking.

AT THE McCARTHY

PERFORMANCE FOR SCENE LEAVES STAR GASPING

James Dean, a film newcomer who stars with Julie Harris and Raymond Massey in Elia Kazan's CinemaScope production for Warner Bros., "East of Eden," gave one of the most breathtaking performances in screen history.

AT THE CAPITOL—Dangerous! Gianna Maria Canale, Italy's voluptuous green-eyed film beauty, in the title role of "Theodora, Slave Empress", the American language film of Byzantine passion, sin and spectacle released by I. F. E., which opens Monday at the Capitol Theatre, for its first district showing. On the same program "Duel In The Sun", in Technicolor starring Jennifer Jones, Gregory Peck and Joseph Cotten.

It was for a scene during which Dean was supposed to run into a gymnasium locker room with important news for Albert Dekker. Director Elia Kazan, noted for obtaining realistic performances from his actors, refused to accept simulated breathlessness.

Instead Kazan insisted that Dean climb a rope, race around the gym and then run downstairs into the scene in the locker room. Unfortunately the youthful Dean was in such good physical condition that he had to negotiate six round trips before he was sufficiently breathless to meet Kazan's requirements for the sequence in the WarnerColor feature now at the McCarthy Theatre.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars,

For Sunday, June 12, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — A fine day for the most part and Mercury aspects heighten a desire for good reading and gathering knowledge. Devote some time to God. Avoid selfishness.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)— Your Venus and the Moon are in excellent aspect today but personal matters, family and home affairs may need some extra care The influences are also stimulating for necessary work, business.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)— Urgent occupational matters are under good aspects but do not engage in tasks that should be taken care of later in the week. We all need quieting periods and the Sabbath begs thought, devotions to God.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)— Activities which you especially enjoy are among those favored now: outdoor fun, family get-togethers, religious services, etc. Don't overdo or worry.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo)— Your interests can progress smoothly and your social obligations can be pleasant, but don't seek hilarious doings; be sensibly serene, giving mind and body a chance to relax. Enjoy your church.

August 23 to September 23 — (Virgo)—Heed advice to Gemini, please. Health and nerves are helped and revitalized by periods of relaxation and rest, by diversion of thought and activity.

September 24 to October 23— (Libra)—Be circumspect with the opposite sex and don't be reckless in water sports. Heeding both these admonitions, you can, and should, have a happy, recuperative Sunday.

October 24 to November 22— (Scorpio)—Very diverting, agreeable influences to make a cheerful, gainful and constructive day. Whatever your obligations, you can be happy as you work, play or get due rest.

November 23 to December 22— (Sagittarius) — Things should be to your liking this Sunday. Outdoor interests, children's activities, visiting the ill and lonely among favored matters. This can be a truly great day.

December 23 to January 21— (Capricorn)—This can be a happy and full day. You folks seldom waste time, but don't think it's wasting time to enjoy well-earned recreation, wholesome diversion.

January 22 to February 20— (Aquarius)— Avoid restlessness; shift into low gear when such feelings arise. You can achieve more by maintaining a steady pace than you can by keeping at top speed.

February 21 to March 20— (Pisces) — Ideal indications for wholesome fun and entertainment, lectures, religious interests, charities, reading, music in the home and for necessary study and research.

You born today are active, sensitive, imaginative, interesting, often unpredictable. Talent and versatility are high in your sign, but you must cultivate and properly use those talents if you are to reap the good they can engender. Control a desire for change and don't be unreasonable in your demands for devotion from those you love. Steady application and adherance to the laws of God and nature will bring you the happiness and achievement you deserve. Cultivate patience, thoughtfulness, charitable practices for a fuller life. Birthdate: Sir Oliver Lodge, noted English physicist.

HAZARDS COMPOUNDED
BEXLEY, Eng. (AP)—Science teacher Walter Bradley was showing pupils at St. Michael's College what happens when phosphorus and water mix. He accidentally knocked over a jar of phosphurs sitting on a wet table, and was enveloped in yellow smoke. Two eager 15-year-olds turned fire extinguishers on him. Bradley was unscathed but he doubts he'll be wearing the suit again.

Little Benny's Note Book

The bewty looking twins are going to have a berthday on Satturday, and I told ma about it, saying, Hay ma, Flora and Dora are going to have their berthdays both on the same day.

That's only naturel, ma said, and I said, Me and Glasses Magee each bought a berthday presents for them We each bought a little 15 cent bottle of Desert Delite perfume at Winestein's Novelty Store, and I want to give mine to Flora and Glasses wants to give his to Dora, I said.

That's very nice, ma said, and I said, But the trubble is, they always pretend to be each other, just to fool us, how are we going to know I didn't give mine to Dora and Glasses didn't give his to Flora?

As long as both presents are alike, a Flora by any other name would smell as sweet, in Shakesbeer's werds, ma said. So what's the diffrence? she said, and I said, Heck, the diffrence is, I like the name of Flora and Glasses likes the name of Dora, and we both like the idea of giving our own present to our favorite name.

Oh, if the twins are so contrary about their names, perhaps they dont deserve sutch a nice present, ma said, and I said, That's what me and Glasses think, but that dont prevent us from still wanting to give them one.

Goodness what a problem, I cant think of any solution for it, ma said.

Which neither can I and neither can Glasses, but we're still trying.

MONKEY LUNGS USED IN OPERATION

In pioneer surgical operations at the Hospital for Sick Children in Toronto, monkey lungs were used to provide oxygen for children's blood pumped by an artificial heart. The monkey lungs are shown here, suspended in flasks and surrounded by oxygen. They performed the same function as human lungs during operations that lasted 12 and 14 minutes. The surgery was performed by Dr. William Mustard and Dr. John Keith.

Loucinda Rowe of Peterborough, Ont., shown with nurse Margaret Calbery, appeared for a time to be recovering from the operation in which her heart was stopped and a hole in it stitched to prevent leaking. But within 36 hours Loucinda, age 10 months, died.

BOY FOUND DROWNED

THAMESFORD Ont. (CP)—Raymond Wood, 12, was drowned Friday night while swimming in the Thames river near this community 15 miles east of London. The boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wood, became alarmed when he did not return home from an after-supper excursion. The body was discovered by a search party.

Still surviving after the rare operation is 11-months-old Mona Parsons of Minto, N.B. She was operated on May 26 and surgeons still hope she will live a normal life. Both children had no hope of living to maturity if the operations had not taken place.

A JUNE MORNING

I hear in the early morning,
In the hush of the twilight dim,
A bird singing over and over
The notes of his morning hymn.
And the sun drops gold on the hillside
All decked in the pearls of dew,
While the wind whispers soft in the grasses
And ushers the day anew.

And in a tree by the window,
A robin has built her home,
And sings in the golden sunlight
That falls from the sky's blue dome;
While the earth grows green and golden,
In the light of a bright June day,
And the heart dreams of a June time
That never shall pass away.

Booming U.S. Industry Faces Many Wage Requests

By WALTER BREEDE Jr.

NEW YORK (AP) — Booming industry in the United States faced up this week to another round of wage increases. Biggest question confronting consumers was: Would prices go up, too?

The "guaranteed wage" settlement in the auto industry was expected to have immediate and far-reaching effects — particularly in the bargaining talks just getting under way in steel.

Strengthening labor's hand in both the auto and steel wage negotiations was the fast pace of business generally.

The week saw stock prices bound repeatedly to new highs. Auto output, throttled by a rash of wildcat strikes, was still 25 per cent higher than in the same week last year; steel production roared along at an estimated 96.7 per cent of capacity; there was a moderate rise in retail trade.

OPINION DIVIDED

Some economists said there was too much optimism and warned that the boom might get out of hand. There was talk of more inflation.

Others said the boom was sound. Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks, reporting a rise of 1,000,000 in the number of employed Americans during May, said prosperity in 1955 is shaping up as "the best ever."

C. Canby Balderston, vice chairman of the federal reserve board of governors, told the Virginia Manufacturers Assn. that "business is not only good, it's at an all-time high." He said the U. S. gross national product (total value of all goods and services produced and sold) has climbed to a rate of $375,000,000,000 a year, the highest ever recorded.

SEE CAR-BUYING RUSH

While economists pondered the long-range implications of the auto wage settlement, trade sources forecast one immediate result: A continued rush to buy cars at present prices.

Word from Detroit was: "No price increases likely right away. But scheduled production cuts will cut dealers' inventories, and people will be scrambling to buy cars before the new and probably higher-priced 1956 models come out. The present custom of fat discounts and liberal trade-in deals may not last much longer."

MADOC

W. I. Sponsors 'Grandmothers' Meeting

MADOC—The Madoc Branch of the W.I. held their regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. P. H. Nayler. Mrs. A. Herrington, the president, was in charge.

Delegates to the district annual meeting were named, Mrs. D. Kernohan, Mrs. E. T. Nayler and the secretary, Mrs. Warren Hill.

The date for the W.I. holiday at Guelph was announced for July 18-22 and will feature a "hobby" display of handicrafts.

It was decided to join with the Hart's branch for the Extension Service program entitled, "Your Health and Your Figure" as a second choice for this service the members chose "Hospitality Foods." The new programs were handed out to the members. The program for the next meeting is on Community and Public Relations, under the leadership of Mrs. A. Empey and Mrs. W. Stewart and will be held at the home of the president.

Several W.I. members have consented to join the Women's Division of Fairs' Association with the right of the Madoc W.I. to hold possession of the booth at the Madoc Fair grounds.

Mrs. Stewart was in charge of the program on "Grandmothers". Singing was enjoyed and several readings were given, "Grandmother's House"; "The Gaities of Grandmother," and "Old Folks Day."

A contest on "Grandmother's Flower Garden", with Mrs. A. Bailey being the winner, concluded an enjoyable meeting. A social hour followed.

Long Time Before White, Negro Children Study Together in South

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON (CP)—Despite a fresh Supreme Court call for an end to racial discrimination, it will be a long, long time before white and colored children study side by side in most of the schools of the racially-conscious southern United States.

Some southern state authorities already have indicated they plan to defy the recent Supreme Court decision, which ordered a "prompt and reasonable start" towards ending the segregation of white and Negro children in the south.

In Georgia, for example, governor Marvin Griffin and Attorney-General Eugene Cook said that "no matter how much the Supreme Court seeks to sugarcoat its bitter pill of turanny, the people of Georgia and the south will not swallow it."

KEY PHRASE

The court had been asked to rule on five cases involving racial discrimination in schools. It ruled that the southern states concerned must abide the court's declaration of last year that segregation in public schools violates the United States constitution.

At the same time, however, the court wrote into its decision a key phrase on which many of the proponents of segregation are hanging their hopes for a long series of delaying actions. It said that "local conditions" must be taken into account in the moves toward desegregation.

Tied in with this significant comment by the court was the fact that it declined to fix a definite deadline or order any hard and fast national procedures for the 21 states practising segregation in some or all of their schools.

Some southern leaders saw the possibility of an indefinite extension of segregation, at least for many years.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People which long had fought for desegregation, found the court's pronouncement generally acceptable, though one spokesman said it appeared to leave "too much room for evasion and temporizing."

One Negro leader—C. A. Scott, editor of the Atlanta Dail World—looked with favor on the court's language. "It's a sound decision," he said. "If they had set a definite date, everybody probably would have waited until the deadline. A definite date would have been a handicap."

Former governor Herman Talmadge of Georgia, long in the forefront of the fight to retain the segregated-school status, said integration of schools "won't be feasible in Georgia for a long, long time."

State Attorney - General John Sheppard of Texas announced his state would "exhaust every legal remedy" before it gives up its "sovereign rights" over schools.

Authorities in other southern states were equally outspoken in their determination to continue the fight for segregation.

In Virginia, a circuit court judge criticized the Supreme Court decision and ruled that a county board bond issue could not be used for construction of non - segregated schools.

Southern newspapers generally took the editorial view that the Supreme Court had moved cautiously and recognized that time was essential to the south in solving the school problem.

Some of the southern states admittedly have a serious problem. In Greene county in Alabama, for example, Negro school children make up 83 per cent of the child population. In Jefferson, Mississippi, the ratio is 74.5 per cent colored children to 25.5 per cent white. The proportion of whites is higher in the cities.

79 Dead As Race Car Plows Into Crowd

French Disaster Worst In History Of Auto Racing

Mass Funeral to Be Held Tuesday at Le Mans

LE MANS, France (AP)—Two additional deaths among the injured raised the toll of auto racing's worst disaster to 79 today, and Premier Edgar Faure's government announced that it will seek means of preventing a recurrence.

Mass funeral services will be held in Le Mans' 600-year-old Gothic cathedral Tuesday for the victims killed when French driver Pierre Levegh's silver Mercedes-Benz hit another sports car, soared into the air, exploded and spread death in a crowd packed 20 deep behind an earthen barrier.

The race was the annual 24-hour endurance classic which draws thousands of fans to this city 100 miles southwest of Paris. It was completed on Sunday despite the accident Saturday afternoon.

Premier Faure's government in Paris announced that the ministers of the interior, health and public works will meet tonight to discuss ways of avoiding such tragedies in the future. They were expected to study a 20-year-old decree governing track safety measures for possible revision.

70 INJURED

Authorities here said they had no intention of calling off the race in the future. But they sought to reconstruct all details of accident, and to give special attention to precautions taken for safety of spectators.

Of the more than 70 injured, several remained in critical condition.

Hospital officials said five or six of the injured were still "in desperate condition" today.

Two of the dead apparently were English and two Britons and an American were injured.

The rest of the dead, including 15 women and two children, were believed to have been French, although several of the bodies still had not been identified early today. Levegh was among those killed.

RACE GOES ON

Despite the tragedy, the famous 24-hour road race for spots cars was carried to its conclusion, with Mike Hawthorn and co-driver Ivor Bueb of Britain winning in a three-litre Jaguar at a record-breaking average speed of 107.067 miles an hour.

Officials said halting the race would have cluttered roads leading to the track at a time when ambulances and rescue workers already were having trouble reaching the site.

About 40,000 of the spectators remained quietly throughout the night for the continuation of the race. Two Roman Catholic priests conducted an early morning mass in the infield Sunday, including prayers for the dead.

SMOKE STOPS 23

NEW YORK (AP) — A fire set off a gas explosion in a Brooklyn apartment house Sunday night and sent 23 firemen to the hospital with smoke poisoning. None of the firemen was injured seriously and no resident of the Flatbush avenue building was hurt.

Doffs Her Skirt To Successfully Fight Bush Fire

BOSHOP, Calif. (AP) — The United States forest service says an unidentified woman helped control a forest fire by doffing her skirt.

She and her husband discovered the blaze in Rock creek canyon, a forest service spokesman said.

The husband used the skirt as a bucket to carry water from the creek and check the fire until rangers arrived and put it out.

Albert Geo. Hart Of Gardenville Drowns in Trent

TRENTON — (Special) — One man was drowned while his two companions managed to reach shore safely when a leaking punt overturned, throwing the three occupants into the Trent River here on Saturday.

The victim, Albert Hartt, 42, of Gardenville, a widower, the father of five children, was a strong swimmer and had been a commercial fisherman for years. His body was recovered three hours later by Len McGaughey, Morley Bately and Ben Defossi, grappling from a boat.

The victim, along with Emil Smith, 15 Dixon Drive, and Gerald Radway of Water Street was fishing in the river. The home-made outboard motor failed and the trio were heading toward the west bank behind the Trenton Dairies property when the boat capsized. An eye witness said one man was standing in the bow of the boat paddling. Mrs. Winnifred Downs of Front Street saw the men's plight and called police.

Crown Attorney Richard Arnott ordered an inquest for Wednesday June 29 in the town hall at 8.00 p.m.

PERON'S POLICE ARREST 430 IN BISHOP'S PALACE

Worshippers Sought Refuge After Riot

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Federal police raided the episcopal palace of Argentina's Roman Catholic primate early today and arrested 430 men who had taken refuge there after rioting between Catholics and backers of President Juan Peron in the street outside.

Worshippers were caught inside the adjacent Metropolitan cathedral by the fighting late Sunday in the Plaza de Mayo. Police and firemen finally restored order with tear gas and chemical foam, but many were afraid to leave. They moved into the episcopal palace through a connecting doorway and barricaded the doors with benches, desks and chairs.

The primate, Santiago Luis Cardinal Copello, 75, was absent He was reported ill and staying at his suburban San Isidro home. But many priests were on hand when the police appeared.

SAY GUNS FOUND

A police communique said those arrested were suspected of starting rumors the cathedral had been burned. The police said the rumors were intended to produce disturbance. They said they found pistols in a car parked near the palace, but did not identify the owner.

At least eight persons were injured by flying stones, a dozen others roughed up and some 250 were arrested Sunday night when bands shouting "Long live Peron! Down the the Pope!" clashed with Catholics chanting "Long live Christ the King."

The clash occurred when Peron supporters surged against a group of Catholics guarding the steps of Buenos Aires' huge Metropolitan cathedral. Shots rang out, but apparently no one was hit by bullets as the mob advanced on the adjoining archbishop's palace.

POLICE KEPT BUSY

The demonstrators smashed palace windows with stones and burned a priest's car in front of the building before police rushed into the city's central square and scattered the mob with tear gas and chemical foam.

Later the pro - Catholics regrouped and started to march back to the cathedral, but they were dispersed by police and firemen.

After order had been restored, reporters entered the episcopal palace, where more than 2,000 persons had taken refuge.

The interior of the cathedral was strewn with benches, tables and desks which had been pushed against the doors as barriers.

King of Libya Leaves for Home Without His Bride of Eight Days

CAIRO (Reuters)—King Idris of Libya left here for home during the weekend without his bride of eight days, 37-year-old Aliyah Lamlum.

She remained in Cairo, and there is no indication of when she will join the 67-year-old monarch. He sent her a telegram from Benghazi which read, "Allah be with you See you soon."

They were married at a Moslem ceremony one hour after meeting each other for the first time, on June 5.

King Idris married Aliyah as a second wife, in response to an appeal from his people, in the hope that he would have a son and heir to the Libyan throne. She is the daughter of a wealthy Bedouin chieftain.

The king's first wife, Queen Fatima, gave birth to a son, who died in infancy in 1953. If Aliyah bears a son, it is expected that she will replace Fatima as queen in the desert kingdom.

Bushland Manhunt Ended With Capture of Last Fugitive

QUEBEC (CP) — Husky Frank Gingras rested, alternately, slept and ate in provincial police cells today, famished and wearied after five miserable days in dense woods dodging machine-gun-carrying police.

Sunday night, he was fed two eggs beaten in milk—all his stomach could take. Police were under doctor's orders to feed him every three hours, a little at a time.

Gingras, 28, was the last to be caught of three suspects who were hunted in the forest near St. Raymond, 40 miles west of Quebec City, after a getaway car piled into a ditch Tuesday.

He was captured Sunday trying to get to St. Raymond by car.

Fly bites covered his body. His checked shirt was torn to shreds. He was weary, unshaven, and starving.

A kindly farmer, with whom he had begged a lift to town, had given him a tattered pair of rubber boots to wear. His own shoes were gone and he had wrapped his feet in old rags.

On the Roman Catholic feast of Corpus Christi, while police under "shoot to kill" orders stalked her son, Mme. Bonomer Gingras marched quietly in the solemn parade traditional to French-Canadian religious celebrations.

She had come to St. Raymond from Quebec on hearing that Frank and another son, Claude, 17, were believed to be two of the three men who held up the St. Hilaire branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale for $3,000 Tuesday.

Leo Cyr, 28, of Montreal, gave up exhausted Thursday and Claude a day later. Both will appear in Quebec sessions court June 17, Cyr to hear sentence for an armed robbery charge to which he has pleaded guilty, and Claude for preliminary hearing on a charge of aiding in an armed robbery.

He pleaded not guilty.

Labor Minister Prevents Breakdown in Rail Talks

LONDON (AP)—Union and government officials, after a weekend recess, renewed negotiations today on Britain's stubborn railroad strike, now in its 16th day.

Only the intervention of Sir Walter Monckton, the labor minister, prevented a breakdown in the talks when a deadlock over union wage demands developed Saturday.

"Anything can happen today," James Baty general secretary of the striking Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, told reporters. "There is a lot to be considered."

The union pulled its 67,000 members off their jobs on the state-owned railroads in support of a demand for wage differentials over workers with less-responsible jobs.

The transport commission has offered higher rewards for the engineers but balked at increasing pay scales for firemen, who make up a large portion of the ASLEF membership. It feared that this would touch off still costlier demands by the National Union of Railwaymen, which represents 400,000 members, mostly less-skilled workers.

Despite the length of the stoppage, the transport commission, which operates the nationalized has managed to avert a widespread industrial shutdown by making the fullest possible use of 17,000 non-striking engineers and firemen.

About one-sixth of the normal daily 24,000 passenger trains have been kept running, and about one fifth of the 16,000 freight trains. Vital goods have also been moved by highway and on canal barges.

Meanwhile there is no sign of a settlement in a seven-city dock stoppage, now in its fourth week, which has damaged the export drive. The walkout, by 20,000 men, was caused by a union jurisdictional dispute. Peace-making efforts by the powerful Trades Union Congress, with which nearly all British unions are affiliated, have so far failed to bear fruit.

The 13,000-ton liner Media left Liverpool for New York with 150 passengers Sunday. She was the first Cunard liner to leave that port for the trans Atlantic run since British seamen launched a wildcat stewards' strike 14 days ago.

Four other liners are still tied up in Liverpool and another in Southampton. Since the strike began in defiance of union leaders, 3,500 passengers for Canada and the United States have been stranded or forced to change their travel plans.

GM HAS ACCEPTED SAME WAGE PLAN GRANTED BY FORD

Guaranteed Wage Now Firmly Established

By GLENN ENGLE

DETROIT (AP) — The CIO United Auto Workers Union today nailed down at General Motors Corp. the same guaranteed wage plan it won a week ago from Ford.

Walter Reuther, UAW president, thus firmly established the controversial employer-paid supplemental unemployment benefit system in the American auto industry, an important beachhead from which he hopes to launch it into other industries.

The three-year agreement was hammered out in a pre-dawn settlement after more than 37 hours of bargaining broken only by brief recesses.

More than 40 of GM's 119 plants across the United States were hit by walkouts as the negotiations dragged on hours after the union's midnight strike deadline. But the strikers are expected to return to their jobs quickly with little loss in auto production.

FULL UNION SHOP

The GM pact closely followed the recent Ford Motor Co. contract in nearly every respect. It calls for improvements in pay, pensions, vacations and holidays similar to those worked out at Ford.

In addition, it grants the UAW a full union shop for the first time, meaning the GM's relatively few non-union workers now must join the union to keep their jobs.

Reuther said the contract would cost the corporation $600,000,000 over the three-year period, and was worth better than 20 per cent an hour per employee. GM president Harlow H. Curtice said it assures the vast GM auto empire of three more years of labor peace.

Curtice, however, was less than enthusiastic about the guaranteed wage plan won by the union. He intimated that GM agreed to it only because Ford had first given in.

GM, like Ford, agreed to guarantee laid-off workers 60 to 65 per cent of regular take-home pay, including state employment compensation benefits, for a maximum of 26 weeks. GM will contribute five cents an hour per worker toward a $150,000,000 trust to finance the plan over the next three years.

MATTER FOR STATES

Curtice said that GM, while agreeing to the guaranteed wage plan, still believes the responsibility for determining the amount and duration of unemployment benefits "rests with the legislatures of the various states."

Reuther said the company and union had been in agreement for some time on the guaranteed wage issue. He indicated this had not been an issue in the long weekend bargaining wrangle. The issue that snagged the contract talks well into this morning was over skilled workers' wages.

Youths Rescued

JACKSON'S POINT, Ont. (CP) Two Toronto youths were rescued from Lake Simcoe Saturday after they sat for an hour in a half-submerged sailboat which capsized north of here.

Polio Victim Has Her Leg Cut Off So She Can Dance With Sweetheart

PORTSMOUTH, England (AP)—Dawn McFarland, 17, had her leg cut off—to win her boy friend's love.

Dawn had polio when she was a baby. As a result, her left leg was shorter than her right.

She couldn't dance, run or go cycling, things that 20-year-old Gerald Manly liked to do.

Last year Gerald went to Malaya with the army. Dawn decided to do something about her leg.

"I went to hospital and persuaded the doctors to amputate it. It's wonderful—now I have an artificial leg from the knee down and can walk miles and dance and do anything other girls do."

When she knew the operation was a success, Dawn wrote Gerald.

His reply—an engagement ring and a letter saying, "we'll be married as soon as I get home."

Jet Digs Crater Fifty Feet Long In Ameliasburg

Probe Hole for Bodies Of Victims, Names Withheld

Two RCAF flyers from the Flying Instructor's School at Trenton Air Station were killed this morning when their T-33 Silver Star jet trainer crashed in a bog thirteen miles southwest of Belleville, on the third concession of Ameliasburg. The names of the dead flyers were not released by RCAF officials. The crash occurred in a dense woods about one hundred yards south of the concession road a mile and one half northwest of Ameliasburg village.

The plane dug a crater about fifty feet long and about twenty five feet wide at its widest point. Trees were knocked down by pieces of wreckage. A dike of earth and trees was thrown up around the crater, about four or five feet high in places. Water filled the crater from the low-lying marshy ground around. Jet fuel floated on the surface of the water. Air Force officials at the scene were not permitted to smoke. It is believed that the bodies are buried in the crater. RCAF personnel are probing the crater with pike poles.

The jet engine of plane number 21005 was a twisted mass of wreckage on the west side of the crater. The tail assembly was about 20 feet from the crater. Wing sections were scattered fifty feet to either side of the hole. Smaller pieces of metal were scattered as much as 150 feet away. Pieces of cloth were hanging in the trees at the crash site. The crater was roughly shaped like the aircraft. An hour and one-half after the crash a red substance believed to be blood was bubbling up from the bottom of the crater. An explosion following the crash threw dirt and silver paint as high as thirty feet up the trunks of nearby trees.

FARMERS SAW CRASH

First on the scene of the crash were Steve Dempsey and Laird Adams, farmers on the third concession of Ameliasburg.

"I was out by my barn and this jet came over," said Mr. Dempsey. "There was a terrific explosion over my barn. The aircraft came in from the northeast between 500 and 1,000 feet. The noise did not sound normal so I watched the aircraft. I did not have any more than two seconds to watch when he went into a nose-dive of about 90 degrees, took about four turns in the air and crashed in the woods." A huge flame shot up. I ran to the house and told my wife to phone the authorities than I drove up to the crash."

When Mrs. Dempsey was phoning, her husband met neighbor Laird Adams, who also had been attracted by the sound of the craft and together they drove to the woods.

"We ran down to the crash and it was just a mass of flames. We could not get near it," said Mr. Adams. "We just got as close as we could but we could not do a thing."

Easier Methods Of Home Buying Said Required

MUSKOKA, Ont. (CP) — Easier methods of home buying were advocated today by W. G. Malcom of Winnipeg, president of the Canadian Construction Association.

Addressing CCA's central Canada regional meeting, Mr. Malcom said motor cars, television sets and other appliances are competing with the housing dollar. Their easy-financing, new-model and other merchandizing procedures would have to be adopted by the housing industry if it were to compete and find new and continuing markets.

Large Congregation Attends Church's 100th Anniversary

Bowerman's Church, one of Prince Edward County's early landmarks of Methodism which still proudly bears its original tablet "Wesleyan Methodist 1855" celebrated its 100th anniversary on Sunday afternoon.

The "birthday" celebrations will wind up tonight when the congregation is holding a lawn social.

The grey stone structure was filled to overflowing at the special service held on Sunday afternoon. A public address system carried the service to the large overflow crowd which sat in cars or stood on the lawns of the church.

FAR AND NEAR

From near and far came these good folk many of them descendants of those staunch Methodists of over a century ago whose faith and labor erected the sturdy edifice in which they worshipped.

Cars lined the side of the Wellington-Belleville "town line," stretching both sides of the church.

For the celebration, the weather complied readily with brilliant sunshine, bathing the church and the countryside which drops away behind it, in warm light.

For everyone present it was a solemn and a joyful occasion as the congregation 100 years of age rededicated itself and its church to the future.

"We think perhaps it is the greatest highlight since the beginning of the church," Rev. Alfred Poulter, pastor of the church said as he stood in the church doorway shaking hands with members of his congregation as they filed out at the service's end.

"It indicates the fact that the church is a very great factor in the community. It indicates the lively interest in the church.

"Certainly," he added, "religion is not dying out in this day and generation."

There was a double commemoration marked at the church. Besides celebrating the actual centenary of Bowerman's, the congregation linked with members of the United Church across Canada to hail the thirtieth anniversary of the union of Canadian Protestantism in 1925.

Seated with the congregation in church were several former ministers of Bowerman's, returned to witness the proud moments in the history of their old church. Among them was Rev. Fred G. MacTavish, Bradford, Ont., who served the church from 1924-25.

"To be back here this afternoon and to come back into this little church certainly is a pleasure," he told the assembly, many of them old friends from the days, when he served Bowerman's.

"I do want to congratulate you on how you are keeping this church," he added. In travels through the country too often we find that the churches which are growing old also are growing dilapidated."

He traced the history of world events in the past hundred years and said it was impossible to measure what has been accomplished for God in those years.

"A one-hundredth anniversary is something of which any congregation can be proud. To those of you who have served here through many years, I am sure this will stand out as one of the greatest hour in the history of this church."

The sermon was based on the theme "Great Hours of Life," and told his listeners that the test of life 'is what use we make of life itself."

MANY CHANGES

In the 100 years since the church was erected there had been many changes but the power of God and the human heart had remained unchanged, he reminded them.

Rev. George J. Minielly, chairman of the Belleville Presbytery, stressed to the gathering the importance of the individual's contribution to the church.

"This is made up of the people and what we are determines what our church is," he said.

"We are all essential for the functioning of the church . . . we have to make our church what it is."

"The church is just as strong as its strongest member and just as weak as its weakest one."

He noted the anniversary of the United Church's foundation, an accomplishment which, he said, "made for better understanding and Christian understanding with the once different congregations joined and working together."

The United Church has been a leader in social reform, he claimed.

Former ministers attending the ceremonies yesterday were Rev. J. W. Shier, Picton; Mr. Douglas Mounteer and Rev. MacTavish. Others, unable to attend but who sent personal messages to the congregation were Rev. Ernest Harston, Kingston Rd., Toronto; Rev. James A.. Plant, Brighton; Rev. R. A. McRae, Newboro and Herbert Mutton, Whitby.

Canadian Legion Presents Flag To Boys' Brigade

An impressive memorial and dedication service, followed by the presentation of the Flag to the Christian Service Boys' Brigade by the Canadian Legion, branch 99, of the city, marked the Sunday morning worship service at the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church.

During the opening bars of the Doxology, with Miss Grace Veley at the piano, the Color Party slowly advanced to the chancel and placed the "Colours" at either side of the flag-draped organ, while their comrades and members of the Canadian Legion Women's Auxiliary took their places in the nave.

ORGAN DEDICATED

After the welcome to the Legion by the padre and pastor of the church, the Rev. Eric Strain, the dedication of the organ took place, with the congregation standing. Briefly and reverently the pastor read the dedication service, in which the organ was dedicated to the glory of God and His worship, and in memory of the fallen who made the supreme sacrifice in the last war, the congregation giving the response "We dedicate this organ." This was followed by the singing of "Onward Christian Soldiers," with Mrs. Beverley Foster presiding at the organ.

Following the message, "A Good Soldier," in which Mr. Strain outlined the two kinds of soldiers, those of the Queen, and those of the King of Kings, stating that "th have much in common; they must enlist; they must put on the armor of battle; they must be obedient; they must endure hardness, be good soldiers and must fight with this difference, the soldiers of the Queen have earthly advancement, while those of the King of Kings have the promise of Life Eternal. The Queen's soldiers are not always sure of victory but those of the King of Kings are always sure if they fight the good fight of faith, and their reward is, they become heirs of God and joint-heirs of the Lord Jesus Christ.

A fine offertory anthem, "Our Father Who Art in Heaven," was rendered by the choir under the direction of the pastor.

Following the recessional hymn, the congregation, preceded by the Color Party and the Women's Legion Auxiliary assembled for the flag services which took place outside.

The presentation of the flag to the Christian Service Boys' Brigade was made to Captain Robert Brown, by the president of the Canadian Legion, Branch 99, William Balley, and the general salute given by the bugler, Armand Duffy, as the flag floated from the standard. The Service brigade repeated the watchword, and the entire congregation, all facing the flag, repeated: "Behold our emblem, three crosses on one field, three colors for us to cherish; the red for courage; the white for purity; and the blue for loyalty, we pledge allegiance to the flag, and to the empire for which it stands, and the world fellowship which is to be."

This impressive and memorable service was concluded with the benediction by the pastor.

New Allied Plan To Guarantee Peace Prepared

LONDON (AP)—Diplomatic officials said today a new Allied proposal for guaranteeing all European countries, both Communist and non-Communist, against aggression is nearing completion.

The plan was reported to take into account the possibility of an agreement with Russia on a phased, supervised disarmament program. The informants said it is being prepared for submission at the proposed summit conference of the Big Four powers.

British, U.S. and French experts were reported working on the project in consultation with the governments of West Germany and other members of the north Atlantic alliance.

The informants did not disclose details.

They recalled that both sides have suggested some continental system designed to assure both the Communist and non-Communist nations against the possibility of unprovoked attack.

Airman Killed In Air Show In Nova Scotia

OTTAWA (CP)—The air force displayed almost everything it can do, except break the sound barrier, as thousands of Ottawans watched an air show Saturday at nearby Rockcliffe station.

The show was one of 26 held at RCAF stations across Canada to mark the ninth annual Air Force Day. The Rockcliffe station, like others in the country, held an open house at which Canadians were shown various aspects of air force life.

A fatality marred the show at the Greenwood, N.S., base. An 18-year-old airman was killed when an ancient Tiger Moth biplane crashed and burned before 7,000 spectators.

AC. Kenneth A. Watt of Vancouver died in the Stadacona naval hospital at Halifax where he was taken after ground crew personnel pulled him and LAC. Kenneth Dunlevy, 21, of Windsor, Ont., from the wreckage.

Dunlevy, the pilot, was reported in fair condition at the base hospital.

PERON'S POLICE

JAIL 250 CATHOLICS

Later authorities ordered the jailing of some 250 of the refugee Catholics. They were picked up in police cars and taken to central police headquarters.

The turmoil raised tension to its highest pitch since the church-state dispute broke out seven months ago following Peron's charge that church elements were plotting to undermine his regime. Church officials have denied the charge.

Congress was called into urgent special session today. Peronista party leaders were expected to lash out at the church and voice support for their leader in the Senate, where the Peronistas hold all the seats and in the lower chamber, where they control all but a dozen of the 155 seats.

PERON TO GO ON AIR

Peron himself scheduled a broadcast tonight to "speak to the people."

The women's Peronista party summoned its members to a meeting today to voice support for government charges that a procession of thousands of Catholics attempted Saturday to destroy the plaque on the front of the capital building commemorating the president's late wife, Eva Peron.

The running dispute came to a head Saturday night when church followers held a Corpus Christi parade in Buenos Aires streets despite a government ban. The government charged that the Catholic clergy incited the marchers to burn the Argentine flag, stone newspaper offices and public buildings and attack several foreign embassies.

Saturday's Incident and Sunday night's demonstration has confronted Argentina with its most serious situation since labor unrest ignited a series of strikes and disorders in April, 1953. That crisis reached its climax in the killing of five persons by bomb explosions in the central plaza while Peron was addressing a rally.

In recent months the Peron government has pushed through legislation authorizing divorce and dropped traditional tax exemptions on church properties and financial support for Catholic schools. It Also proposes, through a constitutional convention, to take away the church's constitutional position as the state religion.

JET DIGS CRATER

ONE MAN IDENTIFIED

Flight-Lt. Douglas Sidney Arthur Bing, 33, of Middleton Park, captain of the aircraft, was identified this afternoon as one of the dead. He is married and the father of three daughters, 10, 4 and 3.

Name of the co-pilot was withheld pending notification of next-of-kin.

About twenty minutes after they reached the crash, the first attachment of RCAF ground rescue units arrived on the scene from Mountain View airport.

Squadron Leader Roy Woods, chief of Public Relations, at Trenton Station, said the crash took place soon after take-off. It was only a few minutes after take-off that the tower was advised the flyere were having an emergency, said Squadron Leader Woods. Aircraft circling the scene of the crash were a Norseman, a Harvard and a P133.

This morning's crash was the first T-33 crash for Station Trenton since the aircraft were first based here more than two years ago.

"Station Trenton was among the first RCAF bases to get jets," said Squadron Leader Woods. "Until this morning we haven't had a jet crash since the T-33's came here."

At 12.15 p.m. searchers at the crash site recovered portions of the cockpit canopy ending any hope that the occupants might have parachuted to safety.

Aircraft and ground parties scoured the area for possible survivors. Until the canopy was recovered there was a possibility that the plane's occupants had parachuted and may have been down in the area and in need of assistance.

25,000 Thrilled as Jet Ace Plunges Sabre 35,000 Feet To Open Air Force Show

TRENTON (Special) — F/O. Fern Villeneauve, Ottawa jet ace, reigned as "King of the Sky Riders" here on Saturday, as the standout performer in the most entertaining Air Force Day show since the annual affair started nine years ago. Villeneauve plunged an Orenda powered Sabre F-86 35,000 feet to break the sonic barrier, the signal that opened an exhibition of flying and static displays attracting more than 25,000 people. He thrilled the crowds at both No. 6 Repair Depot and Station Trenton as he rammed the sturdy swept-winged fighter across the field at speeds nearing 700 m.p.h. and then corkscrewed the seven-ton machine in a vertical climb until it disappeared into blue oblivion. The great crowd gave the 29-year-old post war pilot a tremendous hand at the conclusion of his spectacular exhibition.

F/O. Villeneauve flew Sabres with No. 1 Air Division in Europe and led the R.C.A.F. Sabre team in the Prairie-Pacific show that toured Canada last year. He is now Instructing at Station Trenton.

SPLIT-SECOND TIMING

The split-second timing of the various events brought added praise from many quarters while the weatherman was kind and no one suffered from the heat.

In the official welcome to the visitors, Station Trenton Commanding Officer G/C J. G. Diamond, A.F.C., said:

"To those of us in the air force, this is a very special sort of day for it gives us a chance to open our gates and reveal to our friends and neighbors some of the "wonders" that go to make up a modern air force. I cannot help but feel that, as you move past the various ground displays and later witness the skill with which the tasks are carried out in the air, that you will be impressed by the diversity of activities, which go to make up the daily routine at Station Trenton."

MASSED TAKE-OFF

Villeneauve's thunderous sonic boom sent some fifty conventional styled and jet aircraft into the air in a mass take-off, preceded by an impressive line-a-stern parade around the big airdrome.

The army from Picton played a feature role with a realistic demonstration of ground defence against attacking aircraft. A 40mm Bofors gun with jeep and guncrew was moved to a point in front of the hangars by one of the giant Packets. The spectators then saw the Piasecki helicopter, another new addition to the RCAF, perform a simulated rescue of parachutists dropped over the base from a Dakota from the Search Rescue branch. Throughout the show a Chipmunk in the capable hands of F/L. R. F. Herbert of Belleville, demonstrated the versatility and safety of the smallest RCAF trainer.

Another outstanding performance in high speed flying was turned in by F/L. Donald "Doc" Payne, D.F.C., A.F.C., at the controls of the all-weather fighter, the CF-100.

"NEPTUNE" DISPLAYED

The climax to the big show was provided by the appearance of a Neptune anti-submarine aircraft from Maritime Air Command flying in from an east coast base. Spectators were given a close-up look at the newest addition to RCAF strength when the pilot taxied the big ship to the tarmac in front of No. 5 hangar.

A display of items and explanation of methods used by RCAF Search and Rescue units in a setting of outdoor atmosphere with wild life including a pair of foxes a raccoon, fish in an aquarium, and a bright colored parrot, drew special attention from visitors. They were loaned to the RCAF by J. Vinkle of Sharbot Lake.

BEST ON RECORD

The opinion of the visitors was that Saturday's show was the best on record and there was much praise for the organizers. The show was free of accidents and one spokesman noted that during the nine years Air Force Day has been held in Canada, separate from public exhibitions there has never been a mishap.

Several children strayed but were quickly returned to their escorts without incident.

Parking services accommodated thousands of cars which were dispersed in organized fashion by the splendid co-operation of RCAF, Provincial and Trenton police.

A. Brewer Hunt Returning To Northern Electric

OTTAWA (CP) — A. Brewer Hunt, 52, director of the electronics branch of the department of defence production, is returning to the Northern Electric Company in Montreal, the department announced today. Mr. Hunt was on loan from the company since Feb. 1, 1954.

The department also announced appointment of W. H. Huck, 41, of Kitchener, one of its assistant deputy ministers, as acting director of the electronics branch. The appointment becomes effective June 17.

(Mr. Hunt is a former manager of the Belleville branch of Northern Electric.)

Kitchener Man Dies in Germany

OTTAWA (CP)—FO. R. W. Kospiuk, 25, of Kitchener, was killed Sunday in the crash of his F-86 jet fighter in Germany, the RCAF said today.

It gave no details on the location of the crash but a news dispatch from Rastaitt, Germany, reported that an RCAF jet crashed near there and that the pilot was killed

FO Kospiuk was a member of 444 Fighter Squadron, No. 4 Fighter Wing, based at Baden Soellingen, Germany.

Snail-Eater Is Suspended By Club Officers

PORTHCAWL, Wales (AP)—It may sound crazy to French but George Loughlin is in trouble for eating snails.

George, 45 - year - old news stand operator, sat in his club extolling the snail as a tasty dish.

So a fellow clubman walked into the garden, brought back a dozen snails and said: "Eat them."

Now there's a world of difference between a slimy British garden snail and fine fat snails that Frenchmen eat.

For George, however, this was a point of honor. Rather than swallow his pride he swallowed the snails — and apparently enjoyed them.

Not so the committee of Porthcawl's United Services club. They ordered George suspended for three months "for causing consternation to other members."

Busman's Holiday For Station C.O., Flies to Coast

TRENTON (Special) — Group Captain J. G. Diamond, A.F.C., Commanding Officer Station Trenton, took a busman's holiday on Sunday and found himself in Vancouver five and a half hours after his departure from the big training base here.

In line with the R.C.A.F. policy of having senior officers get in as much jet training as possible the Group Captain as co-pilot, with F/L. Ken Blackmore as pilot, left Trenton at 4.30 p.m. Word flashed back here that the sleek jet ship reached Portage La Prairie two hours and forty minutes later and expected to take the same amount of time to make the west coast after refuelling.

A Billion Dollar Business . . .

Pulp and paper is Canada's largest, most important industry. Total production is well over one billion dollars a year. It provides more employment than any other industry, accounts for about one quarter of total Canadian exports, and provides the raw materials for many secondary industries.

Basic to our present and future economy, the pulp and paper industry is one of the chief factors responsible for Canada's position as a leading trading nation of the world. It has a record of expansion and growth which in recent years has more than kept pace with Canada's progress.

We believe the securities of Canadian pulp and paper companies offer many opportunities for investment. There are first mortgage bonds and debentures for those whose chief need is capital security . . . preferred shares for current income . . . common shares for those who wish to participate in the industry's growth and expansion.

If you are interested in discussing the securities of this important industry, and particularly those suited to your objectives, you will be welcome in any of our offices . . . or if it is more convenient for you, a letter addressed to us will receive the same careful attention.

WRONG END OF THE STICK

Mrs. Ellen Fairclough, Progressive Conservative member of the House of Commons for Hamilton East, has attacked as "discriminatory" regulations governing the payment of out-of-work benefits to married women.

That the regulations are "discriminatory" there seems little doubt; but Mrs. Fairclough appears to have grabbed the wrong end of the stick in her attack on this problem.

The Unemployment Insurance Commission maintains that some women who leave their jobs after marriage and claim unemployment insurance benefits do not really intend to return to work.

Mrs. Fairclough says that married women are the only class of workers to whom such rules as those against which she is protesting are applied. She contends that "often there are several other groups who take advantage of the act as often as they can." In this statement she is correct. But would it not be better if, instead of seeking to have the regulations regarding married women eliminated, she sought to have similar regulations extended to cover other classes of workers who are seeking benefits to which they are not entitled?

For instance, there have been cases where unemployment insurance has been used as a sort of pension fund. When a worker reaches the age where he can no longer do his job, his company has retired him, he has sought and obtained unemployment insurance and then, after this insurance has run out, the company has started paying him a pension.

Then there are workers in certain types of seasonal employment whose right to draw unemployment insurance is questionable. For instance, there are lake sailors. Some of these receive, in the eight months of the navigation season, a salary designed to meet their needs during the full year. Yet in some instances they are also successful in collecting unemployment insurance during the winter months. In other cases these sailors are not paid sufficient to maintain their families during the full year but must depend on insurance benefits during the winter. Is this not a form of subsidy for the shipping companies in their competition with railroads and other forms of transportation?

Mrs. Fairclough regards as "a slander against women in employment" the suggestion that a married woman who wants unemployment insurance benefits rather than a job "has her own ways of causing an employer to reject her without actually refusing to apply for a job." She should not be so touchy. Many married women are, in this respect, no different from their single sisters, nor from men. They just enjoy a greater opportunity to cheat. Perhaps "cheat" is a harsh word. For most of those who take undue advantage of the unemployment insurance act appear to believe sincerely that, because they have paid money into the fund, they are entitled to receive benefits, by any method they can devise.

What is most urgently needed is a general recognition that the unemployment insurance fund is not a big pork barrel, but an insurance scheme and that, like any other insurance plan, its operation involves some receiving more from the fund than they contribute and some receiving less. Those who are not entitled to receive as much as they pay in are not unfortunate — they are the really fortunate people.

CARS AND TRUCKS

Did you get stuck behind a truck on your way to work this morning? Do not complain. Your's was not an unusual fate. In Canada the chances are approximately one in four that the vehicle ahead of you is a truck.

This statement is based on statistics released by the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce, which shows a total of 3,641,065 licensed motor vehicles in Canada at the end of 1954. Of these, 2,680,391 were passenger cars and 867,805 were trucks. Classified as "miscellaneous" were 92,869 vehicles, apparently including trailers which have truck-like proporotions, and motorcylcles, which are more akin to passenger cars.

Ontario residents are lucky. The ratio of trucks to passenger cars is lower here than in any other province. Passenger cars are shown to number 1,187,722, while trucks at 285,818 were only 24 per cent of the passenger car total.

Saskatchewan has the highest ratio of trucks to passenger cars, with the province's 101,719 trucks being 62 per cent of the passenger car total of 162,980.

DECISION POSTPONED

Clement Attlee, leader of the British Labor Party, has agreed to put off his retirement.

A statement issued after a meeting of the parliamentary committee of the party said that it was the unanimous wish of the party that he should continue in office.

In other words, not one of the aspirants for leadership yet feels certain of being able to attain, and retain, that office.

The struggle between the right and left wings is still undecided.

WORD FOR FATHER

They laugh at father when he leaves
He's out of date, and that is sad.
The modern books he doesn't read.
His teaspoon standing in the cup.
They note the soup stains on his sleeves;
But bad as father seems, they'll add
They wonder why he won't dress up.
He's good for everything they need.
They say his jokes are stale and flat.
When shopping by himself he goes,
He should get rid of his moustache.
Whatever choice he makes is wrong.
But, when they want another hat,
So little of what's right he knows.
It's father who provides the cash.
They wonder why he's lived so long.
They love him, and one day a year
But still, if father slipped away.
They bring him gifts of shirts and ties;
Gave up his job or went on strike
But after that the grins appear.
Or took offense at what they say.
He does so many things unwise.
What would the home they share be like?

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

Mr. James Bronson, Warden of the County of Hastings, was the guest speaker at the Kiwanis Club luncheon meeting on Tuesday and he gave a most interesting and informative address on present conditions and what he would like to see developed in this country to make it a more attractive place in which to live. He advocated better roads which lead to the main arteries of travel; the formation of a tourist association for the entire district, towards the cost of which the county would be happy to make a grant. "I have noticed," said Mr. Bronson, "that there is a great opportunity to improve the lakes and streams in the county by clearing the shore lines of brush and the trout streams should be improved in a like manner." Warden Bronson is one of the youngest members in the county council in which he has held a seat for eight years. He is a forceful speaker and does not hesitate to call "a spade a spade" and he was enthusiastic in expressing his ideas with regards to the improvements to be desired in the county. Mr. Bronson was introduced by Herb Fox and the appreciation of the club was expressed to him by Eddie Shapiro.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

The season for fish stories being now upon us, it is well to have a couple of new ones handy for any occasion that may arise. Fish stories are not necesarily to be believed. All that is necessary is that they consist of elements that could be believed.

For example, Wilfrid Churchman, deputy minister of natural resources for Saskatchewan, comes up with this one in honor of the golden jubilee of Saskatchewan which is being celebrated all this summer. Saskatchewan is called a prairie province, and I suppose nine tenths of Canada's population think of it so, a wheat province. But only two fifths of Saskatchewan is prairie, and three fifths as beautiful forest, lake, rock and wilderness as it to be found anywhere in Canada.

One of these lakes, pretty far north, is Churchman's favorite. It is about forty feet deep. The fish in it come in layers. The first layer are perch, running up to two or three pounds, and about ten feet of the upper area of the depth are solid perch. Next comes a solid layer of jackfish or pike, running up to twenty-five, twenty-eight pounds, or thereabouts. But down in the lower layer are Churchman's favorites, the lake trout, running up to, oh, forty, fifty pounds. So far, he has been completely baffled in his efforts to get at the trout. Because if he fishes with bait, the perch tear it to flinders before it can sink ten feet. If he uses artificial lures, the savage jackfish or pike rip the lure to bits before it can sink through that layer down to the trout.

Last year, he figured out a system. He brought twenty-five feet of stove-pipe up, not without considerable trouble and expense to that remote lake. He lowered the pipe down the two layers of perch and jackfish, and then dropped his trout lure through to the trout. They took, all right. But they were too big for him to haul back up the stove pipe.

He is now negotiating with the bush pilots and dog team drivers to bring him in thirty feet of culvert. And all Churchman's friends are eagerly awaiting results of this season's fishing.

Trade Fair War

(New York Times)

The cold war has taken a new turn. Instead of Soviet and American soldiers facing each other across the frontiers of East and West, the battle has moved to the fair grounds, with merchants and manufacturers the combatants. In this arena, too, the Russians had got the jump on the West, just as they did in rearming the post-war world. For years Washington paid no attention to the trade-fair movement that was reviving throughout the world, while the Soviet Union was happy to use expositions as a site for the display of propaganda and merchandise. The figures tell a gloomy story: for the five years prior to 1955 the Soviet bloc participated in 122 trade shows, the United States in none.

But now we are catching up, and fast. Americans are taking part currently in the International Samples Fair at Barcelona, Spain, last of a dozen spring fairs held this year in which Americans have participated officially with their government. Millions of visiters are now being impressed —many for the first time—by the vaunted American standard of living, and are realizing the falsity of the Russians' myth that Americans, unlike their own peoples themselves, are interested only in the implements of war.

* * *

As yet the merchants from East and West have not met face to face, although on three recent occasions—at Bangkok, Liege and Paris—they were scheduled to do so. On each occasion the Russians pulled out, using one pretext or another to cancel fair space already leased as soon as the Americans agreed to take part. Now the two titans of the world are due to meet head-on at the Vienna Trade Fair, to be held Sept. 11-18 in the capital of recently freed Austria. Here, with nothing but a midway separating them, the Americans and Russians will have the opportunity to compete in the setting of a commercial Olympics game.

* * *

All reports have it that the Americans have made excellent showings in the fairs in which they have taken part already. Cinerama has been a sell-out. Visitors have been impressed with electronic jugglers, giant fruit-packing machines, the world's largest rubber tires. This success is probably a tribute to American adaptability more than anything else, for we are largely unfamiliar with the traditional trade fair. This is completely unlike our own conception of a trade fair — a combination of Coney Island and the Automobile Show. Nor is it much like the homey country fair with its produce and livestock, plus local amusements.

The trade fair is a place to display goods. The audience is made up of business men seeking to buy goods, to sell goods, to learn industrial techniques they can use. It harks back to ancient days, to religious festivals in Syria and Palestine, to the Middle Ages when traders from far places gathered under the castle wall, to the modern exhibitions that started at London's Crystal Palace in 1851 under the sponsorship of Victoria's consort. The basic object always has been to simplify trade. And with that has come international amity and understanding.

* * *

Repercussions of the United States trade-fair program are being felt even in this country. The Commerce Department, its sponson, reports the complaint of an American who had read in his local paper about a five-room ranch-style house displayed in the United States Pavilion at the recent fair in Frankfurt, Germany. He objected to the display of such kitchen conveniences as a refrigerator, toaster, stove and washing machine, and a television set in the living room, arguing that they were not to be found in a typical American home. Quick consultation with reports of Commerce Department surveys of American consumption followed. The result: Figures showing that of 48,500,000 homes in the United States, all but 722,000 were wired for electricity. These homes enjoy the use of 41,400,000 electric refrigerators, 32,800,000 electric toasters, 36,418,000 washing machines, 12,086,000 electric stoves, 33,200,000 television sets, more than 120,000,000 radios (many homes have more than one set, of course) and 13,246,000 steam irons. All this, and freedom, too, is the message Uncle Sam is getting across to the rest of the world at their trade fairs.

U.S. Defence Of Spelling

(Buffalo Evening News)

Every now and then some Canadian who owns and operates a typewriter takes a back-handed swipe at the spelling on this side of the border. A writer on the Ottawa Journal yielded to such an impulse the other day.

"These rushing Americans," lasd he, "Any day now we expect to see them calling themselves Amns and their national figure Uncle Sm. Any word without a letter saved is regarded by them as a fatigue and a waste of time. Do-nuts and thrudrives to rest-ezy chairs under nite-lites is par for their course." Then he took a fling at an advertisement for a new phonograph record called simply "Gruve-Gard" . . . "you save the 'u' from guard and slap it into groove and presto! you have two o's to use another day."

We're not really stingy with letters. We just like to make sense. To labour (what's that "u" doing in there?) the point a bit we don't like to have to manoeuvre (how come a usless "o"?) our way through a jungle of letters that pervades Canadian spelling for no carthly reason other than their forefathers did it that way. And since when has thrift in anything become a vice, sir?

Stork's Birth Rate Dropping

(Saskatoon Star-Phoenix)

Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of a certain species of bird which has done a lot for the human race— in legend, at least. Zoologists, we learn from The Manchester Guardian, are concerned with the declining birth date of the stork. Both black and white storks have decreased sharply in numbers during recent years in Holland, Germany and Denmark, where they are breeding about this time of year, and not a single breeding pair of white storks is now left in Switzerland. Shooting, overhead cables and perhaps the widespread use of insecticides are the storks' chief perils. This emergency for the storks is something which men cannot entirely neglect – unless we are going to turn up our noses in a superior way and say that we didn't believe those old stork stories anyway.

White House Is Plundered

(Wall Street Journal)

The New York Times hints rather broadly that somebody's been swiping silver from the White House.

A report on the annual inventory at 1600 Pennsylvania avenue discloses 6,201 pieces of silverware—a rather odd lot—and a budget item of $4,984 for replacement of "some small items". The suggestion is made that some of the guests made off with souvenirs.

Before the Democrats make a 1956 issue out of this, it is only fair to point out that souvenir swiping is one American policy that is completely bi-partisan. When Mr. Roosevelt was in the White House he was forced to print on his books of matches "Stolen from Franklin D. Roosevelt".

Medal Delayed For 85 Years

(Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

Mr. Seraphin Pruvost was twenty-one years of age when he served France as a soldier in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870. Today, at 106 years of age, he is a notable resident of Siracourt, near Arras.

In the intervening eighty-five years, a good life-span for an ordinary man, much has transpired in the world and in his native France. Two world wars in which his country suffered much have come and gone and French governments have succeeded one another with great rapidity.

Thinking of the number of governments France has had since the last war alone, one is appalled by the frightful tangle of red tape that must ensue. A good deal of departmental confusion is inevitable.

So it is perhaps underatandable that it was only the other day, on his 106th birthday, that Mr. Pruvost finally received the medal for his services back in 1870!

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

I Don't Hate Anybody

An eastern physician, who is a member of this county and state medical and AMA, listed in the AMA blue book as ObG* (meaning he limits his practice to obstetrics and gynecology) writes a courteous, noncommittal note:

Dear Dr. Brady:

Your remarks about the "basal temperature test" in thyroid therapy interests me.

I would appreciate more information.

Very truly yours,
(Signed)

Unlike most medical correspondents who ask for something, this one provides a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

My reply to the doctor's query was as follows:

Dear Dr. . . . . :

On p. 8 of the booklet inclosed I tell all I know about the basal temperature test.

Barnes's report made it clear enough, to me at any rate, that the test gives a real doctor as much information as the Rube Goldberg stunt (you know, the basal metabolism gadget), as perpetrated by so many trick specialists and "clinic" racketeers, can give.

Of course it may not impress the Yankee Wiseacres.

Yours sincerely,
Wm. Brady.

Oh-oh, I thought, after the mail had gone, how do I know the doctor isn't a trick specialist? After all, many of 'em are, nowadays.

In the booklet I say:

Incidentally, in a study of over 1,000 cases (Barnes, J. A. M A, 8-1-'42), the basal temperature test proved a better index for thyroid therapy than the basal metabolism test. The technique of the test is given to physicians in the medical journal article — I cannot instruct laymen in the details.

So there you are. And here I am, hated by at least one-third of my former colleagues — and yet, when I get to the bowling green, it seems as though there's nobody to hate. I imagine if I were a trick specialist or "clinic" racketeer and some character kept telling people the truth about these evils, I'd hate the so-and-so too.

Strength for the Day

LIFE'S TRUE VALUES

Many people read the Bible superficially and hurriedly jump to conclusions regarding its message.

They conclude, for instance, that because the Bible has much to say about peace and nonresistance against evil, that it therefore teaches pacifism and condemns war under all circumstances. Likewise they conclude that because the poor are spoken of with such concern for their painful state, therefore poverty is always regarded with honor and riches with dishonor. We often hear people say that money is the root of all evil, believing as they say this that they are quoting the Bible. What the Bible says is that love of money is the root of all evil. This is something quite different.

The Bible nowhere teaches that the material things of life are wrong in themselves. Anyone who has paid any attention to life has observed the ruinous effects which money has had on many people— probably on most people. But there are fine Christians among the rich just as there are sometimes rascals among the poor, and vice versa. It is not what we have or what what we lack which makes a difference in God's sight, but the way we use what we have and the way we endure what we lack. Riches build our universities, endow our foundations, and do many helpful things for the human race; but riches also make parasites out of many people.

The use we make of material things spells life or death for us all.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

DARE TO BELIEVE

Mere money is not the most essential form of capital with which to initate one's aim toward success. There must be something else—far more valuable—belief first in oneself, not borrowed but self-created. It takes more than money to defeat such a one—indeed if it is possible to defeat one who refuses to be defeated!

This faith, this personal belief, is what takes full command as we journey toward the one objective of our lives. It is this daring to believe that stimulates every faculty we possess, assures us of material success, and what is far more important—a spiritual health that arms us for any emergency!

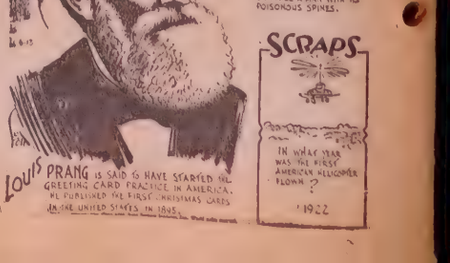
We must all endow ourselves with a winning mind if we would enjoy the happiness we deserve. There is a certain invisible club to which all unusual human beings belong. It might be called "The Undoleatables." All notable successes self-endow themselves with faith and a belief in the ultimate triumph of their objective.

How can anyone help but be healthy and happy who carries around with himself the spirit of triumph? The power of the human mind has yet to be revealed in its full capacity—if indeed such a thing is possible! The fact remains that the subconscious and the conscious are miles apart, yet they are inter-related, and can be made to supplement each other.

The power of prayer, when entered into at the close of one's day, has a great effect upon the subconscious mind, and upon the waking hours. It may well be called a spiritual bathing! At any rate it all has a power of its own that influences us far more than we realize.

We know so little about the human mind and what it is able to do do for us. Examples of the miracles it has performed have been many. More are yet to be revealed. We would all be healthier and happier if we dared to believe under all circumstances or changes of fortune!

But Who Wants To Play Safe?



(Detroit Free Press)

Dentists have been advised by the American Dental Association to go slow about replacing old fashioned drills with an ultrasonic excavating device said to be practically painless. Among other things, the association says the new equipment's safety should be thoroughly checked out.

It's fit and proper for a professional group to be conservative and move cautiously. However, we doubt that this advice about going slow for safety's sake is going to receive an iota of support from those who get their teeth drilled.

Our feeling about human beings is that they prefer to be imperiled painlessly than protected painfully.

UN in Its 10-Year History Has Had Share of Real Drama

By MAX HARRELSON

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The UN is not all dry debates and resolutions. In its 10-year history, it has had its share of dramatic moments, personalities and amusing incidents.

That's one reason the glittering skyscraper headquarters of the world organization has become the greatest tourist attraction in New York.

On a big day, it's as difficult to get into a UN meeting as it is to get tickets to the town's newest hit play. And sometimes the visitors see a show as good as anything on Broadway.

Such an occasion was the day in 1946 when Russia's solemn-faced Andrei Gromyko stalked from the Security Council chamber in his famous walkout; or that day in 1947 when the General Assembly, after months of study and debate, voted to divide Palestine between the Arabs and Jews.

MANY BIG DAYS

There were many big days that stand out in memory: the 1950 meetings of the Security Council which put the UN into the Korean War and which later saw Russia's Jacob Malik paralyze the council by procedural manoeuvres for an entire month; the day the first secretary-general, Trygve Lie, announced he was resigning; the day the assembly was shocked by the announcement that one of its best known members, Andrei Vishinsky, had died.

One of the most unusual men ever to visit the UN was the former prime minister of Iran, Mohammed Mossadegh, since overthrown and imprisoned. Mossadegh, famed for his pink pyjamas and his fits of weeping, came to New York in 1951 to address the Security Council on the British-Iranian oil dispute.

Another Iranian, handsome Shah Mohammed Riza Pahlevi, gave the UN a moment of amusement a few years later. His crowded program of speeches in New York included an address to the assembly.

He took his place solemnly before the diplomats of 60 nations, pulled a folded paper from his pocket, opened it and began speaking. He had read only the first few words before the audience realized something was wrong.

Instead of beginning with the usual introduction it started off with greetings to a New York luncheon group. The shah simply smiled and said: "Wrong speech." Then he folded the paper, took out another and began reading the correct speech.

MOST ENTERTAINING

Most entertaining of the Soviet delegates was the sharp-witted Vishinsky. Noted for his repartee and his use of proverbs to illustrate points, he often tangled with other delegates. But two British diplomats, Hector McNeil and Selwyn Lloyd, were the most adept at his own game of proverbs.

Lloyd, now defence minister, started one of these exchanges by quoting what he called an old Russian proverb: "A cow which makes a lot of noise gives the least milk."

Vishinsky retorted that this was rather silly and that furthermore it was no Russian proverb. The next day Lloyd apologized and admitted it was not a Russian proverb, but a Polish saying. If Vishinsky thought it silly, Lloyd said, he should take it up with his friends the Poles.

"Perhaps," Lloyd continued, "Polish cows behave differently from Russian cows." If so, Lloyd suggested, this "dangerous deviation should be corrected in the interest of Cominform solidarity."

FANGS SHOWING

McNeil once needled Vishinsky with a fable about a bird and a singing serpent. According to the story, the serpent had a beautiful singing voice, but was puzzled because he could not attract any friends. One day he asked a bird what was wrong. The bird replied: "Every time you open your mouth to sing so beautifully, your dreadful fangs stick out."

Next Need in Medicine Fight Against Polio Is Skin Test

By FRANCES LEWINE

NEW YORK (AP)—What is the next great need in medicine's fight on polio?

Dr. Bela Schick, who discovered the skin test for diphtheria susceptibility 42 years ago, believes it could be a similar test for polio. It would tell whether an individual is immune to the disease and thus would help overcome the immediate shortage of Salk vaccine.

"It would be nice, but you cannot order such things," Dr. Schick said in an interview. Researchers already are hard at work on such a test, but he fears that the nature of the polio virus will make the search more difficult than it was in the case of diphtheria.

"I WAS LUCKY"

"I was lucky," he smiles.

Now 78, a jolly, smiling man, stopped, bushy-browed and grey-haired, he is still a practising pediatrician. Dr. Schick's 1913 discovery is rated a major milestone in the research which has almost wiped out diphtheria as a child killer.

But there is one great contrast between the Salk and Schick contributions to medical history; where the polio vaccine was accepted instantly, it was 15 years before the diphtheria test received widespread recognition and use.

"Many people were against it," he says. "Many people were afraid."

Dr. Bela (pronounced bay-la) Schick was an assistant in a clinic in Vienna when he devised the test. The diphtheria bacillus had been discovered by bacteriologist Edwin Klebs in 1883. A year later Frederick Loeffler had isolated it and demonstrated its growth in culture. In 1890 Emil Von Behring discovered an antitoxin to combat the disease. Later von Behring worked out an immunization with a mixture of toxin and antitoxin.

DISCOVERY CLEARS WAY

But this mixture was difficult to evaluate at first and von Behring refused to permit its general use unless it could be administered under clinical control.

At that time, Schick recalls, it was not practical to think of widespread immunization with the von Behring toxin-antitoxin.

Dr. Schick discovered that by the injection of a minute quantity of diphtheria toxin into the skin it could be determined whether an individual was susceptible to diptheria. No reaction at the place of infection means immunity against the disease.

In 1924, a year after Dr. Schick's arrival here, Dr. G. Ramon of the Pasteur Institute in Paris discovered that the weakening of diphtheria toxin with formaldehyde made possible immunization against diphtheria. The way was clear and safe for the mass immunization.

Davy Crockett Most Potent Mover of Goods to Hit TV

By WARREN BENNETT

NEW YORK (AP)—Davy Crockett is king of the merchandising frontier.

Jack Thompson, promotion manager for Walt Disney Productions, says Davy is the most potent mover of goods that ever came down the merchandise trail. He ought to know. Thompson has been the auditor for the previous champions: Donald Duck and Mickey Mouse.

Trade experts estimate that goods valued at $300,000,000 will be sold this year under the Davy Crockett label.

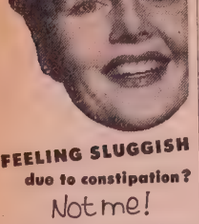
It seems Davy can sell anything from coonskin caps to refrigerators to automobiles. His basic appeal may be to the small fry but there's nothing small fry about the results of Davy Crockett merchandising promotions.

OLD COATS WANTED

When the craze first caught on about three months ago, raccoon skins were a drug on the market. Today furriers are offering bonuses to people to scour their attics for old coonskin coats to be made into Davy Crockett caps.

A Boston store with a pile of dusty moccasins left over from an Indian promotion advertised them as "Davy Crockett" moccasins and sold 3,000 within a week.

"The "Ballad of Davy Crockett" on 20 different phonograph labels, has become the record industry's fastest seller with more than 7,000,000 sales in just about six months.



Norge division of Borg-Warner Corp. advertised it would give away free a Davy Crockett canvas play tent with every major appliance sold, and was deluged with orders for refrigerators, stoves and freezers.

TENT MAKER BUSY

R. C. Connell, Norge vice-president for sales, said "it looks as though we'll use 35,000 tents before it's over."

The tent manufacturer, J. W. Johnson Co. of Bellwood, Ill., which has been in business since 1872, boosted production to 1,000 tents a day from its normal quota of 200.

FEELING SLUGGISH due to constipation?
Not me!
I'd never heard of a diuretic when my Old Country neighbour suggested that was what I needed to get over feeling listless and run-down. But I tried Kruschen on her advice and it's made a new woman of me! Now I realize that a diuretic can be just as important as a laxative in ridding the body of clogging wastes. Kruschen is both a gentle laxative and a diuretic. Actually the salts in Kruschen are similar to those in famous healing Spas and they act in the same way to tone up a sluggish system. Get Kruschen and see how much better you'll feel.

What's news at Inco?

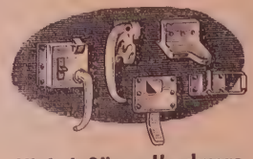
16 hours saved in time between Montreal, Toronto and Vancouver on new C.P.R. Streamliner "The Canadian" pleases passengers and railway alike. Inco nickel plays a large part in the construction. The outer skin is nickel-containing stainless steel. Interior hardware is nickel silver or stainless steel.

NICKEL STAINLESS STEEL TRAINS LIKE NEW AFTER 20 YEARS!

Newest stainless streamliner is "The Canadian"

IN 1934 the first stainless steel train made its initial run from Denver to Chicago. After 20 years and 2,700,000 miles of service, this silvery streamliner still carries on, as gleaming-bright as when new.

Today, the records established by this and many other stainless steel trains, have brought about a fleet of 173 new C.P.R. cars.



Because of stainless steel's high strength and the knowledge that it will never be weakened by corrosion, structural sections can be made lighter, thus giving greater safety with less weight.

Weight saving and economy are also obtained by using stainless steel sheathing of a thinner gauge but designed with greater rigidity than previously.

With this stainless, corrosion resisting chromium nickel alloy, paint is not necessary.

INCO NICKEL TRADE MARK

"The Romance of Nickel", a 72-page book, fully illustrated, will be sent free on request. Bulk copies supplied Secondary School teachers.

Nickel Silver Hardware

Over 70 tons of nickel silver containing 18% of nickel were used in the door handles, ash trays and other hardware of 173 cars.

Weddings

FARRELL—McDONALD

A wedding was solemnized in St. James' Roman Catholic church, Toronto, Ontario, on Saturday, June 11th, when Barbara Anne McDonald, Reg.N. daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McDonald, Toronto, was married to Dr. Patrick Joseph Farrell, Toronto, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Farrell, formerly of Coppercliff. Rev. Raymond Farrell, North Bay, brother of the bridegroom, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white net over taffeta, the square neckline clustered with Florentine daisy petals, and the bouffant skirt scattered with daisies ending in a slight train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was held in place with a crown of daisies studded with tiny rhinestones. She carried a cascade bouquet of lilies, stephanotis and ivy leaves.

The bride's attendants were Miss Bernadette Farrell, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Joan Neufeld. They were gowned alike in white eyelet over pale blue taffeta. Butterfly bows of the taffeta decorated the skirts at the back. Their headdresses were wreaths of carnation petals and blue forget-me-nots. They also carried cascades of carnation and forget-me-nots.

Dr. Maurice Farrell was his brother's best man and the ushers were Mr. Lorne McDonald, Dr. Alec George and Dr. Patrick Fyfe.

The reception was held at the Old Mill on the Humber. Mrs. McDonald wore a periwinkle blue dress with matching jewelled velvet hat and purse corsage of stephanotis. Miss Rita Farrell assisted in a yellow and black print with black picture hat and yellow rose corsage.

HOBBY CAUSES DEATH

HOLT, Mich. (AP)—Gary Hibie, 22, was electrocuted Sunday when a 60-foot metal control cable attached to a gas-powered model airplane he was flying struck a high tension wire. The accident occurred in front of his home where 40 members of his family were gathered for a family reunion.

WRONG CIRCUIT

IRVING, Tex. (AP) — The afternoon nap of Lance Morrison, 5, was short-circuited Sunday when he swallowed an electric fuse while resting in bed. His parents rushed him to a hospital. Doctors used their x-ray machine to spot the inch-long, pencil-sized fuse and decided the smooth glass-and-metal object would do little harm.

Mother's Helper

CHILDREN sometimes tire of "the same old thing" for breakfast. If you're faced with that balky problem, try giving them soup, for a change. They'll like the warmth and different taste, and they'll be well fortified for a good morning's play.

GOOD MANNERS

By MRS. BEECKMAN

NAMES ON WEDDING INVITATION

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. I am to be married soon, and I am very anxious to have our formal engraved invitations in as good form as possible under the circumstances. My mother and father are divorced, but I would like to have both their names on the invitations. I know this isn't the best of taste. But is it permissible?

2. My mother, since her divorce, has used the name (for an example) Mrs. Katherine Leighton Robinson. Would this be the correct form of name for her to use on these formal invitations of ours?

3. Would you please publish the correct form for us to use, with these circumstances? — Bride-to-be

1. Today it is considered permissible to use the names of both parents on the formal invitation to the wedding of their daughter. And really under the circumstances, this does make sense.

2. Your mother's name should not be engraved in this form. She should, of course, use Mrs. Leighton Robinson. However, if this seems too out-of-line with the form of name she has been using, she might use (though not in as good taste) Mrs. K Leighton Robinson.

3. Here is the form:

Mrs. K. Leighton Robinson
Mr. John Alan Robinson request the honor of your presence at the marriage of their daughter Dorothy to
Mr. Arthur Forbes
on Tuesday, the ninth of August at four o'clock
Centre Church
Haven, New York

SHOULD ENVELOPE BE SEALED?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

To settle an argument we are having, involving a point of etiquette, please answer this question: When one is asked for a character reference, does one seal the envelope, or is it left unsealed? S.R.A.

When the one who is asked for the reference hands the envelope containing the letter - of - reference directly to the one who has asked for it, the envelope is left unsealed.

SEATING AT BRIDE'S TABLE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you please give me some suggestions as to the correct seating for the bridal party at their wedding breakfast? There will be a party of 14. Two will be small children. — E.W.H.

At the Bride's Table the bride and bridegroom sit side by side, the bride at the right of the bridegroom. At the right of the bride, the best man; at the left of the bridegroom, the maid (or matron) of honor. Then the bridesmaids and ushers, seated alternately. Small children are generally not included at the bridal table.

ALL SHOWER GUESTS INVITED TO WEDDING?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Should all the guests who are invited to a bridal shower be invited to the wedding also? L.

That depends on circumstances. For example; if there is to be a large, or even fairly large, wedding, naturally the bride's close friends who gave showers for her would be invited to the wedding. But if only members of the families and the attendants are to be invited to the wedding, those who gave showers would not expect to be invited.

ADVICE to the LOVELORN

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

THIS IS EASY; DON'T MAKE IT HARD

Dear Miss Fairfax:

A few weeks ago I met a very nice boy at a party, and liked him very much. I thought he liked me, too, but I wasn't sure. My girl friend knows him, and she asked him if he liked me, but he didn't give her any sort of answer.

Could you please tell me some way I could find out about this without him knowing? — N.L.D.

Dear N.L.D.:

You've met this boy just once, haven't you? All right, why don't you wait and see if he tries to get in touch with you? That way, you'll soon find out whether or not he was just as much attracted to you as you were to him.

If he gets in touch with you, you can be sure he wants to know you better. If he doesn't, you can be just as sure he's not particularly interested. It's as simple as that. So why bother hunting for a hard way to find out how he feels about you?

DON'T PUT ON AN ACT; JUST BE YOURSELF

Dear Miss Fairfax:

There is a boy who goes to my school that I like very much. I went with him once, but we broke up.

I would like to go with him again, but he is the type that likes a girl to play hard-to-get. I have tried in every possible way to win him back, but I can't seem to succeed.

What would you suggest I do? My age is 13. — Miss D.D.

Dear Miss D.D.:

What I would suggest you do, at 13, is to be your natural self and not worry about whether any one boy likes you or not. After all, at your age, it's a little early to be thinking about going out with boys, and my advice to you is to have just as many friends as you can, among both boys and girls, and wait a few years before "going with" any special boy.

And even when you are old enough to start dating, don't try playing "hard-to-get." That's just putting on an act, and I don't believe any boy really cares about girls who deliberately do this. On the other hand, I believe all boys like the girl who is always just herself, and who doesn't try using some sort of system to get a boy to notice her.

DAYTIME IMPORTANCE

By GRACE THORNCLIFFE

Silk taffeta printed in a nice design that comprises a variety of tiny fruits is well handled for an important daytime dress. The model is cut on a princess silhouette and is lined for the bouffant look and billows a bit more toward the back where a half-belt effect is achieved with the aid of a shoestring tie. At the neck a chiffon scarf picks up one of the fruit colors of the print which is on a black ground.

BEAUTY

By HELEN JAMIESON

ACCENT ON TEETH

With cheek rouge and eye make-up toned down to a minimum during the summer season, the mouth, vividly lipsticked, is likely to be the dominating feature of the face—which, naturally, calls attention to the teeth. And, with the wonders of modern dentistry, there is no reason why every woman's teeth should not be glamorous.

The beauty of the face is marred by unattractive teeth, and the vitality of the human organism is dependent upon strong, healthy ones. Both teeth and gums require exercise, which is why the diet should include bread crusts, raw vegetables and other foods that require considerable mastication.

The toothbrush is the best weapon we have against decay. Choose yours carefully. Those with heavy, stiff bristles should be avoided as they may prove a serious menace to the gums. Forcing the bristles harshly against these delicate membranes may injure them and cause abrasions. And wounds on the gums are open to bacteria which can cause infection.

Groom the teeth thoroughly, pushing the bristles between the teeth so the sides will be clean. Don't neglect the biting portions and inner surfaces. Rinse with a mouth lotion to carry away any foreign particles which may be present.

There seems to be a difference of opinion among specialists as to the effect of diet on the teeth, but all concede that milk is helpful because it is the main source of calcium. This element is also found in lesser degree in tomatoes, lettuce, turnips, orange juice, pineapple and apples.

Few individuals can avoid the ravages of dental decay, so, twice a year, go to your dentist's office for a thorough cleaning, removal of tartar and necessary repairs.

Strawberry Cheese Cake

By Mary Moore

Strawberry Shortcake and Strawberry Pie are old stuff with you folks—but what about Strawberry Cheese Cake? Is it a new idea? It was to me. What's more this thing calls for a package of lemon pie filling.

It's packed with flavor—and calories (she said looking over her glasses at our overweights!)

STRAWBERRY CHEESE CAKE

Step 1 Crumb Crust—Mix together thoroughly 1 1-4 cups graham cracker crumbs (about 16 crackers), 2 tablespoons brown sugar, 1-4 teaspoon cinnamon, and 1-3 cup melted butter or margarine. Pat crumbs firmly on bottom and sides of a buttered 9-inch cake dish. Bake about 6 minutes, or until lightly browned, in a hot oven, 400 deg. Fahr.

Step 2. Cheese and Lemon Filling—Mix 1 package lemon pie filling with one beaten egg, 1 3-4 cups water, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt. Stir well. Cook over moderate heat until mixture boils and thickens; stir constantly. Mash 1-2 pound cream cheese. Stir in lemon mixture; beat with a rotary beater till smooth. Pour into crust; chill until firm.

STEP 3 Fresh Strawberry Topping—Soak 1 1-2 teaspoons unflavored gelatine in 2 tablespoons cold water. Prepare 2 1-2 cups strawberries. Slice one cup with 1-2 cup sugar and 1-4 cup water and cook for 5 minutes. Strain; immediately stir in gelatine. Add whole berries and chill! When slightly thickened, spread over cheese and lemon filling. Chill until set.

Billion Dollars Worth of Cocaine Stored in Mexico

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal authorities reported Friday that a narcotics syndicate has $1,000,000,000 worth of cocaine stored in Mexico for smuggling into the United States.

The report came with the disclosure that officers have already seized one shipment, worth $2,500,000 and tabbed the biggest ever seized in the U.S.

Federal authorities in Brooklyn said the shipment was found with the arrest of two messengers who bought the cocaine to New York City from Mexico.

It was indicated also that officials know the identity of the syndicate's chief, identified only as "Senor X," and are on the lookout for him.

CONDITION SURPRISES

Police said Frank Gingras will be given a few more days rest before he is questioned and arraigned. He is in "surprisingly" good condition considering his ordeal.

Police said the three men had originally got together to prospect for silver, copper and other minerals in the St. Raymond area. All knew the district well.

Cyr had lived a long time in nearby Allen Mills and the Gingras brothers, before moving to Quebec, and lived in the St. Raymond neighborhood.

Police had put special guards around the home of nurse Patricia Gauthier, a friend of Frank's and at a ramshackle house where he and his brothers had been known to live while prospecting.

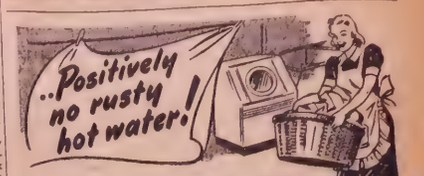
ONLY $900 FOUND

Police said they have found only $900 of the stolen money. This was Claude's share, they said. No guns were found on any of the men when they were captured although constable Tony Lopine was slightly wounded during an exchange of gunfire between the Gingras and police.

Frank Gingras, said police, had thrown away his carbine before coming out of the woods. Police had said the men were armed with revolvers, an automatic rifle, and four sticks of dynamite.

They said Frank told them he decided to quit after spending a sleepless night in a rainstorm.

Motorist Armand Vezina, whom he knew, passed him on the road, police said he told them.



BEGS LIFT TO TOWN

He came to a farmhouse owned by Ernest Nauld and asked for shoes and a lift to town. Nauld gave him the rubber boots and turned him over to a passing taxi-driver, Yvon Naud, of St. Raymond.

Claude Gingras was quoted by police as saying Frank was determined not to be taken alive. Frank believed he had killed constable Lopine during the shooting fray, it was stated.

To reassure Frank, police had set up a loudspeaker truck and had Gingras' father and brothers, as well as wellknown St. Raymond citizens, broadcast appeals for him to surrender.

Frank said he failed to hear the broadcasts.

Auto Industry's 'Dream' Car Now Undergoing Stiff Tests

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP)—Fuel injectors will replace carburetors, push buttons will do away with gear selector levers and 13-inch wheels will outmode the present 15-inch rims.

These are not just elements of some of the auto industry's "dream" cars. They are under test in the industry's laboratories now. They are scheduled for introduction on some 1957-model cars.

Because they are further advanced than numerous other experimental projects they answer the oft-heard question as to what will be the next major engineering development in automobile construction.

Other projects under test include new braking methods, a master hydraulic system to supply energy for all the power-actuated devices on the modern motor vehicle, and means of reducing the bump in the floor of the car.

Fuel injectors, of course, are not new. They have been used on diesel-type engines, injecting a fine spray into the combustion chambers.

WHEELS ARE PROBLEM

Why fuel injection in place of conventional carburetion? Advocates of the injection systems say these devices can improve allround performance of the engine and provide greater fuel mileage. They do not claim both of these advantages can be made immediately available.

Push-button gear shifting has been talked about in automotive circles for many years. Whether the first to be introduced will be hydraulic or electrically operated is yet to be determined.

Reducing the size of car wheels may sound like a simple project. But it involves numerous collateral changes, especially in brake design. The smaller wheels will have the effect of lowering the over-all silhouette of the car. At the same time tires of smaller circumference will be subject to greater wear.

Singer Stripped Of Clothing By 3 Masked Men

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Alice Lon, 27, the "Champagne Lady" singer with the Lawrence Welk orchestra, was stripped of her clothing by three masked bandits and two members of her family were beaten during a night of terror, police reported.

Investigators said Miss Lon and her husband and mother were forced to swallow sleeping pills by the bandits, who photographed the disrobed singer and did not leave the home until daybreak Sunday.

Miss Lon's husband, Robert W. Waterman, 31, said the three men, wearing stocking masks and rubber surgical gloves, burst into the house shortly after midnight. Waterman said the masked men demanded money and when told there was none in the house one replied: "We're going to wait until Alice gets home."

When his wife arrived she was slugged in the abdomen, bound with strips of sheets and her face completely covered with adhesive tape. Waterman said the bandits then removed her clothing and began taking pictures.

During the six-hour ordeal Waterman said he and Mrs. Mary Wyche Miss Lon's mother, were frequently hit and kicked. They are under the care of a physician.

Child Killed By Dairy Wagon; 22 Others Die

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least twenty-three persons, including a child killed under the wheels of a dairy wagon, died violent deaths in eastern Canada during the weekend.

Four-year-old Daniel Laflamme of Quebec was crushed to death under the wheels of a horse-drawn dairy wagon.

A Canadian Press compilation shows that Ontario was highest with 12 fatalities and Quebec next with six. New Brunswick reported three deaths and Nova Scotia, two. None was reported in Prince Edward Island or Newfoundland from Friday midnight to Sunday midnight EDT.

Fourteen persons died in traffic deaths and two in miscellaneous mishaps. One died of injuries suffered in a plane crash.

Kenneth Arney, 37, of Toronto, was killed when he stepped backward into the path of a car while avoiding another vehicle. Peter W. Felix, 25, also of Toronto, was killed when he stepped into the path of a car near Whitby.

HITS TRUCK

Seventy-year-old Robert Bryans of Egremont, Ont., was killed when the car in which he was riding ran into a parked truck near Durham. Campbell Perrin, 42, of Lyndhurst, died when his convertible went out of control on a curve near Smiths Falls and rolled over.

Edwin Ford, 26, of Waterdown, died of injuries suffered when his car went out of control while crossing railway tracks near Hamilton and crashed into a hydro pole and a tree.

Ronald Lee Hazzard, 22-year-old Wallaceburg farmer, was killed near Chatham, when his truck hit the shoulder of a road and rolled over twice after Hazzard attempted to pass a vehicle.

Gerald Brennan, 28, of Wright, Que., died of injuries suffered when a tree fell on him in the Wright district north of Ottawa. Mrs. Nora Keevil tripped or fainted as she came out of an Ottawa church and died of head injuries a few hours later.

William Koronowesky, 58, was believed to have jumped into Twelve Mile creek near St. Catharines when his clothes were found on a bridge at the creek. Sudbury police said a man was killed when he lay down in front of a moving railway train. His name was withheld.

TRAPPED IN BARN

The body of George Whitton, 68, was found in the ruins of a barn destroyed by fire at his Corbetton, Ont., farm home. It was believed he was trapped while doing chores.

Albert George Hart, 42-year-old widower and father of five children, was drowned near Trenton when his boat overturned in shallows of the Trent river.

Scene Described As Racing Car Kills 79 Persons

LE MANS, France (Reuters)—"A terrific explosion and two car wheels whistling over my head."

Thus did one dazed survivor describe the scene as a speeding racing car crashed into the crowd at the 24-hour sports-car race here Saturday, killing 79 persons.

Frenchman Jacques Helong told reporters as he left Le Mans hospital with blood on his cheek and his head bandaged:

"I ducked, but before I fell to the ground, half knocked out by a piece of metal that hit me square on the forehead, I had time to see a headless man beside me collapse like a rag doll.

I had a queer feeling that I was back 10 years to when I was a soldier in Alsace and an aircraft bomb fell in the middle of my section.

WORSE THAN WAR

"It was the same sight—wounded people sitting, crying, standing, screaming with fear, torn off limbs, bloody faces with holes in them.

"It was even worse than war if possible, for there were children in the crowd and I saw the body of a little girl in a light colored dress who had been trampled on by panic-stricken spectators, lying in a pool of bloodstained mud. Blood spattered me. A few metres away flames were shooting up from the tanks of the cars, which were still exploding.

MANY HEAD INJURIES

"And behind all that you could hear the cars still running and the strains of an accordion coming over the loudspeakers."

Another eyewitness who arrived on the scene a few minutes after the crash said he saw a small boy, decapitated, lying beside his dead father.

The mother, one arm dripping with blood, screamed hysterically as she grasped the small headless body to her bosom.

Two children were decapitated and many other victims were wounded in the head as the Mercedes engine, wheels and parts of its aluminum body flew into the packed crowd shoulder high.

11,000 Soldiers Will Concentrate At Army Camp

CAMP GAGETOWN, N.B. (CP)—The biggest peacetime troop movement in Canada's history is well under way.

Arrival here Saturday and Sunday of the first major convoys this year started an influx of more than 11,000 soldiers who will be concentrated at the army's largest camp by July 2.

Other convoys will arrive almost daily from Ontario and Quebec, in addition to special troops trains and an airlift from the Pacific coast.

Maj.-Gen. J. M. Rockingham is due Wednesday to take charge of preliminary exercises in his 1st Canadian Infantry Division. These will get the men into shape for the country's biggest military manoeuvre Aug. 7-14, Exercise Rising Star, involving two brigades. The 3rd Brigade is commanded by Brig. J. V. Allard of Quebec City and the 4th by Brig. D. C. Cameron of Alexandria, Ont.

PLOW BOSSES EXERCISE

Maj.-Gen. E. C. Plow, officer commanding the Eastern Command, will direct Rising Star.

Saturday's first convoy set the pattern for others. Capt. C. F. Pound of Barrie, Ont., the convoy commander, said all went according to schedule on the five-day, 1,028-mile trip from Camp Borden, Ont. Stopping at five overnight staging camps, the convoys pass through Edmundston, N.B., on an all-Canadian route longer than the direct one through the eastern United States.

"We got our biggest welcome in New Brunswick," Capt. Pound said. "Children were out waving along the way and people passing us in cars tooted their horns."

NEARLY 6,000 TENTS

Bell tents have blossomed in the camp's southern area, near Welsford, where most of the concentration will be under canvas. Tents of all types, including those used for supplies, are expected to number close to 6,000 before the end of the month. Vacated buildings will be utilized wherever possible.

About 400 advance personnel were at the training site before the first convoy of 50 vehicles and 174 men arrived Saturday. Biggest day for arrivals will be June 30, when about 1,500 troops are due on several trains.

The training this year, at last, will be remote from the Oromocto end of the camp, where permanent buildings are being constructed.

LIGHTNING KILLS CATTLE

OWEN SOUND, Ont. (CP)—Eighteen cattle, valued at $3,000, were killed by lightning during a severe electrical storm in this district Saturday night. The cattle, owned by Reeve Lorne Locke of Sydenham township, were in pasture at the time.

NEW BRUNSWICK SHIPS TUNGSTEN ORE

Two and a half years after New Brunswick found itself entering into mining boom, the first shipment of metal from the province has been accomplished by tungsten mine at Burnt Hill, 65 miles northeast of Fredericton. The shipment, though small compared to the ultimate output expected from the huge base-metal deposits, is the only one from New York. In operation at present is a 150-ton concentrator but this will be expanded to handle 300 tons a day before the end of the year. Here two of the mine's 40 employees examine the ore as it is processed in a flotation machine.—Central Press Canadian.

Legislators, Officials Try To Resist Supreme Court Order

WASHINGTON (AP)—Six southern states appear to be holding firm in their determination to circumvent the U.S. Supreme Court decisions outlawing public school segregation.

But in eight other states, where separate white and Negro schools have been traditional, there are signs pointing toward varying degrees of compliance with the court's order to make a start toward integration.

The Supreme Court on May 17, 1954 ruled that separation of students solely on the basis of race is illegal. Last May 31 it ordered federal district courts and local school systems to end segregation as soon as feasible, taking local conditions into account.

Since that ruling the picture does not appear to have changed in Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, South Carolina and Virginia. The prevailing attitude of legislators and officials is to resist or try to sidestep the decisions if possible.

TENTATIVE STEPS

In the other states, however, some steps—tentative and hesitant though they were in many cases—have been taken toward integration.

In Florida, for instance, the state superintendent advised local boards to name bi-racial committees to study integration. But a new state law gives local boards final authority to assign pupils, a power that could be used to resist integration.

Arkansas, Tennessee and Texas expect some integration and some resistance, particularly in areas with a heavy Negro population.

North Carolina is marking time, but the Asheville school board has announced it will make an "honest effort" to comply with the court decree.

COMPLIANCE MOVE

Kentucky, Maryland and Oklahoma are moving toward early compliance in all but possibly a few areas.

The principal development in the segregation situation since the May 31 court ruling was the June 4 meeting of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Atlanta, Ga.

By calling on local school boards to initiate steps toward integration before the next school term or face court action, the NAACP likely delayed another showdown on the problem until September.

That at least is the case in Georgia where Governor Marvin Griffin, armed with statutory power to withhold funds from mixed schools, is sitting tight awaiting the next move of the NAACP.

TURKS WARN BRITAIN

NICOSIA, Cyprus (Reuters) — Cyprus' 100,000 Turks have warned Britain that if this island colony is handed to Greece, "the whole Middle East will be turned into an area of chaos and destruction." The warning was contained in letters sent to British cabinet members by Fail Kutchuk, general secretary of the Cyprus Turkish National party.

CHIPS OFF THE SPORTS BLOCK

By Geo. H. Carver, Sports Editor

GO GET EM!

Canada could very well add another world titular bauble to her one-feathered cap of sports victories over the Russians.

The Reds haven't forgotten that well-administered shellacking the Penticton Vs gave their vaunted hockey team in the world championships and you can bet your last ruble they'll be out to avenge that setback in the British Henley Royal Regatta.

Canada's hopes rest on the stalwart shoulders of young oarsmen from the University of British Columbia who will row under the colors of the Vancouver Rowing Club. Hopes are high they will wrest the Grand Challenge cup from the tough Russian crew which won the trinket last year.

The Canadian oarsmen found the welcome mat out when their aircraft touched down at London, for all arrangements for their stay in Britain had been made by their host, Canadian-born Garfield Weston. Accommodations had been secured at the Hermitage Hotel in Henley, where they will make their headquarters while training for the historic competition for eight-oared shells.

All of the oarsmen are students at the University of British Columbia and a daily diet with a caloric content of 6,895 calories was prepared by U. B. C. dietitians and sent ahead to Mr. Weston's organization. The energy diet is high in such items as roasts, steaks and chops and Canadian beef is being flown in to make doubly sure the table abounds with familiar viands.

HOCKEY

There will be no trapsing south of the border for the senior "B" hockey group teams of this district next season. Five of last year's seven clubs stated they would be back in action this year at the group meeting held at the Viamere Hotel north of Peterborough over the week-end. They include Peterborough, Kingston, Oshawa, Cornwall and Brockville. Belleville was not represented at the meeting, the arena commission paying respect to the memory of the late city comptroller Harold Bateman.

The meeting was held under the chairmanship of OHA president Frank Buckland of Peterborough and vice president Lorne Cook of Kingston. The clubs unanimously opposed the entry of the Clinton New York club due to the heavy transportation costs involved. Nothing was said about a Belleville entry.

The group decided to cut the number of dressed players per game to fourteen. This includes a sub-goalie and is two less than the number permitted to dress last season. Roughly it means nine forwards or three lines, four defencemen and a goalie.

Interest in the group activities was lively. Another meeting will be held on July 24 when in all probability group business will be finalized.

HODGE PODGE

That was a neat piece of baseballing at the Polo Grounds Saturday night when the Picton Lightfoots maintained their unbeaten pace at the expense of Paul Haggis juniors. Bobby Bunton turned in a neat effort for five innings allowing the city youngsters but four hits. Greer held them hitless for the next two frames. Young St. Denis deserved a better fate on the mound for the juniors. He let them down with four clouts. The loss was the third for the Kelleher crew . . . Point Anne and the Orfuns tangle in what should be a neat softball tidbit tomorrow nightat the CNRAA Park while Frankford plays hosts to the Bobcats . . . Thar was gold in them thar heels of the gay chestnut Ace Marine when he won the Queen's Plate Saturday. He galloped the office pool straight in this department's pocket. And just for luck we held a ticket on Baffin's Bay who placed second . . . What looms as the race of the year will take place in Chicago in August when the mighty Nashua and that world-record holder Swaps go to the post in a matched race. The jockeys will be Willie Shoemaker on Swaps and Ole Banana Nose Arcaro . . . Swaps nosed out Nashua in the Kentucky Derby in the only race in which the horses have met. The purse $75,000, winner take all.

Baffin's Bay, Senator Jim Finish Second and Third; Loyalist Well-Beaten Fourth

By JIM BASTABLE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP) — Larkin Maloney browsed around at a yearling sale two years ago, took a fancy to a chestnut colt and bought him for $8,500. Today the colt is Canada's three-year-old champion and Toronto industrialist Maloney has another $25,270 in the bank.

Maloney's Ace Marine, an offspring of Ace Admiral-Mazarine, kicked up his heels at a field of 16 other thoroughbreds Saturday to capture the historic $20,000-added Queen's Plate and the 50 guineas. He did it easily in 1:52.2, two-fifths of a second off the plate record.

The purse raised Ace Marine's earnings to $32,640. That is just about double what Maloney had to lay out to purchase the colt—the first horse he ever sent into the Plate—and train him for the classic.

AHEAD THREE LENGTHS

There were three lengths between Ace Marine and Montreal-owned Baffin Bay who took the place honors. Another length off the pace was Senator Jim, heavily-backed favorite. Loyalist, winter - book choice, was a well-beaten fourth.

The 1¼-mile race, run at old Woodbine in Toronto's east end for the last time in its colorful history, was marred by a near fatality. It also supplied a couple of betting records from the crowd of 22,183 who braved scattered showers to watch the 96th running of the classic, Canada's richest stake.

Alex Wick, leading apprentice jockey in Ontario who had been set down for five days for interference last week but was allowed to ride in the race, miraculously escaped death from flying hoofs when he was thrown from Great West just after the field broke from the starting gate.

Great West, a brown colt owned by Mrs. Dan Kennedy of Winnipeg, stumbled and tossed Wick into the air when he and a couple of other horses crowded. Wick fell between horses and was kicked or clipped by two or three of them. He suffered a broken vertebrae that will keep him in a cast for some time.

HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Two horses hurdled Wick as he lay on the track near the grandstand. Other riders had to pull up to avoid the jockey.

Fairator, a 9-to-1 shot owned by farmer Jim Fair of Cainsville, Ont., was knocked to his knees. His nose struck the dirt before jockey Jose Fina, who barely managed to stay in the stirrups, pulled the bay gelding to his feet.

The accident knocked most of the running out of Fairator. His hocks and knees were skinned and he finished 16th, 16 lengths behind Ace Marie. Birch Hills, Eric Cradock's 30-to-1 outsider from Toronto, appeared to be responsible for the traffic jam. He broke from No. 9 post position and cut over sharply.

Ace Marine was the only double winner of the two Plate trials but the betting public concentrated on glamor-boy Senator Jim, owned by Jack Stafford of Toronto, and backed him down to 6-to-5 odds when the mutuels closed.

PAID $13.20

Ace Marine went to the post at 6 to 1. He paid $13.20, $6.80 and $3.50. Baffin Bay, owned by Mrs. R. Y. Graul Jr. of Montreal, returned $10.10 and $4.50. Senator Jim paid $2.30.

The Ace, who won only $4,120 for Maloney as a two-year-old and picked up $3,250 in the two Plate trials, broke on top from the gate and was nearly two lengths in front of the clubhouse turn.

He held the lead all the way, fought off Baffin Bay's bid in the stretch and won with a driving finish.

Fans, who will take in the 1956 Plate running at the Ontario Jockey Club's new $12,000,000 Woodbine track in suburban Malton township, bet a record $177,413 on the Plate and a record $40,535 on the eight races.

The winner's purse was a record payoff, too. Gross value of the Plate was $32,645.

Ace Marine was given an expert ride by George Walker, a 24-year-old native of Pawtucket, R.I., in his first Plate race.

"I couldn't hold him back when we were heading for the first turn and that's when I figured we would take it all," Walker said. He knew that Ace Marine likes to loaf in the stretch but it didn't bother him.

"He loafed as usual," Walker said. "Put I gave him the whip and he put down the ..ody. He had plenty of speed."

KINGSTON, Jamaica (Reuters) —A fine inning by Clyde Walcott, out in the last over for 155, helped West Indies recover from a bad start against Australia in the fifth and final cricket test Saturday. They were 327 for six by the close.

Olympics Body Talks Site For 1960 Games

PARIS (AP)—The International Olympic Committee opened a week-long meeting here today with the main business on the agenda the selection of sites for the 1960 games.

Otherwise, there isn't expected to be anything except routine discussions of Australia's preparations for the 1956 games and various interpretations of amateurism.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, president of the IOC, recently toured Australia and took the country to task for not being sufficiently advanced in its preparations. However, he now seems pleased with the progress and it's doubtful if he will offer any more criticism.

Sizzling Senors From Hot Havana Cook Up 10-Game Winning Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The cool, cool, cool of the evening may turn out to be unnaturally warm tonight when the Richmond Virginians take the field in Havana against the hottest ball club in the International League—the Sugar Kings.

The sizzling senores have cooked up a 10-game winning streak which started a week ago when they were in fourth place, eight full games behind Toronto. After an 8-7 and 4-3 victories over the Virginians Sunday, Havana is in a virtual tie for second place with Montreal and only two games behind the leaders.

The Virginians pounded Cuban starter Vincente Amor and Julio Moreno for seven runs in the first inning of Sunday's opener, but Moreno, Charley Harris, and Emilio Cueche held Richmond at bay while the Havana hitters hammered away and finally caught up with two runs in the sixth. Cueche received the win, to give him a 5-3 record.

Havana gave Julian Ladera a 4-1 lead to work on in the nightcap, but the righthander needed help from Pat Scantlebury and Harris to wrap up his fifth victory of the season against three defeats. Bob Habenicht, who yielded all the Cubans' runs, was charged with his seventh loss to go along with a pair of victories.

SYRACUSE TAKES TWO

The only other double winner Sunday was last-place Syracuse, which up-ended Montreal 8-4 and 8-7. The league-leading Toronto Maple Leafs split with Rochester, winning the first game 4-3 behind lefty Ken Johnson, but dropping the second 8-0 as Red Wing lefty Millard Heim pitched a neat six-hitter.

Buffalo and Columbus had to go 10 innings before the Bisons won it, 2-1, after losing the opener 14-1.

Syracuse, although trailing at one point 4-3, won the opener handily, striking for four runs in the sixth and adding an insurance tally in the eighth. Seth Morehead won his third game in eight decisions and Ken Lehman, southpaw ace of the Royals, suffered his third setback against eight triumphs.

The second contest was a slambang affair won by the Chiefs due mainly to efforts of Ben Johnson, who pitched four innings of shutout relief after the Royals had knocked over seven runs. In addition to picking up his fifth victory Johnson helped his teammates overcome the Montreal advantage with a two-run homer in the fourth.

Yesterday's Stars

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Batting — Vic Wertz, Indians—pounded two home runs, one in each game with a man on base to lead Cleveland to a 10-2, 7-3 sweep of the doubleheader with the New York Yankees.

Pitching—Paul Lapalme, Cardinals — hurled seven innings of scoreless relief, permitting only two singles, and doubled in winning run in the 13th inning as the Cardinals nipped the Giants 6-5 after New York had won the opener 8-3.

Ed. Furgol, U.S. Open Titleholder, Wins International Golf Crown

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ed Furgol, the U.S. Open champion, came from behind to win the individual title in the international golf championships that wound up at Columbia Country Club Sunday.

Starting the day four strokes behind pace-setter Peter Thomson of Australia, Furgol blasted the 6,510-yard course with a three under par 67 that put him into a three-way tie for the championship.

Then he proceeded to drub Thomson and Belgium's Flory Van Donck in a three-way "sudden death" playoff that went just three holes.

The United States walked off with the Canada Cup, which goes to the two-man team which turns in the low combined score for 72 holes of play.

TOOK TEAM TITLE

Chick Halbert, with 281, one over par, teamed with Furgol, who had a 279, to take the team championship by nine strokes from Australia's duo of Thomson and Kel Nagle, the defending champions.

The Americans had 560-even par—and the Aussies had 569. Scotland's Eric Brown and John Panton finished third at 571.

Furgol improved daily, down from 75 to 70 to 69 to 67 and was at his best under pressure.

His withered arm would seem to be a handicap, but it isn't at all. Furgol consistently outdrove his opponents and then laid his iron shots dead for the pin all the way through.

Majors Bow To Oshawa In Intercounty

OSHAWA (CP)—Oshawa Merchants regained first place in the Intercounty Senior Baseball League here Saturday night with a 6-4 decision over the second-place London Majors. It was the fifth win in seven starts for the Merchants and the second win for lefthander Harry Schaeffer, former International League pitcher with Toronto Maple Leafs.

Other games, Kitchener at Brantford and St. Thomas at Galt, were rained out.

A single by Schaeffer, followed by doubles by manager Roy Lefevere and Freddy Thomas, gave the Merchants their victory margin in the bottom of the sixth inning after the Majors had tied the count in the first half of the frame.

Emile Tellinger's double scored Gerry Wilson in the opening inning and Oshawa came back with a tying tally on hits by Bill Turk and Roy Lefevere. Each team scored in the third inning also and only a snappy double-play saved London in the fourth, when two errors and a walk filled the bases.

Wacky National League Batters Go Home-Run Crazy; Nearly Set Record

Tie Mark With Twenty Five As Rain Washes Out 2 More; Cubs, 'Bums' Good for Seven

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Power-crazed National League hitters, apparently bent on setting a season home run record, probably would have had a new single day mark today if it hadn't been for a sudden Pennsylvania downpour.

The senior circuit batsmen actually tied the old homer mark of 25 set July 16, 1950 but it will never get into the record books. A couple of four-baggers—one by Cincinnati's Wally Post and another by Philadelphia's Andy Seminick—went down the drain as rain washed out the second game of the Reds - Phillies doubleheader with Cincinnati leading 4-3 in the third inning. The two teams had slammed six in the opener, won by Philadelphia 12-8.

Seven homers were hit in Brooklyn as the Chicago Cubs and Dodgers divided a doubleheader, the Cubs winning the opener 9-5 and 6-2. Six were banged in New York in another split, the Giants winning the first game 8-5 and the St. Louis Cardinals capturing the second in 13 innings 6-5. Four round trippers were walloped in Pittsburgh as the Pirates won the opener 5-3 and the Milwaukee Braves came back to win the nightcap 6-5.

Good pitching, so conspicuously absent in the National League Sunday, highlighted the American League action as the home run output was limited to a comparatively low total of nine. The Chicago White Sox got some of both to sweep both ends of a doubleheader from Washington 1-0 and 8-4. After Billy Pierce topped Bob Porterfield in a real, old-fashioned pitching duel, Bob Bieman poled a grand slam homer and Bob Kennedy added a two-run blast to put the second-place Sox to within only 2½ games of the pace-setting New York Yankees.

Cleveland's third-place Indians hammered Yankee pitching for five home runs, four in the first game, to knock off New York twice 10-2 and 7-3 behind the stout pitching of Early Wynn and Bob Lemon. Vic Wertz connected twice, once in each game with a man on base, to take a major role in the defeats of Yankee aces Bob Turley and Whitey Ford.

Hal Smith hit the only homer in the Baltimore-Kansas City split. The Orioles won the first game 7-2 and the Athletics evened matters in the second game with rookie Art Ceccarelli's three - hit 3-0 triumph. Rain washed out the scheduled game between Boston and Detroit.

EIGHT SHORT

Sunday's 32 home runs were eight short of the two - league record of 40 set on Memorial Day of 1950 but they boosted the season total to 839 for both leagues. The National, with 463 four-baggers in the first third of the campaign, is well ahead of the record pace set in 1953 when it amassed 1,197. The American League standard of 873 was set in 1950.

The Cubs used the home run weapon to snap Don Newcombe's 10-game winning streak. A three-run blast by Harry Chiti, and four-baggers by Dee Fondy and Ransom Jackson sent the big Brooklyn pitcher down to his first defeat of the season. Duke Snider (No. 19), Pee Wee Reese ang Gil Hodges homered for the Dodgers. A home run by Ernie Banks and a triple play in the seventh inning failed to help the Cubs in the second game as Carl Furillo and Hodges batted in five Brooklyn runs with measly singles.

HURLER'S HOMER

Three pitchers and a pinch hitter got into the homer act. Southpaw Johnny Antonelli drove in three runs with his four-bagger to insure his seven-hit Giant victory over the Cardinals.

Rookie Pete Whisenant's first major league homer went to waste in the first game but a drive by San Musial, his 10th of the year, tied the score in the second game at 5-5 in the seventh. An error by Alvin Dark set up pitcher Paul Lapalme's game - winning double with two out in the 13th.

Rookie outfielder Ramon Mejuas hit a two-run tie-breaking homer to give Pittsburgh a first game victory as Vernon Law struck out 10 Braves. Frank Thomas also homered for Pittsburgh.

Del Rice hit his first homer for Milwaukee since his trade from St. Louis but it took a three-run double by Danny O'Connell to give the Braves their second game 6-5 triumph.

SLAMMED FOUR

Cincinnati slammed four home runs to Philadelphia's two but the Phillies scored seven runs on two hits, on a bases-loaded homer by Stan Lopata in the sixth inning, to down the Reds and move past them into fifth place. Ted Kluszewski (No. 17), pitcher Joe Nuxhall and pinch hitter Bobby Adams homered for the Reds, while Del Ennis batted in four Philadelphia runs with a homer and double.

Cleveland broke up a scoreless duel between Turley and Wynn with four runs in the sixth and added six more in the seventh for Wynn's eighth victory against a single defeat. Larry Doby, George Strickland, Wertz and Wynn himself hit homers.

The big pitcher had a three-hit shutout until the eighth when Irv Noren hit a two-run homer. A four-run seventh inning against Ford, highlighted by Wertz' second homer, earned Lemon his eighth triumph in the nightcap. Gil McDougald homered for the Yankees.

Big 4 Playoffs To Be 'Sudden Death'

HAMILTON (CP)—The Big Four football union decided Saturday to change its semi-final and final playoffs from two-game, total-point series to sudden - death games.

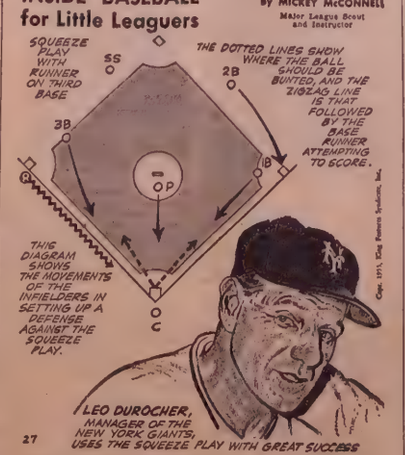
Teams finishing the regular schedule in second and third places will meet for the right to play the first-place finisher in the eastern Canada final.

Delegates also dealt with the Grey Cup gate. The participating eastern team receives 55 per cent of the Big Four union's share. The other three eastern clubs will each get 10 per cent. The other 15 per cent will go into a fund being established to provide financial assistance to clubs found "needy."

Visiting clubs during the regular schedule will get 15 per cent of the net gate—after park rental and amusement taxes are deducted.

MAY HAVE COMMISSIONER

The question of a commissioner for Canadian football was raised.



Big Four president Ralph Cooper of Hamilton was given authority to pursue the idea and to negotiate with Syd Halter of the Western Interprovincial Football Union with a view to a 1956 agreement with the National Football League in the United States.

Delegates also said they would discuss with their clubs the desirability of an east-west football meeting in Winnipeg next January. The WIFU and the Big Four would meet informally and the following day would hold their annual meetings separately.

Vic Obeck of Montreal Alouettes, chairman of the television committee, said the NBC has shown no interest in telecasting Big Four games this season. He said he believed there was still hope that private sponsors might telecast some games over individual U.S. stations.

INSIDE BASEBALL for Little Leaguers

By MICKEY McCONNELL
Major League Scout and Instructor

When the batter receives the signal from his manager or third-base coach that a squeeze play is to be attempted, he must bunt the ball between five and 10 feet into the infield—making either the first baseman or third baseman travel the longest distance from his defensive position to field the ball.

The catcher must stay at home plate to take the throw and attempt to tag out the base runner who will be attempting to score from third base.

Since a base runner in Little League cannot leave his base until the pitched ball reaches the batter, the squeeze in Little League resembles the safety squeeze in adult baseball with the base runner holding up to see whether the ball is bunted properly before he commits himself. Even when the runner holds up, this play works frequently and is recommended when the batter has shown that he is a better bunter than hitter.

Bunton, St. Denis Stage Hurling Duel As Picton Nicks Haggis Juniors 4-1

By GARRY ALEXANDER

The front-running Picton Lightfoots scored a pair of runs in the top of the sixth inning here on Saturday night to break up a tight 1-1 pitchers' duel and went on to defeat the Belleville Haggis Juniors 4-1 in a scheduled Belleville and District baseball game at Exhibition Park.

The two clubs were battling it out on even terms with Leo St. Denis working on a one-hitter for the city nine while Bob Bunton had allowed only four safe blows for Picton going into the sixth. The visitors had tallied once in the fourth while the Juniors had knotted the count in the fifth.

Lead-off batter Bob Cornelious banged a single into left-centre to open the winning rally and Keith Stacey was safe when St. Louis' throw to first drew Kingston off the bag. Keith MacDonald walked to load the sacks. St. Denis fanned Chalmers for the first out but Joe Haydon drove a single into centrefield to plate both lead runners. Belleville came up with a double play on the next pitch, getting MacDonald in a run-down between home and third and nailing Haydon trying for third base on the run-down, but the damage was done.

Former Belleville Bata, Bob Bunton, took the victory while hurling the first five frames of the seven-inning contest. He gave up all four Belleville hits and came through in the clutch time and again to fan eight Juniors while walking only two. Bill Greer tolled the last two innings without a hit, whiffing a pair and walking the same number.

St. Denis went the distance for Belleville, touched for four hits, all timely, and with a few hits at the right spot by his mates could have been on the other end of the decision. The Lightfoots picked up four hits off his slants while he nicked three on strikes and issued free passes to another trio.

Singles by Goyer and Stollker were wasted for the losers in the initial frame but they came back to nail a Picton runner at the plate following a three-base error in the second. Keith MacDonald tallied the first run of the game when he tripled to left in the fourth and continued home when McKay's throw to the infield fell short. A walk and Gerry Goyer's double were wasted in the fourth when Bunton fanned a pair, one leading to a double play.

St. Louis walked and St. Denis singled him to third before Ted Batchelor lifted a sacrifice fly to left to make it 1-1 in the fifth. Picton scored their insurance marker on a bases-empty homer by Bolton in the seventh. Joe Haydon came up with the fielding gem of the night when he speared Goyer's sinking ball to centre field in the sixth while St. Denis threw out Dick Fitzpatrick on an attempted drag bunt in the seventh on a beautiful play.

Bolton with a homer, MacDonald a triple and singles by Cornelious and Haydon were Picton's hitters while Gerry Goyer slammed a double and single in defeat. St. Denis and Harv Stollker also hit safely.

One minute's silence was observed for the late Harold Bate.

Chataway Nears World Record

LONDON (Reuters)—Chris Chataway Saturday ran 2,000 metres at the London White City Stadium in 5:9.4.

This is the best time ever accomplished for the distance in Britain and just failed to beat the world record of 5:7.0 held by Belgium's Gaston Reiff for nearly seven years. It is the third fastest 2,000 metres ever run.

Chataway beat the best previous time, by Gordon Pirie three weeks ago, by four-tenths of a second.

SPORT IN BRIEF

AFRICANS BEHIND

NOTTINGHAM, Eng. (Reuters)—South Africa fought back hard on the third day of the first cricket test against England Saturday but after being forced to follow on was still 107 runs behind at the close with all second-innings wickets standing.

It was one of the dreariest days' play in English test history, and in 5¼ hours at the wicket South Africa scored only 144 runs.

LONGEST YACHT RACE

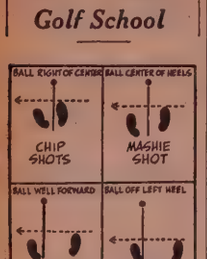
LITTORAL, Cuba (Reuters)—Four yachts set out from here Sunday on the world's longest yacht race—4,830 miles across the Atlantic to San Sebastian, Spain.

The United States is represented by the 72-foot ketch Ticonderoga of Bar Harbor, Me., captained by John Herte. Cuban, Spanish and Argentine vessels are also participating.

GIVES UP ATTEMPT

VICTORIA (CP) — Romeo Ordano, apparently too old for the rigorous exercise required of him, gave up his attempt Sunday to conquer the Strait of Juan de Fuca, 70 minutes after he set out to paddle between here and Port Angeles, Wash. The 54-year-old Vancouver window cleaner was pulled stiff and cramped from his double pontoon "finner" after he had paddled four miles of his 20-mile course.

Qualify For Cup Semi's



BRUSSELS (CP)—Chile, Sweden and Italy Sunday qualified for the European zone Davis Cup tennis semi-finals.

The fourth semi-finalist will be decided today when India and Britain resume their competition. They are tied 2-2 with India leading two sets to one in the final singles match.

Chile qualified to meet Sweden Sunday with a 3-2 victory over Belgium here. Sweden advanced to the semi-finals by coming from behind to win the final two singles after France had led 2-1. Sven Davidson, Sweden's No. 1 player, beat Frances Hallet 11-9, 6-2, 9-7 and Lennart Bergelin upset Paul Remy, No. 1 French player, 1-6, 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

At Copenhagen, Italy scored a 5-0 sweep over Denmark.

Sam Snead's Golf School

1. Many golfers seem unsure about how to take their stance for different clubs. Well, here's how. You vary your stance with clubs of varying lengths, as pictured. The shorter the club shaft the closer you bring your heels together and the more you angle your left foot toward the green. And the shorter the club the closer you stand to the ball. You do just the reverse with the long irons. The picture here should tell you the story. Now to position the ball in relation to stance. Your No. 5 iron is the middle club of your irons (from 1 to 9). Play the ball off center between your heels. The irons with more loft than No. 5 (6, 7, 8, 9) should be played with the ball a little to right of center. Say one inch for the No. 6 and about one-half inch additional for each more lofted club. With the straighter faced clubs 4, 3, 2, 1, position ball about one inch to the left of center for No. 4, and one half inch more for No. 3 and increasingly so No. 1. Get it? Tomorrow — Rhythm and Deception.

Takes Two Shoot Events

TORONTO (CP)—Gil Boa, world small-bore rifle champion, won two events in the two-day all-Ontario sporting and match rifle tournament at suburban Long Branch during the weekend.

Boa, with his brother, J. C. Boa, won the match rifle club pairs event while representing the Toronto Anglers and Hunters Association. The TAHA and the Ontario Rifle Association sponsored the meet.

In the sporting rifle master class, Boa won over Fred Stanley of Hamilton.

The sporting rifle expert class was won by Don Jennings of St. Catharines, winning over Hugh Winje of Brantford. Joseph Jieper of the Twin City Club (Kitchener-Waterloo) won over C. Greenfield of Whitby in the sharpshooter class.

The winning five-man team in the sporting rifle event was from the Twin City Club with a score of 989-65. Team members were brothers Carl, A. and J. Pieper, C. Doerner and F. Teckott.

'Swaps' Sets World Record

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Swaps, the Kentucky Derby winner, set a world record for the 1 1-16 miles Saturday as he won the $109,800 Californian at Hollywood Park.

Winning by 1¼ lengths over Determine, the 1954 Derby victor, Swaps covered the distance in 1:40 2-5, two-fifths of a second faster than the record set last year by Poona II at Santa Anita.

The Llangollen Farm's Mister Gus, the pacesetter, finished a close third, half a length behind Determine.

It was the seventh straight win for Swaps who stepped out of his three-year-old class to face older division handicap stars.

Mighty Nashua Toys With Pack; Wins in Romp

NEW YORK (AP)—Mighty Nashua toyed with his field for about a mile, then turned on the steam with a brilliant rush and pulled away to a nine-length victory in the 87th running of the $119,800 Belmont Stakes Saturday.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro piloted the strapping big Belair Stud colt under the wire in one of the fastest times ever hung up for this third jewel in the turf's triple crown for three-year-olds.

Nashua was clocked in 2:29 on a fast track, just four-fifths of a second off the record for the 1½-mile race.

Nine lengths back in second place came the Barclay Stable's Blazing Count, whose daddy was Count Fleet, a 25-length winner of the 1943 Belmont Stakes. Count Fleet established the Belmont Stakes record of 2:28 1-5 and this was equalled in 1948 when Citation copped this classic.

SIX BELMONTS

Nashua's victory gave Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, the 80-year-old trainer, Arcaro, and the Belair Stud of William Woodward Jr., six Belmont victories since Gallant Fox carried the white and red Polka dot silks home first for Woodward's father in 1930.

Third across the line in the cloudy, misty afternoon was the Clearwater Stable's Portersville, ridden by Ted Atkinson, 5¼ lengths back of Blazing Count. Jabneh the dark horse in the race who was purchased only Thursday by Eugenia Bankhead, was fourth, six lengths behind Portersville.

As predicted, there was a big minus show pool as Nashua went off a prohibitive 3-to-20 favorite and returned his backers in the crowd of 32,097 just $2.30, $2.30 and $2.10. In order to give bettors five cents back on the dollar as required by New York racing law, the minus show pool was $14,411.55

Wins Shoot

HARROW, Ont. (CP)—Gil Henderson, of Toronto, won the 1955 Ontario invitational trapshooting championship Sunday, smashing 494 of 500 clay pigeons during the two-day match.

He also won the handicap championship, breaking 97 of 100 birds.

The tournament was run off at the Harrow Gun Club. It was attended by more than 75 shooters from Ontario, and several guests from the United States.

May Transfer Giants To Minneapolis

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Journal American says owner Horace Stoneham is seriously considering transferring the New York Giants franchise to Minneapolis-St. Paul.

Columnist Bill Corum writes that Stoneham personally told him he was considering the move of the National League club because of disappointing attendance at the Polo Grounds.

Corum says that unless there is a sharp improvement at the gate he is likely to make preliminary moves before the end of the season toward a possible transfer. The American Association franchise. There is also an AA team in St. Paul.

Ammonia Plant At Millhaven Is Announced

MONTREAL (CP) — Plans for construction of a $9,000,000 anhydrous ammonia plant in Millhaven, Ont., were announced Sunday by Canadian Industries (1954) Limited. Completion is expected by late summer.

A daily capacity of 200 tons will make it the largest ammonia plant in eastern Canada, employing over 100, the announcement said.

CIC at the same time announced expansion of its facilities in Beloeil, Que., where ammonia produced by the new Ontario plant will be converted to agricultural products, now imported from abroad.

Some of the principal products incorporating ammonia are agricultural chemicals, explosives, nylon, sulphite pulp, miscellaneous chemicals, petroleum catalysts and a number of other products. It is also used in refrigeration.

AT THE CAPITOL — Byzantine Emperor Justinian, as portrayed by the noted French actor, George Marchal, who appears with Italy's green-eyed screen siren, Gianna Maria Canale, in "Theodora, Slave Empress", the American language Pathecolor spectacle of barbaric savagery, splendor and sin which opens tonight at the Capitol Theatre for its first showing. On the same program in Technicolor "Duel In The Sun", starring Jennifer Jones, Gregory Peck and Joseph Cotten.

AT THE CAPITOL

Colossal's The Word For Thrill-Packed "Theodora"

If ever the Hollywood coined and kidded word "colossal" can be applied to a motion picture in its literal sense, "Theodora, Slave Empress", the spectacular American language film in Pathe-color which opened today at the Capitol Theatre for its first Ontario showing as an I.F.E. release, is the logical candidate for that cinematic superlative.

Italian film makers, who first originated the "colosso" with "Cabiria", have certainly done themselves proud with their latest export to our shores. Seldom has the screen been athrob with such sweep and spectacle, monumental magnitude, seductive sex lure, heart-chilling action and adventure. The great film spectaculars of yesterday have been topped by this thrill-packed saga of the fiery slave girl who fought, cheated and cajoled herself into mistress of that mighty and notorious realm of splendor, savagery and sin which was the Byzantine Empire.

In the title role of Theodora, voluptuous Gianna Maria Canale is something to behold. Equally seductive in slave rags, royal robes or near-naked while dancing at public inns, the irresistable power of her sex allure makes it seem natural and believable that the Byzantine emperor should succumb to her charms — as he actually did historically. George Marchal, the handsome and muscular young French actor who plays the Emperor with regal distinction yet persuasive charm, will undoubtedly start a new heat wave among the bobby soxers. Renato Baldini, Irene Papas, Carletto Sposito and Henry Guisol are among the other gifted players who head a giant cast of over 3,000, expertly and imaginatively directed by Riccardo Freda, world famous for his film spectacles.

With its luscious, scantily clad beauties, marble palaces, mass battle scenes, barbaric torture chambers, lions, wild chariot races, intrigue, adventure and a poignant love story, "Theodora, Slave Empress" has every ingredient of entertainment to thrill any audience. Don't miss it!

On the same program to entertain you again "Duel In The Sun" in Technicolor starring Jennifer Jones, Joseph Cotten and Gregory Peck.

"ROB ROY, THE HIGHLAND ROGUE"

After a battle with English forces, Richard Todd, leader of the rebellious Scottish Highlanders, is captured and taken to Stirling castle to await trial. His mother arrives to plead with her cousin, James Robertson Justice, Todd's captor, for her son; Justice refuses to listen, and she hatches a plot whereby the coach taking Todd to London is attacked and he escapes. Todd returns to the highlands to marry Glynis Johns, and just after the ceremony he is again taken prisoner by the English. Once more he escapes; this time his mother is taken prisoner and her house ransacked in an effort to find a clue to Todd's whereabouts. Swearing vengeance when she is mortally wounded, he invades and captures an enemy fort, then gives himself up and is pardoned by King George I, impressed by the Scotsman's courage.

OLD ENGINES NEVER DIE

It was definitely type casting when a locomotive was used to pull a freight load of lettuce out of the train depot for a 1917 scene in Elia Kazan's CinemaScope production for Warner Bros., "East of Eden," starring Julie Harris, James Dean and Raymond Massey, now at the Odeon McCarthy Theatre.

Through arrangements with the Southern Pacific Railroad Elia Kazan was able to secure a locomotive which actually travelled through Salinas, locale of the John Steinbeck story. The locomotive, built in Sacramento in 1917, is still on active duty. The grizzled veteran of the rails travelled approximately 37 million miles before making its bow in the WarnerColor epic.

AT THE BELLE — Esther Williams sings, dances and swims in "Jupiter's Darling," MGM's hilarious musical satire. Filmed in CinemaScope and Color, in scenes entailing 82 eye-filling sets, the new picture co-stars Marge and Gower Champion and George Sanders and a notable cast. Its songs were written by Burton Lane and Harold Adamson. MGM's "Jupiter's Darling", now showing at the Air Conditioned Belle Theatre, was directed by George Sidney, who has given the screen such hit musicals as "Show Boat", "Annie Get Your Gun", and "Kiss Me Kate."

Simple rules of bridge are not for simple people exclusively. They are the foundation rules of all experts. It is only then that experts are worthy of the name and the use of by-products.

A simple overcall does not encourage partner to bid. The general rule for responder is to pass. Only if responder can see chance of a game does he make an encouraging bid in reply.

Such encouraging responses take the form of a jump, or an assist in the suit named by the overcaller, or no-trump. Almost every other kind of response, including pass, is non-encouraging.

However, a responder who is wise in the ways of competition is likely to make a bid that is neither encouraging or discouraging. It is made for a purpose that is foreign to normal action.

This special purpose may be to take a sacrifice, or to interfere with the opponent line of communication. Which is the stuff of which experts are capable and not always successful at.

There is another special purpose. This is the rescue bid by a responder of the simple overcaller. And the rescue bid is a delicate piece of work that partners must be able to recognize.

Take where you have the east hand shown here:

EAST
♠ 6 3
♥ 7 5
♦ K J 10 9 6 2
♣ J 9 5

South opens with a bid of one heart and your west partner sticks in a simple overcall of one spade. If north passes, refrain from a rescue bid of two diamonds You are simply inviting trouble.

The one spade bid by your partner is not doubled. His loss, if any, will not be great. But if you rescue with two diamonds, it may give your opponents doubling ideas they did not have before.

If north had doubled one spade, your rescue has some excuse. If your partner is not a stubborn ox he will fold up and let you do the rest. Or later sue for peace.

Reds Develop Missile Fired From Submarine

CHICAGO (AP) — An atomic scientist said Sunday that radioactive fall-out from an H-bomb explosion could force residents of some contaminated areas to remain in underground shelters for at least a week to survive.

Dr. Ralph Lapp added it could be unsafe to remain exposed in some "hot" areas for as long as six to nine months after the explosion.

"Persistence of fall-out for weeks and months is as radical a departure in weapons effects as is the vast area of the fall-out itself," he said.

Lapp, a physicist who worked on the Manhattan project which developed the first atomic bomb, said persons in isolated cities who could escape to "cool" uncontaminated areas probably could leave their shelters in several days.

But that pattern bombing, especially in the heavily-populated east, could bottle up persons in unbombed cities, with "hot" areas all around them.

He wrote his views in the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars, for

TUESDAY, JUNE 14, 1955

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Attend to urgent matters early since conditions may not be so easy later in the day. Don't neglect the "little" things; they often are vitally important. Be systematic.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus) — Stop, look around you, deliberate. If you will, you will forestall mistakes, needless retracing of steps. Keep spirits high and mind on your work; don't be disturbed at disappointments.

May 21 to June 21 (Gemini) — Favorable in more ways than one. Both heart and money matters favored by healthy influences; some of you may find one phase decidedly more promising, agreeable than the other.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Fine prospects ahead if you will devote full time to essentials, worthwhile matters, and forget non-essentials. Calm thinking and procedure are necessary to achieve success.

July 24 to August 22 (Leo) — You could make this a most productive day. It will require vigor and initiative, however, and careful planning. Do not rush into things unprepared.

August 23 to September 22 (Virgo) — Be discerning now. Note what others are doing, and how you can better your methods or plans. You are capable; show your best every day.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Don't let anything disturb your equilibrium; you will need a calm, thoughtful attitude. Set to work optimistically and follow through consistently to achieve top results.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — There may be a tendency to mark this day "off" on the calendar, snap-judging that little can be accomplished. But take a fresh look; give it a true Scorpio analysis. The chances are fine for good returns.

November 23 to December 22 (Sagittarius) — The outlook may seem to read "inactive, non-productive." But you can turn the tide to achievement with faith, consistent endeavor and optimism; give generously of Sagittarius' self-reliance and enterprising talents.

December 23 to January 21 (Capricorn) — Rays so-so. Pitch in, don't let a pessimistic note dominate wour day or you may be swamped. Your own attitude will greatly govern effort and results—as it so often does. Think!

January 22 to February 20 (Aquarius) — A personal situation may confront you now. Every turn may not be friendly, but that is nothing new. Others have the same off-again, on-again prospects. But the winners buckle down and beat them.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces) — This day's influences will be less contentious than you may surmise at first. Your knack for making good deductions will help considerably. So will a spirit of stick-to-it-iveness.

You Born Today: are among Gemini's most versatile natives, with the Sun as well as "stimulating" Mercury favorably aspected when you were born. There is great promise for you who live right, progress honestly. Develop your God-given rounded capability and be inwardly content and you will go quickly up the ladder of success. Cultivate patience, proper consistency of effort; be steadfast in activities. Heed your conscience. Prayer and calm reflection are your greatest aids. The balance of 1955 will be excellent for fresh attainment. Birthdate of: Harriet Beecher Stowe, noted writer; John McCormack, famous singer.

Customers Cause Bandits to Flee

TORONTO (CP) — Four customers who walked into a city drug store today unaware that the proprietor was facing the muzzle of a gunman's revolver were credited with causing the flight of two bandits who got only $4.
Druggist Claude Halloran said he just opened his midtown store and was talking on the telephone when two men walked in. He said a short man wearing dark glasses told him to hand over his money.
Mr. Halloran handed them $4. When three men and a woman wandered into the shop to make purchases, the second holdup man, keeping lookout, called "it's getting pretty hot" and the pair fled.

Tommy Moore, Veteran Sports Writer, Dies

HAMILTON (CP) — Tommy Moore, 63, veteran sports writer and assistant sports editor of the Hamilton Spectator, died early Sunday in his home after a brief illness.

He was sports editor of the old Hamilton Herald in the 1930s.

Tommy started his newspaper career in 1912 with the old Hamilton Times. He later became sports editor and then moved to the Hamilton Herald.

He went to The Spectator in 1936 after The Herald closed publication.

He was well-known in baseball here as a player and later as manager of several city league teams. But as a sports writer, particularly in football and curling, he was known across Canada.

RECALLED HIGHLIGHTS

In recent years he wrote a sports column "Memories and Mementos," in which he recalled the highlights of Canadian sport over the years.

Born in Hamilton, he had lived here all his life. He was a member of St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church, the Knights of Columbus and the Catholic legionnaires. He was a member of the Ontario Sportswriters and Sportscasters Association.

Surviving, besides his widow, are five daughters.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at St. Joseph's church with interment in Holy Sepulchre cemetery.

Reds Seeking Long Peace, View of West

By STANLEY PRIDDLE

LONDON (Reuters)—The Kremlin is determined to minimize the risk of world war for at least the next 10 years, but it is extremely doubtful that Soviet leaders have given up their ultimate aim of dominating the world.

That is how Western diplomats here size up the latest Russian peace offensive.

Spokesmen of the eastern bloc who are prepared—and presumably are authorized—to discuss Soviet intentions and methods and with Western reporters assert Moscow is seeking a period of assured peace for at least 50 years.

Officials from both East and West, surveying recent swift moves by the Kremlin in the international arena, agree that they form part of a single plan based on a reappraisal of foreign policy largely brought about by internal conditions.

SIGNIFICANT ACTIONS

These moves include:

1. Soviet disarmament proposals which go a long way toward meeting Western conditions for a world disarmament pact.
2. The granting of freedom and independence to Austria.
3. The visit to Yugoslavia by top Soviet leaders in an effort to heal the seven-year breach with Marshal Tito.
4. The opening of peace talks with Japan after 10 years.
5. The invitation to the long-reviled Dr. Konrad Adenauer, West German chancellor, to visit Moscow for talks on "normalizing" relations between Russia and West Germany.
6. The ready acceptance of the West's proposal for "summit" talks by the heads of governments of the Big Four powers.

Driver Is Killed As Stolen Auto Leaves Highway

SUDBURY (CP) — A 25-year-old Montreal man, employed as a car salesman in Sudbury, died in hospital today after wrecking a stolen car on the highway 25 miles east of here Sunday.

Guy Francouer, who is believed survived by a wife in Montreal and parents in Hawkesbury, Ont., was driving a car stolen from his employer's used car lot.

Pte. Alois Gruber, 29, a hitch-hiking soldier from Camp Petawawa, suffered head cuts when the car plunged down an embankment after leaving the highway. He continued his trip after first aid.

Another hitch-hiker, LAC Melvin Geberet, 25, of the RCAF station at Falconbridge, escaped injury.

Honor F. Winspear

LONDON (CP) — The English-Speaking Union today gave a luncheon in honor of Francis Winspear, past president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Winspear, born in Birmingham, England, was educated in Calgary and now is director of the Edmonton branch of the English-Speaking Union.

"Madam, would you take my side when my turn comes up?"

June Theatre Diary

By Robert Tanner

By ROBERT TANNER

Just two weeks from now, on June 27, the third annual Stratford Shakespearean Festival opens its doors to a public which by now has come to expect something unusual and outstanding from the productions presented there. This year's program includes "Julius Caesar," "The Merchant of Venice" and a repeat of last year's "Oedipus Rex", the very striking treatment of which won so much critical acclaim.

As in 1954, only one of the principal actors is not Canadian; Frederick Valk, a Czechoslovakian actor who has starred with the Old Vic and other London companies, is coming to play the part of Shylock. Other names in the list of principals have by now become quite familiar to Festival visitors: Lloyd Bochner, Douglas Campbell, Robert Christie, Eric House, William Hutt and Douglas Rain among the men and Barbara Chilcott, Frances Hyland and Eleanor Stuart among the women. All give promise of characters excellently portrayed.

BUSY BOX OFFICE

While rehearsals are in full swing in the Festival theatre-tent, ticket sales are doing steady business in the box office department, which estimates that bookings are a fortnight ahead of last season. All three productions are roughly equal in popularity, with all week-ends heavily booked. However, the events are so scheduled that Festival visitors who come in midweek can, in most cases, see within 48 hours, the three productions as well as attend several events of the Music Festival, which runs from July 9th until August 6th.

The prize for sandwiching culture most efficiently and economically goes to a lady from Toledo, Ohio, who is staying in Stratford, for ten days and taking in 13 separate events, music and drama, all for $17.50. Second in line is a gentleman from Halifax who has included in his schedule four performances of "The Merchant", three of "Caesar" and one of "Oedipus" together with four different concerts. One can but admire such stamina.

FAME SPREADS

It is interesting and pleasant to find that the fame of Stratford (Ont.), is spreading far beyond the borders of Canada. It has even been suggested that the Stratford Memorial Theatre in England may have to be redesigned to adopt the apron type of stage which the Ontario festival has made so popular. Listeners to Steve Allen's program recently heard Walter Kerr, dramatic critic of the New York Herald-Tribune, say some very complimentary things about the standard of acting which Dr. Tyrone Guthrie gets from his Canadian cast.

Meanwhile, as the regular theatres close down for a month or two's recess, the various summer theatres swing into action. Most of these are located west of Toronto, rather too far for an evening's jaunt, but it is good to hear of a new group opening up in Kingston, in place of the International Players.

Here in Belleville, the Quinte Players have already presented their first production "Three's a Family" with great success. "Angel Street" on July 18th-20th and "Four Poster" on Sept. 12th-14th complete their schedule for this season.

PETERBOROUGH PLAYERS

In Peterborough, where for the past six years Michael Sadlier has been running a most successful summer theatre, the season will open shortly with "When We Are Married", the J. B. Priestly play which was such a hit at the Crest this spring. It has been hoped that Edward Everett Horton would return to Peterborough with his ever-fresh "Springtime For Henry" but Hollywood has called him instead.

No news has been received of that pleasant summer institution "Melody Fair" which has been presenting Toronto audiences with musical comedy in-the-round. After several changes in location during the last few years it was hoped this year to have a new building available designed specifically for the "Fair". Doubtless these plans have not matured as quickly as hoped.

On the whole, though, and in spite of all the manifold counter attractions of a Canadian summer, it looks as if the theatre is in excellent shape, and winning new patrons, enthusiastic ones, with each succeeding year.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma got tired of calling me this morning, and at last she came up and looked in my room to see what was taking me so long, and I was sitting on the edge of my bed putting on my ferst shoe, and she said, For land sakes now I've seen everything.

Why, ma, what's a matter? I said, and she said, Your dawdling habits, that's what a matter. What's going to become of you if you go through your whole life like a slow motion picture of an incurable snale? she said.

Aw G, ma, I'm faster than you think I am, I said, and ma said, even if you were 10 times faster than I think you are, you'd still take the lackadaisical prize in any language as the world's werst dawdler.

Well heck, ma, I bet I cleen my teeth faster than anybody in this family or maybe any other family, I said. You got to give me credit for that, I said, and ma siad. If that's credit, you're welcome to it, and you can keep the change.

Being sourcastic, and I said, I'm pritty darn fast when it comes to eating breakfist, too. I bet you never saw anybody any faster, ma, I said.

Well, I didn't and it's not my ambition to, and I want to see you drink every drop of your milk this morning, and when I say drink I dont meen gulp, ma said, and I never seen anybody that could argew faster, because you've often said so yourself, I said.

Oh, I give up, I simply utterly give up, ma said.

And she went downstairs again, proving she had to admit I was right, at least about fast argewing.

Avon Sabre Hybrid Masterpiece Of Australian Aviation Genius

By JOHN RANDOLPH

NEWCASTLE, Australia (AP)—A warning sigh, a low moan. . . .

Then the sky splits with a scream and thunders as it crashes back together.

A silver fury hurtles over the air base and the earth trembles from its blast.

It is a Sabre jet—the same swept wings, the same high tail. But no Sabre that ever saw Korea's MiG alley ever had that deep, sustained, full-throated roar, that long, smooth, unstrained note of power—power to climb, to fight and to kill.

For this is the "Avon Sabre," the astonishing hybrid masterpiece of Australian aviation genius, which took an American airframe, a British engine and a British-German gun and blended them into a blueblood that some call the finest active service fighter in the world today.

WEAKNESS CORRECTED

"If this Sabre had been ready for Korea, it would have given allied pilots a plane that could have kept up with the MiG in every way," says Air Vice-Marshal E. C. Wackett, Australia's senior aeronautics adviser.

Wackett referred to Korean war fliers' complaints that the old Sabre could not match the MiG's extreme altitude performance.

The flow of power from the Rolls Royce Avon engine has apparently answered that major criticism — sluggish climb and soggy high altitude performance compared to the lighter, livelier MiG.

The Sabre, with its sturdy airframe, protective pilot armor, superb electronic gear and radar gunsight, and extra fuel reserve, weighs almost twice as much as the leaner MiG. To keep up, it needed more power, and this is what the Avon delivers.

The MiG is more lightly built than the Sabre—at least it came apart a lot quicker under gunfire. American officers believe that if its power is stepped up much, the MiG will have to be strengthened, and that any attempt to match the Sabre's other superior fighting qualities will only boost the MiG's weight and slash its nimbleness.

Australia is not alone in trying out new engines in the Sabre.

Canada has already developed its own version, using another powerful jet engine, the Orenda, and the United States Air Force itself now has an even mightier British powerhouse, the Armstrong-Siddely Sapphire.

But the Australians say their version is hotter than Canada's, and that using a more powerful engine than the Avon will force so much redesigning that the result will no longer be a true Sabre.

The Aussies seem also to have dodged one hidden danger that might have made their experiment useless. Increased fuel consumption. The RAAF claims its new Sabre has the same fuel capacity and range as the old one.

But the Aussies went even further; after changing engines, they took another big plunge and switched from machine-guns to two big 3-millimetre automatic cannon.

If the guns are a success, the Avon will pack the biggest wallop of any fighter plane made, a firepower a light tank wouldn't have scorned a few years ago.

The Aussies' luck in turning a possible ugly duckling into a swan is all the more amazing when one considers the size of Australia's men and women working in one government and two private plants in Melbourne.

Uses Fistful Of 'Stingers' For Massage

NEW YORK (AP) — This is a story about a swarm of bees in bustling Manhattan, a little man named Joe and a bit of advice from an apiary expert.

Residents of a six-storey apartment house in the Inwood section were a-buzz Friday about a swarm of bees on the apartment wall. The apartment dwellers hastily closed their windows and let it go at that. The building superintendent called police.

Meanwhile, enter the man named Joe—short, confident, middle-aged, and wearing dark glasses.

Joe walked over to the bee mass, pushed his face into the swarm, then used a fistful of "stingers" for a facial massage. The bees seemed to like it.

A policeman moved in, saying: "Hey, bud, you understand them or something?"

NOT RECOMMENDED

"Fermez la bouche," said Joe. "That means 'shut your mouth' in French. If you talk you make them bite me."

When Joe stopped playing with the bees, the officer sent him away. Then exterminators showed up and destroyed the swarm.

Dr. Theodore Schneirla, curator of the department of animal behavior of the American Museum of Natural History, identified the swarm as Italian honey bees. But when told how Joe had put his head in the swarm, Schneirla added: "This could have a terrible effect on people who think they could walk up to a beehive and do the same thing. I do not recommend it at all."

WORKERS RESCUE NURSE

ORILLIA (CP)—Miss E. Scott, a public health nurse from Barrie, was pinned by a 50-foot tree when it suddenly toppled on to a picnic table where she was sitting. About 50 employees from a Peterborough packinghouse plant, on a picnic nearby, rushed over and lifted the tree. Miss Scott suffered only bruises.

NEHRU TOURS RUSSIA

MOSCOW (Reuters) — India's Prime Minister Nehru flew from Stalingrad to Simferopol in the Crimea Sunday on a 10-day tour of provincial Russia. He will return to Moscow later for final talks with Soviet leaders.

THREE KILLED

DETROIT (CP)—Three persons were killed Saturday when the car in which they were riding was in collision with a truck near here. Killed were Melvin Williams, 54, his son Eugene, 18, and June Killian, 17, a neighbor's daughter.

A firm of mining engineers was called in to pump out a flooded coal mine. Instead of going about the job in the usual way they fixed grappling hooks to the bottom of the pit cage and lowered it to the bottom of the flooded pit. Having secured a hold on the bottom of the pit they started the hoist motor and pulled the entire pit inside out above ground level. As soon as the water had drained away they pushed the pit back into the ground.

Imperial Oil's new research findings mean extra mileage for Canadian drivers

Whether your car is new or old . . . improved Esso gasolines and new Marvelube motor oil used together—
1. Give you more mileage.
2. Improve your car's getaway.
3. Cut down engine deposits that rob your car of power.
Here's proof from Imperial Oil's research laboratories

Engine deposits handicap your car's performance. Improved Esso and Esso Extra are specially formulated to burn cleaner in your engine, leaving less deposit. Here is one of the many stages of research on these improved gasolines at Imperial Oil's laboratories.

New Marvelube has special qualities that keep engine deposits to a minimum. Three years of laboratory tests prove that when this new motor oil is used with improved Esso or Esso Extra Gasolines there is an even greater reduction in engine deposits.

In addition to the laboratory tests, almost three years of road tests prove conclusively that when the "matched pair" of Marvelube Motor Oil and Esso Gasolines is used the reduction in engine deposits is so great the result is fast getaway, more mileage.

Britain's 17-Day Railway Strike Finally Settled

Seamen's Strike Spreads; Queen Mary May Be Tied Up

LONDON (AP) — Britain's 17-day railway strike ended today.

Jim Campbell, leader of the non-striking National Union of Railwaymen who took part in an all-day conference at the ministry of labor, told newspaper men:

"A settlement now has been reached."

The settlement may be just in time to prevent widespread unemployment and added drastic measures by the Conservative government, whose emergency regulations were given a new lease on life by Parliament Monday.

HOPE REVIVED

At the same time, a meeting of dock union chiefs today revived hope of an early end to a 23-day-old strike by 20,000 longshoremen in six ports. This walkout has hit over 250 ships.

The rail and dock strikes, plus a walkout by over 500 seamen which has held up trans Atlantic liners at Liverpool and Southampton, have presented Britain with its gravest industrial crisis since the general strike of 1926.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng. (Reuters) About 150 members of the crew of the huge liner Queen Mary voted today to join the more than 500 seamen striking here and at Liverpool for better pay and working conditions.

The 81,000-ton Cunard liner docked here Monday night from New York.

The wildcat seamen's strike has already tied up the 35,674-ton Cunarder Mauretania here, while penned in Liverpool are the Cunard liners Saxonia (22,000 tons), Ascania (14,000 tons) and the Britannic (27,666 tons), and the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia (17,379).

The number of men who decided to join the strike represents only a small part of the Queen Mary's crew of 1,267.

A Cunard line spokesman said the owners could not tell whether the strike vote would stop her from sailing for New York on schedule Thursday.

Four Members Of Gospel Group Drown in B.C.

ALERT BAY, B. C. (CP)—Four of six persons aboard a fishing boat carrying the Gospel to settlements along the rock-studded northeast coast of Vancouver island perished when the vessel was pounded to a pulp in a weekend storm.

The story of the tragedy which claimed the lives of two children and a man and woman was told here Monday by the two survivors — an Indian missionary and the skipper of the wrecked fishing boat.

The missionary, Stacey Peters, 30, and Price Bruce, 53, were rescued Monday from arid and rocky Midsummer island, where they had been without food for 48 hours.

The bodies of four-year-old Barbara Jean Wesley and Mrs. Paul Rufus, in her 60s, were found washed up on the beach. Still missing are the bodies of the little girls' stepfather, Wilson Wallace, 45, and Floyd Dawson, 4, grandson of Mrs. Rufus.

The members of an Alert Bay evangelistic group left this village Friday for a series of Gospel meetings Mr. Bruce said they were nearing Midsummer island when the fuel line broke and the engine of the 33-foot boat stalled.

BOAT BREAKS UP

Winds of 50 miles an hour blew the drifting craft towards the reefs of the island, 200 miles north of Vancouver.

When the boat began to break up, the group leaped over the stern, into the sea.

Mr. Peters and Mr. Bruce were thrown upon some rocks, but the others disappeared in the angry breakers.

Theft Charged

TORONTO (CP) — Charges of theft involving more than $3,500 were laid Monday against two men operating an information service for immigrants.

Police said charges against Hans Johann Tkaczyk, 50, of Edmonton, involve $3,069, Armin Ellenberg, 22, of Toronto, has been charged with thefts totalling $675.

Today's Chuckle

As things go, just showing up on time Monday morning is a success story in itself.

THE WEATHER

TORONTO, (CP) — Synopsis: Drier air pushing down from northern Ontario will bring an end to the unsettled weather of the past few days in southern Ontario. As the sun breaks through, a warming trend will be felt today and Wednesday. In the north country, skies are expected to continue mainly clear and temperatures to rise as warmer air flows into those regions from western Canada.

FARMERS STALL HYDRO PROGRAM NEAR IROQUOIS

Construction Men Ordered Off Farms

IROQUOIS, Ont. (CP) — Two farmers have stalled the first major work on Ontario Hydro's relocation program for the town of Iroquois.

James Everetts and Clifford Martin, whose farms were expropriated by Hydro last fall to make way for construction of the St. Lawrence seaway power project, Monday ordered construction men and machines off their property until some "honest attempt" at settlement is made.

Hydro officials declined immediate comment on the situation.

The two men criticized Hydro for failing to give them what they termed a "reasonable settlement," for not being notified of the expropriation of their property and for not being told that Hydro machines intended to move on the property Monday.

URGED SETTLEMENT

"We think we're reasonable people," said Everetts. "We know there isn't much time left to get the relocation under way, but we do think we should have some sort of settlement. Hydro's land officers have been playing hide and seek with us. No honest efort has been made to settle."

Both he and Martin said offers made them were at least 60 per cent below the per-acreage price received by neighbors from the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority for nearby Iroquois Point property.

They plan to file statements of claim. These must be registered within six months of the date of expropriation in order to protect their right to appeal a settlement to a court.

Reeve Lloyd Davis, called in by the farmers in their efforts to have the work stopped, said the situation would never had arisen had there been proper co-ordination between the various Hydro groups working on the project.

13 More Killed As French Fight Terrorists

PARIS (AP) — Ten persons were reported killed in eastern Algeria Monday and three in Morocco as the terrorist campaign against French rule continued unabated.

The Algerian dead included nine rebels and one French soldier, killed in three of the small skirmishes which have been occurring almost daily since Nov. 1.

In Morocco, six natives also were wounded, including a six-year-old child.

French troops in the big Moroccan port of Casablanca stood by in their barracks as tension was reported increasing among the population due to a month-long shopkeepers' strike.

The tension was further heightened in Morocco by the search for the murderers of Jacques Lemaigre - Dubreuil, a Casablanca newspaper publisher and business magnate who had favored more self-government for the North African protectorate.

Asks Suspension Driving Licence For All Time

TORONTO (CP) — Magistrate S. T. Bigelow Monday asked the Ontario department of highways for lifetime suspension of the driving licence of Harry M. Mountenay, 37, of Columbus, Ont.

On charges of driving while impaired and driving without a licence, he jailed Mountenay for four months and suspended his licence for three years.

36 Municipalities to Be Included In Civil Defence Test Exercise

TORONTO (CP)—Thirty-six Ontario municipalities will take part in a 30-hour international civil defence test exercise starting at 9 a. m. Wednesday, the provincial secretary's office said today.

Some of the municipalities will be attacked—on paper only. However, the time of the "enemy action" and the size and type of "weapons" will be unknown until the exercise is under way.

K. B. F. Smith, director of civil defence for the province, said the alert will cover a theoretical one-week period to test civil defence services a few days after the attack.

Purpose of the exercise is to test communications and operational procedures, train control centre personnel at municipal, regional and provincial levels, assess the present organization and improve techniques where required.

For the first time a closed television circuit will be put into operation at the provincial headquarters in Toronto. The camera will be focused on a map of Ontario in the operations room. Viewers will be located in other control centre rooms such as the director's office.

The province is divided into seven regions for civil defence purposes. Regional headquarters are at London, St. Catharines, Kitchener, Brockville, Sudbury, Fort William and Toronto.

Municipalities taking part will be London, Sarnia, Windsor, Parkhill and St. Thomas; St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Niagara - on - the - Lake, Port Colborne, Jordan, Vineland, Beamsville, Grimsby, Smithville, Dunnville, Simcoe, Oakville, Brantford, Burlington, Hamilton, Welland and Fort Erie; Kitchener and Stratford; Oshawa and Peterborough; Brockville, Belleville and Kingston, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie, North Bay and Kirkland Lake, Fort William and Port Arthur.

Toronto Police Find Big Cache Of Stolen Goods

TORONTO (CP)—Police making a routine check on a car licence at a west-end home early today stumbled on what they described as the biggest cache of stolen goods uncovered in several years.

Officers said they were looking for a car reported involved in an attempted gasoline theft in Hamilton. They said they discovered a hoard ranging from rifles with several thousand rounds of ammunition to a wide range of electrical equipment, fur coats, frying pans and paint.

They said the property, much of which they said was identified as taken in recent breakins in the Toronto area, Hamilton and northern Ontario, was found stacked in a garage.

Detectives who worked through the early hours of today making a full list said total value of the goods likely will reach $10,000.

Auto Contracts Seen Likely To Spread to Other Industries

By NORMAN WALKER

DETROIT (AP)—The auto industry labor contracts established some important innovations, besides the revolutionary guaranteed wage, which may become contagious for the rest of American industry.

Walter Reuther, president of the CIO Auto Workers Union, rammed them home as part of the $750,000,000 three-year deal he made with the major auto firms.

These other union gains, somewhat buried beneath the more walked - about guaranteed wage plan include extension of the full compulsory union membership principle to General Motors.

Among them, too, in both the GM and Ford contracts, are part holidays on Christmas and New Year's Eves, vested pension rights and extra Saturday and holiday premiums.

Reuther won his deal first from Ford, then from GM, with neither wanting a strike shutdown to dent their unparalleled prosperity. Ford is being blamed by some industry sources for yielding, but there still is substantial doubt that if GM had been made the first target it would have been heroic and taken a strike.

The two giant auto firms are reported to have considered but rejected a plan to make a combined stand against Reuther and the union so that if one was struck the other would shut down too. This would have provided a fighting chance to beat Reuther's demands.

However, they feared running afoul of the anti-trust laws, with the United States senate already investigating alleged monopoly tendencies in the auto industry. But by not standing together they enabled Reuther to pick them off one at a time.

The UAW was to start contract talks today with American Motors Corp., makers of the Nash and Hudson cars, and then go on to Chrysler, the industry's third largest producer, then to Studebaker-Packard, the various auto parts manufacturing plants, and the farm implement industry.

One by-product of GM's agreement Monday was that the CIO won a toehold for the same type of guaranteed wage deal in the electrical manufacturing industry. A separate contract, embodying the same terms, was signed for GM's 35,000 electrical plant employees with the CIO International Union of Electrical Workers.

This union immediately announced that it expects to negotiate similar contracts with General Electric and Westinghouse later this year.

Russians Seen Beclouding Big Four Issues at Parley

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet government seems to have embarked on a campaign of confusion designed to becloud Western arguments about the real issues for the forthcoming Big Four conference, American sources say.

That appears to be a major purpose of the Tass news agency comment issued Monday in connection with Russia's formal acceptance of the Western invitation for a top-level meeting at Geneva July 18.

The United States welcomed the Soviet acceptance, as did Great Britain and France. State Secretary Dulles commented dryly, "At least it settles one thing."

The Tass comment made it clear that hardly anything else is settled. It also made clear that the Russians now are following up their "peace" offensive with a full-scale propaganda drive to rally public opinion in the free and neutral countries to support the kind of conference discussions they want.

Tass said there is no problem arising from Communist rule of the countries of eastern Europe and that they will not allow anyone to "interfere in their internal affairs." President Eisenhower and Dulles have insisted repeatedly that there is a grave problem arising out of the satellites' "captivity" and that this is a major source of world tension. Moreover, it is the American position that these countries were "enslaved" only because the Soviet government from 1945 to 1948 repeatedly violated the Yalta agreement and forced Communist regimes on them.

Tass said the activities of "international communism" are not a proper subject for discussion. Eisenhower and Dulles have said subversive efforts of the Cominform international organization against free governments are a source of tensions.

Tass took the line that the Soviet Union has made a number of concessions and constructive proposals such as signing the Austrian treaty and conducting recent negotiations with Yugoslavia. This comment implied that the U.S. has refused to give the Russians credit for making concessions, and now is refusing to come forward with "constructive proposals" — apparently offers of Western concessions.

The American view is that the tensions of the cold war started because the Soviet Union set out to communize as much of the world as it could.

In the American official viewpoint, the answer as to who should make the first concessions to relieve tensions is the same as the answer to the question "Who started the trouble in the first place?"

Groom Killed Waking Bride With Fireworks

VIENNA (Reuters) — An old Austrian custom of waking the bride on her wedding day by exploding fireworks under her window killed the bridegroom and injured the bride's two brothers at Krumbach-Amt here today.

Johann Trimmel, 26, was lighting the fuse of one firework when it went off and killed him instantly. The bride's brothers, aged 22 and 25, who were standing nearby were taken to hospital.

Assault Charged

TORONTO (CP) — Police said Albert Knott, 25-year-old laborer, Monday was charged with indecent assault of a 60-year-old woman who lives in rooms in the same boarding house.

They said the woman complained a man walked along a narrow second-floor ledge and entered her room through the window Sunday. She told police there was a scuffle and the man fled the same way.

GEN. ROCKINGHAM FEELS ATOMIC WEAPONS NEEDED

Believes They Would Keep Down Casualties

By DAVE McINTOSH
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj.-Gen. John Rockingham foresees the possibility that atomic weapons would keep down casualties.

"The sooner we get them, (atomic weapons) the better," the tall, barrel-chested commander of the 1st Canadian Infantry Division said in an interview here.

In the Second World War, most major attacks were made by massing men and material at one point for a break-through. Such an operation today, in the face of atomic weapons, would be considered suicidal.

"Look at what the Germans could have done to us at Nijmegen if they had had an atomic bomb," Gen. Rockingham said. "We had eight divisions crammed into an area of three miles wide. I can think of dozens of other similar situations during the last war."

BOMBS TO CUT WAY

He said he believes the breakthrough now could be accomplished by atomic bombs, whether fired from cannon or dropped from aircraft,thus preventing the heavy casualties of a mass manpower assault.

The "red-patch" division—Gen. Rockingham refers to his troops as "my warriors"—will undergo its first atomic-tactics training this summer at Camp Gagetown, N.B. It will be first divisional exercise in Canada and the first for the Canadian Army since 1944, when the last workouts were held in Britain in preparation for the second front.

TROOPS IN TOP SHAPE

"We're ready right now to take on our weight in wildcats," the general said, adding that his troops are in good spirits, well trained and well equipped.

"But we have to be ready to fight a war with atomic as well as conventional weapons," he said. "After this summer, we should know the complete score."

Gen Rockingham said he will be thinking atomically when he works out the 3rd and 4th brigades — more than 10,000 troops — at Gagetown. First will come two defensive exercises known as "Block" and two offensive workouts to be called "Tackle." These will be followed by the full division exercise, "Rising Star".

The 2nd Brigade will conduct similar training at Camp Wainwright Alta. The 1st Brigade is in Germany.

The emphasis will be on mobility and communications. "If communications break down, everything is lost," Gen. Rockingham said.

PRACTISE CONCEALMENT

All or most of the aircraft will be on the "enemy" side. This will enable the division staff to determine how well concealed and dispersed troops would have to be in the event of atomic attack.

For the offensive exercises, it will be assumed that an atomic bomb has punched a hole through the enemy line. The attackers will try to exploit the break-through quickly, moving fast through the gap and then probably dispersing to prevent heavy losses from any atomic counter-blow.

Gen. Rockingham and his staff already have put in more than a year's work on atomic tactics. He recently witnessed three atomic blasts in Nevada.

Three Bushworkers Drown, Two Escape When Boat Hits Deadhead

COCHRANE (CP) — Three bushworkers were drowned and two escaped when a boat in which they were riding hit a deadhead and sank in the Frederickhouse river west of here, police said today.

Dead are Marcel Beauchamp, 19, Ernest Ouellette, 30, and Garnet Martin, 60.

Safe are Willard Guenette and a man identified only as Raymond.

The drowning happened at 6 p. m., but police did not receive news until this morning when the survivors emerged from the bush on No. 11 highway.

OPP constable Robert Fulton, Cochrane, left this morning by boat to attempt to pinpoint the location of the drowning.

Police say waters in the area are not deep and they do not expect difficulty in finding the bodies. Dragging equipment will be operated as soon as the spot is located.

The men were returning up river to the camp owned by Henry Swanson. The boat is used to travel the five miles between the camp and the job and to haul supplies and equipment for lumbering operations.

Argentine Labor Strikes To Back Anti-Church Drive

Peron Denounces R.C. Clergy As 'Wolf in Sheep's Clothing'

By SAM SUMMERLIN

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — President Juan Peron's massive labor following rallied for a nine-hour strike across Argentina today to demonstrate their loyalty to their leader in his feud with the Roman Catholic Church.

Peron appealed to the people to be "calm . . . alert and vigilant" in the wake of a three-day wave of clashes and demonstrations sparked by the church-state dispute. The fighting marks one of the most crucial periods in his nine-year-old regime.

Attacking the clergy as "a wolf in sheep's clothing," Peron threatened in a broadcast last Monday night to crack down with all his might on future outbreaks.

FIGHT IN PLAZA

Shortly before the president spoke, fresh fighting erupted in the Plaza de Mayo in downtown Buenos Aires. Church supporters hurled back a crowd of Peron adherents who charged the Metropolitan cathedral and the adjoining archbishop's palace in an effort to mount an Argentine flag on the palace. The Peronistas shouted "Peron yes! Priests no!" as they rushed the building.

There were no reports of any injuries in the battle. Twenty - nine persons were injured Sunday in rioting around the cathedral. Some 470 persons were arrested during the weekend, most of them Catholic faithful who took refuge in the episcopal palace when the rioting broke out.

The strike demonstration was called by the General Confederation of Labor (CGT) whose 6,000,000 members constitute one of the strongest pillars of the Peronista movement. It was welded together by Peron and his wife Eva during the last years of her life.

MASSED RALLIES

Workers were called to mass rallies. The CGT called the gatherings "vindication" rallies for the alleged burning of the Argentine flag and destruction of a plaque on the capital honoring Mrs. Peron during the giant Corpus Christi Catholic parade Saturday.

The government, which had banned the parade but did not interfere, accused Catholics of those acts, but a church spokesman asserted that anyone attributing the acts to Catholics is "guilty of solemn lies."

Asserting that his regime would "deal with discipline and energy" if the occasion arose, Peron, accused high Argentine clergymen of trying to provoke disorder with the aid of "armed people." But he declared that "for every man they are able to muster, we are able to raise 10 and 10 times more."

PERON CLAIMS

The president claimed that the clergy in recent years had waged a systematic fight against his late wife and her social program. He said churchmen refused to say mass on occasions during her illness and after her death.

He also accused clergymen of directing calumny against members of the Women's Peronista party, of campaigning relentlessly against the ideology of his party, and of spreading rumors abroad designed to discredit his government.

The Vatican newspaper L'Osservatore Romano said Monday that Argentine Roman Catholics "are in the position of accused persons who have no possibility of defending themselves even from the odious calumnies."

In a front-page editorial, the newspaper said the Peron government has "an almost total monopoly" of information and is the only agency in a position to appeal to Argentine public opinion. Some Vatican sources have expressed fear that more clashes in Argentina would result in Peron's breaking off diplomatic relations with the papal state.

Coughed So Hard Choked to Death On False Teeth

GALENA, Md. (AP) — A man coughed so hard here Monday that he swallowed his false teeth and choked to death.

Bodies of Two RCAF Officers Are Recovered

The bodies of two RCAF officers were recovered Monday night from the crater ripped out of a bog when a T-33 jet trainer crashed and exploded 15 miles south of this city.

Air force officials said the bodies of Flt.-Lt. Douglas Sidney A. Bing, of Trenton, Ont., 33-year-old pilot of the plane, and FO Herbert Paul John Collin, 23, of London, Ont., were recovered when the crater was partially drained. Cause of the crash was not known.

Flt.-Lt. Bing lived on the station with his wife and three children. He had served with the RAF as an instructor during the Second World War and came to this country in 1951, joining the RCAF at Trenton. He was born at Grays, Essex, England.

FO Collin was the son of W. E. Collin, professor of romance languages at the University of Western Ontario. He joined the air force in 1952 after graduating from that university and had previously been stationed at Macdonald, Man., Penhold, Alta., and Centralia, Crumlin and Trenton in Ontario.

BELLE HAVEN CHAIRMAN ATTENDS CONVENTION

Mrs. W. R. McMurray, chairman of the Belle Haven Club for Handicapped Persons, attended the Third annual convention of the United Handicapped Groups of Ontario, held at St. Catharines on June 10 and 11.

Harold C. Hudson, assistant co-ordinator, civilian rehabilitation branch of the Ontario Department of Labor, addressed the gathering. He stated that vast strides have been made since the First Great War, when only prosaic work could be found for limbless men. Now with the aid of government grants the handicapped are being trained for positions suitable for their abilities. First need, he stated, was good medical treatment to correct the condition, followed by good team work in occupational therapy and an employment service to obtain work for these handicapped persons. All this helps to give these people a chance to show what they can do to move and live normally.

G. Allan Rocher from the Saskatchewan Council for Crippled Children and Adults said the system in use in that province is much the same as in Ontario, with the provincial government using the services of handicapped persons to make all uniforms needed.

Former Tax Collector Denies Retaining Money for Own Use

A straight denial that he had at any time ever retained any tax money for his own use was made on the witness stand Monday by Leroy Woods, former Sidney township tax collector charged with the theft of township tax funds.

Testifying in his own defence at the trial which Monday entered its second week Mr. Woods in answer to questions by his counsel said that he had turned over to the township all money collected.

"Did you at any time you were tax collector take any money?" asked Defence Counsel J. D. O'Flynn.

"No," was the reply. "All the money I collected was deposited in the township tax account."

"And was there anything dishonest about your work?"

"I was careless, I admit," Mr. Woods replied, "but what money I collected I put in."

Mr. Woods was on the witness stand practically the whole day with cross examination by C. C. Savage, Q.C., special Crown counsel, lasting from late morning until close to the time of court adjournment after five o'clock.

This morning argument from counsel will be heard to be followed by the address of Judge C. F. Smith to the jury. While the jury is out deciding its verdict the court will proceed with the next criminal case.

Before Mr. Woods took the stand Mr. George Shortt, former Sidney township auditor, was recalled by Mr. Savage. From auditor's reports given by Mr. Shortt it was shown that the current township surplus at the end of 1946 was $40,418.57, while the 1950 audit report showed the surplus had dropped to $25,017.29.

JOINED RCAF IN 1941

Mr. Woods told the court that he had lived in Sidney since 1939. He had joined the RCAF in 1941 and had served nearly five years, nearly two of which were served overseas as a fighter pilot. "He was honorably discharged with the rank of Flt. Lt." he said.

Mr. Woods said no service gratuities and money he had saved during his service in the airforce he had purchased a truck following his discharge and had done general trucking.

He had become tax collector in 1946 and a year or so later had sold his truck. In 1949 he opened a store at Wallbridge, borrowing $1,500 from his father to start in business.

He explained the general procedure of collecting taxes and how he had considered this but a part time job apart from his store business. He had received $200 the first year for collecting taxes and $350 in later years.

Asked if he had received any instructions when he took over the tax collections, Mr. Woods said he had not. Neither had he received any instruction that he was to turn over the tax rolls each year to the treasurer.

Questioned regarding his knowledge of the auditor sending out verification notices for tax arrears, Mr. Woods said he knew that Mr. Shortt sent them out. He said he had been present when Mr. Shortt had sent out at least part of the notices.

A township tax notice with its attached stub was produced and Mr. Woods explained the notice. When taxes were paid the taxpayer normally returned the notice, the stub was filled in and retained either by himself or by the bank where the taxes were paid.

HARD TO TELL DATES

However, he said that when he received the stub from the bank, in many instances the date was unreadable or there was no date entered. Therefore when payment of taxes was entered on the roll in many instances there was no way of telling the exact date they had been paid.

The tax stubs were the only way to determine whether taxes had been paid. If the taxpayer had not returned his bill Mr. Woods said he would have to depend on duplicate receipts to make his entry in the tax roll.

Asked if he had known of the $11,000 error which Mr. Shortt was said to have made in his 1949 audit, Mr. Woods said his first intimation of this was after Mr. Neal took over the books. It was then he learned there was some question of a shortage.

Reference was made to a complaint by council that tax bills had been late in going out. Mr. Woods said there had been two reasons for this. One was that he had been late receiving the tax roll and the other was that the roll had a supplementary list where in some instances there were duplications. "This made it confusing," he said.

Asked about the "purple ink" entries of which there had been references by earlier witnesses, Mr. Woods said these had been made after certain tax stubs had been found and the entries in the tax rolls were made with the ink which happened to be in use at the time. In many instances the stub did not show the date or the amount of interest that had been collected.

It was shown that where taxes were paid by cheque the deposit could be traced through the bank, but where payment was made in cash this could not be done as all such deposits were lumped together.

INSTANCES CHECKED

Mr. Woods was asked about specific instances where the tax roll showed taxes were unpaid. One of these was the Arthur McFarland property. Another two instances was when taxes had been paid to Col. R. Vanderwater, township clerk, and then turned over to the tax collector.

Mr. Woods said the McFarland taxes for the year in question had not been paid, while he was collector. He could not remember the Meiklejohn and Abrams taxes turned over by Col. Vanderwater but he did not doubt they were paid.

He said that council members as well as the clerk accepted taxes on occasion.

Mr. Woods told how it was possible that tax collections and deposits for any one year may differ. He said that this was due to the fact collections at the year end would not be credited until the first of January.

Under cross examination Mr. Woods said his profit from his store had averaged close to $2,500 per year while he was acting as tax collector. After he resigned as collector Mr. Woods said his profit had dropped to about $1,-800 per year. He attributed this to rumors about a shortage of tax money.

"Then you did a little better in the store when you were tax collector. It was not a case of subsidization?"

"No," was the reply. "It was because of the rumors."

Questioned by Mr. Savage, Mr. Woods said the reason interest collected was not shown on certain entries pertaining to arrears of taxes was that in many instances the tax stubs had not shown the interest.

SIZEABLE ITEM CLAIM

Mr. Savage suggested that interest on tax arrears was a sizeable item, pointing out that in one year since Mr. Woods ceased being collector this had amounted to $1,300. In contrast to this during the entire period Mr. Woods was collector only $1,500 in interest had been accounted for.

"County and township officials are now much more particular about interest on tax arrears," was Mr. Woods' reply.

Reference was made to collections of tax arrears made by Mr. Woods in 1952. These had amounted to $8,348.72 for a nine-month period, while deposits in the same period had only been $7,862.16. After lengthy cross examination Mr. Woods admitted that he had been given credit for all deposits in this period.

"Then how do you account for the fact of deposits being $1,700 less than collections.

"I can't account for it," was the reply.

Mr. Woods was briefly re-examined by Mr. O'Flynn, while Mr. Blake, director of the auditing branch for the Department of Municipal Affairs, was called briefly in reply by Mr. Savage.

Police Will Be Hosts to Kids At Arena Circus

City police are taking advantage of the legend that a day at circus is memorable one for a moppet to help ,youngsters become better acquainted with the department.

For two days starting tomorrow Clyde Brothers Circus will be in town, running around a ring at the Memorial Arena. During those days Belleville's finest will be hosts to over 5,000 young fry from the city and district at the circus.

At the moment every moppet of 10 years in the district has a ticket and is looking forward to the event when he plays nephew to the big uncle of the police department.

Among those attending will be 400 children from the Ontario School for the Deaf.

The object of the mass hosting is, as one police official pointed out, "to get the children to know their police officers better."

He added that the event was being made possible through the co-operation of city merchants.

Israel Is Finding Road To Nationhood Strewn With Bayonets Says Recent Visitor

The world's youngest country is having growing pains.

Israel, home to the world's Jews after nearly 2,000 years of exile, is finding the road to nationhood strewn with bayonets, barbed wire and barbed words.

"Israel's most pressing problem is peace," said Fred Giltelman, well-known Trenton dry goods merchant for nearly three decades. Mr. Giltelman, recently returned from a visit to Israel and Europe, said the Israeli "cannot keep their minds on building the country."

"They have to have an army," he said, as he spoke of the armed guards on the Israel-Jordan border, and the fierce climate of Jewish-Arab relations in the Middle East.

"Israel is the most prosperous country in the Middle East. There are 20,000 Arabs living in Israel and they get along with the population very well. Thousands more want to live in Israel but the Arab countries will not let them," said Mr. Giltelman.

"They want to work in Israel because it is the only country in the Middle East where a workman can get a decent wage."

"I was impressed by Israel," said Mr. Giltelman as he outlined his travels through the infant country. "The people have done a marvelous job. They are working day and night to bring the country up from the barrenness of desert that it once was."

Agriculture and irrigation are the two most pressing domestic problems.

"The main plan is to make land from the desert. They can do it if they have the chance," said Mr. Giltelman, returning again to the problem of establishing peace.

"If they can accomplish as much in the next seven years as they have in the past seven, they will have one of the finest countries anywhere."

"Morale is very good. The people are proud of every inch of their country.

PEOPLE NOT AFRAID

"They are not afraid of anything. They say that 'this is our place' and 'no one can tell us to get out'. This is as far as they are going," said Mr. Giltelman. "They have been driven enough."

Mr. Giltelman was one of a party of 63 who left Canada by air for Israel on April 29th. The party flew from Malton to New York via TCA and then by El Al, Israel National Airlines, to Gander, Shannon, London and Tel Aviv.

The trip was sponsored by the Jewish National Fund and was the first of a series of such trips. Purpose of the visit was to inspect at first hand the needs and accomplishments of Israel.

After four days in Tel Aviv, a bustling seaport of 125,000 on the Mediterranean, the party visited Beersheba, an Arabian town in the south of Israel. The group also visited the Dead Sea, 1,300 feet below sea level, and the potash works nearby.

"We had soldiers with guns accompany us at Beersheba," said Mr. Giltelman, "because the Jordan border was near. There was no shooting, however."

The party also visited the Canadian college at Jerusalem, a university building built by contributions of Canadian Jewry and the Kalam Weizman institute, founded to honor Israel's first president. The group was introduced to the president of Israel; visited the tomb of King David; Solomon's Temple; and journeyed to Bethlehem.

At Safad, on May 11th, Mr. Giltelman's party was present for the celebration of the feast of "Lacobomer" which honors Rabbi Meir Baal Hanes, author of one of Jewry's greatest books. An all night vigil was observed at Safad by 80,000 persons.

HAIFA BUSY CITY

"Haifa is the busiest city I ever saw," said Mr. Giltelman of the bustling port of 200,000 that is Israel's chief port and business centre.

"New York can't compare with Haifa for the amount of business done and the speed at which business is conducted," said Mr. Giltelman.

During his stay Mr. Giltelman saw a typical "kibbutz" or children's camp in which children divide their time between going to school and working the land.

On May 25th, Mr. Giltelman and two other Canadians left Israel for a side trip of their own to Europe.

In Rome Mr. Giltelman toured the Vatican and the Vatican museum and was in a group that received the Papal blessing.

A trip to Geneva was dropped in favor of a visit to Paris.

In London "it rained cats and dogs" so Mr. Giltelman decided to come home to sunshine and summer.

He arrived at Malton airport on Sunday, June 5th.

IN MEMORIAM

WOOD. — In loving memory of my dear husband, Warner Wood, who passed away June 14th, 1950.
I'll not weep for you and wish you back,
For you are from worry free.
And in your Saviour's arms you rest
That's where I long to be.
You walked beside me many years,
Now I will wait for you;
And when I reach the golden gate,
I know you'll come and lead me through.
—Still missed and lovingly remembered by wife Luella.

WOOD. — In loving memory of a dear husband and father, Warner Wood, who passed away June 14th, 1950.
A big wide grin, a helping hand,
We always called him Dad.
No finer friend in all the land,
Say all the friends he had.
Five years ago he passed away,
We've missed him greatly since;
Though he was not of royalty,
Our Dad was sure a prince.
—Always remembered by family.

GEE. — In loving memory of my dear wife, Zenda Gee, who passed away June 14th, 1953.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember her who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.
—Sadly missed by husband & family.

Belleville is "Main Street Canada" this month.

Free lance writer James G. Shaw's illustrated story on Belleville is featured in the June issue of "The Sign" — a slick - paper monthly published by the Passionate Fathers of New Jersey.

The story is one of a series being carried in "The Sign" on typical small cities in various countries around the world. The 300,000 monthly circulation is distributed internationally but heaviest circulation is in the United States.

The story is illustrated by seven photographs taken by Robert McCormick, Belleville photographer. TORONTO (CP) — Ontario's early-summer crop situation is "quite satisfactory," the provincial department of agriculture said today.

It said rain during the last week of May, followed by warm weather, produced rapid growth.

In its monthly crop report, the department said that by last week fall wheat and fall rye were in full head in some sections of the province and heading out in others, with prospects for a "good average" yield.

Some winter damage is reported to cherries and pears in the London area and peaches are suffering from widespread leaf curl and strawberries from widespread winter damage around Niagara. Elsewhere, all fruit crops are about two weeks ahead of last year.

Most sugar beets are planted, but this year's acreage is only 20,193 compared with 28,725 last year. Blocking made the earliest start for many years and is one-quarter complete.

Injuries Fatal

CALGARY (CP) — Two Currie barracks soldiers, Tprs. Donald Garrow and Ronald Ransom, were charged with murder Monday in connection with the death of John McAlpin, 65-year-old retired railroader, who died in hospital Sunday.

Police allege that the two were responsible for a severe beating given McAlpin in an alley May 30. Garrow and Ransom previously had been charged with assault with intent to rob.

Canada and U.S. Agree to Reduce Some Tariffs

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada and the United States have agreed to reduce tariffs on some products as a result of four - month Geneva negotiations involving Japan and other countries.

Trade Minister Howe announced a list of the changes in the Commons today. While not extensive, officials said they likely will aid Canadian exporters in retaining markets in Japan and increasing markets in the U.S.

In the negotiations, the U.S. agreed to reduce tariffs on imports from Canada on forms of cobalt salts used in the manufacture of chemicals, graphite used in making pencils, some forms of pig iron and structural aluminum alloys as well s eviscerated turkeys.

The U.S also granted some tariff reductions to Japan which, under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade, also will benefit Canadian exporters. Of particular importance to Canadians are U.S. tariff concessions on paper bags, wallpaper, miscellaneous papers and rubber products.

However, the U.S. boosted its tariff on uncooked fishsticks to 20 per cent from one cent a pound —a fivefold increase which virtually eliminated Canada's exports in the U.S. market.

As compensation, the U.S. reduced its rates on pickled herring to one-quarter of a cent pound from one-half cent — which may help icrease Canada's exports — and pledged she will not increase current rates on crabmeat.

Canada, in turn, agreed to reduce tolls on engines for power mowers, bamboo blinds and baskets, wooden bowls, trays and dishes, artificial fruits and flowers for ornamenting hats and frozen tuna for processing in Canadian canneries.

These are in addition to other reductions announced June 2 when Canada reduced charges on canned peaches and certain anti - freeze compounds in return for U.S. approval of Canada's move to increase tolls on canned mixed fruit and ethylene glycol used in making anti-freeze.

Las Vegas Hit By Cloudburst

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — An hour-long cloudburst followed by a flood struck a crippling blow at Las Vegas Monday night.

Shops were flooded, thousands of cars were stalled in swirling waters, phone service was interrupted and the city's power was cut off for a time. No injuries were reported.

The rush of muddy waters from the mountains, some 30 miles away, inundated the two underpasses beneath the Union Pacific right-of-way which bisects the city.

Fire equipment couldn't move from one side of the town to the other.

France May Ban Present-Style Le Mans Race

PARIS (Reuters) — The present-style Le Mans 24-hour auto race may be banned under a new safety plan being worked out by French government experts, informed sources said today.

The ban, the sources said, would apply to races such as the Le Mans in which cars of widely differing speeds compete together.

A cabinet meeting decided early today to ban all motor racing in France pending introduction of new measures to avoid accidents like that which killed 80 people at Le Mans Saturday when a Mercedes-Benz crashed and exploded in a crowd of spectators. Seventy-three persons are still in hospital.

Sources close to the government said it is hoped that the new safety plan can be adopted before the next big international race in the French calendar, the July 3 Grand Prix de Rheims.

THE LEGISLATURE HAS NEW BLOOD

With the overall result of last week's Ontario election practically duplicating the voters' previous verdicts in 1951, it is surprising to learn that there will be 29 new faces in the next Ontario Legislature.

Thus almost a third of the members will be newcomers. In part, this is the result of the creation of eight new seats. Nine of the new members won their seats as the result of gains from other parties. One new Progressive Conservative fills a seat vacant at dissolution. The remaining eleven new members, all Progressive Conservatives, took over when sitting PC members retired.

It is well that new blood should be injected into the Legislature. Death, retirement and advancing age take an unremitting toll. The necessity for training replacements for present leaders is always with us, in government as in every other field of activity.

Incidentally, a comparison of the names of candidates in last week's election and that in 1951 is interesting. It indicates that the CCF has a tendency to stick with the same standard-bearers in election after election. On the other hand, few of the defeated Liberal candidates last week were the same men or women who had run in 1951. A reference to Federal elections would show that the Progressive Conservatives, too, only infrequently send a defeated candidate to the firing line for the second time.

It may be argued that two factors compel the CCF to stick with the same candidates—a scarcity of good candidates and the fact that, in most ridings, the practical certainty of defeat makes even capable candidates reluctant to stand. There is, however, rather good reason to believe that this policy of standing by defeated candidates is followed by choice, rather than by necessity.

It is true that there is something to be said for offering the voters another choice after they have rejected a candidate. But in many cases this rejection is not a reflection on the man, but rather on the policies he has espoused. The voters' evaluation of these policies may change between elections. In any case, there is considerable value in a continuity of political activity. For instance, now that Farquhar Oliver has failed in his second attempt as leader of the Liberals to lead that party to victory at the polls, there is almost certain to be a demand that the question of the party leadership be reviewed once more. Defeat is not likely to endanger Donald C. MacDonald's position as leader of the CCF. This gives the party at least the appearance of stability.

Choose a leader well and then stick to him until he is found wanting would appear to be sound advice for political parties of all shades of opinion.

A WISE DECISION

A special committee of the Commons and the Senate which has been studying present laws governing capital and corporal punishment and lotteries will not report to this session of Parliament.

The committee ended two years of hearings May 12. It now says that it cannot have its final report ready by the end of June.

First reaction may be that, after two years, the committee members should have been able to make up their minds.

More careful reflection will suggest that the delay is wise; that the impact and the importance of much of the earlier testimony may have been lost by the passing of time and that less than two months is not adequate time to review the testimony heard over two years. The committee's desire to scrutinize closely the voluminous evidence collected should enhance the value of its report, when it is finally presented. It will be a rash man who, without having sat on the committee, challenges that body's findings when it is proceeding with such care.

HEAD FOR THE DUGOUTS

A quarter of a century ago R. B. Bennett told Canadians he would blast a way into the markets of the world. The plan did not work.

Now a somewhat similar suggestion has been advanced by H. W. Herridge, the CCF member for Kootenay West. Annoyed by a proposed boost in the U.S. tariff on hardboard imports, Mr. Herridge suggests that Canada retallate "in the best way possible." This he believes would be by placing a tax on the export of newsprint and nickel to the United States.

Hon. C. D. Howe, Canada's minister of trade who is not noted for any tendency to back down from a fight, sheered away from this suggestion.

But if Mr. Herridge really wants to start a trade war, why go half way? Why select newsprint and nickel and why just tax their export? What's wrong with keeping in step with the atomic age and placing a ban on the export of all uranium?

Got any neat hideouts up in West Kootenay, Mr. Herridge?

The Canadian Press has a genius for strict impartiality when reporting political events. Donald C. MacDonald, CCF leader, left his crowded committee room to join a motorcade. He stood up in a convertible, but The Canadian Press was careful to insert the adjective "small" before the noun "convertible." No false picture of a socialist riding in capitalistic luxury was permitted to develop.

For June, that was a remarkably heavy Frost we had last Thursday. Crops were not damaged—but a lot of political aspirations were nipped in the bud.

FLAG DAY

Flag of freedom; flag of truth;
Opportunity for youth;
Flag of everything that's right;
Childhood's laughter; peace at night.
This our prayer to God on high:
May you never fall to fly.

Flag of all that's best in life,
Born of struggle and of strife,
Banner of man's liberty
Which the slaves of tyrants see
Through the darkness where they grope,
Symbol of their fondest hope.
Glorious flag of brotherhood,
May we guard thee as we should;
Trust thee, after we are gone,
To the young who follow on.
Hats off, hands on hearts, may they
Greet thee as we do today.

LOOKING BACKWARDS

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BYGONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 14, 1935

LUMBER INDUSTRY HERE YEARS AGO. The old timers know, but many citizens of more recent times and new comers over the years, do not know that this city was a thriving lumber town years ago with mills here and a large mill across the bay. Thousands of logs from the lumber camps away back north were carried by the Moira River to a big boom in the harbor here where they were sorted according to the owner's brand which was deeply indented in the logs. Eventually the logs were securely enclosed in booms and towed by tugs to the various mills. Large gangs of river drivers were employed in bringing the logs from where they were shot into the water until they arrived here and were sorted through the government boom. These river drivers were young, strong, daring and expert in running upon the logs to break up a jam and keep logs from going astray and left along the shores. The following item from our file copy at this time in 1895 is of interest in this connection: "The saw-log drive is being rushed. The river today was filled with logs to the first dam and more are constantly arriving. Another gang of river-drivers arrived here today. Many people are attracted to the harbor daily to watch the logs being tallied through the gap. The soles of the heavy boots worn by the river drivers were well covered with spikes to help them hold fast when running the logs and the plank walks on parts of Front Street, especially the south end, were perforated to resemble pox marks. Some of the lumber or sawmills here in the early days were Buck's, Lingham's, Rathbun's, Flint and Holton and the Paige or Eagle mill across the bay. The Gilmour mill was in Trenton and this mill also received logs down the Trent river. When the drives were ended and all the logs gone, the river and harbor contained large quantities of bark from the logs; this did not go to waste as many people were glad to collect the bark, dry it and use it for fuel. This was known as the "bark harvest." The saw-mill of the Rathbun Company referred to above, was situated on what is now Victoria Park. The company later moved to Deseronto and eventually increased the scope of its operations and as a result Deseronto was a thriving town for many years.

There may be nothing to this theory, but it seems to have worked in this way so far.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WHY?

For so long as I live I know I shall forever ask questions and seek to know what I don't know. How well I remember how inquisitive I was as a small youth. If a stranger came to our home I would soon be at his side asking questions. As I think of it, years after I am sure it was a good sign, though it undoubtedly made me a nuisance many a time.

I don't know how any of us can expect to grow without forever asking questions and delving into all sorts of books for new knowledge. I am interested in all outdoor life; I keep reading books on birds, animals, flowers, trees, countries and people. What a world of interests all about us! It is possible to learn something new, and interesting, every day of our lives.

We are all comparatively ignorant. Therefore we should never be backward or hesitant about asking the "why" of things. The curious quality that obsessed the mind of Thomas A. Edison made him the great inventor he was. He wanted to find out. It often took literally thousands of tries before he arrived at the final solution.

Nature has the concealed answer to so many of our problems. As we study her we keep learning. Her realm is so vast, however, that even in a lifetime of study we can learn only a portion of the mystery and wonder all about us. I would like to know the "why" of a dandelion! Why was it made as it is? Why such a golden color? Why does it remain so courageous in the face of so many enemies wanting to obliterate it? I'm democratic with dandelions. They are welcomed in my lawn!

We have all noted the building of a great structure—with the modern means of lifting the steel high in the air until palced for welding. Always there is a crowd on the street watching every move—wanting to know the "why" of it. We like to know how all important things are done. People who are curious are alive!

Delay Choice In Education

(Hamilton Spectator)

In recent years many educators and sociologists have deplored the heavy emphasis on technical training of young persons at the expense of the more liberal studies on which a sound, good-citizen type of education is based.

The fact that "vocational education", with its factory-type shops, is far more costly than the provision of academic and arts facilities is perhaps somewhat —although not entirely —beside the point. But what is directly and definitely to the point is the criticism that boys and girls are being asked, as they enter high school at the immature age of thirteen, to decide, more or less irrevocably, whether they will take academic, commercial or vocational courses.

Officials and teachers of the Hamilton Board of Education have recognized this great weakness and have evolved a more flexible system by which the student will not have to name his choice on entering high school but may defer the decision until Grade Eleven—at the age of fifteen or sixteen.

Actually the plan does not place any more stress on the virtues of academic education, but at least it provides the student with more exposure to the social and non-technical studies until he is better fitted to make a choice.

According to Dr. Gordon E. Price, the superintendent of secondary schools, it is proposed to try out the system in the new Mountain high school. If the experiment is successful—lowers the number of so-called misfits—then it will be extended to the other high schools in the city.

To Mayor Lloyd Jackson should go some of the credit for questioning the present over-emphasis on vocational training. With the support of some Board of Education members, he has voiced his disapproval in press interviews over a period of some months.

His Worship and many other citizens should welcome a step toward reducing this over-emphasis. They will realize that while an early start in a factory-type school might make a boy into an efficient technician or tradesman, it does little to fit him for the broader obligations and satisfactions of citizenship in a growing country and a changing world.

Crying 'Red' Too Often

(Christian Science Monitor)

The business of charging communism against opinions with which one disagrees has reached the point of diminishing returns. Indeed, in some cases it has become so obviously unreasonable as to entail clear loss to those engaging in it. In this class, it seems to us, falls the effort of Senator Eastland to find Red influences in the Supreme Court's decision against compulsory segregation in public schools.

For his oblique attack on the court appears more likely to rebound and do its main damage to the Mississippian's own position. His demand for a congressional investigation of the "authorities" on which the court based its decision is not being taken seriously. Congress could impeach members of the court, but has no power to investigate decisions. Nor is it clear that Mr. Eastland knows how the court came to its unanimous opinion.

The Senator may have convinced himself that the ruling was not based on law but "solely and alone on psychological, sociological, and anthropological considerations," but we doubt if he can really diagram the thought processes of the judges. Actually, both the basic philosophy and the methods outlined in the court decision — upholding equality of opportunity but allowing great latitude for voluntary action—are clearly in the soundest American tradition.

To attempt to find communism in it is to expose the weakness of the critic's case. Also it unfortunately helps to wear that charge so threadbare that it will not be considered when there may be real danger.

Strength for the Day

DR. EARL L. DOUGLASS

GREAT HOPE BROUGHT DOWN TO DATE

Propaganda can produce the most startling and incredible results. People can be made to believe almost anything if the propaganda machine can be kept in good working order.

But there are some ideas that cannot be driven out of people's minds. One such idea is the conviction held frm the earliest days of human history that life does not end with death. The Egyptians prepared their mummies and buried their kings sometimes in sailing craft that would take them to a new and better world. Socrates died maintaining that the soul of a man lives on forever. Aristotle declared that something within, which feels, thinks, desires, and animates is a factor essentially divine and consequently imperishable. Another great pagan wrote that since the soul of man came from God, this heaven-born thing will fly back at last to its native seat.

Many people think that the belief in immortality was introduced into the world by Christianity. This is not true nor does the New Testament make this claim. It simply says that Christ brought immortality to light. He illuminated with added splendor what man already knew. The doctrine of the resurrection of the body is Christianity's distinctive contribution to the concept of immortality. Everyone will some day be given a body adapted to the eternal conditions which his moral choices have made incorable.

It has been said that in the desire for immortality, we have full proof of our capacity for it.

Many Sheep Pose as Lambs

(Windsor Star)

Members of the Commons, learned in many subjects, have been baffled by a simple one. The question, raised by Mr. H.W. Herridge, C.C.F., Kootenay West, was: When does a lamb become a sheep? Even that authority on matters agricultural, Rt. Hon. J.G. Gardiner, couldn't answer.

Had they had a good dictionary handy, they might have found some answer. One familiar tome defines a lamb as "a young sheep which hasn't reached sexual maturity." This leaves something to be desired as a precise definition because it still alludes to a lamb as a young sheep.

Farmers have a rough and ready definition. When a ewe lamb becomes a mother, or even while she is in process of motherhood, she is no longer called a lamb. She is becoming, or has become an adult sheep.

The discussion arose in the Commons because of mutton being sold as lamb. Mr. Herridge estimated 95 percent of the sheep in Canada are sold as "lamb," when their meat rightly should be classified as mutton.

Certainly some regulation should be passed to prevent this. Mutton, provided the sheep from which it comes aren't too elderly, is good food. But it hasn't the fine qualities of lamb, and shouldn't be allowed to masquerade as lamb. When customers ask for lamb they have a right to get it, not mutton.

New Drive-In Voting Booth

(Hamilton Spectator)

Just as soon as you give or listen to a speech on how there's no easy road to democracy — that we'll have to fight for it like our forefathers did, only with ghastlier weapons — along comes somebody, generally from the U.S.A. with a new idea that complicates this hallowed concept.

We've all heard of drive-in restaurants, drive-in banks, drive-in movies and even churches; all of which are rumored to be perfectly legitimate brain children of the drive-in gasoline service station.

Now, from Fairmount, N.Y., a suburb of Syracuse, comes word of the drive-in polling booth. It seems that in order to take a vote on a high school debenture issue (like the money by-laws we sometimes vote in Hamilton, only smaller) the authorities rigged up a garage with two open ends.

To over-simplify the explanation if at all possible, voters drive in one of the open ends of the garage, mark and cast their ballots (this is the U.S., remember, so maybe they just pull a lever), and drive out the other open end.

Come to think of it, that garage must have looked not unlike one of those covered bridges that are disappearing so fast in New England. Perhaps those remaining could be preserved by converting them into drive-in polling booths.

At any rate, it does away with the parking problem on election day and could therefore lend impetus to a "get out the vote" campaign. This development comes too late for the provincial election of June 9.

There's one danger, though: If the idea is carried too far, pedestrians might have to hitch rides in order to reach the polls at all. The prouder ones mightn't vote at all, unless buses are provided.

Personal Health Talks

By DR. WM. BRADY

Now See Here, Buster!

Dear Doctor Brady:

"Many thanks for the Little Lessons you sent me free, and I hope you didn't dock the ghost writer's pay $5.00 to make up for the cheque you returned to me.

"When I showed my wife the letter I wrote, in which I guessed the article. . . (I do not recall which article it was, but the correspondent guessed right and won the works) . . . and told her I was sending along my cheque just in case, she told me I was a sucker —nobody could be expected to acknowledge collaborative writing under such circumstances. . . (the lady takes my quackish pretensions seriously.) But I told her that no matter what your detractors might say about you on any other score. . . (yahbut can you find one who will say anything notable over his or her signature?) I was absolutely convinced that no one could accuse you of being dishonest—that if you didn't write the article you would say so. Now my "pocket cyclopedia of health" proves that I know not only your style, but more than a little about you."

The correspondent writes some history relating to former times in Buffalo, Penn Yan, Canandaigua, and recites an incident of which I have no recollection—to wit:

"My mother used to say she probably would have been a nurse except that a young scamp, medical student in Buffalo—she thought the name was Brady—planted a cadaver's finger in her coat pocket. Later when she reached into her pocket she was so shocked at what she found that she quit nurse training school on the spot! (Although I recall no such prank, I remember many much worse ones in which I engaged.)

"I took your advice about tonsils three years ago, with rather grave consequences—but I've forgiven you, and I never did stop reading your column."

(Signed) ——

Now, see here, Buster, it isn't news that a "ghost" bats for me occasionally—for that matter some "suckers," as your boss would say, have had me under the sod for, lo, these many years, and my name and column carried on by some vague clique for propaganda— heaven only knows just what the anonymous group would be trying to propagate. Any suggestions, anybody? Ghost writers —for the past four or five years only one. So the very fact that I offered a free set of A Lot of Little Lessons in the Ways of Health to any reader who spotted a ghost-written piece in this column (the offer still stands), should have told your wife that Ol' Doc Brady is as honest as circumstances will permit.

Yours is a pleasant letter, Buster, but for that crack about tonsils. That isn't bowling. If we're going to be good friends you owe me a detailed statement about that.

Yours sincerely,
William Brady, M.D.

THE PACKSACK

By GREGORY CLARK

Once upon a time, when Grandma was a young housewife, her home was burgled. While she and all her children were at church, some rascal jimmied open a window, crawled in and stole $3.12 cash, eight spoons, eleven forks, a large gold watch, two garnet brooches too gaudy to be worn to church, a jar of pickled walnuts and five bars of maple sugar.

From that day forward, my Grandma invented and employed her own burglar alarm system. Before retiring for the night, she set up on every window ledge down stairs, a most ingenious system of tin pie plates, old china cups, a toasting fork and other clattery articles of kitchenware. These objects were skilfully so balanced that any crook or pickled walnut thief raising the window frame so much as one inch would be instantly greeted with the doggondest racket you ever heard. Pie plates would tumble, liberating old china cups (usually cups of which the saucers were already broken, and therefore expendable,) and bottles, flour sifters, potato mashers and egg beaters would go sliding and crashing in all directions. Not only would this racket wake my Grandma and the family, but it would so shock and terrify the evildoer that he would be probably five blocks away at full speed before anybody had got a leg out of bed in the house.

Grandma also worked out similar nerve-shattering devices for upstairs windows. Over doors, she would hang pails on short nails, so that if a door were however furtively pushed open, the pail, usually half full of diversified crockery, flower pots and clanging things, would slip off the nail and fall at the intruder's feet.

Until Grandma had perfected, through practise, an exquisite sense of balance and design, she gave herself and family various frights. But she also on record that several shady characters moved right out of the country in due time

My Grandma had hold of a basic principle, which is that nothing terrifies a crook so much as noise. And if when occasion arises, we remember to hoot, holler, scream, bang and crash, the boldest crook will run.

(Cornwall Standard-Freeholder)

Neither by what they wear nor what they do can those of grandparent age be singled out in these days when years hang lightly upon the young in heart.

In New Jersey a 68-year old man and his wife, 65, were injured recently when their scooter upset because the husband applied the brakes too suddenly. Seems they had obeyed the call of spring and were out for a spin. Happily neither was injured seriously.

"Youngsters" of this couple's age are so lively these days that it's easy to imagine them scorning such foolishness as the rocking chair contest staged by Canadian lumberjacks. But who will say they wouldn't be willing to attempt to break the record which a Pennsylvania school girl made a few days ago when she hopped 3,100 times on her pogo stick?

Chamber Maid Donates Tips

(Fort William Times-Journal)

At the Steep Rock Hotel in Atikokan, guests do not leave a tip for the chamber maid. Resting on the bureau in the room is a neat box with slots, through which coins may be pushed. On the box is a message, signed by the maid, which tends to the effect that if the guests wish to express appreciation of service, the money put into the box will go to assist the Atikokan General Hospital.

Unselfish civic thinking of this kind spells out community spirit that augurs well for the future of the bustling iron mining town.

HAMILTON (CP)—Six children escaped serious injury Monday when a school bus swerved off a highway and crashed into a tree. Pamela Wasilik, 11, suffered bruises when her foot was caught under a bus seat. Police and motorists worked almost half an hour to free her. Belgian Catholics Protest Govt.'s School Reforms

COURTRAI, Belgium (Reuters) Catholic demonstrators dug up cobblestones in the streets here Monday night and barricaded roads in protest against the Socialist-Liberal government's school reforms.

The demonstrators were cleared from the barriers by police.

The protest march took place a few hours after the lower house had passed second reading of the school bill.

The school reforms, which have caused serious rioting in Brussels and stormy sessions in the lower house, gave the state the right to create official non-denominational schools and to reduce the subsidies to Catholic schools. The Catholics contend the measures will wreck their educational system.
